Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9.—Official fears are being expressed here that Russia is opening a general offensive along all strategic points on the Manchurian front.

Simultaneous attacks of great intensity were reported by Manchurian commanders at Manchuli and Pogranichnaya. The latter's railway station has been partially destroyed, with one train wrecked by a shell and five passengers killed, and a second train bombed from the air with seven killed.

The Chinese commanders on both fronts have hurried to Kirin, the capital of the Manchurian province, where a general defense conference will be held with Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang.

Heavy Fighting at Pogranichnaya.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MUKDEN, Sept. 9.—Soviet Russia is now making war on China without any declaration. The forward movement of her troops is held to be due to the arrival of reinforcements and the organization of her forces under General Blucher, Soviet Commander-in-Chief. Further reinforcements are expected from Moscow during the coming weeks.

The Chinese forces have been ordered to do their utmost, but not to enter Soviet territory.

The Soviet attack on Pogranichnaya was resumed by Russian troops at 2 o'clock Sunday morning and continued until 7, that evening, the town being subjected to an intense artillery fire and bombing by airplane. Many houses were destroyed. Wireless communication ceased at 5 P. M. today, and telegraphic communication was also interrupted.

The Chinese commander is urgently demanding reinforcements. At one period the Chinese were forced to retreat, but afterward they recaptured the position from which they had been driven.

The attack on Tungming-hsien, which was reported yesterday has been repulsed. An invasion of the Suiyuan district between the Usuri and Amur Rivers is reported. The Chinese battalion near Wusu Village has been forced to retreat.

Train Bombed at Front.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HARBIN, Sept. 9.—A bomb thrown on a passenger train near Pogranichnaya on Saturday smashed the luggage car and caused the derailing of the dining car. Five of the train staff were wounded, of whom two died later at the hospital. Railway communication, which was interrupted for twelve hours, was restored yesterday.

Yesterday morning Soviet airplanes threw bombs down on Pogranichnaya, causing the destruction of part of the railway, disappearing after being shot at by Chinese forces.

Yesterday afternoon airplanes appeared in greater number and destroyed the railway station and much rolling stock. The victims were inhabitants of Pogranichnaya. The railway employes had withdrawn to the next station. The bombardments still continue.

Harbin itself has been quiet.

Attacks by Russians Severe.

HARBIN, Sept. 9 (AP).—Dispatches from Pogranichnaya say that Russian troops opened artillery and machine-gun fire simultaneously and also launched a bomb attack from the air, resulting in considerable damage to the railway station and rolling stock. The attacks continued throughout Sunday, becoming increasingly severe and resulting in heavy damage throughout the city.

At 6 o'clock Sunday evening Chinese troop positions were subjected to heavy gunfire, and the Chinese

Airport for Prince of Wales Being Leveled at Windsor

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—A number of steamrollers are leveling a portion of Smith's Lawn, Windsor's great park, which will be the Prince of Wales's own airport when he goes into residence at Fort Bellevedere, Virginia Water.

It will be but a few minutes' motor distance away—six miles—from Windsor, situated between Cumberland Lodge and Virginia Water. Like Colonel Lindbergh, the Prince of Wales travels nearly everywhere by air nowadays.

HOOVER PICKS BYERS AS BROOKLYN JUDGE

Nomination to District Bench Surprises and Upsets Organization in Kings.

MAIER AMONG ENDORSERS

J. B. Avis's Name Is Sent to Senate to Succeed Judge Bodine in New Jersey.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Mortimer W. Byers of Brooklyn was nominated by President Hoover today to be a district judge in the Eastern District of New York with headquarters in Brooklyn, a post that was created by act of the last Congress.

His name was sent to the Senate, accompanied by those of Theodore Roosevelt of New York, to be Governor of Porto Rico; John Boyd Avis of New Jersey, to be a district judge in that State to succeed Joseph L. Bodine, resigned; Scott Wilson of Maine, to be a judge in the first circuit to succeed Charles S. Johnson, retired, and Albert L. Watson, to be a judge in the Middle District of Pennsylvania.

The President also named Alf Oftedal, former deputy commissioner of prohibition, for the office of Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of California, and Leland Harrison of Illinois, now Minister to Sweden, as Minister to Uruguay.

The nomination of Mr. Byers to the Brooklyn judgeship excited a good deal of interest here as his name had not been mentioned among the eligibles supposed to be under consideration.

It was said here today that the nominee had not been recommended by the Republican organization of Kings County, and that the party leaders there were likely to be very upset by it. Administration officials said the standing of those who endorsed Mr. Byers indicated that he was in every way qualified for the judgeship.

Byers's Endorsers Are Listed.

Conforming to the practice adopted at the outset of his administration, President Hoover made public the names of those who endorsed the judicial appointments. Those who recommended Mr. Byers numbered twenty-seven. Among them was W. J. Maier, chairman of the New York State Republican Committee.

Other endorsers were:

Federal Judge Robert A. Inch.
Federal Judge Thomas D. Thacher.
Federal Judge Marcus B. Campbell.
Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe.
Federal Judge Martin T. Manton.
Federal Judge Clarence G. Galston.
Federal Judge John C. Knox.
Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey.
Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman.

CORNERSTONE IS LAID FOR UNION OF EUROPE AT BRIAND LUNCHEON

PLAN WILL NOW BE STUDIED

HE WILL REPORT NEXT YEAR

By CLARENCE K. STREIT.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Sept. 9.—"And so, between a pear and some cheese, we laid the little cornerstone of a European federation; discreetly, between a pear and some cheese which doesn't, you know, diminish at all the importance of the event."

It was Premier Aristide Briand of France who spoke thus after the luncheon he gave to the heads of all the twenty-seven European delegations to the Assembly of the League of Nations here today—a luncheon that seems more and more likely to be remembered in history.

M. Briand was pleased, highly pleased. The luncheon accomplished all he wanted it to accomplish, for it ended in the first definite steps being taken for a practical working out of his idea of a European federation. It ended in the delegates of all the States of Europe not only expressing sympathy with the idea but promising to have their governments study it. It ended with all of them unanimously charging M. Briand to send to all the governments of Europe a memorandum setting forth the idea more in detail. To the memorandum, M. Briand explained, a questionnaire will be attached, thus instituting a general consultation on the problem, the results of which M. Briand is to formulate in a report. This will be discussed at a new meeting of the States of Europe, fixed definitely today for next September, during the eleventh Assembly of the League.

To that meeting, M. Briand stressed tonight, the delegates will come with the specific mandates from their governments to consider the details of a European federation, which they did not have today.

If they did not have mandates at the luncheon, it is significant that two of M. Briand's guests today who took these decisions were, like himself, Premiers—those of Austria and Luxemburg—while twenty-two of them were Foreign Ministers.

Strong Backing by Henderson.

It is significant, too, that the strongest desire to push the European federation idea rapidly came not only from one of the most important quarters, but from the one which has been the most reserved hitherto—Great Britain.

Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson, who made the longest speech during the exchange of views following the luncheon, went further than any one in suggesting that M. Briand convoke a meeting of European Foreign Ministers, not in a year but in three or four months, in Paris, to study the question.

M. Briand was beaming when the luncheon broke up at 4:15 o'clock to allow the guests to attend the Assembly, which had been waiting for three-quarters of an hour for them.

"It was a good cornerstone," said M. Briand as he left the room.

After the luncheon the waiters were asked to leave the room and M. Briand arose and gave in general terms for ten minutes his ideas on a European federation, while his guests listened in the soberest of moods, which characterized the entire exchange of views. Dr. Stresemann, Mr. Henderson, the Austrian Chancellor, the Yugoslav Foreign

Whalen Plans 'Sky Patrol' to Control Flying; Asks Walker for Laws to Govern Aviation

Police Commissioner Whalen announced yesterday that he had taken steps toward regulating air traffic over the crowded areas in and about the city. While no details of his plan were announced, the commissioner said he had included in his budget a request for an appropriation to establish a small flying school for policemen, the purchase of suitable aircraft and the establishment of a department within the Police Department to regulate air traffic over the city.

He said that in a conference with Mayor Walker yesterday morning he had also requested that some ordinances be passed to curb low and dangerous flying in all places under city jurisdiction. To enforce such ordinances, he said, the new branch of the Police Department will be needed.

At present the authority over fliers here is the United States Department of Commerce, which has formulated a set of air traffic rules for all licensed pilots and planes. The Federal department does not patrol the skies, however, and infractions of the rules are never punished except when brought to the attention of the local Department of Commerce representative.

These representatives are stationed at the larger airports throughout the country and have jurisdiction by districts. They are not held responsible for accidents, such as the two fatal ones of the past few days, beyond conducting investigations and making recommendations to local authorities. They have the power to suspend or rescind the licenses of pilots as they see fit for infractions of the flying code, but unless the evidence be strong against such pilots the general policy of the department thus far has been one of hands off.

A demand for action on the part of the city authorities to curb low flying was also made by Borough President James J. Byrne of Brooklyn, who announced that he would urge the enactment of air traffic rules at the next meeting of the Board of Estimate. He said that he had referred several mishaps to the Police Commissioner but had received no cooperation. Both Commissioner Whalen and the office of the chief inspector denied knowledge of the alleged complaints.

At present the Federal rules of flight provide that no pilot shall fly over a populated area at altitudes lower than 1,000 feet.

GETS GARDEN SUCCESSOR

Sells-Floto Which Leased Building for Next Spring Among Those Purchased.

John Ringling, head of the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, has purchased the five circuses, with Winter quarters, of the American Circus Corporation, it was learned yesterday. Starting as a singer and a clown with his four brothers when they billed their show as "The Ringling Brothers' Variety Performance," Mr. Ringling has now brought under his control the last sizable circus in America.

The American Circus Corporation group includes the Sells-Floto Circus and the Hagenbeck Animal Show, which recently signed a contract to exhibit in Madison Square Garden next Spring, after Mr. Ringling had refused to renew his contract to exhibit in the Garden.

The Floto and Hagenbeck groups agreed to waive Friday nights so that the Garden management could stage boxing bouts. The management had complained that the presence of the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus in the Garden every night weekly meant a loss of $60,000 to the Garden in the four-weeks period.

Ringling Rejected Garden Offer.

Mr. Ringling refused to exhibit at the Garden and concede one night weekly to the boxing promoters. He denied, however, that there had been any break between himself and the Garden, of which he was one of the principal financiers. Mr. Ringling is chairman of the board of directors of the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

In addition to the Sells-Floto Circus and the Hagenbeck Animal Show the three other circuses included in Mr. Ringling's purchase are the John Robinson, Sparks and Al G. Barnes circuses. They have a total of about 5,000 employes, as compared with approximately 1,000 in the service of Mr. Ringling before his latest acquisitions.

From sources close to Mr. Ringling it could not be learned what effect his purchase of the Sells-Floto and Hagenbeck groups would have on the contract with Madison Square Garden for next Spring. It was said that Mr. Ringling would dispose of that matter when he came to it. Nor were Mr. Ringling's plans for a new arena sufficiently advanced for discussion, it was explained.

It was reported last week that Mr. Ringling might establish a rival arena to Madison Square Garden by availing himself of the old Twenty-second Regiment Armory, occupying the block bounded by Broadway, Columbus Avenue, Sixty-seventh and Sixty-eighth Streets. Max Vesselhiser, real estate operator, who bought the armory at public auction for $3,375,000 last Winter and who is remodeling it as an arena with a seating capacity of 12,000, following Mr. Ringling's withdrawal from Madison Square Garden, expressed himself as hospitable to the idea of housing the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus.

Garden Withdrawal in New Light.

Mr. Ringling's withdrawal of his Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus from Madison Square Garden was viewed in a new light following the disclosure that he had closed the deal for the five circuses of the American Circus Corporation in August. In sporting circles it was assumed that Mr. Ringling may have already acquiesced in the Garden's contract with the Sells-Floto and Hagenbeck groups when he decided to look for another stand for the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus.

Associates of Mr. Ringling would not disclose a report that he was

TARIFF FILIBUSTER CHARGED IN SENATE

SMOOT ACCUSED AS CENSOR

He Admits Harrison's Charge of Suppressing Figures on Changes—Debate Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Charges by Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee that, through the Simmons resolution to reveal corporation income tax facts, the Democratic-Progressive Republican coalition sought to filibuster on the tariff bill and perhaps to prevent its passage, marked the opening of the long-awaited debate of the bill in the chamber today.

The resolution was strongly pressed by its adherents, with the prospects of a final vote upon it tomorrow. Republican leaders fear its adoption, but seemed assured that the Finance Committee will either decline to ask the treasury for the information or will do everything possible to prevent use of the information on the floor, if it is obtained.

Faced with the strength behind the Simmons resolution, Senator Smoot agreed to let it continue in debate after the hour of 2 P. M., when, if he had had sufficient power, he could have sent it to the calendar.

The resolution was discussed all day, with Mr. Smoot and Senator Reed of Pennsylvania attacking it, and Senators Simmons, Blaine and Barkley defending it. Part of the time was used in the presentation of an amendment by Mr. Blaine, to include in the desired information figures on corporation sales and on wages and salaries for officers and employes.

Smoot Sees Controversial Aim.

Accusations were made by Mr. Smoot that the coalition wished to reopen the controversy over publicity of income taxes and to reverse, as Senator Reed said later, the "policy of keeping returns secret."

Mr. Simmons replied that the tax data was necessary because the tariff bill was largely based on a principle of protecting "inefficiently managed, bankrupt, lame-duck corporations."

An amendment to remove manganese from the free list, where it was placed by the Finance Committee Republicans, was offered by Senator McKellar of Tennessee. He also introduced an amendment to change the complexion of the Tariff Commission.

Senator McMaster introduced an amendment to enable the Finance Committee, on request of any Senator, to obtain from the Tariff Commission information, "whether confidential or otherwise, on any subject referring to the tariff."

An amendment to make the tariff bill rates applicable to Philippine products, now free of duty, and to give the revenue to the Philippine Government for expenses, was offered by Senator Brousard of Louisiana. The amendment would also authorize the President to invite the governments of Great Britain, Japan, Italy and France to attend a conference looking to an agreement to "guarantee the independence of the Islands."

Mr. Simmons offered his expected motion to take up the administrative features of the tariff bill and complete these before the rates were discussed. The motion would mean bringing the flexible provisions of the tariff, the matter of the composition of the Tariff Commission and the "United States Value" plan into debate before the rates were taken up. No action was taken on the motion.

Senator Harrison charged that Mr. Smoot had suppressed figures from the Tariff Commission, showing the relative increases or decreases on tariff rates made by the House and by the Finance Committee in relation

ANTI-RED MOB RAIDS UNION OFFICES AFTER GASTONIA MISTRIAL

Kidnaps Two Communist Leaders and One Defendant and Wrecks Camp of Strikers.

DEFENSE LEADERS GUARDED

JUROR BECOMES INSANE

By JOSEPH SHAPLEN,

Staff Correspondent of The New York Times.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 9.—Cliff Saylor and Morris Wells, two organizers of the National Textile Workers' Union, were tonight in the hands of an anti-Communist mob which went on a rampage in search of Communist leaders and members of the International Labor Defense, following announcement in the papers here and in Gastonia that juroca in the mistrial of the sixteen Communists and strikers accused of killing Chief of Police O. F. Aderholdt of Gastonia were inclined to acquit the defendants.

C. M. Dell, one of the seven defendants in the Aderholdt case, out on bail on the lesser charge of felonious assault, was also taken by the mob, it was announced later by the International Labor Defense.

"Let us take them to the river," was the cry of the mob as the men were taken away.

The mistrial was declared when one of the jurors became a raving maniac. The court, after hearing evidence of the juror's condition, brought the trial to an end, and the defendants will be tried again on Sept. 30 before another jury, with the same judge, M. V. Barnhill, presiding.

Saylor and Wells were captured in Gastonia, whence the mob, operating in a fleet of about fifty automobiles, started with cries, "Get the Reds!"

After raiding the offices of the International Labor Defense in Gastonia and seizing quantities of literature and trampling it in the street, the mob advanced on a union boarding house in Gastonia in search of Hugo Ohler, organizer of the International Labor Defense; William Dunn and other Communist leaders.

Mob Attacks Tent Colony.

Failing to find them in the boarding house, the mob moved to the Communist strike tent colony at Bessemer City, two miles from Gastonia; but the damage done there, if any, is unknown.

Amy Schechter, Sophie Melvin and Vera Buch of New York, three of the defendants in the Aderholdt case, who went to Gastonia tonight to address a strike meeting, which was not held because of threats by the mob, are reported to be in hiding in that city.

Veering from Bessemer City in the direction of Charlotte, about twenty-two miles away, the mob arrived here at about midnight, and some of them who posed as officers, called upon the rest and the people in the street to "Come and get Jimison and string him up," meaning Tom P. Jimison, counsel for the defense.

A number of the raiders drove to Mr. Jimison's home, close to his office and to that of the International Labor Defense, opposite the Court House, but failing to find him home, visited the offices of the International Labor Defense. Leon Josephson, Ohler and a number of other organizers who were in a restaurant nearby managed to escape in an automobile.

Just before the arrival of the mob, Mr. Josephson said he received a telephone message purporting to come from Wells, but becoming suspicious, he and those with him moved from the office of the International Labor Defense to the restaurant to await developments. They managed to beat the mob by a few seconds.

Mr. Josephson said that from Wells's conversation he concluded that he had been kidnapped and that the kidnappers had compelled him to call

NAVY DENIES HAVING PART IN SHEARER PROPAGANDA; JONES ABSOLVED BY HOOVER

Smoot and Simmons Show Senate Secrecy Rule Still Holds

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—New members of the Senate, believing that the rule of secrecy had been abolished, were rudely undeceived today when Senator Smoot and Senator Simmons indulged in one of their confidential interchanges on the tariff. They spoke in such low tones that the official stenographer had to rush over and seat himself in the centre aisle, where the antagonists faced each other over a ten-foot space.

It was certain that they were conversing because Mr. Smoot beat his desk now and then, while Mr. Simmons made circular motions with a large magnifying glass. But other Senators completely abandoned the strain of trying to learn what it was all about and the galleries settled themselves to watch the pantomime.

Finally Senator Borah moved a chair under Mr. Simmons's nose and listened intently, shaking with laughter as the debaters apparently became more excited.

HAD SECRET NAVY AID, SHEARER NOW AVERS

HIS VERSION OF GENEVA TRIP

Denies England Barred Him as an Undesirable, but He Asked Premier to Let Him In.

The United States Navy, although it paid him no fee, was as much his client as the shipyards which employed him to campaign against a reduction of naval armament, William B. Shearer asserted yesterday. Then he proceeded to tell how secret data on the sea strength of the United States and foreign powers were transferred from the files of the Navy Department to his possession.

Mr. Shearer, whose activities at the 1927 Geneva conference on naval arms reduction are about to come under the scrutiny of a Senatorial investigating committee, as well as the Department of Justice inquiry which has been ordered by President Hoover, declared he could only guess at the name of the official who, according to his story, thus opened the archives of the department to him, but he asserted there could be no doubt that the documents in question came to him through official channels.

At the same time he denied ever having named on Sunday Admirals S. S. Robinson, H. A. Wiley, W. V. Pratt or Charles P. Plunkett as having provided him with secret information, thus contradicting reports in newspapers other than THE NEW YORK TIMES that he had mentioned these four Admirals as sources of his propaganda material. Such was his standing among high naval officers, said Shearer yesterday, that all he had to do was to let it be known that he was going to Geneva and needed facts and figures for ammunition, and "lo and behold!" they were forthcoming, anonymously, it was true, but none the less officially.

Mr. Shearer emphasized this when he replied to a question concerning the exact source of the "facts and figures" which he has said the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, the American Brown-Boveri Corporation and the Newport News Shipbuilding

SENATE INQUIRY UP TODAY

ADMIRALS READY TO APPEAR

PRESIDENT BACKS ADVISER

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Members of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee will meet tomorrow to decide whether there shall be a Senatorial investigation of charges that William B. Shearer was employed by American shipbuilding corporations to defeat the purpose of the ill-fated Geneva conference of the limitation of naval armaments. That the investigation would be held was not doubted today at the Capitol, where opinion was held that it would be turned over to the Foreign Relations Committee, headed by Senator Borah, who first suggested the inquiry.

Senator Hale, chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, was reticent in discussing the probable procedure, but Senator Swanson, ranking Democratic member, was insistent that the investigation proceed.

Senator Borah, who will appear before the committee, was equally determined to go thoroughly into the matter of the alleged propaganda by the shipbuilding concerns. He said he would be perfectly willing to assume responsibility for the inquiry if his committee was called upon to conduct it.

Hoover Clears Admiral Jones.

After Admiral Jones, who is now acting as naval adviser to Mr. Hoover, conferred with the President at the White House today, the following telegram was given out:

The Hon. J. W. McClintic, Althus, Okla.:

I have your telegram of Sept. 7. You are entirely mistaken as to any connection between Admiral Hilary P. Jones and the gentleman you mention. They have never had acquaintance, and I have ample reason to know that there could not possibly be such relationship as you suggest.

I do hope you will accept my assurance that there is a mistake. Admiral Jones deserves highest appreciation for his public service.

HERBERT HOOVER.

It is understood that Mr. McClintic, a Democratic member of the House Naval Affairs Committee, intimated that Admiral Jones might have cooperated with Mr. Shearer at Geneva. The Admiral said on entering the White House that he had seen Mr. Shearer, who dubs himself a "naval expert," in Switzerland, but had never conversed with him.

Complete confidence in the naval officers with whom Mr. Shearer alleges he has had conversations was expressed by Secretary of the Navy Adams, who promised willingness on the part of these officers to appear before any investigating committee. Conceding that some younger officers might possibly have talked with Mr. Shearer, Secretary Adams asserted that from what he had heard naval officers were generally extremely cautious in dealing with the man.

The possibility that the Navy Department might institute an inquiry of its own loomed in the background, but Secretary Adams explained that there had as yet been no decision whether this would be advisable. He added that, if events required it, the department would act.

Senator King Explains His Part.

The Navy Department had long had certain information regarding Mr. Shearer, Secretary Adams said, but he declined to comment further, saying that he did not wish to make any charges which could not be substantiated.

Senator King, Democrat of Utah, one of those Mr. Shearer says he negotiated with, stated that some years ago, when he introduced a resolution to investigate the general condition of the navy, Mr. Shearer sought contact with him. Mr. Shear

Soviet to Move Two American Factories To Moscow to Make Dollar Watches There

Soviet Russia is rushing plans to manufacture for the first time the American dollar watch and the alarm clock. To manufacture inexpensive watches and clocks of those and other types the Soviet Precision Machinery Trust, it was learned yesterday, has bought through the Amtorg Trading Corporation, 261 Fifth Avenue, the entire equipment and machinery of two American clock and watch factories.

The factories purchased are the Ansonia Clock Company's plant at 297 Seventh Avenue, Brooklyn, and the Dueber-Hampden Watch Company's plant at Canton, Ohio. Before the negotiations for the purchase were closed A. P. Bodroff, chairman of the Soviet Precision Machinery Trust, and I. G. Sarkin, technical director, came to America to inspect the machinery and equipment of the two factories.

The two American clock and watch factories will be reconstructed in Moscow and will be ready for production in 1931, according to an Amtorg representative. They will start production at an annual rate of 1,000,000 inexpensive watches, 1,000,000 alarm clocks, 500,000 wall and electric clocks and 200,000 better grade watches. At present the Soviet Precision Machinery Trust is manufacturing the pendulum type of wall clocks at the rate of 1,000,000 a year.

The trust also manufactures a few typewriters, aviation accessories and medical, optical and laboratory instruments. Previously its only real watch production had been in assembling parts made abroad. The trust's production last year was valued at $10,000,000, according to Amtorg.

Foremen from the American factories will go to Moscow to assist in reassembling the machinery and erecting the plants.

Patrolman Shoots Negro Student as He Flees After Clash Over Seat in Elevated Train

A dispute over a seat in an elevated train on the Fulton Street line, in Brooklyn, last evening between two negro students in Lincoln University, Pennsylvania, and Patrolman Walter Lowe, resulted later in the shooting of one of the students by the policeman. The student was shot in the back and it was said the wound might prove fatal.

The wounded student, Ralph Baker, 24 years old, of 145 Willowdale Avenue, Montclair, N. J., was taken to St. John's Hospital as a prisoner on a charge of felonious assault. He is said to have struck the patrolman before the shooting. His companion, William Fontaine, 25, also of the Montclair address, was locked up in the Gates Avenue station charged with acting in concert with Baker.

After Fontaine had been placed in a cell, Deputy Inspector Fitzpatrick explained that Baker had struck the patrolman after Lowe had placed him and Fontaine under arrest at the foot of the elevated station in Rockaway Avenue, near Troy Avenue.

Lowe's story was that he was sitting in the train with a friend, Miss Louise Crocker of the Harriet Judson Memorial Y. W. C. A., when the two students entered and crowded into a seat beside him. An argument started between the students and the patrolman, who was in civilian's clothes, and when the train reached Rockaway Avenue, the patrolman followed them to the platform to arrest them.

He said he had started to the street with the men as prisoners, when Baker struck him in the face, and then both students ran. Lowe admitted he fired four shots at Baker, one of which entered his back. He then overtook Fontaine. He had brought Fontaine back to the wounded student when other policemen arrived.

Lowe admitted at the station that he was off duty. The lieutenant summoned Dr. Louis T. Wright, a negro police surgeon, who examined Lowe and pronounced him "fit for duty." Fontaine told the lieutenant that he and Baker had come to Brooklyn to visit relatives.

er, Mr. King said, declared he did not represent any one except himself. Eventually, the King resolution was defeated, its author left the Naval Affairs Committee and has not seen Mr. Shearer since.

Senator Allen of Kansas, publicity manager in the Hoover campaign, explained that last year his secretary said Mr. Shearer had offered to make a "big navy" speech over the radio. To this Mr. Allen replied that he was not interested. Any allegation that Mr. Shearer made a radio speech for the Republican National Committee was untrue, the Senator stated.

No explanation was obtainable of the assertion of Mr. Shearer that he had received a confidential navy "blue book" by mail under a departmental frank before going to the Geneva conference of 1927. Secretary Adams said that there was no record of such an incident in the department and he had found no evidence that the department had given Mr. Shearer naval figures.

Secretary Adams pointed out that figures as to the American and foreign navies were printed periodically by the department and made available to the press.

The statistics used by American naval officers and by Hugh S. Gibson, chief of the American delegation, at the 1927 conference, Mr. Adams asserted, were correct and not dependent upon Mr. Shearer. From this it was inferred that attempts by foreign naval experts to charge the use of incorrect figures by the American delegation at Geneva and from that American responsibility for the collapse of the conference, would be resisted, if necessary, by the Navy Department.

Denies Admirals Are Involved.

The Secretary declared that the Department had every faith that there were no improper relations between naval officers mentioned by Mr. Shearer and the latter.

The officers mentioned are Rear Admiral Henry A. Wiley, who until recently commanded the United States Fleet and is now on leave at Point a Pitre, Quebec, pending his retirement from active service for age at the end of this month; Admiral W. V. Pratt, newly appointed commander of the United States Fleet, who is now on his flagship, the Texas, at Portland, Me.; Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, former commander of the fleet and at present commandant of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, and Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, retired, former commander of the New York Naval District, whose present address is 120 Broadway, New York City.

These officers, Secretary Adams said, had not communicated with him since their names were mentioned by Mr. Shearer, nor had the department communicated with them, but the promise that they would give testimony in any investigation, he explained, was based upon naval policy and a determination to order their appearance before any investigating body, such as the Senate Naval Committee, at the proper time when they were wanted. Such orders are issued as routine procedure in investigations.

No improper connection would be found between the navy and Mr. Shearer, the Secretary predicted. He did not believe that any naval officers of important rank had improper relations with Mr. Shearer at the Geneva conference.

Statement on Shearer's Service.

Mr. Adams then gave out a memorandum which had been prepared for him in the department, reading as follows:

"Mr. W. B. Shearer is in no way connected with the navy or naval reserve. The records of the department show that Mr. Shearer was enlisted in the navy as an electrician, 2d class, on April 25, 1898, at New York City. He was discharged from the U. S. S. Vermont, New York City, on Dec. 19, 1898.

"On March 23, 1918, Mr. Shearer was employed by the Bureau of Engineering, but on April 4, 1918, Mr. Shearer tendered his resignation as a civilian engineer on special duty for the Bureau of Engineering, which was accepted by the department on that date."

According to the memories of some officers, Mr. Shearer, in his brief connection with the service in 1918, sought unsuccessfully to interest the navy in an invention by him of a one-man torpedo boat. Mr. Shearer then tried to sell the invention to the Herreshoff Manufacturing Company, according to Mr. Adams, who at the time was a director in the company. The company told him the Secretary added, that it was not interested.

No confirmation was obtainable here of the report that Mr. Shearer had written Premier MacDonald, asking permission to attend the projected naval reduction conference in London, after having been refused a passport visa.

Such information is never given out, either at the State Department or at the British Embassy, but it was definitely established that Mr. Shearer had not applied for a visa at the embassy, the normal source of such a visa, and that British Embassy officials knew of no such incident. If the State Department had refused him a passport, no official admission to that effect could be obtained.

The State Department also threw no light on Mr. Shearer's contention that Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State, had discouraged his armament activities. Secretary Stimson said it was the first he had ever heard of the matter.

Later a confidential report on Mr. Shearer, which has long reposed in the State Department files, was shown the Secretary of State by his assistants. This report, it was explained, was one prepared in ordinary course on a person who was active on subjects which concerned the State Department and had not been prepared as a result of Mr. Shearer's efforts at any particular time.

SEEKS SAILOR'S RELATIVES.

Navy Wants to Find Next of Kin of Robert Condit, Who Died Last Week

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—An appeal to the public was made by the Navy Department today to locate the next of kin of Robert Dudley Condit, a seaman, first class, who died last Wednesday at the Puget Sound Naval Hospital.

Naval records show that on Condit gave as his next of kin his father, Theodore Condit, of 200 West Sixtieth Street, New York City, but inquiry has developed that the latter left that address over a year ago.

Condit was born Dec. 2, 1901, at Newark, N. J. He gave his address, when he first enlisted in 1920, as 152 East Sixty-ninth Street, New York City.

He was discharged in December, 1927, and then gave his address as 229½ West Sixtieth Street, Los Angeles, Cal. When he immediately re-enlisted, he gave the New York address of his father.

and Dry Dock Company are alleged to have paid him for using as propaganda in the role of a disinterested patriot.

Obviously annoyed over a published report that England had classed him as an undesirable and would not admit him to British territory for the next conference, Mr. Shearer denied that he had asked for a visa recently, but made public a letter he sent directly to Premier Ramsay MacDonald on June 4, instead of through the usual State Department channels. In it he referred to "apprehension and suspicion" in the United States as a result of "foreign propaganda," and asked permission to go to England to "state unofficially the facts concerning our side of the case" in the event the next conference on naval arms limitations were held in London, or elsewhere in British territory. He received only a formal acknowledgement from an Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs and wrote again on July 15 to the Foreign Office, again stating his case and denying that he ever had been held for espionage, as he said had been charged in a "document issued by the British authorities."

Gives Another Interview.

Mr. Shearer contends that the shipyards already have paid him $50,000. He is suing them for $250,000 which he maintains is still due him.

In New York yesterday for a conference with his attorney, former Judge Daniel P. Cohalan, Mr. Shearer saw reporters at his office, 45 Nassau Street. The inscription on the door reads "Sea Power Oil Company," and the walls of the office are plastered with photographs of President Coolidge, President Hoover, Senator Hiram Johnson of California and other high government officials.

"I had been in Washington just before the opening of the Geneva Conference in 1926," he began, stopping now and then to purse his lips thoughtfully and gesture with arms whose muscles bulged through the fabric of the hot-weather suit he was wearing. "Everywhere I went, they were saying that Lord Riddle would dominate the publicity at Geneva just as he did at the Washington Conference.

"They were saying that Shearer ought to go to Geneva too, to see that the United States got a fair break. I dropped the word around that perhaps Shearer would go, and pointed out that if I had something—of course—

"'When are you planning to go?' some of them asked me; and I said, 'Well, the Leviathan sails next Saturday.' I returned to New York to the Grosvenor Hotel.

"Somebody must have overheard me talking in Washington—the word that Shearer was going to Geneva must have traveled through the Navy Department like a stock market tip in Wall Street. For just two days before I sailed, lo and behold, a bulky package arrived at my hotel.

"Official" Navy Aid by Stealth.

"The package was enclosed in an official envelope of the Navy Department. There were no stamps on it. In one corner was the imprint of the Navy Department and in the other was the warning that a penalty would be inflicted for franking it for anything but official business. So, you see, it must have been sent officially.

"Well, in that packet was the navy's "Blue Book," with data—figures, facts and comment—on the strength of the United States Navy and the fleets of foreign countries. It was compiled by the Naval Intelligence Service, I suppose."

"Was the information it contained for public information or the navy's private use?" he was asked.

"Oh, no, it wasn't a public document by any means—far from it," Mr. Shearer replied with a deprecating motion of his arm.

"Who sent it to you?"

"That is something I could only guess at," said Mr. Shearer with a smile. "I might make a guess but I couldn't prove anything. There was no card inclosed and I received no letter of explanation."

All this, Shearer asserted, took place before he was retained by the shipbuilding corporations to campaign for more cruisers. He was campaigning as a free agent for more cruisers then but he had been inspired, he said, to undertake "big navy propaganda" by high officers of the navy during the visit of the Pacific fleet to this port in March of 1924. The same documents which came into his possession while he was merely pleading the navy's case as "a patriotic American," proved useful to him in 1927 when, he admits, he was in the pay of the shipyards. These latter, he explained, furnished the cash, the navy provided the data and he supplied the action to make both effective.

Avoids Names; Corrects an Error.

Throughout his whole conversation, Mr. Shearer was careful to avoid naming names and when one crept into the discussion, he was quick to warn that names were "off the record." His statement denying responsibility for the statement in newspapers, other than THE TIMES, that four Admirals provided him with naval information follows:

"The press states that I named four Admirals as giving me information. I have named no Admirals or naval officials in any statement I have issued, as giving me information.

"I stated that in March, 1924, the officers of the Pacific battlefleet were given a reception at the Union League Club in New York City, and that certain officers asked me to make a fight for cruisers and a naval base on the Pacific. I was asked to name these officers. I said it was no one in particular. I was asked to name some officers who were present at the meeting. I stated that all the Admirals in command of the Pacific battlefleet were present and that Admiral Robinson, Admiral Wiley, Admiral Pratt and Rear Admiral Plunkett and others made speeches, and I then quoted excerpts from their speeches."

This substantially, Mr. Shearer said, was the way in which he was quoted in THE TIMES. Among the excerpts he quoted was one to the effect that the Pacific fleet would be helpless in a Pacific engagement without an ally because of the lack of fuel and naval bases there.

The newspaper files show that on Dec. 9, 1924, several months after, he says, naval officers enlisted his support on behalf of a big navy, he used almost the same words in a speech before the board of directors of the National Security League.

"We are a navy without an ally," he said, "and must be prepared to go it alone."

Thanked by "Form Letter."

In a printed broadside sent out by the National Security League at that time, S. Stanwood Menken, president of the organization, referred to the self-admitted propagandist as a "Captain" William B. Shearer, and said the speaker "has informed me that every fact in his speech has been checked up by one of the highest officers in the United States Navy." After its delivery, Mr. Shearer said, he received a congratulatory letter from Mr. Menken and was invited to speak again. Asked how he came by the title of Captain, Mr. Shearer waved his arms again and said: "Oh, they've called me everything but wrong!"

Mr. Menken said yesterday that Mr. Shearer had been invited by the National Security League to speak in place of another man who had been scheduled for an address but who had fallen ill. The league has more than 1,000 speakers on its list, he said, and a formal letter of appreciation is sent to each of them after an address. The letters which Mr. Shearer received after his address to the board and subsequent speeches over the radio, he said, were the customary form letters. At no time, Mr. Menken said, had the league paid Mr. Shearer for his services.

In his interview on the railroad station platform at Stamford on Sunday afternoon Mr. Shearer declared that every word he uttered and everything he did had the approval of Henry C. Hunter, attorney, of 50 Broadway, and the latter's clients, the National Council of American Shipbuilders. This was denied yesterday by Mr. Hunter. H. G. Smith, president of the council and vice president of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, declared that the national council "never paid Mr. Shearer a penny and never had any connection or dealings with him."

Rear Admiral Plunkett, now retired, refused to make any comment upon Mr. Shearer's statement that he was present at the Union League Club dinner when "naval officers" besought the propagandist to fight against naval arms reduction and crusade for more cruisers.

"I understand I may be called before the Senate investigating committee and feel that I should reserve all comment and statements until such time," he said.

His Appeal to MacDonald.

Mr. Shearer was perturbed yesterday at published reports from London to the effect that Great Britain had refused recently to visa his passport for a trip abroad because his name was blacklisted as "undesirable." Although he denied that he had sought a visa recently, he made public his correspondence with Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of England, and the British Foreign Office relative to obtaining permission to attend the next naval arms conference, should it be held in London.

The letter of June 4 said in part:

> The issue of naval disarmament or naval limitation played an important part in our election, as it did in the British elections, and as this issue of naval reduction and the freedom of the seas is to be a paramount issue for some time to come, it is my belief that an understanding can best be reached by laying all the cards on the table as suggested by Mr. Bridgeman at Geneva. There has been much apprehension and suspicion caused in the United States by the continuance of foreign propaganda both against the United States Navy and the merchant marine.
> I ask to be permitted to come to England and state unofficially the facts concerning our side of the case, and let there be every courtesy extended me that has been and is extended to every British subject coming to our country, whether he be lecturer, writer or propagandist.

Under date of July 4 Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs wrote a formal acknowledgement of receipt of the letter but made no comment upon Mr. Shearer's request. On July 15 Mr. Shearer wrote to the British Foreign Office. In this letter he said in part:

Shearer: Basis of Understanding.

> For your information, I wish to state that at the close of the Tri-Power Naval Conference at Geneva in 1927 I became the possessor of a document issued by British authorities stating I had been held for espionage in the United States in 1920, at which time I was conducting experiments for the United States by order of the Secretary of War.
> There is no evidence that I ever have been held or accused of espionage in the United States, Great Britain or any other country. I was advised further in Geneva during the Tri-Power Conference in 1927 that it would be inadvisable for me to put my foot on British territory owing to my activities in issues of national defense for my own country.
> In my letter of June 4 to the Prime Minister I asked permission to come to England to contribute to a better understanding on the outstanding question of today—namely seapower. Though I hold no official position, I am not confused with the mystifying "yardstick," in what I consider must be the basis of a naval understanding between the United States and Great Britain.

Two Cruisers Reach Balboa on Training Voyage.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BALBOA, Sept. 9.—The Japanese cruisers Asama and Iwate, commanded by Admiral Nomura and carrying cadets of the Japanese Royal Navy on a training cruise, arrived at Balboa today from Los Angeles and will anchor in the Pacific entrance for two days before proceeding through the Canal.

The Asama is commanded by Captain M. Hibino and the Iwate by Captain Guichi Suzuki. Admiral Nomura and his staff called on the Acting Governor of the Canal Zone, Colonel Julian Schley, this afternoon.

Delmonico's Maitre d'Hotel Now Runs a 'Coffee Pot'

Special to The New York Times.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 9.—Charles Groise, who once supervised the dining plans of royalty and was all but custodian of the tastes of New York City's "400" as dean of that advanced school of culinary art, famous old Delmonico's, is now looking after the gastronomic wants of a modest clientele here, it was learned today. The former Maitre de hotel is operating the "Coffee Pot" at the Elizabeth Public Market, East Jersey Street and Jefferson Avenue.

Groise went to Delmonico's about twenty years ago as a waiter, and through all the successive steps he climbed to the position of captain, then to maitre de hotel. He held the coveted post for three years until the restaurant closed, in 1924. He then went to the Adirondack Hotel, at Tupper Lake, N. Y., where he stayed for a season, and then he and Mrs. Groise came here and opened their "Coffee Pot."

DENIES PILOT FLEW AGAINST OWN WISH

T. A. T. Official Says Passenger Fliers Are Allowed to Await End of Storms.

NO STORM WAS REPORTED

Company in Official Statement Says City of San Francisco Hit at Full Speed and Under Control.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 9.—Paul Collins, system superintendent of the Transcontinental Air Transport, today declared that there was no basis for the report that J. B. Stowe, pilot of the wrecked air liner City of San Francisco, had not wanted to leave Albuquerque last Tuesday because of storm conditions. It was rumored that such charges had been broached at the scene of the wreckage on Mount Taylor, near Grant, N. M., Sunday morning.

"This is just as much without basis as many other reports which have been circulated during the past week," said Mr. Collins. "No such charge was made at the scene of the wreck Sunday.

"More than that, there is no transport company in the country which requires a pilot to leave the ground when he does not want to because of storm or other conditions. Stowe received no such orders and offered no objection to the Tuesday flight.

"Some time before the accident a memorandum was issued from my office to the pilots to the effect that if they turned back during a storm they would not be criticized, but rather would be complimented by the company for using good judgment."

The next development in the case will probably come from the Department of Commerce upon the receipt of the official investigation of Inspector R. I. Hazen. Mr. Hazen refused last night to divulge the nature of his report and referred all inquiries to the department in Washington.

Base Report on Lindbergh's View.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9 (AP).—Transcontinental Air Transport officials, including Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, chairman of the technical committee, issued a report tonight concerning probable causes of the wreck of the airliner City of San Francisco. The report was based on Colonel Lindbergh's observations at the scene and the telegraphic report of Paul Collins, general superintendent of the line, who directed the search and visited the wreck.

"Too many things are involved," the report said, "to give an irrefutable cause of the accident. From a survey of the facts obtainable, it is our opinion that Pilot Stowe crashed into the ground at full speed and under full control. He may have been blinded momentarily by a severe storm.

"A dangerous storm area was not indicated on any of the weather reports and must have been very local in character. Just before taking off from Albuquerque, Pilot Stowe was handed a weather report showing visibility, temperature, cloud conditions, barometric pressure and ceiling and other important weather data from twelve reporting stations in that area, three weather bureau stations and nine T. A. T. stations.

"At none of these places were hazardous flying conditions reported. On the same day our eastbound ship and aircraft of other companies flew the same route without encountering unusual conditions.

"Pilot Stowe did not take off into the face of poor flying conditions nor against his better judgment, as no one in the entire T. A. T. organization has the authority to order a pilot to make such a flight.

"It is quite possible that full facts concerning the cause of the tragedy will never be known but the company realizes its obligation to make public such facts and will do so if they are ever available.

Regular schedules over T. A. T. will be resumed as soon as equipment and personnel are properly ready. Officials of T. A. T. are appreciative of the splendid cooperation given by army and navy planes, planes of other commercial operators and private owners.

"This shocking tragedy has not lessened our confidence in the present value of commercial aviation any more than a railroad or a steamship catastrophe can destroy the value of these means of transportation.

"We deeply regret that air transport, which has made such rapid strides in the past few years, should be afflicted with its tragedies just as are the railroad, the sea and the highway.

"Transcontinental Air Transport has spared neither expense nor labor in its efforts to make flying safe. This experience, sad as it is, will only spur us to work the harder."

The conference drawing up the report included, besides Colonel Lindbergh, Colonel Paul Henderson, executive vice president, and J. V. Magee, managing vice president.

3 Oil Workers Burn to Death In Texas, Bathing in Gasoline

WINK, Texas, Sept. 9 (AP).—Three oil field workers were burned to death in the bath house of the Republic Oil Company's lease near here last night. Two others were severely burned.

The men were using gasoline to remove grease from their bodies, their clothing having become saturated with oil while working on a well. A heater in the bath house was believed to have ignited the gasoline.

ROOSEVELT OUTLINES HIS FARM PROGRAM

Governor Stresses State Guidance in Schenectady Speech After Mohawk Valley Parade.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 9 (AP).—The program of his administration to improve the lot of the agricultural sections of the State, not by "farm relief" but by making it possible for the farmer to help himself, was explained by Governor Roosevelt at a dinner given in his honor tonight in the Scotia Baptist Church by the Mohawk Valley Towns Association.

This program, he said, included the modernization of about 55,000 miles of rural highways, legislation to permit the rural sections to accomplish this modernization and the gathering by the State of information which would make it possible to guide the agricultural industry of the State to the condition of prosperity now enjoyed by its manufacturing, business and financial interests.

Undaunted by the downpour which extended over the entire length of the valley all this morning, a score or more of gayly decorated motor cars made an early start from Rome, gathering more paraders and floats in all the twenty-three cities through which the procession passed, until, by the time it reached this city, the parade included nearly 250 units, of which about 50 were elaborate floats depicting many scenes famous in the Colonial history of the region.

SHIP DISASTER TOLL AT 100.

Bodies of Thirty-two Victims in Finnish Tragedy Are Recovered.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 9 (AP).—Latest figures of the loss of life in the Kuru steamship disaster Saturday raised the number of dead to about 100. Thirty-two bodies have been recovered.

Only about twenty were saved when the steamer went down outside the harbor of Tamerfors. The ship was carrying mostly school children.

NEW CHIEF TO OPEN JERSEY DRY DRIVE

W. J. Calhoun, Named Successor to Ross, Gets Washington Order to Stop Beer Flow.

TO CENTRE ON BIG DEALERS

He Pledges "Enforcement Without Sensationalism"—Will Change Method, but Not Staff.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—A new drive to stop the flow of high-powered beer in New Jersey will be made under orders from Washington by William J. Calhoun, who has succeeded Captain Edwin S. Ross as prohibition administrator in the State, with headquarters in Newark.

In announcing the appointment of Mr. Calhoun today Prohibition Commissioner Doran stated that the new administration would have a free hand in making changes in personnel and that the "high command" here would look to him to make good in the endeavor, now in progress for many years, to put the Jersey breweries out of business.

It is probable that in due season, if Mr. Calhoun asks for help, the dry force in New Jersey will be augmented, as that State still is regarded as one of the wettest in the Union, and brewers and bootleggers in hard stuff are as rampant there now as they were in the early days of the Volstead act.

Washington Expects Results.

Mr. Calhoun is the sixteenth man who has been entrusted with the job of drying up New Jersey, and officials here express confidence that he will attain results.

Commissioner Doran emphasized today that no charges had been made against Captain Ross, who is to receive an important assignment in the dry service, probably in the Washington bureau.

Dr. Doran asserted that he had the highest regard for Captain Ross, that he had made the change in the hope that he could restore the morale of the Newark force and put it in fighting trim for the new drive on the Jersey bootleggers.

Mr. Calhoun was an agent in New York at the time of his detail to Newark about a month ago. He was sent to Newark when Captain Ross went on his Summer vacation, a day or so ago.

According to information obtained here, Captain Ross returned to his Newark office and made ready to resume his duties as administrator. Mr. Calhoun informed him that he was in charge, whereupon Captain Ross hurried to Washington and learned from Commissioner Doran that Mr. Calhoun would be continued in charge at Newark as administrator.

Calhoun Seeks "Big Violators."

In announcing at Newark yesterday that he had been appointed Prohibition Administrator for New Jersey, Mr. Calhoun said that there would be no radical reorganization of the personnel of the bureau there, but that there would be a definite change in methods.

"There will be no sensationalism," he declared. "I don't believe New Jersey presents a more difficult problem than any other State. We will attempt to make complete cases against big violators to present to the District Attorney and will take plenty of time making them."

Walter E. Brown, who has been assistant administrator in charge of enforcement in the bureau for three years, will remain in that capacity, Calhoun said. Later, he said, he will fill the vacancy caused by the transfer of Ludo C. Pickett, assistant administrator, in charge of permits. William L. J. Sullivan was appointed as chief inspector in the permit division to succeed Abraham Miller, transferred to New York.

Pickett and Miller were transferred after they had been suspended by Calhoun for engaging in a fist fight.

Sigourney B. Olney of Brooklyn.
Michael Furst, president of the Brooklyn Bar Association.

The appearance of Chairman Maier's name on the list is accepted here as evidence that the Hoover organization in the State and Representatives Parker and Snell of New York lend their support to Mr. Byers's candidacy, although administration officials would not comment on this aspect of the case today. They appear to be satisfied that the nomination will be confirmed.

Scott Wilson, named to the vacancy in the First Circuit, is at present Chief Justice of the Maine Supreme Court. He was endorsed by Senator Hale and Senator Gould of Maine, by the State's delegation in the House, and by practically all the Maine judges.

The Endorsers for Mr. Avis.

John Boyd Avis, named as the successor of Judge Bodine in New Jersey, was admitted to the bar in that State in 1896. Formerly a member of the New Jersey Assembly, he was speaker of the House from 1902 to 1905, and member of the State Senate from 1906 to 1909. He was endorsed by Senators Edge and Kean. Others who endorsed him were:

HERBERT A. DRAKE, attorney, Temple Building, Camden.
Judge RUNYAN, United States District Court, New Jersey.
Judge FAKE, United States District Court, New Jersey.
Judge J. WARREN DAVIS, United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit.
DAVID O. WATKINS, former Governor of New Jersey and former United States Attorney.

DANIEL W. BECKLEY, attorney, Woodbury, N. J., former chairman of the Democratic committee.
WILLIAM H. DAVIS, Woodbury, N. J.
Former Judge WILLIAM T. BOYLE, First National Bank and Trust Company, Camden, N. J., president of the Camden County Bar Association and third vice president of the New Jersey Bar Association.
LEWIS M. STARR, former Judge of New Jersey State Court of Common Pleas, Gloucester, N. J.

Organizations Disappointed.

The appointment of Mortimer W. Byers to the Federal Bench of the Eastern District of New York fills the remaining vacancy created by passage of the bill sponsored by Representative Robert L. Bacon of Westbury, Nassau County.

The bill, which provided for two additional judges of the United States District Court was passed by Congress last February and signed by President Coolidge, who left the selection of the men to fill the positions to his successor in office. One was filled by the appointment of Clarence G. Galston of Woodmere, L. I., shortly after President Hoover took office.

The selection of Mr. Byers by the President is a bitter disappointment to the members of the regular Republican organization in Kings County and the four other counties making up the Eastern District. The other counties are Richmond, Queens, Nassau and Suffolk. The leaders of all the counties had candidates.

Jacob A. Livingston, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Republican party in Kings County, when asked concerning the appointment and his attitude toward it, answered:

"Mr. Byers had not the endorsement of the Kings County organization and neither did he seek it."

It is generally believed that Mr. Livingston was in favor of the appointment of former Assemblyman Fred Ahern of the Tenth Assembly District or former Assistant District Attorney John Francis Moore of the Eleventh Assembly District. It was also reported that Mr. Livingston looked with favor upon the candidacy of former Supreme Court Justice Frank S. Gannon of Staten Island.

Discontent Is Expressed.

Among the rank and file of the organization in Kings County expressions of discontent at the appointment of Mr. Byers were openly made. Many of the organization workers said they believed that as long as Kings County had been ignored in the appointment of Judge Galston, the least the organization could expect was the appointment of one of its members to the remaining position. Some of the members pointed to the paucity of patronage controlled by the organization in Brooklyn and felt that it was entitled to at least the crumbs that might drop from the Federal table.

Mr. Byers, it was pointed out, never took an active part in Republican politics. Although a member of the Eleventh Assembly District Republican Club, he was not endorsed for the judgeship by Eugene M. Travis, former State Controller, and Republican leader of the district. In a statement to newspapermen the appointee stated that he had never held public office and had never been a candidate for one.

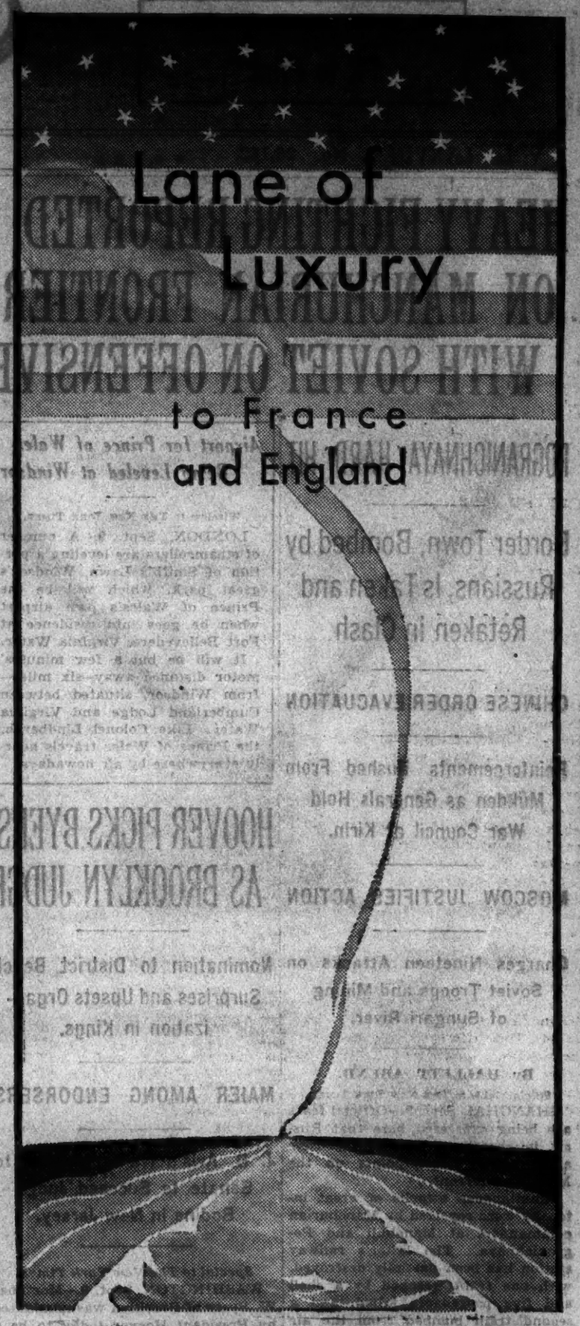
Mr. Byers said yesterday afternoon at the Brooklyn Bar Association, of which he is a trustee and chairman of the grievance committee, that he had received no official word of his appointment but was told that a news agency had sent out a report from Washington that he had been selected. If the report of his selection proved true, he added, he would accept and try to fill the position to the best of his ability.

Mr. Byers is 52 years old. He was born in Brooklyn and resides at 188 Gates Avenue. His law office is at 41 Park Row, Manhattan. He has three daughters, 21, 18 and 13 years of age.

A member of the Crescent Athletic Club, the Lawyers' Club of Brooklyn and the Bellport Country Club, he is a graduate of Adelphi Academy and Columbia Law School. Graduated from the latter institution in 1898, he was admitted to the bar in the same year, and has been practicing law for more than twenty-five years.

Mr. Byers was appointed by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, with Meier Steinbrink, to prosecute certain lawyers for their alleged activities in ambulance chasing.

Lane of Luxury to France and England



It begins in New York when you board the LEVIATHAN, ship of ships—and the world's largest. Go straight to a stateroom cushioned with comfort—and a decorative masterpiece. Summon your steward, who speaks your own language—and what a blessing that is! Then for the next five days and six hours lift not a finger for service but deed every ounce of vitality to pleasure. Sock a golf ball into the net or the blue . . . compete for the championship of the mid-Atlantic . . . flock a tennis ball over the mesh . . . soften your pulse beat with a swan dive into that gorgeous Pompeian pool . . . dance the hours away in the ballroom . . . or laze and lounge with your mental matches in luxurious galleries, foyers, salons, smoking rooms that rival in splendor the vaunted glories of old Versailles. Your salt-stirred appetite? Bring it to an American cuisine that is the peer of the best in America. The end of this lane of luxury is Cherbourg and Southampton—and your sole regret is that the LEVIATHAN travels it so swiftly.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Claudius Huston of Tennessee, the choice of President Hoover, was unanimously elected by the Republican National Committee as its chairman at a special meeting in the Willard Hotel here today. He succeeds Dr. Hubert Work of Colorado, who resigned after managing Mr. Hoover's successful primary and election campaigns.

The utmost harmony was manifested among the Old Guard of the party. The women members of the committee welcomed the new chairman and the Southern members declared themselves pleased that one from their section had been honored.

On the surface there was no ill-feeling as Dr. Work laid down the gavel. The differences and personal animosities engendered between other party leaders and Dr. Work in last year's campaign were put in the background by the eulogistic expressions exchanged.

Hoover Praises Dr. Work.

President Hoover praised the retiring chairman in a letter read to the committee, resolutions were adopted attesting to his courage and leadership and the new chairman was ushered into office in an atmosphere of good feeling.

Upon assuming office Mr. Huston delivered a brief speech in which he declared that President Hoover is stronger in popular confidence and esteem than ever and pledged the party to continuous activity in performing his duties as chairman "under the leadership of President Hoover."

An action of the committee to which much interest was attracted was the election of James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh, the committee's general counsel, as a member of the executive committee of the national committee.

In the first article of her published series concerning the Federal effort to enforce the Volstead act Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant Attorney General, said that the speech she delivered to a gathering of Methodist clergymen in Ohio during the Presidential campaign, which had been severely criticized as showing religious intolerance with respect to Alfred E. Smith's candidacy for President, had been delivered at the instance of the Republican National Committee and had been edited in advance of delivery by Mr. Burke. The statement was denied by Mr. Burke, who is a Catholic. In the last campaign an effort was made to have Mr. Burke elected to the executive committee, but it was unsuccessful.

Huston Against "Spasmodic Effort."

Mr. Huston in his address said:

"I am very grateful for the honor you have conferred upon me. I accept the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee in the hope that with your help I may be of service to the Republican party under the leadership of President Hoover.

"The work of a national party organization is no longer a mere spasmodic campaign effort. It is a year-round task. In order that I may give proper attention to it, I am severing all my active business connections and will in the near future be able to give the work my undivided effort.

"Nor is successful political effort a one-man affair. It depends on common counsel and common effort. The chairmanship of the national committee could not be safely assumed except with the knowledge that the cooperation of the members of this committee is assured.

"My task is made easier because of the harmonious conditions prevailing in the Republican national organization at the close of the administration of my friend Dr. Work, under whose chairmanship the Republican party gained one of the most remarkable victories in all the long history of our party.

"I regard the Republican National Committee as one of the most important of all our political agencies in America. It is not a mere political machine. It is a body of distinguished men and women honored by their respective States. Furthermore, it is the committee's duty to aid the administration in wisely manning the government and carrying into effect our party policies."

Says Hoover Adds to His Strength.

Mr. Huston said that to nominate and elect candidates and carry on the other duties requires "a high and correct conception of what party management and party responsibility mean to this country. It requires "tolerant discussion of issues and harmonious team-work."

"It is a privilege to one who has been a worker in the ranks of Republicanism from youth," he continued, "to undertake further service in behalf of the Republican party and the administration of President Hoover. Remarkable as was the demonstration of Herbert Hoover's popularity at the last election, it is evident that throughout the country he now stands stronger in popular confidence and esteem than ever before.

"My program as chairman will be that of seeking to build up, with your help and that of all other Republican workers throughout the country, an organization which will insure full expression of that public opinion which stands with and by the Republican party and the administration program.

"It is natural for me to regard the chairmanship of this committee as one of the highest honors that can come to any citizen, and to justify the confidence you have reposed in me, I pledge you the best service of which I am capable."

Dr. Work Addresses the Committee.

Dr. Work, the retiring chairman, told the committee that he had its full cooperation during the last campaign, which was filled with so many diverse political issues and annoyances. He praised Mr. Huston as a man of courage and wide political ability. "There could be no good government, he said, without a good party government.

"And I think the government is always best when it is Republican-controlled," he added.

"I say in leaving that it is our responsibility to keep the Republican party in power, so that we may have good government."

The following resolution, offered by Earle S. Kinsley of Vermont, was adopted:

Resolved, that the Republican National Committee hereby formally spreads upon its minutes its gratitude to the Hon. Hubert Work for his unselfish and valued service rendered by him as its chairman during a period of American political history that demanded not only distinguished ability and untiring energy but a patience and a philosophy that commanded the respect of his contemporaries and enabled him to serve the highest purpose of his party in shaping its policies and successfully conducting one of the most notable and important Presidential campaigns in three-quarters of a century of its career.

Recalls Hoover's Large Vote.

The issues were varied and the consequences were vital to the nation's welfare.

The fact that Herbert Hoover received the popular vote of 21,000,000 citizens and the 444 electoral votes of forty States of the Union—both unprecedented in our party's history—is not only a source of gratification to this committee, but should be a source of pride to our retiring chairman.

With a full knowledge of the vicissitudes he encountered, the obstacles he overcame and with a clear conception of the far-reaching importance of the victory the Republican party achieved under his leadership, we record our appreciation of the debt that is due him for duty done.

He was not only diligent, but devoted. He was not only unselfish, but unassuming. He gave counsel with a modesty and received it with a willingness that bespoke that breadth of character and knowledge of his fellow-men so essential to real leadership.

President Hoover's Letter.

Ralph E. Williams, the vice chairman, read the following letter from President Hoover:

Dear Mr. Williams:

On the occasion of Dr. Work's determination to retire from the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee I should like through you, to place in the record of the National Committee the high appreciation I hold and which I know the country generally holds for the many public services given by his work.

He has given his long life of public usefulness in many directions. He long since demonstrated his leadership in his own profession as president for many years of the Colorado State Board of Health, president of the American Psychiatric Society and finally as president of the American Medical Association, and as a Colonel in the medical service during the World War.

He has given much to party service, beginning twenty years ago as chairman of the Republican State Convention of Colorado, a member for many years of the Republican National Committee, and during the past successful campaign, chairman of the National Committee.

In public office he has been successively Assistant Postmaster General, Postmaster General and Secretary of the Interior, with a record for administrative capacity, honesty and courage at each step.

Dr. Work can quite well feel that he is entitled to a rest and I know that the committee joins with me in expression of appreciation, not only for his service to the party, but also for so distinguished a career in public service.

Yours faithfully,

HERBERT HOOVER.

Mrs Hughes Nominates Huston.

Speeches recalling Dr. Work's leadership were made by James Francis Burke, Roy West of Illinois; Pat Sullivan of Wyoming, Daniel J. Pomeroy of New Jersey, Mrs. Ruth Pratt of New York, Clarence C. Hamlin of Colorado and others.

Mrs. Buelah Hughes of Tennessee nominted Mr. Huston for chairman and many seconding speeches were made, including one by Miss Dorothy Cunningham of Indiana. Mr. Huston was referred to by Southern members as a "son of the South," and speakers declared that there was no longer such a political region.

C. Bascom Slemp seconded the nomination in behalf of the "Republican State of Virginia" and promised the party leaders to elect a Republican Governor this year and hold the State for a Republican victory in 1932.

The committee ratified the selection of Mrs. Ruth Pratt of New York to succeed Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, and Miss Margaret M. Tucker of Vermont to succeed Mrs. Georgie Orvis as women members of the committee.

Governor C. Douglass Buck of Delaware was elected to succeed ex-Senator du Pont, resigned, as committeeman from Delaware. Charles D. Hilles, Republican National Committeeman of New York, was represented at the meeting by William J. Maier, Republican State chairman.

To Drop Business Activities.

The new chairman said that he would require three or four weeks to separate himself from his business activities, and in the meantime Vice Chairman Williams would act as chairman.

The meeting was held in the small ballroom of the Hotel Willard. Seated on the front row were David Mulvane of Kansas, Mr. Sullivan, Joe Tolbert of South Carolina, veterans of the committee, while in the rear were many members of Congress. Lawrence Richey, one of President Hoover's secretaries, was also on hand.

The committeemen were the guests of ex-Senator du Pont at a luncheon, after which several of them called upon President Hoover. A dinner was given to Dr. Work tonight by J. R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, which was attended by Chairman Huston, Vice President Curtis and Cabinet members.

Two Lost Boys Wander Year in Wild Quebec; One Dies, Other Stays by Body Two Months

ROBERVAL, Que., Sept. 9 (Canadian Press).—Michel Courtois, 13 years old, told at a coroner's inquest today here how he had stayed for nearly two months beside the body of his brother, Rene, 19, who died from hunger and privation after the two had wandered hundreds of miles in the Northern Quebec wilds for more than a year. Rene's body and his half-famished brother were found by a searching party 450 miles from Roberval, the nearest outpost of civilization.

"Take away that food! I'll faint—maybe I'll die!" gasped the exhausted youngster when the search party offered him a hearty meal.

Hollow-eyed, bearing all the marks of miseries endured during the tragic odssyey, young Michel told a poignant story of misadventure to the coroner's jury.

Roots, berries and fish bones furnished a slender means of livelihood. Having but two matches, Michel kept a fire burning in a pail for two months. When the search party found them the fire was still smoldering.

At last, on or about July 10, Rene could go no further. He died with a prayer that his young brother might be saved. The prayer was answered. The lad was found several days ago beside the skeleton body of his brother. Delirious from his sufferings, the boy could only stare inarticulately at his saviors.

The two boys were taken to the bush last year by their father, David Courtois, a trapper, who left them with fifty pounds of flour, some moose meat and half a beaver while he undertook a side hunting trip. The boys wandered from camp. When their father returned they were missing. At first Courtois thought they had taken the home trail for Roberval and went back himself.

Finding his mistake, Courtois set out with a party of Indians in search for his sons. He returned, baffled.

Last month another party started out and returned with the emaciated Michel.

"Death by starvation and misery," was the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury. Michel is almost a physical wreck.

CHINESE DEMOLISH BRITISH PROPERTY

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—An incident of international moment, which is likely quickly to be followed by a considerable reaction here, was reported tonight by The Daily Mail's Hankow correspondent. He declares that the Chinese municipal authorities entered today property belonging to Butterfield & Squire, the British shipping firm, and commenced to demolish its buildings.

The Wuhan municipality, comprising Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, according to the correspondent, demanded that the company hand over its waterfront premises for the erection of a new building. The company refused and the municipality declined to negotiate through the usual diplomatic channels.

The British abandoned their concession in Hankow in 1927, and the Wuhan Municipal Council last January assumed administration of the former German and Russian concessions, levying taxation in them. Three months later the council rebelled against the Nanking Government, but was defeated.

MANUEL QUEZON TO RETIRE.

President of Philippine Senate Suffering From Tuberculosis.

MANILA, Sept. 9 (AP).—Manuel Quezon, President of the Philippine Senate and for many years a leader in the fight for Philippine independence and Filipino participation in government, indicated today that he soon would retire from public life.

Addressing the Senate, Señor Quezon predicted that Senator Sergio Osmena would return to the leadership of the Filipinos in governmental affairs.

Señor Quezon is suffering with tuberculosis from which he became ill in December, 1927, while on an independence mission to the United States. There are reports that he will be forced to take a long rest, probably in Switzerland. He became a Filipino leader in 1916 when he was elected President of the newly founded Philippine Senate. He replaced Senator Osmena, who had been leader since 1907, as Speaker of the Philippine Assembly.

MANN WINS BALLOT PLACE.

Justice McCook Rules His Petition Contains Enough Signatures.

Supreme Court Justice McCook granted yesterday an application by George Hiram Mann, a lawyer, for an order compelling the Board of Elections to print his name on the Republican primary ballot as candidate for Congress in the Twenty-first District, although the court found that out of 828 signatures on his petition 180 were duplications, while 78 signers were not enrolled, 20 do not reside in the district and 13 had signed another petition previously. Deducting the objectionable names, and counting the 180 only once, leave 537, which the court remarked is more than enough to warrant the printing of the lawyer's name on the ballot. The law requires 500 names.

HEAVY FIGHTING ON MANCHURIA FRONT

military authorities ordered the inhabitants to evacuate the town.

Official Chinese military dispatches from the northwestern frontier stated: "Several engagements took place between Soviet and Chinese troops between Manchuli and Dalainor on Saturday morning, resulting in many killed and wounded on both sides."

Moscow Accuses China.

MOSCOW, Sept. 9 (AP).—The Foreign Commissariat stated tonight that Soviet troops had been compelled to take firm retaliatory action for the protection of the Siberian frontier and its peaceful population. It alleged there had been nineteen new attacks by Chinese and White Russian guards.

The statement was contained in a note handed to the German Ambassador for transmission to the Mukden and Nanking Governments. The note hinted at grave consequences which may result for China if additional provocative assaults occur.

The note said, "The Soviet Government, as previously, considers that the only way of avoiding additional serious consequences is by immediate measures to terminate these new assaults on Soviet territory."

Soviets Discover Chinese Mines.

KHABAROVSK, Siberia, Sept. 9 (AP).—Soviet authorities stated today that the discovery of floating mines at the junction of the Amur and Sungari Rivers showed clearly that China had carefully worked out a military and naval plan against the Soviet Union following its seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway in Manchuria.

So many mines were located that navigation by Soviet steamers on the river, which forms the northeast boundary of Manchuria, was said to be impossible at night and possible of accomplishment in the day time only by exercising the greatest care.

Chinese Rush Troops North.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9 (AP).—The official Kuomin news agency of the Nationalist Government reported tonight that, "In anticipation of a general Russian offensive, Chinese reinforcements are now rushing northward from Mukden for both the Manchuli and Pogranichnaya fronts."

The agency declared that the heaviest fighting yet to occur in Manchuria was in progress between Russian and Chinese soldiers along "the entire Manchurian-Siberian frontier."

"Heavy casualties were reported on both sides after three days of fighting. The number of dead and wounded could not be ascertained because of the confusion prevailing along the entire border, especially at Manchuli and Pogranichnaya," the news agency stated.

Its report continued that after the blowing up of a train on the Chinese Eastern Saturday 3,000 Russian cavalrymen crossed the Manchurian border near Pogranichnaya under cover of an artillery barrage. They attacked the Chinese defenses, which replied with heavy machine-gun fire.

"The battle lasted until late at night, when the Russians withdrew, leaving the battlefield strewn with corpses," the report stated.

Communication between Pogranichnaya and Harbin was destroyed by the explosion of the mine on the railway track. According to the report, two persons were killed and three injured. The locomotive was blown off the track, the baggage car destroyed and the first and second class cars telescoped.

Several Chinese villages were reported to have been burned.

The Kuomin agency said the heaviest casualties had been in the Manchuli region, where "the Russians made several unsuccessful attacks on Chinese positions. The Soviet machine-gun fire was so intense that the Chinese troops replied with field guns and trench mortars."

Japanese Residents Withdraw.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—Japanese official reports state that when five Russian airplanes appeared over Pogranichnaya yesterday, Chinese soldiers fired upon them, whereupon the Russians dropped bombs, three of which exploded on the railway station, causing twenty-eight casualties.

The affair caused much alarm to Japanese residents, who met in the afternoon and decided that a majority of their number should leave for Harbin.

Neither diplomatic nor military authorities here consider the incident "as deliberate or as portending any change."

The War Office officials consider that President Chiang Kai-shek's position has been weakened by the hostility he has awakened in the north, and think he will be unable to hold out against Moscow's demands much longer.

London Hears of Bombing.

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP).—Reuter's dispatches from Harbin, Manchuria, reported today that bombing by Russian planes destroyed buildings and wounded thirty Chinese soldiers and eighteen civilians.

All railway engines on the Chinese Eastern had been withdrawn to Muling, where the railway employes have gone on strike. No trains from Harbin proceeded further along the line than Muling.

Berling Answers Russian Note.

BERLIN, Sept. 9 (AP).—The German Ambassador in Moscow submitted to the Russian Government today a reply to the Russian request for additional protection of Russian citizens in China.

German officials in China have been asked to look after the interests of Russians, and a German consular official in Harbin has been ordered to make a personal visit of investigation in Manchuria. The German Minister in Peking will make a special report of the whole Sino-Russian situation.

Meanwhile, the Russian Government was urged to obstain from any reprisals until the report from Peking has been received. The German Government informed Moscow it "distinctly resents" the Russian Government's accusation of negligence on the part of German representatives, also the publication of the Russian note of criticism, which was based on unconfirmed reports.

Instead of being negligent, the German Government's consular and diplomatic force in North China has been strengthened to protect Russian interests, and the German Government suggests this work would be furthered if the Russian Government would make complaints direct to German officials in China.

The German Government furthermore has requested the names of "dozens of Russian citizens" alleged in the last Russian note to have been executed in China, also the details of such executions, without which German action would be useless.

TEST OF WHALEN'S DOGS SUDDENLY CALLED OFF

Five hundred Staten Islanders gathered in Phoenix Park, opposite the New Dorp police station, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to witness a demonstration of how Commissioner Whalen's forty police dogs intend to circumvent the Staten Island "pants" burglar.

Four of the dogs—Florrie, Boots, Nogie and Toby—selected from among the entire battalion, strained at their leashes. Fine specimens they were, tall, strong and sleek, and eager to show how that "pants" thief will be captured.

Deputy Inspector Ernest Van Wagner, in charge of the island's detectives, had ordered the demonstration, and notables of the borough, including former Borough President George Cromwell and his family, had driven to the park despite lowering skies and uncomfortable humidity.

Captain James McGrath, in charge of the New Dorp precinct, was there, as were the dogs' trainers, Patrolman Peter Reiss and Mike Leffler. Four patrolmen held the leashes and prompted the dogs to pose prettily for moving and still pictures as the crowd cheered. Behind a maple tree skulked a ragged, villainous fellow, who was really Patrolman Joe Dorer disguised as the "pants" burglar.

Dorer, Reiss exlained, would perform thre manoeuvres and the dogs would do their stuff. First he would run and one of them would fell him, then he would fire a blank cartridge pistol and another would knock him about and retrieve the pistol with its paws and then a third would capture him in a barn. He was padded from head to foot, the admiring throng noted.

Dorer began to—but what was that? A patrolman raced across the greensward to the captain and whispered in his ear. "Show's over, folks," said the captain. "Orders." And it was. Just why could not be learned. One rumor had it that a Brooklyn police official objected to giving away police secrets, another that Mr. Whalen disliked publicity.

The dogs made no comments, but went back to their kennels to rest before another midnight patrol. They had, with their fellows, provided Staten Island with another crimeless night, walking the sidewalks and yards of the island from 11 P. M. Sunday to 5 A. M. yesterday. They probably will be permanent police adjuncts there, they were told, whether or no they get the "pants" burglar.

Halifax Gets First Soviet Coal.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 9.—Five thousand tons of anthracite from the Cossack River Don mining section, the first coal from Soviet Russia to be imported at Halifax, was landed here from the British freighter Blairathoil, which arrived yesterday from Mariupol, Russia.

STRESEMANN BACKS EUROPEAN UNION

German Statesman Pledges in League Assembly Speech to Cooperate With Former Foes.

SHOWS GREAT MODERATION

ITALY SIGNS OPTION CLAUSE

Scialoja Sees World's Judicial Machinery Strengthened by Our Entry Into World Court.

By CLARENCE K. STREIT.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Sept. 9.—In a speech before the League Assembly impregnated with moderation regarding the past and with constructive ideas on a European union in the future, Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann of Germany himself gave earnest of "fruitful collaboration" between Germany and her former enemies which he foresaw this morning when the last details of the war—the Sarre Basin—were liquidated.

The same session applauded the Italian Senator Scialoja's announcement that he had signed the optional clause this morning in behalf of Italy—the fourth great power to pledge itself in advance to accept compulsory jurisdiction of the World Court in all legal disputes. The formula whereby Italy signed it for five years includes, moreover, no reservation essentially weakening the force of the signature, in which respect Italy has gone beyond Great Britain, for though the latter is expected to sign in a similar far-reaching manner, its exact formula is not yet known.

Foreign Minister Benes, for Czechoslovakia, then gave the ball another push, saying he would not only sign the optional clause, but had been instructed to adhere to the general act for compulsory arbitration.

Expects America to Join.

While Signor Scialoja of Italy foresaw the world's judicial machinery being strengthened soon by the entry of America into The Hague Court, M. Benes showed how much more is expected of Washington by saying:

"In view of the present negotiations with the United States [over the Root formula], perhaps it, too, will accept the court's compulsory jurisdiction, now that Germany, France, Britain and Italy have."

At the afternoon session William Graham, president of the British Board of Trade, pleaded for a two-year tariff holiday and developed in detail the economic lines along which Europe could gain by more united action.

The tone of Dr. Stresemann's speech can be gained from the fact that in complimenting other nations for accepting the optional clause, "whereto some other nations are already bound," he did not mention that Germany was the first great power to adopt the principle and is the only one that has ratified it so far.

As expected, the slate for new members of the League Council went through without a hitch this afternoon. With fifty-three voting, these three were elected:

Poland, 50 votes.
Yugoslavia, 42.
Peru, 36.

Norway polled the unexpectedly high number of 22 votes, which was taken as a sign of dissatisfaction with the present system of earmarking certain Council seats. Uruguay got 5 votes and Denmark, Greece, Lithuania and Sweden 1 vote each.

Stresemann Speech Pleases.

Dr. Stresemann's speech was well received, and though the fact that he spoke German, which few of the delegates could understand, necessarily limited the applause, it was evident from the comments in the corridors after translation of his speech that he had made a markedly favorable impression. Dr. Stresemann plunged immediately into the results of The Hague conference in his speech, explaining that the fact that supreme and vital interests of Germany were at stake there was the reason why public opinion in the Reich had not yet had time to "form a definite, homogeneous judgment on the results of the negotiations." And that was also why he could not go further now than to express Germany's satisfaction over the decision to evacuate the Rhineland "in the near future on a fixed date."

He went on to recall briefly that the Sarre Basin is "another part of German territory whose population unanimously desires to return to the Fatherland, which is still under non-German administration," adding that the first step to end this situation and realize effectively the liquidation of the war had already been taken. He expressed the hope that the League, which now administers the Sarre Basin, and whose consent to a change of regime is necessary, would aid in the Franco-German parleys on the subject. Here he quoted Premier MacDonald, who said: "Political accord offers as much security as a regiment of soldiers."

"If this barrier, which since the end of the war has continued to separate Germany and its western neighbors, falls," said Dr. Stresemann, "the way will be opened for close and fruitful cooperation between Germany and her former adversaries, which the general interest of the nations, and consequently the fundamental interest of the League, demands."

In approving Mr. Henderson's plan to link the Kellogg-Briand peace pact and the League Covenant, he said:

"It is necessary to leave no obscurity, no incertitude on this point, for the solemn obligations we have taken must be expressed in a way to be understood not only in the spheres of international law but by the man in the street."

He Would Go Further.

His only criticism of Mr. Henderson's suggestions was that they did not go far enough, for it was also necessary, he said, "to examine other provisions of the Covenant which, from a material viewpoint, are inseparably bound to the peace pact."

Though Dr. Stresemann did not develop this idea further, it was taken to mean that he wants the dead wood in the pact, such as reservations on self-defense and special spheres of interest, which are contrary to the obligations of League members under the Covenant, cut out too in the process of linking the two instruments.

Dr. Stresemann said he also disagreed with M. Briand on the question of sanctions, for he said he believed practical machinery for settling disputes, such as was embodied in the model treaty for the prevention of war based on German proposals made last year, should come first, since "war cannot be prevented by preparing for war against war, but only in suppressing the causes of war."

Before sanctions, disarmament, too, should come, he declared, reiterating the keen interest of a disarmed Germany in this question. He said he was more hopeful now of tangible results, especially in view of the naval parleys, which he declared Germany was following with the warmest sympathy. But he urged that land disarmament should also be pushed with the same energy.

He explained why Count von Bernstoff had disassociated Germany from the decision of the Preparatory Commission, excluding trained reserves and war stocks from disarmament, saying:

"This was necessary because Germany did not wish to share in the responsibility for a procedure which, in its opinion, is incompatible with the Covenant." But he said he was hopeful that progress on the naval side would quickly provide a way out of this impasse.

Wants Parleys Limited.

On the general question of the wisdom of private parleys, Dr. Stresemann warned that the use of this method ought to be more limited as far as League members were concerned, now that the war was nearly liquidated, for otherwise people would believe the idea of general collaboration within the League was sterile. He said he thought it would be especially dangerous for the League if the method of private negotiations were followed on land disarmament.

Germany's policy he summed up in these three postulates:

"The eventuality of war must be prevented; as a consequence of this there must be general disarmament, and the evolution must be progressive and pacific."

His moderation was especially marked in his treatment of the problem of minorities, which he held was no less important than disarmament.

The German Foreign Minister confined himself to the general principles of the problem, saying his one aim was that the League should not limit itself to considering petitions, but keep constant oversight and control over the way minority régimes were developing under the various treaties. He said he hoped the League would soon establish a special minorities commission, like the mandates and economic commissions. He carried his conciliatory policy to the point of making the unexpected announcement that although Germany had raised the minorities question in previous Assembly sessions, she would not do so this year.

After referring to M. Briand's "magnificent speech" and making special reference to the "poisoning" of youth and the "difficulty of winning over the young to the ideals of peace because the old heroic ideals are still living," Dr. Stresemann, in his closing words, said:

Calls for Heroes of Science.

"In the face of these old ideas of heroism, I would say to youth that in the technical wars of the future, personal heroism will no longer have a place, but on the other side, in our struggle against nature, there are many opportunities to show personal heroism.

"I foresee the time when the true heroes of the nations will be those who will lead in this struggle between man and the universe."

Senator Vittorio Scialoja of Italy, who followed Dr. Stresemann, before he announced that Italy not only would but already had signed the optional clause this morning, said with all his authority as a jurist that the spread of this principle of compulsory jurisdiction of the World Court was "the most solid victory achieved in our period in improving the relations between governments." Then he added:

"The progress of this idea of jurisdictional action as between countries will now be further strengthened, for I can foresee the entry of the United States as one of the countries in the Court of International Justice."

After saying Italy had concluded that the covenant's disarmament provisions must now be acted upon, he said:

"It is with the sincerest satisfaction that we have followed the conversations undertaken on the naval subject between Washington and London. We hope these conversations will lead to a result which will be acceptable also to the other powers, and thus the path will be opened for a general disarmament conference. Undoubtedly, when we speak of disarmament it must not be forgotten that the problems are governed by the transformations which may occur in the technique of armaments and by the need of finding a universal solution, namely, a solution binding upon all countries, whether or not they belong to the League."

Says Crime Still Exists.

Referring to the outlawing of war, he said it must be recalled that, though all crimes are outlawed, this does not mean that crimes are no longer committed. In view of the greater number of wars in the past, when armies were much smaller, he said he doubted if reduction in armament would suffice for peace, and thought attention had been centred overmuch on the phenomenon of war and not enough on its causes. War, he said, was not so much a crime as it was a "disease," which made the wiping out of its causes more necessary.

Signor Scialoja said nothing directly on Mr. Henderson's motion to link the peace pact and the covenant. He spoke briefly of The Hague, saying the remarkable step forward which it constituted should not be obscured by some of its financial debates, and said its accord should be "followed in the same spirit by a settlement of Eastern reparations and the evacuation of occupied territories." This statement was regarded as being of especial importance, since Italy is above all interested in Eastern reparations.

CORNERSTONE IS LAID FOR UNION OF EUROPE

By CLARENCE K. STREIT.

Minister Marinkovitch, Belgian Foreign Minister Hymans and Swiss Foreign Minister Motta then spoke in the order named, the Assembly session then forcing the discussion to end. It was on the suggestion of M. Motta, who found Mr. Henderson's idea of meeting in a few months too hasty and M. Hymans's proposal for a commission to study the question too impractical, that the final decisions stated above were reached.

M. Briand, who received all the correspondents of the world press who could crowd into the room tonight, did not give much detail, but said all delegates had showed "marked sympathy" for the idea and none had formulated any objection to it in principle, though some spoke more on its economic aspects while others preferred to look at it from a more general viewpoint.

Stronger Bonds Urged.

Elsewhere it was learned that the Yugoslav Foreign Minister and another Foreign Minister assured M. Briand after the luncheon that they wanted political bonds of union even more than economic ones.

M. Briand took special pains to impress upon the correspondents that the federation was not intended against any organization, continent or nation, least of all the United States, and this idea was reiterated by other speakers at the luncheon.

Asked if Russia would be "solicited" to join the movement, M. Briand said:

"I won't say whether Russia will be solicited or not. There are nations absent who are big enough not to need to be solicited, and a federation of twenty-seven States will also be big enough not to need to solicit anyone. Moreover, that word 'solicit' has an aristocratic air not in keeping with the democracy of the League of Nations."

He went on to hint how he was following the same tactics now as he did with the Kellogg-Briand pact—as explained in yesterday's dispatch—saying:

"When I launched the idea of a peace pact, I did not solicit anyone, but it was left open to everyone, and it grew of itself. It will be very probable that this new institution will be open to all European nations; but we are not going on our knees."

What transpired at the luncheon was substantially as follows, according to several independent sources in a position to know:

M. Briand began by saying that statesmen are usually anxious to be eloquent and accurate. This time, on the contrary, he wished to be neither eloquent nor to give his idea in too sharp a form. He said that from conversations he had had and speeches in the Assembly, he realized very well that against the idea of a European federation there were objections and reservations. He said there was no country whereof it was possible to say that it could be indifferent to the federation or that would have nothing to gain therefrom. No State, small, big, weak or powerful, he declared, could pretend that there were no advantages for gain from association with other European States.

Not Against Any One.

There were some erroneous impressions abroad about the idea, he continued. The greatest of them was to suppose that European peoples could not agree to work together except under the stimulus of working against something or somebody. It was also said, he asserted, that many Americans felt such a federation ought to be feared or considered as a threat against the economic or political life of themselves or of others. He said he could assure his guests he had received many messages from the United States indicating that people there understood perfectly that there were no ulterior aims in his idea and that there were great advantages which America would also undoubtedly gain through the European organization.

Whatever the exact nature of the bonds which were possible among European States—economic, social or political—he felt that the association, at bottom, should aim at giving Europe more security and at the same time more prosperity.

He concluded by telling the assembled statesmen that the main question now was whether, from all the viewpoints, they thought it advisable and advantageous to create bonds of association among the European peoples. Then he threw the meeting open to discussion, asking the other statesmen to give their own opinions on what bonds the federation should have and the best method of furthering the basic idea of an association, whether by appointing a commission to study the problem in all its aspects, or by asking some one to investigate its possibilities.

Stresemann Gives Views.

M. Briand in his talk has suggested that the sovereignty of States need not be disturbed either by the political or economic bonds he had in mind for the federation—a point on which Dr. Stresemann, who opened the general discussion, expressed doubts, saying he could not comprehend how there could be any real federation in which national sovereignty would not be touched. This was one of the reasons, he said, why he believed it necessary to proceed very carefully, though he supported M. Briand's basic idea, especially on the economic side, along the general lines which he publicly expressed in the Assembly this morning.

Mr. Henderson, who spoke next, surprised the others by the cordial support he gave to M. Briand, though he did not neglect to call attention to the difficulties and advise the greatest prudence. He said the British had had long and wide experience with federations and were themselves a world-wide federation. They knew only too well the difficulties in creating such an association and the mistakes to be avoided.

One of the chief difficulties he foresaw was that all the countries concerned must keep complete independence, sovereignty and autonomy. Soviet Russia, too, must be kept in mind, he said—Moscow was already suspicious of Europe grouping together against it. Care, he declared, must be taken not to create alarm there or in the United States. He urged that further meetings be public, so as to allay suspicions arising from private meetings.

Moreover, Mr. Henderson said, he believed Europe must avoid trying to create a sort of limited society of particular interests within the League of Nations. He added, it is said, he had had an example of this sort of thing when he got a note this morning from South American countries, who were pushing a candidate [Peru] they had chosen for a seat in the Council. That kind of thing was not in the spirit of the League, he said, and for Europe to follow this line would not be good for the League.

The federation, however, was a great idea, he declared, and, however difficult its political problems, all statesmen should help in solving them. Mr. Henderson thought it would be especially useful in social questions, stressing especially the aid it could give in obtaining general, simultaneous European ratification of the eight-hour-day convention.

Develops Eight-Hour Idea.

Mr. Henderson developed this idea to a point where some of his hearers got the impression he also expected the federation to see to the enforcement of such conventions as the eight-hour day.

The British Foreign Minister favored in any event going ahead rapidly with a study of the idea and having M. Briand circulate a memorandum on the subject to all the European governments as soon as possible and then convoke a meeting for Foreign Ministers in a few months to consider the question.

The Austrian Chancellor then declared himself enthusiastically for a United States of Europe and gave a graphic picture of economic evils resulting from the partitioning of Central Europe.

M. Marinkovitch, Foreign Minister of Yugoslavia, issued a statement afterward of what he himself had said, as follows:

"The fact that a statesman with M. Briand's authority is to take up this idea is to advance its realization. Undoubtedly its economic sides are of capital and most visible importance, but it is a mistake to believe it should stop there.

"Real economic rapprochement is impossible without parallel political rapprochement. The present economic policy of Europe, of which we justly complain, has a political base. All efforts to lower economic barriers have proved a failure where they were unaccompanied by political rapprochement.

"I am certain, however, that the mere fact that this idea has been put on our agenda is going to have a favorable influence on all internal organizations connected with economics. But I do not think it possible already to convoke a public conference with a precise program to deal with the question.

"What is possible for us is to take note of M. Briand's suggestion and engage ourselves to place the problem before our governments and communicate the results of our deliberation in the meeting of the next Assembly. Meanwhile, could not we take one step ahead today and definitely pick Paris as a central clearing house for our ideas before the meeting is held?"

Hymans Agrees With Briand.

M. Hymans then expressed himself in complete accord with M. Briand and suggested that either the League's economic commission study the proposal or a special commission be established.

M. Motta held that commissions are impracticable and that it was not a job for the League. On the other hand he believed Mr. Henderson's few months too short a period, saying a year was none too long for preparation, and suggested it be left to M. Briand to circulate a memorandum to convoke a European meeting next September.

M. Briand then reminded his hearers that the Assembly was awaiting them and said he assumed from all he had heard that everybody was in sympathy with the idea, whereat a number of statesmen replied, "Yes, yes!" The unanimous decisions already mentioned were then taken.

Before the meeting broke up photographs were taken, M. Briand being placed in the centre with Mr. Henderson and Dr. Stresemann on each side. There then arose numerous calls from the guests for Senator Scialoja to go and join them, whereupon the representative of Italy went to complete the group of the great powers of Europe.

The French say tonight that M. Briand probably will send out the memorandum in a couple of months. He himself declined to answer questions at tonight's press reception or indicate what form the memorandum would take, genially explaining that he must give out "copy in small doses to keep up interest." He did add that a list of questions would be added to the memorandum and his report at the next meeting would be based on the answers.

In answer to other questions he said he did not go into details today because his guests had not had mandates to consider the question, stressing the fact that they would have next year. He agreed the project would "very possibly grow bigger, but as it is, it is vast enough to cause me some preoccupation."

He took pains to reiterate that anything that would increase European prosperity was in the interest of all the world and that the federation would not harm the League, asserting he had already placed it under the auspices of the League, having specially in mind the article of the covenant which advocates regional agreements. Indeed, he said, there would have been many more speakers at the luncheon, "but we did not want to give the Assembly the idea we were forming a competitor."

There were many irritating problems, bilateral European problems, he continued, which were taking up the time of the League and which could be settled between the States concerned without bothering the League if there were a bond of unity among the European nations.

Stresemann's Endorsement.

Dr. Stresemann had already expressed his views as a European union in addressing the Assembly this morning, when he said:

"The League, of course, is a universal and not merely a European body, but the economic welfare of Europe is certainly of interest to us all. Certain suggestions have been made for closer collaboration between the States of Europe. Certain pessimists have scoffed at that idea, but I do not share their scepticism. I decline to regard the whole idea as chimerical. It seems to me it must be quite clear that I am not suggesting or proposing any political move. No political consideration, no idea of subordination of any one State to another State must be allowed to enter our discussions or our conceptions and I would like also to point out that I am not proposing any collaboration directed against any other continent.

"I am desirous merely that we should all work together in our common interests, but I think the economic welfare of the European nations tends toward the welfare of other economic communities.

"Aren't there many things in Europe today which are grotesque? Does it not seem that some developments are moving backward instead of forward? If we take the example of Italy and remember the situation in which it was before it was united, when it was divided politically and economically into a number of different States, must we not think such a situation belongs to a medieval age? It seems likewise medieval, inconceivable and ridiculous that formerly shipping going down the Elbe was held up at Dessau because that city was the frontier of Anhalt and because there were economic and political barriers in the very middle of what is now Germany.

"There are in the new Europe things which also appear to us to belong to a medieval age.

"The Versailles Treaty created a great number of new States. I do not wish to discuss this from the viewpoint of politics, for my political views on the Versailles Treaty are known. From the economic viewpoint, however, it must be recognized that these new States have not been integrated into the European economic system.

"There is an increase not only in the number of frontiers, but also in the number of monies, measures, weights, &c. It is grotesque that when men are reducing to twenty days the length of a voyage from Germany to Tokio, on the other hand, when they cross Europe in a train, the locomotives must stop at each frontier because of customs formalities.

"One gets the impression that Europe's commerce is on a retail basis. In order to increase their prestige, the new States have sought to create industries within their frontiers, which have been protected, and even then they are not always able to sell their products in the home market.

"All this must be stopped. We must attain the point of creating uniform money and postage stamps, which, after all, would only correspond to the point we have attained in other fields.

"The diversity which exists now is not only prejudicial to European commerce, it is as incomprehensible to the continents overseas as it is sometimes to us. The rationalization of European production and the marketing of its merchandise will be equally profitable to other continents. I can assure you my government is ready to enter the discussion on any arrangements such as those which have been suggested by previous speakers, aiming to facilitate commerce and end the increase of tariffs. We await the propositions which will be made to us."

Strong Support From Benes.

The Czech Foreign Minister, Benes, devoted most of his speech in the Assembly this morning to giving even more fulsome support to M. Briand than Dr. Stresemann did. M. Benes, as the representative of one of the new States, courageously agreed that "Dr. Stresemann this morning has well described" their nationalism and economic exclusivism in the decade following the war. He added that the economic development of the United States, the economic problems of the British Empire and the tariff problems of Continental Europe had accentuated the economic crisis following the war to a point where The Hague's financial and economic liquidation of the war led automatically to the question of a new economic organization in Europe.

Though it would require long and careful preparation, M. Benes said, he had as much faith as M. Briand in the ultimate realization of this new moral unity, "accompanied, perhaps, by a new political system in Europe, a sort of political, economic and moral cooperation, which will be aimed against no one, which will not disturb any group, which is linked both with Europe and other parts of the world, such as the British Empire, and which will not disturb the United States."

In such a federation M. Benes saw "a new guaranty of peace and development for all small nations."

Senator Scialoja, in his Assembly speech, gave Italy's approval of M. Briand's work in measured terms. He saw both the grandeur of the idea and the difficulties facing it, and concluded that it deserves attention and the most careful study.

Graham Gives British View.

The economic lines along which the British favor European cooperation were stated by William Graham, president of the British Board of Trade, in his Assembly speech, in which his chief proposal was:

"We should try to get an agreement, first of all, that for a period of two years we shall not increase tariffs above the existing level. Tariffs are high in many parts of Europe today.

"Side by side with that, we must secure during the two years an understanding that countries will not await the end of that period and the outcome of a conference and deliberations with a view to negotiating some convention, but will, wherever they have the opportunity, reduce, either singly, or in bilateral or multilateral agreements, the existing tariff walls.

"A program of that kind is essential if it is meant to aid business through freer trade within Europe. That is one method of giving practical application to the ideals underlying the speeches of M. Briand, Dr. Stresemann and others."

Briand Serves Post-War Wines And Lamb to Europe's Chiefs

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Sept. 9.—After dismissing "frivolities" in the very first course (even frivolities are conceived in the mind of such a master culinary artist as Brillat-Savarin), Premier Briand of France fed the other Foreign Ministers of Europe lamb at his "historic" luncheon today, at which the first definite steps toward a Federation of Europe were taken.

Appropriately enough, the wines were of the vintage of the year after the World War. The menu follows:

Frivolities Brillat-Savarin.
sauce Béarnaise.
Côtelettes d'agneau aux rognons
Morilles à la crème.
Perdreaux de Beauce à la broche escortés de roi de cailles.

Crêpes du couvent.
Fromages.
Fraisettes des bois.
Vin du Glacier Château-Latour.
Château Haut-Brion 1919.
Champagne Louis Roederer brut 1919.

The menu was prepared by M. Briand's former secretary, Aimé Leroy, who is now Consul General at Geneva.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

JERUSALEM, Sept. 9.—Despite the fact that the military authorities have been able to bring about a state of calm throughout the land, the general concensus is that further troubles may still be expected here. This statement is brought about especially by the latest declarations of the Grand Mufti, who in a statement given to Reuter's correspondent and published in the local newspapers today blames the Jews for causing all the recent disturbances.

What leads to the belief that the troubles are not over is the fact that in the course of his interview the Grand Mufti said: "During the last nine days several attacks have been made on Arabs by Jews, which are bound to create further trouble. It is very difficult to keep the Arabs from making reprisals."

Sensational rumors of new efforts to invade Palestine from Syria and Transjordania also added to the general feeling of unrest. In order to allay fears the military authorities today ordered a parade of troops in the streets of Jerusalem, wearing steel helmets and carrying rifles with fixed bayonets, a spectacle not witnessed in the Holy City since war days. On the Jaffa Road, the city's main street, traffic was completely suspended and autos and carriages were forced to wait until the parade was over.

Curfew Order Extended.

The curfew order which was supposed to have been rescinded by the end of the week is now expected to continue at least another ten days, the correspondent is informed. Business is naturally still very dull.

Fortunately for Palestine, the French authorities in Syria are cooperating heartily with the British in guarding the frontiers, which extend more than 600 miles and which, because the greater part runs through the desert, very difficult to guard.

Some 400 well-armed French troops are posted at Banias, near the sources of the Jordan and the Huleh swamps, places very favorable to Bedouin infiltrations. About 1,000 soldiers are guarding the Syrian and Transjordan frontier, more than twenty French planes are cooperating with British planes along this frontier, and all the Bedouin encampments on both sides have been ordered by both governments to retreat three to five miles within the borders.

No Palestinian Arabs are allowed to enter Syria, as parties of Arabs from this country tried to cross the frontier in order to bring into Palestine huge quantities of arms which have been gathered somewhere within the borders of Syria for the benefit of Palestine revolutionary movements.

Searches for Arms Continue.

In the meantime the military authorities continue their energetic search for arms and loot in Arab villages that took part in the attacks on Jews. Several Jewish quarters also have been searched for arms and ammunition.

An Arab newspaper at Jaffa states that the number of Arabs imprisoned thus far is more than 750, with many Jews also arrested.

One of the most exciting of these searching raids by troops and police took place yesterday at Nablus, a purely Arab town, which raised the Turkish flag for twelve hours at the beginning of the riots. Four hundred British soldiers suddenly surrounded all exits of the city, while police and British constables were sent to all places where hidden arms and pamphlets were known to be. Forty-five persons, among them many notables, were arrested, and much evidence was found showing Nablus to be a centre of political activity, not as much against the Jews as against the government.

A great panic was caused yesterday at Haifa by false rumors of Jewish attacks on Arabs. All shops were closed immediately and great masses of people began running wildly in all directions. Troops and police soon took matters in hand and succeeded in restoring order. Subsequently it was discovered that the rumors were unfounded; nevertheless the incident shows the tension that still exists.

Tension Throughout Country.

From all parts of the country a series of small incidents were reported today, which, although unimportant in themselves, indicate that a state of tension still exists throughout the country. Two hundred Arabs tried to attack the Jewish colony of Mahanayim in Upper Galilee but were quickly dispersed by cavalry troops and two leaders arrested. Another attempt was made to raid Rosh Pinah and destroy crops but the attackers were repulsed by armored cars.

Since yesterday two British judges have been conducting preliminary investigations at Hebron. Several Jewish refugees are transported there each day from Jerusalem to identify assailants. In the past forty-eight hours fifty-seven Hebron Arabs who were definitely identified have been arrested and brought under heavy guard to the Jerusalem prison. Among them was Sheik Taleb Maraka, allegedly a principal inciter of the Hebron onslaught, who for some mysterious reason was left unmolested fully two weeks.

Arabs Plan Three Demands.

It has just been disclosed that the Arab Executive has decided to publish a newspaper in the English language to disseminate propaganda among the British public and to lodge a protest with the government against the return to Palestine of M. Japotinsky, the Zionist-Revisionist leader, giving as his reason that he was responsible for the recent riots, and to demand that the League of Nations send a neutral commission to investigate conditions in the country and the true causes of the uprisings, which the Arabs assert resulted from the Zionist policy.

There is no longer any doubt that the government intends to inflict collective and not individual punishment on the Arab villages that attacked Jews. There is to be a change also in the status of the Palestine police, for the High Commissioner seems to have decided to ask London for a permanent military garrison to be stationed here and for the local police force to be composed of equal numbers of Arabs, Jews and British.

Poisoned Fruit Reported.

By The Associated Press.

JERUSALEM, Sept. 9. — Jewish sources reported scattered disorders of a minor character today, but official statements were that all Palestine was quiet.

Most serious of the Jewish charges was that Arab fruit dealers had poisoned goods sold to Jews. A woman was said to have been made ill by eating grapes sold by an Arab merchant. He was arrested in Jaffa and the remainder of the grapes sent to the Health Department for examination. Other instances were reported.

These poison tales intensified the boycott which Jews have sustained against most Arab dealers since the rioting between the two races broke out. As a result, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency reported that Jewish housewives were finding great difficulty in procuring provisions and several Arab farming communities complained that they were suffering extremely from the boycott. The leading Jewish hotel in Jerusalem was able to serve only rice at one meal.

Uneasiness of feeling between the two communities was added to by an attack on a Jewish policeman outside Haifa. He was seriously wounded. The Jewish Telegraphic Agency reported shooting last night in the suburb Givath Shaul, as the result of which several Jewish families abandoned their homes today.

Jews of Acre, except for forty-eight who were under arrest, were reported by the Agency today to have abandoned the town in favor of Haifa. Several Jews had been stoned there. It was said that those arrested were taken when they met to organize for self-defense.

The Agency also reported twenty-two Jews under arrest for possessing arms in Jerusalem, Jaffa and Tel Aviv. A special committee has been appointed by the Jewish Agency for reconstruction work which will expend the $400,000 already available.

Grave to Be Opened.

The agency also said the grave in which sixty-four victims of the Hebron rioting were buried would be opened as soon as possible, following representations made by the Rabbinate that the grave was too shallow and that it had been dug by others than Jews. The authorities will take advantage of the removal to examine the bodies.

A committee of Hebron refugees submitted today to the High Commissioner, Sir John Chancellor, a memorandum accusing Aarif el Aarif, administrative officer of Bersada, and two Arab sheiks as being instigators of Moslem disturbances in mosques and streets. It is also alleged that the administrative officer in Hebron, Abdullah Kardsis, to whom rabbis applied for help during the trouble there, quieted their fears and prevented them from getting in touch with Jerusalem by phone.

The authors of the memorandum demand suspension of the administrative officers and the police chief and also that these officials be summoned for trial. The memorandum also demands damages for stolen law scrolls.

The Grand Mufti told journalists today he had received telegrams from Moslems in Bombay, Delhi, Calcutta, Bagdad and Mecca "protesting against Jewish attacks upon the holy places of Islam and against the Balfour direct declaration." They promised full support to their Moslem compatriots in Palestine.

Jew Identifies Eighty Rioters.

By the Jewish Telegraphic Agency.

$350,000 in England for Relief.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Contributions to the Palestine relief fund being raised in England amounted to $350,000 today, received from both Jews and Christians. This amount includes $25,000 from Felix M. Warburg of New York, but for the most part the subscriptions are from Britishers, as the Palestine fund being raised in America is entirely separate from that collected in this country. Among the large English contributors are Lord Melchett, Lord Reading, James Rothschild and Simon Mark. Mr. Mark, who is treasurer of the fund, said today that no fixed amount had been determined as the sum required to give adequate relief because details of the destruction and recent disturbances in Palestine were not yet known here. There is no information so far concerning the extent and value of the crops destroyed or the number of villages and houses demolished.

Ex-soldiers are being recruited here in large numbers for service as special police in Palestine, according to The Daily Express. The force is being raised by Crown agents for the colonies, it is said. The men will embark for the East this week to strengthen the civil police now stationed in Palestine.

REICH PRESS HAILS STRESEMANN SPEECH

SOME CALL IT TOO VAGUE

Nearly All See Greater Hope for Peace in Proposals Urged on League Assembly.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—The Democratic press praises Foreign Minister Stresemann's speech before the League Assembly at Geneva and even the Nationalistic papers support certain parts of it.

The Boersen Courier applauds every word, but says Herr Stresemann was not definite enough.

"When Herr Stresemann declared the Pan-European idea had no tendency directed against any other parts of the globe he obviously bowed to the United States," says this newspaper, "but he failed to mention England." After expressing hope that the League really would become strong enough to organize economically, which Herr Stresemann anticipates, the Courier expresses its conviction that in this event the Saare Basin soon would be returned to Germany, that the just demands of minorities would be satisfied and that disarmament would be furthered by special agreements instead of hindered and finally says:

"The security of peace would be guaranteed by such agreements which would be directed against the sources of war, better than through a threat of punitive wars. And then the gap which exists between the Kellogg pact and the statutes of the League, which merely rationalizes war, can be filled."

The Berliner Tageblatt states that Herr Stresemann spoke for the entire nation and that all Germans, regardless of political viewpoint, should thank him.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung agrees with Herr Stresemann's words in regard to minorities, disarmament and Eastern problems, but is skeptical about the Pan-European idea.

"A European federation which would be dominated by one power and which would be used by this power as a figure on the political chessboard for its conflicts with other great powers is out of the question as far as Germany is concerned," says the Tageblatt. "Equality must first be re-established between European states and a peaceful revision of the dictatorial Versailles Treaty must be carried through before we can discuss such a combination. Not a Pan-Europe but a new Europe is the question of the hour.

Held in Spain for Check Fraud Here

MADRID, Sept. 9 (AP).—The police tonight arrested a man on a United States warrant charging that he had obtained $8,500 from a New York bank on a fraudulent check while posing as an employe of the General Motors Corporation and then had fled to Europe on the liner Majestic last June. The name of the man was said to be Dusan Bogdanovitch and his aliases were given as Paul Jackson and Donald Jankowitch. He is said to have confessed the theft.

CANADA'S FIRST ENVOY TO JAPAN NOW AT TOKIO

Herbert Marler Says His Work Will Be to Promote Friendship, Citing Pacific Trade Gains.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—Herbert Marler, the first Canadian Minister to Japan, arrived here today. In a press interview he described his mission as the promotion of friendly relations between Canada and her nearest neighbor across the North Pacific.

He cited figures to show that Canadian transpacific trade was expanding with great rapidity. The value of Dominion trade with Japan has risen from $5,000,000 in 1918 to $55,000,000 last year, while Vancouver's sea-borne trade now surpassed that of any of Canada's Atlantic ports, he said.

Commenting on the addition to the diplomatic corps, which is arousing much interest in Japan, The Advertiser says it shows that the British Empire possesses the world's greatest undeveloped districts and has solved the problem of combining complete autonomy with a combination large enough to defy aggression. The Advertiser predicts it will be Mr. Marler's duty to show that his presence is not a sign that the British Empire is breaking up but evidence that it is developing.

PALESTINE APPEAL BY CHURCH COUNCIL

$54,441 RECEIVED IN DAY

Total for Drive Is $662,190—Eastern Immigrants in Brooklyn Give $592.

Local organizations of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America in fifty-three cities in the United States and one in Porto Rico, have been asked by the headquarters here to turn their attention to the financial effort for the relief of Jewish victims of the Arab uprisings in Palestine.

Announcement of this was made yesterday at the Palestine Emergency Fund headquarters, 111 Fifth Avenue, by David A. Brown, chairman of the campaign, when he made public a letter which Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, chairman of the Committee on Good-Will between Jews and Christians of the Federal Council, had sent out to these city federations. The letter read:

"On Aug. 30, 1929, a statement was issued by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America signed by President F. J. McConnell, Secretary C. S. Macfarland and Dr. S. Parkes Cadman and Everett R. Clinchy of the Committee on Good-Will between Jews and Christians.

Hopes for a Solution.

"The statement expressed the sympathy of the Christians for the Jews who had suffered in Palestine. It stated that the Federal Council hopes that the solution of the complex religious, social, political and economic problems of Palestine may be approached in such a way that peace and amity will be established.

"The Federal Council offered any help that it was able to give at the time and invited Christians to contribute to the Relief Fund at the office of its chairman, David A. Brown, 111 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

"The Committee on Good-Will Between Jews and Christians calls attention of the various city federations to the possibility of cooperating with Jews in their city in this time of trouble in Palestine."

Mr. Brown said the Jewry of America "will hail with rejoicing this new evidence of cooperation and goodwill."

Mr. Brown said that gifts of $100 and more received yesterday at the fund headquarters amounted to $54,441.61, sending the total received in such gifts during the two weeks of active campaigning to $662,190.51. In this was a contribution of $14,352.64 as the first remittance from the fund committee in Chicago.

Make Sacrifices to Aid Fund.

Another gift Mr. Brown singled out for especial attention was one of $592 raised among fifty families of Yemenite Jews living in Brooklyn. He explained that those who made up this contribution were for the most part struggling immigrants, principally peddlers and day-laborers, who had come to the United States from Syria, Turkey and other lands bordering on Palestine, in the last year. "I know that some of these people have deprived themselves of several meals in order to extend help to their suffering brethren," said Mr. Brown.

DEMANDS JEWS SHARE IN PALESTINE INQUIRY

Untermyer, at Yonkers Rally, Asks Our Government to Urge British Action.

A demand that the United States Government use its influence to obtain Jewish representation on whatever body investigates the Arab uprisings in Palestine, was made by Samuel Untermyer, presiding last night at a mass meeting of the Palestine Emergency Fund committee of the Jewish Community Centre in Yonkers.

"The fact that American lives and the property of Americans have been sacrificed," he said, "entitles us to demand that our government shall make friendly representations to Great Britain in this respect and I hope not without success. In that way alone can world Jewry be satisfied with the findings of the British commission that will have charge of the investigation."

Although declaring that the British Government failed to redeem its promise to protect Palestine during the colonization experiment, Mr. Untermyer said there is no question of its determination now to make good under the League of Nations mandate "at any cost."

"And it is our duty to uphold their hands and lend them every aid and encouragement in that endeavor," he said. "The British nation has never been known in all its history to avoid its moral obligations, and I have no doubt this will hold true in the present instance, for it is dictated alike by self-interest and a sense of duty. Meantime, we must bestir ourselves to rebuild what has been destroyed and to insist upon assurances for the future as will render impossible any chance of a recurrence of such a disaster."

Mr. Untermyer said that now that the Palestine colonization is about to start all over again on a firmer basis, the world should turn a deaf ear to the propaganda about a Jewish State, which he held to be largely responsible for development activities in the Holy Land being misunderstood.

JEWISH LEADER IN TRAGEDY.

Sir Hermann Gollancz's Son Suicide —Wife Has Stroke.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—In the evening of his day, Sir Hermann Gollancz, distinguished Hebrew scholar and preacher at the Bayswater Synagogue, has been assailed by tragedy.

Lying ill in Torquay, he is at the same time endeavoring to furnish as much information as possible to the British public concerning the Palestine situation, which had caused his family considerable anxiety. In a "moment of sudden impulse caused by nervous strain," as the coroner recorded today, his son, Leonard, 35, flung himself from a third-story window of the hotel in Torquay where he was staying. As a result of the shock Lady Gollancz had a stroke and is now critically ill.

Sir Hermann is seventy-seven and even after the tragedy he continued to address letters to newspapers pleading the cause of Palestine Jewry.

$358 Sent in for Palestine Relief.

THE NEW YORK TIMES acknowledges receipt of the following contributions, totaling $358, for the Palestine Emergency Fund: Harris Lukashok & Sons, $100; Independent Bukovinaer Young Men's and Young Ladies' Benevolent Society, $100; Caroline Greenfield, $75; Allendale Garage Corporation, $25; Anna B. Frank, $25; Rhea Koff, $15; Oscar Abrams, $10; Adolph D. Falber, $3; Gertie F. Green, $5. This money has been forwarded to the treasurer of the fund at 111 Fifth Avenue.

17 Aliens Sentenced at Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. Sept. 9 (AP).—Seventeen aliens, including men and boys from England, Wales, Ireland, Norway and Canada, today were sentenced by Federal Judge Cooper for illegal entry into the United States. They have been in cells for from a few weeks to six months. They were sentenced for terms running from ten days to three months and ordered confined in the Madison County jail at Wampsville.

JEWISH THEATRES ASK CUT IN STAGE STAFFS

Reply to Demand for 25% Wage Increase Also Proposes Arbitration of Dispute.

The demands of Local 1 of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes for a 25 per cent wage increase in Jewish theatres in the metropolitan area have brought a counter-proposal from the Jewish Theatre Managers and Producers, it was disclosed yesterday by Charles W. Groll, attorney for the latter organization.

Mr. Groll, in a letter to the wage scale committee of the local, suggested that the backstage staff of each of the eleven Jewish theatres be reduced by eight men, that an auditor be appointed to verify the alleged losses suffered during the last two years by the theatres and that issues in the case be submitted to a board of arbitration or to any qualified officer of the Department of Labor, the United Hebrew Trades or the American Federation of Labor. The letter attributed financial losses in the Jewish playhouses in part to restricted immigration and a resulting smaller patronage.

W. J. Maher, president of the local, said that a date would be set late this week to discuss the matter. The opening of ten Jewish theatres, scheduled for Oct. 5, will probably be delayed pending further negotiations.

Britain to Study Rail Electrification.

EASY DIVORCE URGED AT LONDON MEETING

BIRTH CONTROL STRESSED

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—In a paper on "Premarital Consultation" by Dr. Abraham Stone of the New York Board of Health, which was read for him today at the international congress of the World League for Sex Reform, Dr. Stone made the point that in these days young couples are not economically prepared to have children in the early years of married life and therefore should receive the benefit of instruction concerning birth control.

The New York doctor also said the present system of premarital guidance of the young people of America, where it exists at all, is confined too closely to the eugenic phases and should be extended to include the whole field of sex relations.

A resolution offered today for the future action of this congress follows:

"This congress declares that the present laws and customs as to marriage in most countries of the world are inhuman and unworthy of civilized people. The present possessive and vindicative spirit of these laws should be replaced by a more creative attitude so that both parents and children may achieve the greatest freedom and individual happiness.

Freedom of Choice Urged.

"There should be full individual freedom to contract and dissolve marriage so that no unwilling partner can be forced to remain in an unhappy relationship. Law and custom should be directed toward eugenic ends and to the protection of children.

"Marriage should not be an economic carrier for idle men or women.

"Marriage education centres should be sponsored by the public authority where free advice on marital and birth control problems can be obtained by any one who asks it."

The Rev. W. F. Geikie-Cobb of the Church of England said that divorce should be by mutual consent.

"As in old Rome," he said, "couples should have the right to end their union by mutual consent and that ending should be respected by the State."

But Dr. Cobb, who is chairman of the Marriage Law Reform League of England, expressed fear that this country would require another century of education before abandoning the present customs.

Wants Compulsory Work for Wives.

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP).—Mrs. Dora Russell, wife of Bertrand Russell and herself the author of articles on feminine freedom, said at the law reform congress today:

"Married women should be compelled, if not by law then by social persuasion, to continue work after marriage unless they are engaged in caring for children." She said that present laws honor jealousy where they should discourage it.

Dr. Bernard Hollander, a specialist on mental and nervous diseases, appealed for amendment of the English law by which he said a sane man or woman at present is tied for life to a partner who may be incurably insane. He advocated legal dissolution of such marriages, not only to benefit the individual, but to prevent deterioration of the race.

MONACO REVOLT SEEN SHOULD PRINCESS DIE

MONACO, Sept. 9 (AP).—The sudden illness of the beautiful young Princess Charlotte, daughter and heiress apparent of Prince Louis of Monaco, has caused suspension of the negotiations which she was conducting in behalf of her father with the dissatisfied citizens of the principality.

Should her illness terminate fatally (and she was reported tonight very seriously ill) many here fear that a revolt which has been smoldering against the Prince for more than a year will blaze up immediately.

The citizens demand a new Constitution and the appointment of a committee of themselves with power to supervise the expenditures of government income received from the casino. The reigning Prince has opposed this because it would mean granting his subjects supervision over a considerable portion of his income.

After his last refusal the discontented citizens' committee delivered an ultimatum that if it was again refused it would give its influence to French groups who seek annulment of the Franco-Monaco treaty, which permits roulette in Monaco, while it is forbidden in casinos on French territory.

NEW JERSEY CENTRAL

LA GUARDIA RETORTS TO CITIZENS UNION

SEES IT UNFAIR TO RECORD

Wins the Endorsement of Colonel Roosevelt, Who Says He Will Offer Aid in Campaign.

Failure of the Citizens Union with its long record of opposition to Tammany to indorse his candidacy was characterized as "funny" yesterday by Fiorello H. La Guardia, Republican designee for Mayor.

Mr. La Guardia declared that he was fighting the Tammany Board of Estimate on the very issues the Citizens Union had raised against it and that he had endorsed only its stand in favor of the five-cent fare. He put down to personal animosity the attack on his record as President of the Aldermanic Board during the first Hylan Administration when as often as not he sided with the then Tammany Mayor. He indicated his belief that when the question of who should be indorsed for the Mayoralty is submitted to the full city committee of the Citizens Union that body might disagree with the executive committee.

As far as could be learned yesterday, no date has been set as yet for a meeting of the city committee of the Citizens Union.

Action Not Unexpected.

In Republican circles the failure of the Citizens Union to indorse the Republican designee was not unexpected. At the time the designation was made they received every indication that the choice was anything but pleasing to the controlling powers within the anti-Tammany organization. Mr. La Guardia made no effort to conceal from newspaper men that the attack had angered him.

"They had my record in public life for the last twenty-six years to draw upon and yet they did not venture to give any fact to support their attack upon me," the Republican Mayoralty designee said.

The Citizens Union, he said, had overlooked all the constructive work he had done while a member of the House of Representatives. At this point he asked Mrs. La Guardia, who is helping out at his headquarters in the Hotel Cadillac to bring in a copy of his Congress resolution for an investigation of the illicit traffic in narcotics.

"This is my baby," he said when it was brought in. "The Citizens Union has called me an opportunist. If to seek remedial legislation for conditions calling for a drastic remedy, and when I was fully aware of the necessity of just such an investigation as my narcotic committee would make, then I suppose I am an opportunist.

"I am too busy fighting Tammany Hall to get into a controversy with the Citizens Union and the three men who run it. "I have no criticism of the splendid men and women who contribute to the union. This statement was issued by the executive committee of the union without consulting its membership. I am busily engaged in the great public service of ridding this city of Tammany rule.

"Anyhow, I suppose opposition from the Citizens Union was the best that could happen to me. The union has not picked a winner in the last twenty years. They are actuated by a necessity to keep their place with Tammany Hall. The subtle statement of the executive committee amounted to nothing less than lining up with Tammany."

Gets Roosevelt Endorsement.

Mr. La Guardia received yesterday the endorsement of Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, just back from his journey of exploration in Indo-China and China proper. Colonel Roosevelt, when he received newspaper men at his home, 167 East Seventy-fourth Street, wore a La Guardia button.

"I question the wisdom of paying much attention to the pronouncement of the Citizens Union in attempting to belittle Major La Guardia," the Colonel said. "As you see, the first thing I did when I got in this morning was to put on a La Guardia button. Our party has made a splendid choice in its selection of candidate for Mayor. Major La Guardia is a fine type of American and a fighter. He is liberal and progressive and has given proof beyond doubt of his sterling valor by his services in the United States Army during the war. I hope to see him in the City Hall.

"Major La Guardia represents the type of man behind whom all the anti-Tammany forces should rally. In a few days, upon my return from Washington, I expect to call upon him personally and tender my services as far as practicable."

Mr. La Guardia was endorsed yesterday by Thomas C. Desmond, chairman of the advisory board of the Young Republican Club. For many years a member of the city committee of the Citizens Union, he said:

"I believe that La Guardia certainly is to be preferred for Mayor over either Walker or Thomas. Perhaps when the vote of all the members of the city committee of the Citizens Union has been canvassed it will be discovered that the present preference of the members of the executive committee is not shared by the general membership of the city committee."

Another member of the Citizens Union, Charles L. Bernheimer of 25 Broad Street, prominent in business and banking, pronounced as unwarranted the union's criticism of Major La Guardia. "Major La Guardia, running on a good-government platform, promises better government for the city of New York," he said.

Mr. La Guardia in some of his speeches last night came back at the Citizens Union. Without mentioning its name, he intimated that he thought that the Citizens Union and Tammany Hall were in league to defeat him.

"I have the goods on Tammany and Tammany knows it and they can make all the connections they want with people who pretend to be for good government but who are the recipients of parts of the proceeds from their dirty work," he said in his address at the Seventh Assembly District Club, 862 East Tremont Avenue, in the Bronx. "They can make all the unholy alliances, all the arrangements with any sort of gang that they want. I am going to lick them anyway. I have licked Tammany seven times and I am going to make this my eighth victory over Tammany."

Mr. La Guardia also spoke at the Bronx Republican Club, 409 East 156th Street; at the Twenty-third Assembly District Club, 90 Bennett Avenue, and the Fourth Assembly District Club, 436 Grand Street, in Manhattan.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DORTMUND, Germany, Sept. 9.—Automobiles, airplanes, motor boats, motorcycles and radio are absolutely essential to the successful prosecution of modern missionary work in Africa, in the opinion of Father Schulte of Cologne, former aviator, who in an address before a largely attended meeting of the German Catholic Missionary Society today strongly advocated the unlimited exploitation of modern technical devices in connection with carrying the Gospel to the darker regions of the earth.

He believes the use of airplanes and other modern agencies of locomotion would accelerate and simplify the work of missionaries in uncultivated regions.

Among the speakers was Captain Herman Koehl, the transatlantic flier, who with Colonel James Fitzmaurice, one of his companions in the flight of the Bremen, has placed himself at the service of the society in connection with its proposed aviation service in Africa, where it is intended to establish a missionary base in the northern part of the former German Southwest Africa which will be equipped with ten automobiles, three motor boats, three airplanes and wireless telegraph. The first motor boat, christened Pius XI, has already been shipped.

Cardinal Schulte of Cologne has accepted the protectorate of the society, of which Prince Lowenstein and the former Chancellor, Dr. Wilhelm Cuno of Hamburg, are honorary officers. Well-known German steamship lines and automobile and airplane manufacturers have promised to promote the society's African plans.

SUES SECURITY COMPANY.

Government Seeks $200,000 in Action Over Shipping Contract.

A suit by the government against the New Amsterdam Casualty Company and the Fidelity and Casualty Company for $200,000 furnished as security for the carrying out of a contract between the United States and the American Ship Building Company of Brunswick, Ga., was filed in the Federal court yesterday by Samuel C. Coleman, chief of the civil division of United States Attorney Tuttle's office. The contract was entered into June 26, 1927, and called for the construction of eight wood cargo hulls, which was later increased to ten hulls. Five were delivered when the contract was canceled in March, 1919, Mr. Coleman, explaining the action, said:

"The government's action against the defendants is based upon failure of the ship building company to account for moneys advanced from time to time. The various items in the claim make a total of $509,783.26, but it is possible to sue only for the amount of the bond."

ABJURE LA GUARDIA, CALLAGHAN ADVISED

URGES EMPHATIC STAND

Leading Democrats Indicate Way Is Opened for Jurist to Get Endorsement.

Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan, Republican, of Brooklyn, has been shown the way by which he can obtain Democratic endorsement, it was hinted yesterday by prominent Democrats conversant with the situation in the Second Judicial District. The way, it was said, has been indicated by Paul Block, owner of The Brooklyn Standard Union and close personal friend of Mayor Walker, in an open letter to Justice Callaghan published yesterday in that paper.

In his letter Mr. Block who previously had called upon John H. McCooey, Brooklyn Democratic leader, to bring about the endorsement of Justice Callaghan, urged the latter to repudiate what he called the attempt of Representative F. H. La Guardia, Republican designee for Mayor, to make political capital by declaring that he will force Mr. McCooey to an endorsement.

"La Guardia has had the temerity to attach his candidacy to yours, to try to help himself by trying to help you," Mr. Block wrote, "and he has offended all fair-minded people with his tactics.

"You know, of course, a very great number of Republicans not only will not vote for La Guardia for Mayor if he is nominated, but are disappointed and discouraged with their ticket's leadership.

"Every one who knows you is certain that you have disapproved of La Guardia's unmannerly, blustering campaign for himself in your name. They know you do not desire it. They feel it is a mistake to inject politics, any politics, into your candidacy. They recall that the Republicans refused to endorse Surrogate Wingate, a most able jurist, for re-election in 1925. They also recall that the Democrats, too, have refused to endorse very able judges who belonged to the Republican party. This is unfair to judges who have served well. It is just as unfair to the people who desire that partisan politics be kept out of the judiciary.

"Therefore, your friends, Democrats as well as Republicans, deplore La Guardia's methods. They want fairness and dignity in every effort in your behalf. But they fear that many voters have been misled by La Guardia's behavior to believe that you approve his methods of campaigning — and these friends would like to have you repudiate such support.

"Your record entitles your candidacy to endorsement. It entitles you to re-election. La Guardia ought not to be permitted to pirate it for his political ambitions.

"We believe this is your viewpoint, Judge Callaghan, but you should state it, plainly and emphatically."

"Paul Block evidently is not worrying about Justice Callaghan at all, but is worrying about his friend, James J. Walker, and he has cause to worry," Mr. La Guardia said. "Now instead of advising me what to say, let Mr. Block advise Mayor Walker to come out and endorse Justice Callaghan and that will eliminate the issue."

Mayor Walker at first declined to comment. "I don't mind saying that I will continue to follow a life-long policy of minding my own business," he said. "I live in Manhattan and am not a resident of the Second Judicial District. I have no power to vote for or against Justice Callaghan."

Voters' Central Registration Time Limit Is Up Today

Today will be the final day for central registration of voters who expect to be absent from the city during the week of registration next month. Voters who wish to register now must apply at the headquarters of the Board of Elections in their boroughs and say under oath that they expect to be away from home during the regular registration period in October.

BLACKMER MAKES PLEA IN CONTEMPT CASES

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—Contending that even if he had answered subpoenas to appear as a witness in the trials of Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall his testimony would have been inadmissible and of no value, Harry M. Blackmer, the oil man who is said to have fled to Paris at the time of the Teapot Dome scandal, asked the District of Columbia Supreme Court today to dismiss two citations for contempt and to return $100,000 in Liberty bonds seized by order of the court to satisfy any judgment under the actions.

His attorney, George Gordon Battle, contends that the two contempt citations involve the same trial and that the court is attempting to penalize his client double for one offense.

He again contends that because Mr. Blackmer is domiciled in France the service of the subpoena made on him in the first case was void because it violated provisions of the Walsh act.

Mr. Blackmer also bases his pleas on the grounds of unconstitutionality, citing amendments to the Constitution which provide rights against unreasonable seizure, prohibit excessive fines and unusual penalties and give persons accused in criminal prosecutions the right to be informed of the nature of the accusations, trial by jury and court process to compel attendance of defense witnesses. Arguments on the orders are scheduled to come up next Monday before Justic Frederick L. Siddons.

Action in the two Blackmer cases has not been pushed by the Government in the District of Columbia because of the unsuccessful efforts to have the oil man extradited from France to answer charges filed in the Federal courts of Colorado, which allege making of false income tax returns.

AID SENT THOUSANDS HOMELESS IN LUZON

AIRPLANES HELP IN RELIEF

Governor General Davis Reports Situation in Hand—Losses Expected to Exceed Those of November.

MANILA, Sept. 9 (AP).—Communication lines, slowly being repaired after the passing of the typhoon which swept the island of Luzon last week, today brought reports of mounting death lists and tales of great damage done by the storm.

More than 200 persons were reported killed on the island, and thousands were said to be homeless and hungry. Great havoc has been wrought to crops. Starting in the Southern provinces a week ago Sunday, the typhoon swept to sea, then turned, descending on the Northern Provinces of Tayabas, Rizal, Laguna and Bulacan with great fury, destroying homes and crops.

Manila was deluged by torrential rains. Water mains were broken and for several days a water shortage loomed, having been barely averted by passages built from Novaliches Dam, twelve miles north of the city. The relief was minor, however, for only small flows were brought in and a great part of the city was dependent on artesian wells.

Army planes were circling over the devastated regions, surveying the stricken areas, and aid was being sent wherever possible. The United States destroyer Edsall was en route up the eastern coast of Luson on a relief expedition.

From Infanta, on the eastern coast of Tayabas Province and nearly due east of Manila, where fifty persons had previously been reported dead, came news of additional loss of life. Few homes were left undamaged and thousands of persons were in need of food, reports stated.

Davis Reports Big Losses.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—The typhoon which struck the Philippines the first three days of last week caused more damage than the devastating typhoon of last November, Gov. Gen. Dwight F. Davis said in a message to the Bureau of Insular Affairs today.

"Citizens' disaster relief committees have been organized in most of the affected areas," the message said. "The relief work is well in hand. The water supply in Manitasay was affected by a break in the water mains as a result of the flood following the typhoon. Reconstruction work is being pushed and we expect normal service to be restored within a week. Health conditions are being carefully guarded. No epidemics are reported."

At the same time the Philippine Chapter of the Red Cross reported to headquarters here that the typhoon had left thousands of families without food.

In the typhoon of last November 25,000 buildings were wrecked and 500 persons killed. Another typhoon last May killed 119 persons, destroying plantations.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Under the cover of a fog thieves got away with First Edition Folios 4, 5 and 6, dated 1596, of Spenser's "Faerie Queene," valued at between $7,500 and $10,000, from Cartmel-in-Furness priory, it is revealed tonight.

They entered the vestry window, smashed the glass in which the folios were exhibited with a copy of the "Vinegar Bible" dated 1716 and a medical work by Nicholas Nicholi dated 1491 and printed in Venice.

Only the Spenser relic was taken. It was bequeathed to the church in the seventeenth century by Thomas Preston of Holker Hall, near Cartmel. About fifteen thousand visitors, including many Americans, inspect the priory yearly.

SPLIT IN BRITISH CABINET.

LONDON, Sept. 9 (Canadian Press).—The Labor Cabinet, which met today for the first time since the Parliamentary recess, is faced with a serious split on Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson's proposal for a convention of financial assistance to States, the victims of aggression. The Evening Standard asserted today.

Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, the paper further states, is the Foreign Secretary's chief opponent on the question.

On Saturday The Daily Telegraph attacked the scheme put forward by Mr. Henderson at the League of Nations Assembly, calling it "an act of sheer lunacy," and since then a number of newspapers, chiefly Conservative, have followed the lead of The Telegraph.

PORT CLAIM HINDERS CHACO ARBITRATION

STRIP OFFERED IN RETURN

But Asuncion Argues She Has Held With No Hint of Dispute Other Area Fifty-one Years

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Sept. 9.—Paraguay's refusal to accept arbitration of the Chaco dispute with Bolivia under the terms proposed by the Commission of Neutrals in Washington is based on the commission's suggestion that the river port of Bahia Negra and adjacent territory be recognized as belonging to Bolivia, while a triangular area between the three rivers, Paraguay, Pilcomayo and Verde, be recognized as belonging to Paraguay regardless of the outcome of the arbitration.

The arbitral tribunal then would decide the sovereignty of the area between the Pilcomayo River and the southern boundary line of the area recognized as Bolivian.

Paraguay considers this an unequal proposal whereby she would be forced to concede part of the disputed territory to Bolivia without reciprocal compensation before beginning arbitration. The triangular strip between the Pilcomayo, Paraguay and Verde Rivers was subject to arbitration between Paraguay and Argentina fifty-one years ago. President Hayes, as arbitrator, examined the Argentinian and Paraguayn titles all the way back to the Spanish royal grants, found Paraguy's titles to the territory perfect, and so awarded it.

Bolivia Silent on Award.

Bolivia at that time made no claim to the territory disputed between Argentina and Paraguay and did not protest the Hayes award. Paraguay refuses to admit revision of the Hayes award at this late date or to admit that the territory awarded by President Hayes in any way included that in the present dispute with Bolivia.

On the other hand, the Paraguayan and Bolivian conflicting claims to the region running westward from Bahia Negra never have been considered by any tribunal. Paraguay is no willing to surrender her right to have her claims to this territory considered merely in return for recognition by a commission of neutrals or her right to territory she already has held for fifty-one years under the award of President Hayes.

Paraguay is perfectly willing, even eager, to submit the entire question to arbitration without reservations, but claims the right to have her title to the Bahia Negra region examined by the arbitrator at the same time Bolivia's is examined.

Paraguay Ready for Risk.

The Paraguayan position, briefly stated, is:

"It is possible that we may lose some territory by an arbitration award. This we are willing to risk; but we want all our claims and titles examined by capable, impartial judges in fair arbitration after ample examination to decide fairly whether our titles or Bolivia's have the best standing under the law."

Paraguay will not consent, however, that any part of the disputed area be ceded to Bolivia beforehand as a condition for arbitration.

Paraguay also considers that two Paraguayans, two Bolivians and one neutral, as proposed by the commission of neutrals, would not constitute a proper arbitration tribunal. Paraguay wants the question arbitrated by impartial, disinterested judges, preferably the President of the United States or the United States Supreme Court. Until a few months ago Bolivia publicly stated she was willing to submit to the arbitration of the World Court.

Neither country is likely to accept a tribunal in which all the power would be in the hands of a single neutral fifth judge casting the deciding vote, with two Bolivians and two Paraguayans who would always be tied.

SIX DIE, TEN MISSING AS OIL TANKER BURNS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROTTERDAM, Sept. 9.—The British oil tanker Vimeira, which had an accident in July near Halifax, arrived here a few days ago for repairs. As the vessel was being manoeuvred this morning into drydock it suddenly caught fire, and in a few moments was alight from end to end and enveloped in cloud smoke, which prevented the rescue of those aboard. Besides the crew, there were fifty drydock workmen aboard. As many as could jump on to two tugs accompanying the ship or into the water. The captain's wife broke her leg in a jump. From all sides boats put out to the rescue, picking up many survivors from the water.

It is officially reported that, so far as known, six are dead, four being burned and two drowned, and about ten are still missing. Many of the workmen who were burned were taken to the Rotterdam Hospital. Those who were burned to death included the first and fifth ship's officers.

The Rotterdam fire brigade has been trying to extinguish the fire with floating fire engines. It probably will take another day.

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP).—A message to Lloyd's tonight said that the fire which broke out on the British tank steamer Vimeira had been extinguished. The tanker sailed from New Orleans on July 10 and stopped at Halifax and London.

EDUCATORS REPLY TO ROGERS ATTACK

Deny That Women Teachers Are "Feminizing" American School Pupils.

CHARGES TERMED ABSURD

O'Shea, New York Superintendent, Calls M. I. T. Professor's Criticism Too Sweeping.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—Professor Robert E. Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology was today branded as a "pessimist," "notoriety seeker" and "malcontent" by various Boston educators who commented on his view that women teachers are responsible for the failure of youthful students as well as many adults to think for themselves either politically or philosophically. Fifty years of women teachers has produced "feminine thinking" in America, Professor Rogers declared yesterday in a speech at Wellesley, Mass.

From Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton of Cambridge, legislative chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, came the observation that Professor Rogers "was talking through his hat," and that she did not take very seriously what he said on any subject.

She did agree, however, with the professor's belief that after the age of 13 boys should be taught solely by male teachers. Women teachers, however, possess a greater amount of patience with school children than it is possible for a man to muster, she said.

Says the War Was Proof.

Miss Mary McSkimmon, former president of the National Educational Association and now principal of Pierce School, Brookline, rallied to the defense of women teachers by saying:

"I once had in years past the tiniest fear that perhaps women teachers were as Professor Rogers has said. But the great war came on and the magnificent demonstration of fitness that our boys presented during the days of conflict settled once and for all the doubt that had crept into my work.

Other comment follows:

Anna M. Niland, head of U. S. Grant School, East Boston:

"Professor Rogers has peculiar views. I believe that he is too much of a pessimist—in fact a malcontent."

Myrtle C. Dickson, head of the Memorial High School for Girls:

"Professor Rogers's attack is manifestly untrue and unfair. I will readily grant that there are poor teachers among the women just as there are among the men, but it is not right to draw a line of demarcation between men and women teachers in the primary, intermediate and high school grades. Courses of study are so scientific in their foundation that mode of instruction is paramount. In this women need not bow to the men."

Charge Called Too Sweeping.

While conceding that the teaching corps of the elementary schools should have a larger percentage of men, New York school officials yesterday characterized the contention of Professor Robert E. Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology that women teachers are "feminizing" America as untrue and based on too sweeping generalizations.

Dr. William J. O'Shea, Superintendent of Schools, declared that the instruction provided by women in the elementary grades is satisfactory. Dr. O'Shea thought that boys about 12 years of age should have a goodly percentage of men as teachers, but that under that age pupils are better off with women as instructors.

"Under 8 young children of both sexes should have women as teachers," he said. "The characteristic tenderness of women is better suited to young children."

The Superintendent declared that more teachers of the male sex were needed for the older boys for training and cooperation in games and athletic endeavor and as "models." "Models" are needed, he said, to inspire boys with admiration of manly virtues and qualities.

"For those reasons we would like to have more men in our upper grades in the elementary schools, although we are getting along pretty well at present," Dr. O'Shea said.

Chicago Prosecutor Tells Court That Stalin Rules Millions Here.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—The Illinois sedition act was invoked today against twenty-six defendants who were arrested in Grant Park last June during a Communist meeting. Warrants charging violation of the act were issued by Judge John H. Lyle in the Boys' Court on application by Assistant State's Attorney Everett O. Hutchins.

The penalty under the act is one to ten years imprisonment. The accused were originally arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. The Judge ordered the forfeiture of the bonds of all but three of the defendants when they failed to appear in court.

In asking for the sedition warrants, Prosecutor Hutchins asserted that the United States was imperiled by communism and that Joseph Stalin of Russia was actually the head of millions of followers in this country.

Gives Organ to Community Centre.

The Westchester County Park Commission announced yesterday that Eugene H. Meyer Jr., former head of the Federal Farm Loan Board in Washington, has presented a $10,000 pipe organ to be placed in the Westchester County Community Centre building just completed at White Plains. The organ will be placed in the large auditorium where the future Westchester musical festivals will be held. Mrs. Meyer is chairman of the Westchester County Recreation Commission, which sponsors the music festivals each year.

Norris Forces Debate Today on Vare Case, Temporarily Sidetracking the Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Immediate denial of a seat in the Senate to William S. Vare, for whose 1926 primary campaign more than $785,000 was spent, was demanded in a resolution introduced today by Senator Norris, Progressive Republican, of Nebraska. The resolution is expected to lead to a determined fight, which may cause interruptions and delays during the debate on the tariff bill.

After relating the history of the long battle over the Vare seat, the Norris resolution said:

Whereas the Senate has delayed action upon said report on account of the illness of the said William S. Vare; and

Whereas the said William S. Vare has recovered from said illness and no further reasons exist for longer delay on the part of the Senate; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the said report be, and the same is hereby, approved and adopted; and be it further

Resolved, That the said William S. Vare, be and he is hereby, denied a seat in the United States Senate.

As a matter of the highest privilege, the Norris resolution will come up for debate in the Senate tomorrow to be settled, Mr. Norris predicts, in a few hours, but to be faced, Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, declares, by a long and grim struggle.

Most Senators seemed to share Mr. Reed's opinion, some believing Mr. Norris could use the resolution to filibuster against the tariff bill, others saying Mr. Reed could employ it to delay consideration of the Simmons resolution to disclose corporation income taxes.

Surprise was caused by the introductions of the Norris resolution, but later it was learned that he conferred, before the Senate met, with the members of the "slush fund" committee. Gaining the tacit approval of the committee, Mr. Norris introduced it, only to have Senator Watson, Republican leader, insist that it go over until tomorrow "under the rules."

tion to the present law. Mr. Smoot admitted this, whereupon Mr. Harrison asked the Utah Senator why he constituted himself a "censor" of facts. Then Mr. Harrison read what he said were the Tariff Commission's figures.

"The figures speak for themselves and I can understand why the Senator from Utah suppressed them," Mr. Harrison remarked; while Mr. Simmons said that Mr. Smoot's action was "astonishing."

Percentage increases or decreases as made respectively by the House and Finance Committee over the 1922 act.

Agriculture	48.93	44.80
Spirits	22.32	22.32
Cotton manufactures	8.24	5.00
Flax, hemp, jute	5.49	4.10
Wool	16.89	14.31

Sundries	37.95	27.76

Simmons Leads in Attack.

Mr. Simmons was speaking on his resolution when the adjournment hour arrived.

"You are penalizing the American people for the purpose of protecting inefficiently managed, bankrupt, lame-duck corporations," he told the Republicans. "Your party has seldom made an attempt to measure tariff duties by production costs. My resolution is for the purpose of determining whether industries are entitled to protection. If they are prosperous and making large profits, they are not entitled to that benefit."

At this point Vice President Curtis called attention to the pending business, the Jones bill to transfer the prohibition unit to the Department of Justice. Senator Jones conceded that his measure could not be handled now, and, after a wrangle, Mr. Smoot formally took up the tariff bill itself, only to lay it aside temporarily for the Simmons resolution.

Senators Borah and Norris wanted a vote on the Simmons plan at once, and Senator Watson asked for a vote before the day was ended, but Mr. Simmons concluded that tomorrow would be a more feasible time.

"I am convinced that you will be forced to the conclusion that the resolution is not being pressed for the purpose of obtaining and making available information relevant to the tariff bill," said Mr. Smoot, as he opened his attack on the Simmons scheme.

He argued first that all the data sought could be found in financial publications, which, he stated, Mr. Simmons had not taken the time to examine. The Utah Senator contended, second, that income tax returns did not give relevant information, and that one could not ascertain true profits and losses from this source.

"The price to be paid is certain. The consequences are certain. The establishment of the principle of income tax publicity, the opportunity to attempt to harass a few individual taxpayers, prolonged and indefinite delay in the consideration of the bill—these are the real issues presented by the resolution offered by the Senator from North Carolina.

"A vote for the resolution can only be accepted as a vote for each of these propositions, as an endorsement of all of them. With each Senator fully appreciating this, and with the public well aware of the meaning of a vote for the resolution, I am most willing to hasten a vote upon it."

HELD AS BABY KIDNAPPER.

Sailor Took Infant From Home of Friend in Brooklyn.

Carlos Gonzales, 38 years old, of 93 Hamilton Avenue, Brooklyn, a Chilean seaman, was arrested on a charge of kidnapping last night by detectives who found him walking toward Hamilton Avenue Ferry, bearing in his arms Edward Nievis, 18 months old, son of Tony Nievis, a former shipmate.

Gonzales had been entertained Sunday evening in the Nievis flat at 240 York Street. When he left he took the infant with him, hiding it under his coat. He purchased a dress for it, bought it warm milk and was about to take it to New Jersey, according to the police. He explained his act by saying that little Edward resembled his own child, with which his wife disappeared some time ago.

HALVEY TEARS DOWN FENCE ACROSS AVENUE

Swings Axe on Structure Which Halted Firemen on Way to Queens Blaze.

Borough President Harvey of Queens and his Commissioner of Public Works, John J. Halleran, went yesterday with a crew of highway laborers to Ehret Avenue and Astoria Boulevard, Queens, and chopped down a fence across the avenue, which has caused controversy since it was built last week. The Borough President himself swung the first axe.

While he was preparing to destroy the structure, the New York Airways, Inc., obtained from Supreme Court Justice James J. Dunne, in Brooklyn, a temporary injunction ordering the Astoria-Riker Corporation, of which Stuard Hirschman is president, to cease blocking Ehret Avenue with the fence. Hearing was set for Thursday.

Mr. Hirschman said that his corporation built the fence because the avenue at that point is its property. Others assert, however, that as the avenue has been used for more than twenty years as a public highway, the city has an easement and the corporation has no right to block the way to the airport.

THE NEW YORK TIMES, in its Brooklyn section on Saturday, in an account of fire engines being blocked twice by the fence on their way to fires, said that the fence was the property of the Holmes Airport, Inc. The latter did not build the fence and was in no way responsible for it.

On Tuesday when firemen found their way blocked, they tore down part of the fence to reach a grass blaze, according to fire department officials. Wednesday while on their way to another fire in a two-story dwelling and dance hall at Eighty-eighth Street and Riker Avenue, they found the fence rebuilt and were forced to tear it down again, the officials reported.

FRENCH LINK FILMS TO OUR TRADE RISE

NEW CRISIS IN CONTROVERSY

Observers Feel Our Motion Picture Men Should Have Accepted French Compromise Offer.

By CARLISLE MacDONALD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—Refusal of the American film industry to accept the status quo for one year pending the negotiation of a definite and final agreement has caused another crisis in the stubborn Franco-American motion-picture controversy. Two weeks ago both sides came within a short distance of an understanding which would have permitted the resumption of normal business, meanwhile giving the leaders of the two industries an opportunity to work out a complete accord.

Because the French would not accompany their compromise proposal with the understanding that under no circumstances would the contingent or quota system again be used in France, the Americans have rejected the proposition.

The latest number of the bulletin of the Chamber Syndicate, the business organization of the French industry, attacks the American industry, rehashing all the old scores and alleged grievances and accusing the Americans of trying to monopolize the screen markets of the world for propaganda purposes for the sale of United States-made products. It links the rise in American exports with the advance of American-made films throughout the world.

The article is not important except as an indication of the return to the unfortunate attitude of unfriendliness which has characterized the long-drawn-out dispute. However, in fairness to the French side, it must be said that unbiased observers are inclined to feel that the American position is too dogmatic. The French, it is asserted, have been forced to retreat from a difficult position and the Americans should meet them half way.

By accepting the proposed compromise, it is felt the road would be opened to something definite and just for both parties, and incidentally the public, which likes to see pictures reasonably new and not one or two years old, would feel it had received a modest share of consideration in the matter.

It is hoped here that counsels of reason will bring the issue to a speedy termination, although the French industry is once more asking the government to take steps to enforce the projected four-to-one quota, gradually strengthening it to a two-to-one basis. The status quo would continue the present seven-to-one quota, under which Americans can operate, but four to one would result in most companies getting out of the market entirely. Sales have already been suspended for more than four months, causing a shortage of films in the French market.

WOMEN CAN END WAR, LADY ASTOR WRITES

Predicts in Magazine Article That They Will Play Big Role in Enforcing Kellogg Pact.

The prophecy that women will play an important rôle in forcing observance of the Kellogg pact is made by Lady Astor, member of Parliament, in an article in the forthcoming October issue of McCall's Magazine.

"Women can do such a lot, if they really try," she writes, "with their own generation, with their children, and by their constructive thinking. If they really want world peace—and I believe they do—they can get it. But not by sitting still and leaving politics alone, nor even by voting at election time and doing nothing more. They've got to be up and doing, in the political world, to which now in most countries they are at last admitted.

"It is only by the strictest vigilance on the part of the people that any of our governments can be kept straight; and it is only the people who know what they are looking for who can be really vigilant. And so I feel that the international organizations of women are doing a splendid thing.

"Women know that peace is essential to their homes and their children and all they care for, and I believe their peace-making activities are among the surest hopes of the future."

EDISON PRIZE IS AWARDED.

Louis de la Fleur of 27 Flaxton Street, Utica, who represented New York in the group of boys who undertook to answer Thomas A. Edison's famous questionnaire, has been chosen to receive one of the prizes, the inventor's office announced yesterday.

After a scholarship and expenses for a complete course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology was awarded to Walter Huston, Mr. Edison gave tuition scholarships at various universities to four other boys who ranked close to him.

Mrs. R. B. Stevens of El Paso, Texas, then asked Mr. Edison to choose a boy to whom she would award a prize similar to that given to Huston, and Charles Brunissen of Redding, Conn., was designated. Now de la Fleur is to get Brunissen's original prize.

He said that he would attend Hamilton College at Clinton, N. Y., where he plans to major in science and minor in mathematics.

Bennett Seeks Financial Aid.

William M. Bennett, independent candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor, said yesterday that he was casting about for financial support to enable him to finance a big pamphlet campaign during the final week of the primary fight. He is preparing to circularize 700,000 enrolled Republicans in an effort to convince them that he is the better candidate.

Two Named to Portuguese Cabinet.

True to an old pledge
--and renewing it again

It has been the recurrent custom of the Coward Shoe to pledge itself publicly to the principles and policies of its founder, James S. Coward:

"This institution shall be known for the quality and comfort of its shoes. Use only the choicest of leathers... employ only good craftsmen... See that every foot is fitted with skilled accuracy... Let rigid honesty be the only policy in pricing."

On such precepts was this business founded... by strict adherence to them it has enjoyed 63 years of constant growth. The pledge made has been kept.

And so again it is renewed, for it is part and parcel of The Coward Shoe. What you have known Coward Shoes and Coward Service to be in the past, you may expect and shall enjoy in the future.

FAMILIAR FACES

"One reason I like to come to The Coward Shoe Store is that it is so full of familiar faces... your people seem to stay with you a long time. I've been buying shoes from the same salesman for twenty years."

Yes, the growth of the Coward Shoe has been as conservative as it has been constant. A number of men trained by the founder himself occupy executive positions... the organization has always been knit closely... new people have been absorbed by the sales staff slowly enough to permit thorough training in Coward methods of fitting and Coward standards of service. In this way has the Coward business been able to so faithfully run on its even keel... it is essentially the same, though consistently growing for 63 years.

WOMAN, ONCE RICH, JAILED IN GEM CASE

Mrs. Leslie Surrenders on Two Indictments in $480,000 Theft From Washington.

IN CITY DURING LONG HUNT

Mrs. Marie J. Leslie, who said she is 52 years old but refused to give an address, was surrendered to the police yesterday by her lawyer as a fugitive since last January on two grand larceny indictments in connection with the alleged theft of gems worth about $480,000 from Wanamaker's a year ago.

She was arraigned before Judge Allen in General Sessions and committed to the Harlem detention prison for women. She is to be arraigned again this morning before Judge Levine in the same court for pleading.

Mrs. Leslie, neatly dressed and with snow-white hair, appeared to be unconcerned about the charges that while she was employed as a housekeeper in the Baltimore home of Isaac E. Emerson, manufacturer of brome-seltzer, she induced Wanamaker's to give her the gems in Mrs. Emerson's name. Part of the gems were replevied in the jewelry store of Frank Winston, at 537 Fifth Avenue, where Mrs. Leslie was alleged to have sold them under the pretense they were her property. She had received $52,000 of the $91,000 she had agreed to accept for them, it was said.

Tells of Earlier Purchase.

Chief Assistant District Attorney Pecora said yesterday that Mrs. Leslie also was alleged to have placed the $52,000 in Philadelphia banks to back up checks she had given to Wanamaker's store in that city in payment for another group of gems she had bought there in Mrs. Emerson's name.

When it became known in January that the indictments had been returned here against Mrs. Leslie it was explained that they would be held in abeyance until her release from a sanitarium in Connecticut. It developed yesterday that she was released seven weeks after her admission, or a short time after the indictments were voted, but the police here apparently had not been appraised of the fact in advance.

Mrs. Leslie is the daughter of Edward P. Wastman, a Philadelphia sugar manufacturer, who died while she was living in affluence in London. He left her his estate, but it was soon dissipated, it was alleged. When Mr. Pecora was submitting the evidence to the grand jury, documentary evidence from Scotland Yard was presented that Mrs. Leslie, following the loss of this fortune, was sentenced in Old Bailey in London to a five-year term on a fraud charge.

Says She Thought Case Settled.

"My relatives are in comfortable circumstances," Mrs. Leslie told Detective Ford when he took her into custody in the office of her lawyer, Alexander I. Rorke, at 51 Chambers Street. Mr. Rorke had communicated with Deputy Chief Inspector Mulrooney, head of the detective division, when the woman walked into his office.

"I suppose they will obtain bail for me, but if they don't I suppose I shall have to make the best of it," she continued. "I knew that I had been indicted, but I was under the impression when I left the sanitarium that the whole matter had been settled. I just came back from Havana a week ago."

Later Mrs. Leslie added: "I didn't know I had been listed as a fugitive. I have had several positions in this city as a housekeeper since the beginning of the year—in fact, I've lived here almost continuously except for week-end trips to the country, a few trips to Canada and the trip to Havana.

"What strikes me as a very amusing incident in connection with the police hunt for me was that only recently I sat beside Police Commissioner Whalen at a dinner, and, seemingly, he too was not aware that I was considered a fugitive."

When Mr. Whalen later was told of Mrs. Leslie's statement he said: "She must be unbalanced. I don't know the woman. I'm certain I never saw her in my life."

Mr. Whalen was connected with Wanamaker's at the time of the alleged gem fraud and took an active part in events which led to the two indictments being returned against the woman.

WOMAN, PARALYZED, SUCCEEDS AS PAINTER

Delicate colored designs, skillfully traced upon chiffon scarfs and linen handkerchiefs with an artist's brush held in her teeth, are the symbols of the triumph which Mary Fallon has scored over the paralysis which grips her body from feet to shoulders and has kept her a patient in City Hospital on Welfare Island for fifteen years.

Although she is about 40 years old, Miss Fallon's cheerfulness led not long ago to her election as "the most popular and prettiest girl" in City Hospital.

A year ago Miss Elizabeth Lande, then connected with the occupational department of the hospital, decided that something must be done to give Miss Fallon an opportunity to employ herself. A special wheel chair was constructed. Paints, a long brush, bits of cloth and a frame on which to stretch them were brought to Miss Fallon's ward and she received her first lesson in textile painting.

She progressed rapidly and her first complete work went to her widowed mother, who lives with relatives at 428 West 154th Street. Since then Miss Fallon has painted many scarfs and handkerchiefs, evincing a natural eye for color harmony and daily becoming more accurate in handling her brush. Under the supervision of Miss Esther Allen of the hospital occupational department several pieces have been sold.

Miss Fallon is a sufferer from arthritis deformans, which over a period of years has attacked one joint of her body after the other. Her ability to paint delights her and she continues to amaze friends with her gayety.

tentatively considering plans to exhibit two shows next Spring in Manhattan and to exhibit either those or other shows in Brooklyn and the Bronx. Heretofore the Ringling-Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus has covered all three boroughs in the Spring before going on the road.

John Ringling and his four brothers, Charles, Al., Otto and Alf. T. Ringling, were five average village lads when they lived in Baraboo, Wis., where their father was a harness maker with a family of eight children to support.

Began Careers With $5.

The five Ringling brothers started upon their careers as showmen with $5 in their pockets. They improvised an entertainment program which they had printed at the village printshop for $3.70. With $1.30 left in the treasury, John tucked the bills under his arm and started on one of the coldest of Winter mornings in the late '70s from the parental roof to Abelman's, five miles away. He billed the town for "Ringling Brothers' Moral, Elevating, Instructive and Fascinating Concert and Variety Performance, One Night Only." His four brothers followed his trail the next morning. Under the direction of John, the brothers toured the town to inspect John's billing. They had a rehearsal at 11 o'clock. They showed the same night to an audience of forty-seven in the "opera house."

The next year they joined two wandering troubadours and toured the Northwest with a so-called concert and sketch troupe. Their season netted them $300—$60 each. They invested $20 each in Minneapolis "hand-me-down" shops, and when they returned home in their new suits and silk hats the town turned out and took a holiday in their honor.

Organized One-Ring Tent Show.

In the following Winter they organized a one-ring tent show. Al was now quite a juggler. John could sing and was a good clown as well. The other brothers could do their parts with great skill. At the end of a year they added a trick horse and a bear to the menagerie.

Their first step toward consolidating rival companies was when they bought out the John Robinson Circus. By this time James A. Bailey had come to recognize the Ringlings as dangerous rivals. After they had agreed upon a division of show territory the Ringlings purchased a half interest in the Forepaugh-Sells Brothers Circus, which was owned by Mr. Bailey.

In 1906, following Mr. Bailey's death, they took over the entire show. In the Winter of the same year they bought for $410,000 the Barnum & Bailey Circus. The circus then was in Winter quarters in Bridgeport, Conn. The sale was made in England, where several thousand English stockholders met and ratified the sale of the American property by Mrs. Bailey. When they obtained control of the Barnum & Bailey Circus the Ringling brothers won a dominant place in the circus field in America. They also realized an ambition to take their show to Madison Square Garden. Mr. Bailey before his death had always opposed such a proposal. Partly by the deaths of his brothers, John Ringling retained control of the great circus organizations.

It was John Ringling who leased the old Madison Square Garden, designed by Stanford White, and called the late Tex Rickard to New York as its manager. Following the death of Rickard in Florida, it has been reported that Mr. Ringling has not exercised such a powerful influence as formerly in the management of the Garden.

Native Unrest at Futuna Reported.

SUVA, Fiji Islands, Sept. 9 (AP).—The sailing of the French warship Cassiopee Saturday for Wallis Island with extra coal was connected today with current rumors of native dissatisfaction at the island of Futuna over trading problems. It is alleged the natives wish the removal of the assistant commissioner. The French Consul here today declared he knew nothing of any trouble in the islands. Futuna is a dependency of New Caledonia, a French possession.

KARLE IS HECKLED AT QUEENS RALLY

HALLERAN MEN ANGERED

Brunner and Cox Promise Business Administration—Only 800 Persons Attend.

Former State Senator John L. Karle, organization candidate for the Republican nomination for Borough President of Queens against Borough President George U. Harvey, was heckled last night at a meeting in the Flushing High School, at which all six candidates for the Borough Presidency, Republican, Democratic and Socalist, spoke. The meeting was under the auspices of the Flushing United Association and the attendance was less than was expected at a meeting of this rather unusual character, only about 800 being present.

Mr. Karle, the second speaker, followed Mr. Harvey. After reviewing his platform and promising to improve the roads and bring about changes for the better in the borough government, he said:

"I promise that I will appoint capable men to the Borough President's Cabinet and not office boys. I promise that I will be free from political bickering."

"Why weren't you?" shouted a voice in the audience, referring to the fact that Mr. Karle until recently was Borough Secretary and a member of the Harvey Cabinet.

Alexander Raps in Order.

William C. Alexander, president of the association, who presided, rapped his gavel and said:

"We promised these gentlemen every courtesy and I hope you will be quiet."

Mr. Karle raised his hand and said he wanted to answer the queestion.

"I promise to be free from political bickering in the only way possible," he said, "and that is by aligning myself with a party and remaining a part of it. Let me suggest something. Who will be your political boss if Harvey is elected? Ask Mr. Halleran for the answer."

This reference to Commissioner of Public Works John J. Halleran, an independent Democrat, seemed to anger several persons in the audience.

"Better Halleran than De Bragga," shouted one of them, referring to Joseph H. De Bragga, Republican County Chairman and chief political foe of Mr. Harvey.

Several Demand "Fair Play."

"Play fair, play fair," shouted other voices, and Mr. Alexander again intervened as several in the rear of the room shouted "Johnny Halleran for Borough President."

As soon as order could be restored, Mr. Karle finished his speech.

"If Mr. Harvey wins, the Republican party will be dismembered, disgruntled, a wreck," Mr. Karle said. "His is a mugwump organization, ruled by neither Republicans nor Democrats and responsible to no one."

As Mr. Karle walked from the platform through the hall to go to another meeting, the chorus of "boos" almost drowned out the applause. Representative William F. Brunner, Democrat, who succeeded him, chided the audience and said the least those who did not like Mr. Karle could do was to remain quiet. James Oneal, the Socialist candidate, also condemned the manifestation against Mr. Karle.

Graft Eliminated, Says Harvey.

Mr. Harvey in his speech declared that the Borough Government had been improved during the eight months of his administration, that graft had been eliminated and the Highway and Building Departments improved.

"The county has been plundered and run for the benefit of a small group of political grafters," Mr. Harvey said. "Now for the first time in the history of the county the Borough Government has been run for the sole benefit of the taxpayers and with no profit whatever to the politicians. You can hardly blame the politicians for being annoyed because they are business men who are not interested in a few minor political jobs, but want to control contracts, bonding, truck sales and other items wherein money can be made. But this has been a lean year for the political business men, and I believe that the next four years are going to be leaner."

Brunner Cites His Record.

Mr. Brunner, the candidate of the Clean Government party, cited his record in the State Legislature and in Congress. "I promise you a businesslike administration," he said. "You won't think about which party the Borough President belongs to after he is elected. You will be thinking about the results in roads and public improvements."

County Clerk Edward W. Cox, executive committee designee for the Democratic nomination, also promised a businesslike administration, and pointed to his record in the county clerk's office.

"I hate fights," he said. "We don't get far with personalities and you will get none from me. If the citizens of Queens want order and efficiency in the Borough Hall, if they desire a sane, constructive, businesslike administration to supplant folly and blunder, I am in the field to give it to them. If the enrolled Democrats of this county will insist that personal ambitions of individual men be thrust aside and party responsibility restored they will nominate me for the high office of Borough President. Queens County is Democratic. Why not let it be Democratic?"

Former Borough President Bernard M. Patten, the third candidate for the Democratic nomination, pleaded for support on the ground that his service in the office entitled him to it. "The moment I took office the death knell of the sewer ring and the sewer monopoly sounded," he said. "The cost of public works to the borough were reduced from 30 to 35 per cent. While I was Borough President there was $700,000 more for Queens in the city budget than there had been in any preceding year."

Mr. O'Neal, who is unopposed for the Socialist nomination, declared that neither the Republican nor the Democratic party had demonstrated fitness to give good government. "Soft berths and sinecures—these are the business of the political corporations which rule us. The entire city of New York could be governed for one-half its present cost if we were rid of the professional politicians."

The greatest volume of applause seemed to be for Mr. Harvey and for Mr. Patten, with a good many "boos" mixed with the applause for the latter. Mr. O'Neal's speech also was received with generous applause.

Germans Dispute Claim Edison Invented Incandescent Lamp

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HANOVER, Germany, Sept. 9.—Thomas A. Edison's claim to having invented the incandescent lamp is now challenged by the Electro-Technic Society of Hanover, which alleges that twenty-five years before the American's invention was made known Heinrich Goebel of Springe, near Hanover, constructed and exhibited a lamp consisting of carbonized thread incased in a highly vacuated glass bulb which gave a bright light.

In commemoration of this discovery the Hanover society will unveil a memorial tablet Saturday on the house where Goebel was born. It will contain an incandescent light which will burn day and night.

A spokesman for Mr. Edison said yesterday that the question of Goebel's alleged precedence was threshed out in the courts here twenty-five or thirty years ago and Goebel's claims pronounced false. The German then was living in New York.

AUDITING REFORMS URGED BY LEHMAN

Delegates From 14 Countries Read Papers on Varied Legal and Educational Requirements.

The international congress on accounting, with 2,500 delegates from fourteen countries in attendance, opened yesterday at the Hotel Commodore where the delegates were greeted on behalf of the State by Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, who stressed the need for international coordination and standardization in accounting methods.

"Certain vital problems confront the profession of accounting," he declared. "I refer particularly to the needed reform of standardization of practice. I am impressed by the lack of standardization in certain fundamentals of accountancy in the different countries. This applies particularly to standards of procedure with respect to depreciation, amortization, depletion, non-recurring charges and non-recurring profits.

"There is not even an approximation of standardization. Much can be done to bring it about, thus eliminating the great divergence between the practices of the different countries. There is need of standardization so that all progressive accounting will be on a common basis. If this is done this convention will have scored a signal success."

The Lieutenant Governor also paid tribute to the value of accountancy in business, saying: "Much of our progress is due to the ingenuity and progressive thought of accountants and auditors. It is hard to picture a world without competent accounting cooperation."

Official greeting on behalf of New York City was extended by Mayor Walker. After wishing the visitors a pleasant visit, the Mayor described accounting as "a boon to civilization." He voiced "deep appreciation of the problems confronting the convention," and expressed pleasure that it was "receiving the attention of which it was worthy." He stressed the value of "business good-will and reciprocity" as an aid to prosperity.

The Mayor was thanked for his welcome by Sir William Blender of the British delegation, who paid tribute to the "beauty, grandeur and romance of your great city of New York." He said he was "surprised at the extraordinarily efficient method of handling traffic."

Commissioner Whalen thanked Sir William, declaring: "I am glad to hear that traffic conditions suit you, because there are a lot of other people who aren't suited." He told the delegates that he, himself, had "started in life as an accountant and always found it to be very helpful in business and things in general."

Papers describing legislative and educational advances were presented by many foreign delegates, who explained the various legal restrictions placed upon the practice of accountancy in their countries. The convention is to continue for five days.

Two resolutions encouraging statutory laws in the various States to facilitate the practicing of a certified public accountant in States other than that in which he originally registered were adopted at a meeting of the interstate legislative survey convention, composed of delegates from State certified public accountant societies last night at the Commodore. The convention was not officially connected with the international congress.

Fifteen States were represented. Patrick W. R. Glover of New York was elected temporary chairman and M. E. Pellubet of New Jersey was elected temporary secretary. It was pointed out that in the past the States have passed various regulatory laws. Four States have laws extreme in their stringency, it was said, laws dealing with accountancy are now conflicting more or less with modern industrial and financial expansion, which of necessity requires an accountant to operate in more than one State.

BUYS SILVER SERVICE FOR CRUISER HOUSTON

Mayor Walter E. Monteith of Houston and members of the cruiser Houston arrangements committee, awarded yesterday the contract for the $15,000 silver service which the Texas city will present to the new cruiser bearing its name. The International Silver Company of Waterbury, Conn., won the competition, which was held in the Hotel McAlpin.

The winning design was submitted by G. L. Crowell, designer of the sterling silver division of the company. The entire theme of the design was carried out in historic Texan mission style.

The large pieces were made up of two flower centre pieces worked out in a boldly modeled decoration, and features of the famous Alamo Mission, and of the San Jose de Aguayo Mission were reproduced. Historic scenes as well as emblems of the United States Navy were included.

SOUSA TRAIN DERAILED; SEVEN PERSONS HURT

WALSENBURG, Col., Sept. 9 (AP).—Seven persons were slightly injured when John Philip Sousa's special train was derailed at Capps, Col., thirteen miles southwest of this place this afternoon.

Mr. Sousa, the noted band conductor, escaped with only a slight shaking up. He said it was a miracle that many were not killed.

Among the injured were W. J. Robinson of Buffalo, S. Meagher of Rochester, N. Y., and Jesse Wellingham of New York City.

There were ninety persons on the special train at the time of the derailment, five of them women.

Mr. Sousa was taken on to Trinidad late today from the scene of the wreck by T. S. Likens of Trinidad. His band was to appear there tonight.

The train, on the Denver & Rio Grande, was composed of an engine, one baggage car and two chair cars. All were loaded to capacity. The tender of the engine jumped the rails.

Mr. Sousa was riding in the first car and was only five seats back from the front of the coach.

The band master said: "There was a tremendous thud and the car I was riding in started rocking like a rowboat. When I say the baggage car tip I thought we were going over and I caught hold of the seat. It was a miracle that we were not killed."

Railroad officials, after a brief investigation of the wreck, said the derailment was probably due to a soft spot which caused the rails to spread.

Japanese Officials Visit Jails Here.

Shirosuke Arima, who has been governor of penal institutions in Japan for forty-three years, and his son, Shmihiko Arima, superintentent of penal institutions there, made a tour of inspection of New York City prisons yesterday. They visited the Tombs, the women's workhouse and the penitentiary, having dinner at the last institution.

WESTCHESTER SHOW OPENS

Special to The New York Times.

RYE, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The second annual historical pageant of Westchester County, giving a symbolic presentation of the first white settlers, opened for five nights at Playland, the county's amusement park at Rye Beach, this evening. Larry Knowles was the director in charge of the affair, which was witnessed by a large crowd from various parts of Westchester and Connecticut.

A band of Hopi Indians in full regalia and about 200 local people took part in the pageant. The program embraced twenty historical facts and events in the lives of the Indians and the first white settlers to visit Westchester County.

There was a ballet of seventy-five dancers with scenery and costumes of the period, horses, camp fires and all the settings which made it a spectacular performance. The episode depicting the sale of the town of Rye by the Indians to the three Englishmen from New England was a surprise in color. The pageant was arranged by the Westchester County Park Commission.

ELECTROLUX

THE COLD scarcely fluctuates at all in this newest, most modern kind of automatic refrigerator. The refrigeration is continuous. There is no motor to start and stop—there are no mechanical parts of any kind.

You enjoy not only the constant, steady cold at all times, but also absolute silence. Other refrigerators may be fairly quiet when they're new. But only Electrolux is absolutely silent forever. Only Electrolux can't become noisy with age.

There's no friction, no vibration, no wear, to this refrigerator. And that means long life, less trouble and repairs. Scientists can see no good reason why it should ever wear out.

The simplicity of Electrolux is marvelous. There's no more moving mechanism to this refrigerator than there is to a vacuum bottle. One tiny gas flame does all the work—circulates the liquid refrigerant that produces the cold.

Hermetically sealed

This refrigerant never needs renewal. It is hermetically and permanently sealed, welded forever inside a solid one-piece steel unit. A leak is practically an impossibility.

QUICK FACTS!

1. Permanently noiseless.
2. Absolutely safe.
3. Only a few cents a day to operate.
4. Lasts indefinitely.
5. Perpetual, steady cold.
6. No machinery to wear, to vibrate, to need oil.
7. Free from trouble.
8. Plenty of pure ice cubes.
9. Tested and endorsed by national authorities.

A tiny gas flame takes the place of all moving parts

—the finest, most recent development in the industry. You get ice for life, a generous supply of pure sparkling ice cubes at all times, a steady, evenly low temperature.

Lowest Operating Cost

If these advantages were all that Electrolux offered, if comfort and convenience were all it brought you—this refrigerator would still be a wonderful thing to have. But these things are not all. Electrolux gives you the cheapest refrigeration yet known to man. The operating cost is so low that owning this refrigerator becomes a necessity, is actually an economy instead of a luxury. The cost is much less than that of ice. Much less than the cost of power for mechanical refrigerators. A few pennies a day, not more than 70c a week—even for the largest size—that's all. Think of the money you'll save.

Don't even consider buying an automatic refrigerator until you have seen Electrolux. Come in any time and look over the wide variety of sizes and models, in white and colors, priced about the same as other automatic refrigerators size for size, ranging from $210 to $510. Liberal purchase terms. Mail coupon today for complete illustrated information.

BANKRUPTCY LAW OF CANADA MODEL

HIS AIDE TELLS OF SURVEY

Thayer Reports Business Men in Canadian Cities Say Their System Is Best for Creditors.

Testimony given yesterday before Federal Judge Thacher in the constructive phase of the inquiry into bankruptcies indicated that the report to be made to the Supreme Court and to Congress will recommend amendments to the bankruptcy law so as to make it conform closely to the Canadian bankruptcy act. Robert H. Thayer, an aide of Colonel William J. Donovan, who is conducting the inquiry, told from the witness chair the results of an investigation which he made in the Canadian cities of Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa concerning the merits of the law and what abuses were possible under it.

Mr. Thayer said that in all of the cities he conferred with all the officials who came into contact with the law, such as registrars, judges, official receivers, custodians, inspectors, leading lawyers and business men. In Ottawa he conferred also with the Dominion Deputy Minister of Justice in charge of bankruptcy legislation, in whose office he examined all the complaints filed since 1927 by Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce and other business groups regarding the working of the bankruptcy act and their suggestions for amendments.

Law Praised by Business Men.

Mr. Thayer testified that all the business men with whom he conferred expressed the opinion that the Canadian act was most satisfactory from the creditors' point of view and that it was especially satisfactory in the way in which it permits creditors to control every step in the liquidation of assets through the three to five inspectors who are usually creditors and whose permission must be obtained by the trustee before he takes any action. This permission makes it unnecessary for the trustee to appiy to the courts.

Mr. Thayer said that he had obtained from the Dominion Government in Canada final reports of trustees during the past year. These disclosed that administration expenses amount to only 10 to 15 per cent of the total realized assets, which, Mr. Thayer said, was about half the expenses in this country. He referred to a report in one case where the total realized assets were $4,688.62 and the legal fees amounted to only $8. It was said that the legal fees here would have amounted to upward of $1,200. The time element, also considered of paramount importance, was dwelt upon. Liquidating a bankrupt estate under the Canadian law takes about three months. Mr. Thayer said, while here it takes from one to five years, depending upon the complications which occur.

Mr. Thayer said that while he was in Canada he talked with a lawyer whose income before the Canadian act was passed was from $40,000 to $50,000 a year in bankruptcy practice, and that since then it has fallen to about $5,000.

The inquiry into alleged improper acts by Alexander Levine, an attorney, was concluded. Counsel for Levine was allowed two weeks in which to file briefs. The inquiry will be continued today.

ENRIGHT SLATE DUE TODAY.

Announcement of His Candidacy for Mayor Predicted Again.

Former Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright is expected to make an announcement today of his intention to run for Mayor as the candidate of the recently organized Square Deal party, it was reported yesterday. Reports that Mr. Enright intended to run independently have been in circulation for a month, and the announcement was expected a week ago. The delay, it was said, was caused by difficulty in getting running mates to complete a city ticket.

Mr. Enright's purpose in running under circumstances which seem to make his election extremely difficult, if not impossible, has been a puzzle. It was said to be his intention to make a vigorous attack on the Walker Administration in connection with the failure of the police to solve the mystery of the murder of Arnold Rothstein. A group of wealthy friends are said to have assured him of a considerable campaign fund.

PLAYWRIGHT PUT IN JAIL.

I. K. Davis, Seized in Check Case, Refuses to Be Fingerprinted.

Irving Kaye Davis, playwright, refused to be fingerprinted yesterday when he was arrested in Jefferson Market Court on a bad check charge, and as a result, Magistrate Rosenbluth held him without bail for examination today.

Davis, who is 29 years old and lives at 33 Riverside Drive, is accused of passing a bad check for $138 on George Stevenson, publicity man, of 19 West Thirty-fifth Street. He went to court on a summons and was arrested by Warrant Officer Julius Stern when a grand larceny complaint was ordered drawn by the magistrate.

Stevenson said Davis gave him the check March 1, 1928, and that it "bounced back." Previously, he said, Davis had given him other bad checks.

Davis is the author of "Veils," which had a short Broadway run, and "Pay Day," which expired on its road tryout.

New Shocks in New Zealand.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Sept. 9 (A.P.).—The River Karamea broke through a dam formed by the earthquake last June in the gorge near Karamea today and caused considerable damage to farm property. No lives were lost. Two new earthquakes shook Arthur's Pass on the crest of the Southern Alps this morning, but no casualties were reported.

LONDON WOMEN FIGHT TO SEE MISS SWANSON

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Eighty burly London policemen were swept off their feet tonight by a mad rush of women bent on catching a glimpse of Miss Gloria Swanson as she entered the new Gallery Cinema in Regent Street to see the world's première of her first talkie, "The Trespasser."

"I will see her if I am killed for it," cried one young woman who led the attack which synchronized with the arrival of the actress's automobile.

Miss Swanson, wearing a chinchilla wrap trimmed in blue, was escorted by her husband, the Marquis de Falaise, and for a time it looked as if their efforts to reach the theatre door would be defeated.

"I thought this kind of thing only happened in America," Miss Swanson commented when she had regained her breath. Her triumph was complete, and it was regarded as evidence of the ability of established film stars to adapt themselves to the new situation created by the talkies.

"Her performance," says The Daily Mail critic, "can only be described as a personal triumph." That critic added that the new medium "brings us a more accomplished actress than we knew in the old days."

ROOSEVELT BACK, TELLS OF ASIA HUNT

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt returned to New York yesterday from a ten months' hunting expedition in China for the Field Museum in Chicago. In the midst of his preparations to leave later in the day for Washington to confer with President Hoover before taking up his duties as Governor General of Porto Rico, he told of strange adventures encountered from tropical jungles in Indo-China to barren, snow-swept mountains in Central Asia.

Interviewed in his home at 167 East Seventy-fourth Street, Colonel Roosevelt enthusiastically described the giant panda he had bagged with the aid of his brother, Kermit, as "the rarest by all odds" of the specimens brought back to the Chicago museum. The trip, as a whole, he said, was "extremely successful from a scientific standpoint."

Beside the constant peril of tropical fever, which killed one of the party, the expedition had to guard against bandits throughout most of the Chinese territory traversed. A robber band captured the party's advance guard of Chinese soldiers, but none of the white men were molested. Some of the bandits, Colonel Roosevelt said, were equipped with modern rifles.

Colonel Roosevelt said the trip divided itself into two phases—China and Indo-China. For the trip through the China section the party left Burma in December and reached Yunnan-fu in May. Colonel Roosevelt was particularly impressed with a part of the country where there was no wheeled transportation. In this section the party came upon cities of 15,000 population which had been in existence 1,500 years and where all commerce was carried on by coolies over trails too difficult for animals to pass.

The hardships of the trip in China were due to physical work necessary on the expedition, while the Indo-China phase was hardest from the standpoint of health, Colonel Roosevelt said.

"We had a great misfortune," he declared. "Russell Hendee, one of our rising young scientists from Brooklyn, died of fever. He was a member of the division of the expedition under Harold Coolidge, who was not with us in China but devoted his attention to collecting birds and small mammals in Indo-China. Hendee died while traveling through Indo-China to meet me in the jungles of Annam, where I was hunting.

"Of the seven white men engaged in Indo-China collecting birds and animals one died and five others were very sick. Also, Lusu, the Kashmir, who was with us all through the trip and on the last trip in Central Asia, died of fever."

The giant panda brought back by the expedition for the Field Museum, Colonel Roosevelt said, is the only complete skeleton of such an animal in any museum. It is about the proportions of a medium-sized bear, has a white head with "black spectacles" around its eyes, black shoulders and white body, he said, and is so rare that its family in the animal kingdom has not yet been determined.

Among the other rare animals the expedition is shipping back are several blue sheep.

MAYOR TALKS TO BANKERS.

He and Whalen Speak at Opening of Business Shows.

Mayor Walker, at a luncheon yesterday at the Bankers' Industrial Exposition, 11 West Forty-second Street, opened the first of a series of 260 business shows, to be held at the exposition every working day of the year, with Saturdays devoted to foreign countries. Police Commissioner Whalen was also a speaker and the ceremony was broadcast over Stations WNYC and WRNY.

Congratulating the organization on behalf of the city, Mayor Walker told its officers and about 200 banking officials and representatives of foreign consulates that if the exposition would add anything to the efficiency of business it was well worth while. The stability of banking, he said, is the best indication of the prosperity of the country.

Commissioner Whalen pictured the exposition as a "research laboratory of the banking industry." Of $500,000,000 of deposits yearly in the banks of the city, he said, about 5 per cent is in cash, while $9,500,000,000 of negotiable securities pass through the streets of New York each year. The Police Department, he added, played its part in the protection of this wealth.

New Brunswick Refuses to Sanction McConnell Experiment in Woods.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Sept. 9 (by the Canadian Press).—Burt W. McConnell of New York, who is contemplating entering the woods of Northern New Brunswick in the garb of Adam and maintaining himself there for three months, has obtained no permit to enter the forests of this Province. Such a permit must be issued by the Department of Lands and Forests for any person to have the legal right to travel in forest lands.

The department issued the following statement this afternoon: "Special privileges which have been requested by Burt McConnell of New York to carry out an experiment of going into the New Brunswick woods without food, clothing or weapons and there endeavoring to eke out an existence for three months have been declined and Mr. McConnell was so notified some days ago."

CHARGES GAMBLING AT FAIR.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Charging that officials of the Rochester Exposition had permitted violations of the State anti-gambling laws in concessions granted space on the grounds, Dr. Franklin W. Bock, noted car specialist and former candidate for Mayor of Rochester, tonight asked Governor Roosevelt to cancel the $6,000 annual State aid to the Exposition Association.

In his message to the Governor, Dr. Bock reiterated his belief that exposition officials were aware of the State laws and had deliberately permitted them to be transgressed for the sake of the association's income.

Exposition officials state that they have already closed four games to which Dr. Bock referred.

TAX OFFICIALS TOLD OF NEW LEGISLATION

GASOLINE LEVY STRESSED

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 9.—More than 700 tax officials, business men and students of taxation from every State were welcomed here tonight to the twenty-second annual conference of the National Tax Association by New York State Tax Commissioner Thomas M. Lynch. They heard a comprehensive report on the tax legislation enacted by each State last year presented by Miss Beulah Bailey, librarian of the New York State Tax Commission.

Commenting on the New York State gasoline tax, Miss Bailey told the delegates that twenty-one States had increased their gasoline taxes during the past year. In a majority of these States, she said, the revenue from this source was used for highway construction previously paid for by towns and counties.

The difficulties in collecting the gasoline tax, she added, were shown by legislation in some States providing more severe penalties for evasion. The combined revenue of all States last year from gasoline taxes was $304,871,766, she reported.

Elimination of duplicated payment of death taxes to several States had been accomplished in twelve additional States this year, Miss Bailey said.

The classic case of this abuse was that of a New York Central engineer whose savings were invested in the railroad company's stock. Upon his death nine States through which the road ran claimed death taxes, and under the existing laws the estate was required to pay them.

The problem has been solved through establishing reciprocity on the collection of death taxes between the States so that only one State now levies the tax.

With Miss Bailey's outline as a basis for its deliberations, the conference will begin its intensive sessions tomorrow with meetings in the morning, afternoon and evening.

The conference also has delegates from the Canadian Provinces and Juan Gallardo, the Treasurer of Porto Rico, is attending the sessions. Most of the leading universities in this country have sent representatives, some of them leading economists.

In his address of welcome Commissioner Lynch spoke for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, who will speak on the problem of rural taxation on Wednesday night.

Mark Graves, president of the National Tax Conference and New York State Tax Commissioner, presided at the meeting. After the appointment of committees the delegates adjourned until tomorrow morning when New York's tax system will be analyzed by Dr. Luther Gulick, Charles J. Tobin and John J. Merrill.

VOODOO PLOT TO SLAY BABY FOILED IN CUBA

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Sept. 9.—Voodooism in Regla, across the bay from Havana, received a setback today, when Chief Trujillo of the secret police frustrated an alleged plot to abduct an infant girl for sacrificial purposes. The blood of the child was wanted, it was said, for the "cure" of a sick woman, a voodoo doctor having ordered the woman to drink it warm to effect a quick cure.

Members of the African cult had issued a call for a meeting when the secret police were informed. They arrived as lots were being drawn, supposedly, to determine which member should carry out the abduction. The police received their information from Pedro Gonzales, who formerly was a member of the cult.

The headquarters of the Regla "temple" has long been under suspicion. The high priest is known as Celestino El Sandon. He presided over the rites at an altar in a patio at the headquarters. Hidden underground at the "temple" are said to be skulls, human bones and other objects used in voodoo ceremonials.

In the present instance the blood of a female child was prescribed as, under certain circumstances, the blood of a male infant is not considered to contain the same curative properties.

The high priest and other members of the cult are being detained by the police.

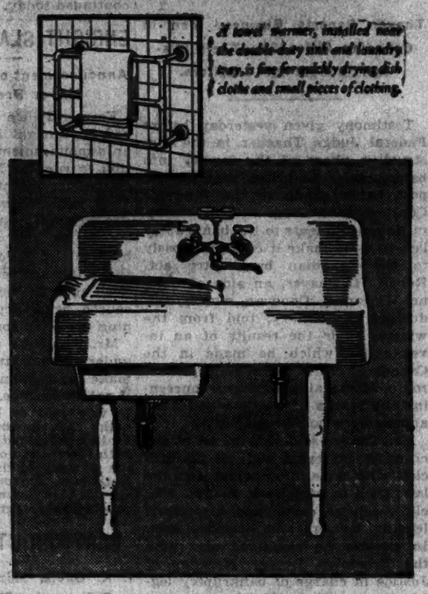
EVEN in the smallest apartment kitchen, the Crane combination sink and laundry tray saves time and labor in more ways than can be told. With it at hand, no need to use bathtub or lavatory for a washtub; to carry clothing up and down stairs; to trust delicate fabrics to the laundry. Dishwashing, too, it makes easier and quicker, for dishes can be carried from table to sink and from sink to cupboard on the removable enameled drainboard. It can be had in white or color; acid-resisting or regular enamel; in overall sizes 36½"x22¼", 42½"x22¼", and 50½"x22¾"; with sink at right or left. When you build or remodel, see this and other new plumbing ideas at nearby Crane Exhibit Rooms. For installation, consult your plumbing contractor.



A towel warmer, installed near the double-deep sink and laundry tray, is fine for quickly drying dish cloths and small pieces of clothing.

BAKER SEES NEED FOR EDUCATED MEN

DR. HIBBEN ALSO RETURNS

Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War under President Wilson, returned yesterday from Europe with Mrs. Baker and their daughter, Miss Margaret Baker, on the Atlantic Transport liner Minnetonka.

"What the nations of the world need," he said, "are educated men. The great trouble with most men who have been educated is that they become uneducated just as soon as they stop inquiring and investigating life and its problems for themselves."

With the exception of two days in Paris, the former Secretary of War said, he and his party spent most of their time motoring in Northern England. At Cambridge University he interrupted his vacation by attending a conference on adult education, which lasted for a week. Mr. Baker declined to discuss American public affairs, saying he had not been in touch with the United States while abroad. He left with his family for Cleveland.

Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton University, was a passenger on the same steamship. He said he went to England to make an address at the dinner of the American Society of London on July 4. Ambassador Charles G. Dawes was the toastmaster. After leaving London Dr. and Mrs. Hibben motored through Brittany.

Captain on Bridge 48 Hours.

The Minnetonka encountered fog 100 miles east of Nantucket and it lasted until the vessel reached Quarantine. Captain Thomas Gates, the veteran master, was on the bridge forty-eight hours and was fresh and active after he docked his ship, while the junior officers who had been on duty half that time were tired out. There were 285 passengers on board.

Former Senator Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey, who came back from Europe yesterday with his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Edwards, in the Cunarder Carinthia, said he knew very little of the financial troubles of the Hobart Trust Company of Passaic.

"I was president of the holding company, which is the New Jersey Security Company," he said. "That was my only interest. I understand that the Hobart Trust Company has been sold and reorganized."

Lord and Lady Nunburnholme of Hull, Yorkshire, also arrived in the Carinthia. Lady Nunburnholme is considered one of the most beautiful women in England and was bridesmaid to Princess Mary and also to Lady Bowes Lyon when she married the Duke of York. Prior to her marriage Lady Nunburnholme was Lady Mary Thynne. The first peer to wear the title was Charles Wilson, chief owner of the Wilson steamship lines and grandfather of the present Lord Nunburnholme.

J. W. Davis Fished in Ireland.

John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for the Presidency in 1924, and Mrs. Davis were also passengers returning from a trip through England, Germany, France and Ireland. In the latter country Mr. Davis spent several days in Tyrone County salmon fishing.

Supreme Court Justice Selah B. Strong, Mrs. Strong and their daughter, Miss Mildred, were also passengers in the Carinthia.

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the singer, who returned yesterday on the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland with her two granddaughters, said she had not heard that her son, Ferdinand, a movie actor at Hollywood, is to be married this month. While walking in Vienna Mme. Schumann-Heink slipped and broke a toe in her right foot, which causes her to walk with a slight limp.

SEIZED IN CHECK CASE WITH BRIDE OF WEEK

Joachin Is Said by Police to Be Addicted to Marrying Wealthy Women.

Declared by detectives to be addicted to marrying wealthy women and later leaving them, carrying substantial amounts of their fortunes with him, Arthur Joachin, 43 years old, was arrested yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Lincoln, Forty-fourth Street and Eighth Avenue, where he was spending a honeymoon with a bride of one week.

The immediate charge was that of forgery, made in Albany by Edward A. Strube, a merchant, who said that Joachin gave him a worthless check for $300. Joachin stoutly denied the check charge and also that he had figured in matrimonial escapades before he married Sarah Foland, 40, a wealthy Schenectady woman, a week ago.

Detectives asserted that in Cleveland he married a wealthy woman and left her a few days later, after having obtained a considerable portion of her money. They said that in Philadelphia he also married a Mrs. Mae McNamee and disappeared during their honeymoon, taking with him about $11,000, which she had entrusted to him. Another wife, detectives say, lives in Fall River, Mass., with a 15-year-old son. Joachin declared that he is divorced from this wife.

Although holding Joachin for the Albany police, detectives sent telegrams to Cleveland and Philadelphia last night to learn if he is wanted in those cities.

PROPOSES REFORMS IN RATE LITIGATION

CONFERENCE TO SIFT ISSUE

Corporation Counsel Will Urge Albany Parley to Form Body to Suggest Remedies.

Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilly told yesterday some of the reasons why he will attend today in Albany a State-wide conference of the corporation counsels and other legal officers of the cities and towns of this State. He said he thought the meeting to be fraught with far-reaching results.

The secretary of the Conference of Mayors and Municipal Officials of the State of New York sent out from Albany a request that officials intending to attend today's session prepare themselves especially to answer these two questions:

1—Should the cities and villages create a committee to prepare and submit recommendations to the temporary commission appointed by the State Legislature to study and investigate the operation of the Public Service Commission law and to recommend remedial and other legislation thereto?

2—What, if any, additions to or changes in the Public Service Commission law should such committee recommend, in the event it is decided to create such a body?

Favors Forming Committee.

"This conference can be of great benefit to the public," said Mr. Hilly, "and to the users of gas, electric and telephone service, provided it be kept free from politics. So far the word 'politics' has been taboo in this State-wide body. A splendid opportunity is hereby offered to get the opinions on a vital subject of a vast number of men who have a duty to perform in keeping rates for utility service within reason.

"I am very much in favor of the proposed committee, as it will show the Legislature that the legal representatives, whether Republican or Democratic, of practically every community in the State of New York want the work of the Public Service Commission to be maintained on the highest plane."

It is pointed out that the city of New York has been the worst sufferer in actions in the Federal courts by the public utilities to get injunctions against established rates. It is the opinion of Mr. Hilly that the companies suffer just about as much as do the cities by reason of such prolonged litigation, and he cites the telephone and gas rate cases.

As Mr. Hilly remarked:

"The courts cannot make a rate for public utility service. All they can do is to say if a statutory or legally fixed rate is or is not confiscatory. If they rule it is not, the prevailing rate remains in effect. If they decide to the contrary, they put the burden back on the Public Service Commission, who alone can fix or authorize rates under the quasi-judicial powers conferred upon them by the Legislature."

Mr. Hilly was asked if he had any concrete suggestions to offer at the conference. He indicated that he rested his hope for a successful result mainly upon the proposal that in all cases relating to rates the Legislature would so amend the law as to make the city a proper party to the proceedings.

"As things are arranged at present, the companies claim that the commission is the representative of the public," he went on. "In my opinion that puts an unfair burden on the commission and deprives it of the benefit that could be had if the Mayor's legal counsel and experts were permitted to make a thorough investigation and submit facts for the record.

"Suppose we complain of the rates. We are not allowed to get facts on which to substantiate our claims. The commission's small and possibly underpaid staff is supposed to make a complete investigation besides attending to its routine work. It can't be done!

"Then again, by the present mode of procedure, the commission virtually becomes the prosecuting attorney, the jury and the judge. How can any case be properly tried under such conditions?"

THREE ARE INDICTED IN MAIL STOCK FRAUDS

The Federal grand jury which is investigating complaints against bucketshops, tipster sheets and so-called "financial speakeasies" returned an indictment yesterday against Robert North, John Morris, Frederick Snyder and the brokerage firm of E. Stuart Winfield & Co., Inc. The defendants are charged with using the mails to defraud.

E. Stuart Winfield, a West Point graduate, was not included as a defendant. At the time of the arrest of the defendants it was pointed out that Winfield had been used as a "front" man and did not know the use to which his name actually had been put.

Assistant United States Attorney George J. Mintzer said the defendants were believed to have cleared about $100,000, less office and sales expenses, through their deals in Simmons Aircraft Corporation stock which they had promoted by misrepresentation. He declared they had purchased that stock at $1.25 a share and, "riding the crest of the bull wave," had sold it at $28 a share.

Before the grand jury investigation began North, Snyder and Morris were arraigned before a United States commissioner on warrants and held in $10,000 bail each to await the grand jury's action. They will be arraigned for pleading within the next few days before Federal Judge R. T. Ervin, to whom the indictment was handed down.

"Our home is beautiful . . . And it will last. Our builder built for a lifetime with

WHY do you suppose the builder used this NEW RIBBED STEELTEX? Because it solves a problem that up until now has been the builder's bugbear. It enables him to strengthen your plaster and make your walls and ceilings permanently beautiful.

These walls and ceilings are 80% of the visible interior. And they need protection against strains. When your builder uses the NEW RIBBED STEELTEX in place of lath he puts steel on guard within the plaster. STEELTEX reinforces the whole plaster panel with a completely embedded network of steel and brings the protection builders have sought for years.

This embedded network acts like a series of small steel trusses. It distributes the strain. It does not allow the strain to concentrate at any one point. It brings the utmost possible permanence to the beauty and the value of your walls and ceilings.

FOR REINFORCING WALLS AND CEILINGS"

The New Ribbed Steeltex instantly approved—easy to install

For eight years we have been making reinforcement materials for plaster and stucco. These materials are today safeguarding over a quarter of a million of the finest homes and buildings. Constant research and experiment now bring reinforced plaster within the reach of even the modest home, through the perfected NEW RIBBED STEELTEX.

This reinforcement material took hold immediately—the minute architects and contractors saw it—the minute lathers and plasterers used it. Its extreme rigidity—due to the new V-shaped stiffening rib—means greater speed and consequently greater economy to you in building.

So great is the demand that our factories are working night and day trying to catch up with orders. Our free book, Better Walls for Better Homes, gives full information about the economy and lasting value of reinforced plaster, which STEELTEX alone can provide. Write for a copy.

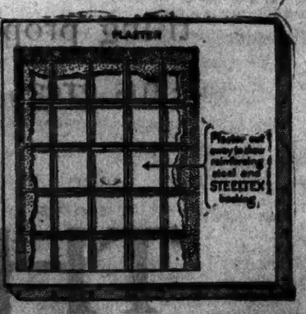
HOW FAST WILL YOUR HOME DEPRECIATE?—Mr. G. A. Martin, President of the Railroad Co-operative Building and Loan Association, 441 Lexington Ave., New York, and outstanding authority on home values, recently made this significant statement: "Take two houses with identical plans in the $12-15,000 class. Build one with modern construction methods and permanent materials. Build the other with careless methods and cheap materials. You might cut original costs considerably by cheap construction, but within ten years it would cost not less than $3,000 to bring this house back to its original value. To do the same thing for the well-built house will cost almost nothing. Before two years are over, the cheaply-built house will reveal its shoddiness and will need repair. The well-built house will save repair bills for many years."

Your walls and ceilings can be one of the major items of upkeep expense. Or—you can build with the NEW RIBBED STEELTEX and minimize depreciation.



WHAT IS REINFORCED PLASTER?—Reinforced plaster is plaster strengthened with embedded STEELTEX. Protecting against strains in all directions is a network of rust-proofed steel. Attached to the steel is a tough absorptive fibrous backing. When plaster is spread, it slides under the steel network, smooths out against the backing, and then additional plaster is spread over the steel. The resulting plaster slab is smooth in back as well as in front, with the steel imbedded between. Thus the principle of imbedded steel, that is used to strengthen great concrete structures, has been brought within easy reach of the everyday home of even the most modest proportions.

PERMANENT STUCCO, TOO, WITH STEELTEX—If you build of stucco as so many people do today, almost the whole impression your home makes will depend upon stucco. Building with "STEELTEX-for-Stucco" is the recognized modern method in every part of the country. It combines the permanent beauty of steel-reinforced construction with the comfort and healthfulness of insulating, dampproofing, and sound-deadening, due to its heavy durable waterproofed backing. "Overcoasting" old houses may now be easily and inexpensively done with "STEELTEX-for-Stucco."

There are four types of STEELTEX—all with the same principle and the same protection. (1) The NEW RIBBED STEELTEX for Plaster. (2) STEELTEX for Stucco and Overcoating. (3) STEELTEX for Brick or Stone Veneer. (4) STEELTEX for Floors and Roofs (concrete and gypsum).

BRITISH FLIER SEEKS SPEED MARK TODAY

Orlebar, Schneider Team Captain, to Use Plane That Won Cup for Britain.

ITALIANS WILL GO HOME

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CALSHOT, Sept. 9.—A blue-and-gold racing plane roared up and down the two-mile course on Southampton Water today in preparation for England's supreme effort to shatter the world's speed record. Inside the tiny cockpit of the plane sat Squadron Leader Augustus H. Orlebar, slim and youthful leader of the British Schneider Cup team, who will take off tomorrow morning in an attempt to fly faster than any human being has ever traveled before.

Today he merely made an inspection of the course, using a little Gloster biplane, which flew in the Schneider Cup contest two years ago. Tomorrow he will use the blue-and-silver supermarine seaplane with Rolls-Royce engine in which Flying Officer Henry D. Waghorn captured the Schneider trophy Saturday, flying at an average speed of 328 miles an hour.

New Record Believed Certainty.

Orelbar's plane has been in tip-top condition ever since the race. Mechanics have had little to do except put new spark-plugs in the engine and tune it up for tomorrow's trial. Unless there is some unnoted defect in the engine, and barring some tragic accident, it seems a certainty that the record will fall into dust before the whirring propeller of Orlebar's machine.

At Calshot air station today there was an air of confidence that Orlebar would shatter Flying Officer Richard Atcherley's record of 332 miles an hour—not by a few miles an hour, but by a substantial margin. The reason for that confidence is the performance of the plane Saturday, when it rounded the difficult diamond-shaped Schneider Cup race course with sharp corners and yet averaged 328 miles an hour.

On straight stretches the plane, then flown by Waghorn, certainly touched 360 miles an hour, or possibly higher—and no one knows what incredible speed Orlebar may reach on a straight two-mile course, with opportunity to dive before crossing the starting line.

Unlike the Schneider Cup race, which was held over the waters of the Solent, the speed flight tomorrow will start over the narrow and busy Southampton Water within sight of steamships and docks, and the finish line is just beyond Calshot Airdrome. While there will not be 1,000,000 spectators tomorrow, there will be a considerable number at points along Orlebar's course to watch the machine hurtling through space almost over their heads.

The Italians will not try for the world's record, after all—at least not in England. They spent today packing their planes, which made such a gallant failure Saturday. Tomorrow they will slip away to Lake Garda for their own speed trials.

There was keen disappointment at Calshot today over the performance of England's "mystery plane"—the Gloster-Napier Golden Butterfly, on which great hopes had been placed. This plane is the most beautiful of all the exquisite racing planes at Calshot, but it has had consistent carburetor trouble.

Flight Lieutenant George Stainforth made two flights with the Golden Butterfly today, circling the airdrome at terrific speed. The engine popped, however, and jets of white smoke poured from behind it in the sky. It is unlikely that the plane can be put in condition by tomorrow.

Says Italy May Quit Cup Race.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Italy may never again compete in a Schneider cup race, in the opinion of Colonel Bernasconi, captain of the Italian team.

"Advanced countries like America," he declared tonight, "have made no really serious effort to compete this year, and perhaps they were wiser than we. The cost and risks to life are simply staggering, while many irksome restrictions, such as the mooring tests, which are irrelevant to speed, make it impossible to put the fastest machines in the race.

"We were beaten Saturday by better machines, but we have plenty of machines and plenty of skilled pilots, and whatever the record that squadron leader Orlebar may establish tomorrow, the Italians expect to beat it."

Colonel Bernasconi declared that diving over the starting line in a straight speed test should not be allowed.

"We are going to fly on a level and gain nothing by fictitious acceleration," he said.

At a civic banquet at Portsmouth tonight, when both teams and officials were entertained, the Italian Ambassador, Antonio Chiaramonte Bordonaro, said recent international events had in no way shaken the traditional friendship between Britain and Italy.

Williams to Seek Mark.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—An attempt to break the new world speed record of 331.75 miles per hour, set last Saturday by the British flying officer, Richard L. R. Atcherly, during the Schneider Cup race, will be made by Lieutenant A. J. Williams, naval aviator, with his speed plane Mercury at Annapolis, Md., as soon as the plane, now undergoing minor refinements at the Philadelphia naval aircraft factory, can be prepared, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, said today.

Lieutenant Williams flew to Philadelphia today to inspect the progress made in the reconditioning of the racer. It is expected that at least two more weeks will be required to put the plane in shape for the test. Since the unsuccessful attempts to qualify the plane for the Schneider Cup race, a second Packard "X" engine, which is reported to have developed more than 1,400 horsepower in tests, has been installed in the plane.

Workmen are engaged in changes aimed at reducing the plane's weight materially. It is expected that the radiators of the engine-cooling system, which are installed in the floats, will be removed to save weight, leaving only the wing radiators for this purpose.

DIES IN PLANE CRASH IN FOG

Rochester Commercial Pilot, Lost, Falls on Farm.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 9 (AP).—Robert Meisch, aged 20, of Hornell, commercial pilot at the Commercial Airport here, was killed today, when his plane crashed on a farm near Spencerport, ten miles from the city. He became lost in a fog while flying around the airport.

Persons near the scene of the crash heard him circling around and finally saw the plane head out of the murk toward a clear space. A few hundred feet in the air the engine stopped and the plane nosedived.

He was conscious when dragged from the wreckage and lived only twenty minutes.

Giant Seaplane 'Dr. Eckener' to Fly to Spain In Trial for Europe-South America Service

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—The "Doctor Eckener," as the Lufthansa intends to name its largest and newest seaplane of the Romar type, is at present undergoing final preparations for its start on the future service from Europe to South America. The plane's three motors are being replaced by brand new ones, while the old motors will undergo a thorough examination for possible defects or wornout parts. The passengers' seats have been removed in order to increase the space for freight and mail, which the Lufthansa expects to receive.

Within a week or two, the Doctor Eckener will start from Travemuende, around the Dutch, French and Spanish coasts to Seville or Cadiz, probably on a nonstop flight. Its crew of six will comprise Chief Pilot Kliessner, an assistant pilot, a navigator, a radio operator, a mechanician, and Commander Bertram of the flying field at Travemuende.

The plane will carry no passengers. As soon as it has arrived at the Spanish harbor, a special express mail plane of the Arado type—which made the successful trip to Berlin, Seville and back to Berlin on Saturday and Sunday within fifteen hours each way—will start again from Berlin with 200 kilos of mail for Spain and the Canary Islands. The mail will speedily be put aboard the seaplane, which then will start for the Canary Islands, and if all goes well, probably to Cape Verde Islands.

From there it will return to the Spanish port, where it will be stationed permanently for regular service. After the necessary experience has been gained, these trips will gradually be extended, until finally the entire distance from Europe to South America will be covered regularly.

SIFTS CONEY AIR CRASH.

Brooklyn Prosecutor Doubts That Doctor Gave Pilot Liquor.

Assistant District Attorney Hyman Barshay of Kings County said that the witnesses whom he had asked to come to his office yesterday morning to tell what they knew of the airplane accident on Saturday at Coney Island failed to appear, and that other business had prevented him from going to Coney Island to question the injured man still in the hospital. Mr. Barshay had asked all those who were injured or who saw the accident to come to his office.

"But the investigation is by no means over," Mr. Barshay said, "and it will be continued between now and Friday, when the case comes up in Homicide Court."

Mr. Barshay said that his investigation indicated that none of the physicians who were summoned to the scene of the accident could have given liquor to W. H. Alexander, pilot of the plane that crashed. Alexander told those who questioned him after the accident that some one of those helping the injured, and dressed in white, had given him one or two drinks to help quiet his nerves. All physicians who were present, according to Mr. Barshay, said they did not carry medical liquor with them.

SEEK LOST FLIER IN NORTH.

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 9 (Canadian Press).—With Indian trailers searching the barrens on foot and experienced airplane pilots whirring overhead and keeping a sharp lookout for a lone figure that has been lost for more than two weeks, it was believed today that C. F. News, Northern Aerial Minerals Exploration Company pilot, would be discovered within a few hours, dead or alive.

News has been wandering over the Northland's vast barren country since Aug. 24, when he made a forced landing after his plane ran out of fuel. Searchers have located the abandoned plane and believe they are on News's trail. Berries have been stripped from bushes along the route that the Indians are taking and they believe News cannot be very far ahead of them. He had only a week's supply of food with him.

ASKS POLICE TO MAP PLANE TRAFFIC LANES

Queens Prosecutor Wants Craft Kept Out of Crowded Waters—Pilot Freed in $5,000 Bail.

Assistant District Attorney Frank Higgins of Queens said yesterday that he would suggest to Police Commissioner Whalen that "no parking" zones be established in the waters of the city to prevent future accidents of the kind.

The prosecutor's announcement followed the release of Henry Ramsdell, an airplane pilot of the Coastal Airways, in $5,000 bail after his arraignment before Magistrate Gresser in Jamaica Court on suspicion of being the operator of the seaplane which killed William Brown, 52 years old, of 99 Newell Street, Brooklyn, and injured John Dee, 55 years old, of 92-12 Ninety-first Avenue, Woodside Queens, in Jamaica Bay Sunday morning.

Ramsdell, who is 29 years old, and lives at 1,685 East Twenty-first Street, Brooklyn, entered a not guilty plea to a technical homicide charge. He will get a hearing on Sept. 17 in Far Rockaway Court.

"My investigation has convinced me that some precautionary measures should be taken in Jamaica Bay and other waterways in the city used as airports to prevent possibility of a repetition of fatalities of this kind," Mr. Higgins said. "The seaplane is entitled to its place in Jamaica Bay, but the rights of pleasure craft owners should be protected, and they should not be exposed to unnecessary dangers from aircraft.

"My suggestion is that the marine division of the Police Department map out landings and ascending lanes by means of bouys. In other words, the 'no parking' system used in the crowded streets should be adopted for airways."

Plane Hits Trees in Jersey Fog.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 9.—While its pilot, J. M. Harris of 3,819 Oak Road, Germantown, Pa., was trying to land in a dense fog shortly after 5 o'clock this morning a cabin monoplane crashed into trees on a farm near Pennington. Neither Harris nor his companion, C. H. Brown of Chestnut Hill, Pa., was hurt except for slight cuts, but the ship was severely damaged. The men were en route from Spring Lake to their homes.

FLIER FREED IN CRASH.

A charge of felonious assault against Gus Krimsier, 18 years old, of 3,705 Avenue M, Brooklyn, who with his sister, Azalia, 21, was injured on Sept. 2 when the plane he had borrowed and was flying crashed in a vacant lot on Avenue P near East Thirty-second Street, Brooklyn, was dismissed yesterday by Magistrate Sabbatino in Flatbush court, Brooklyn.

Police reported there was no evidence that would support the felonious assault charge and that, in so far as they were able to learn, the crack-up was an accident.

Krimsier came into court swathed in bandages and on crutches. He had been discharged only a few days ago from Coney Island Hospital. He informed the court that his sister would be discharged from the hospital later in the day. Krimsier told the court that when he took the plane up he was informed there was plenty of gas. He was flying fairly low, he said, when he discovered the ship was out of gas, and cracked up trying to land. Magistrate Sabbatino dismissed the case, with the comment that he thought Krimsier did "pretty well, the way it happened."

DIES WHILE AT A PLAY.

Frederick S. Munson, 60 years old, a retired business man of 12 Broadway, Rockville Centre, L. I., died of heart failure last night in the Knickerbocker Theatre while witnessing a first-night performance of "Houseparty." Mr. Munson collapsed at the beginning of the second act and was carried from his balcony seat to the manager's office. There he was pronounced dead by Dr. Lunter of New York Hospital.

Mr. Munson's wife and his son, George Munson, were with him. The son, who is a graduate of Williams College, was attracted to the play because its scenes are all laid in a fraternity house at that institution. The father had suffered from heart disease for some years, the son said. The body was taken to the West Thirtieth Street police station to wait burial arrangements.

ALLEGED SWINDLER ARRESTED IN VIENNA

VIENNA, Sept. 9.—A successful swindler, apparently a United States citizen, giving the name of Paul Jackson and claiming to have been a manager in the General Motors Company, was arrested in Vienna today.

A Viennese widow made the acquaintance of Jackson at a fashionable mountain resort called Semering some months ago. Just after she returned to Vienna she received a telegram from Jackson stating that as he had lost his passport he was unable to draw his money from the Semering bank, requesting the loan of 5,000 marks $(1,200). The lady sent 3,000 marks, but as he made no attempt to repay, she had him watched.

Recently another telegram arrived requesting a further 3,000 marks, which was to await him at the Motel Bristol in Vienna. Police watched the hotel and, on the arrival of the self-styled Jackson, arrested him.

Jackson was accompanied by another Viennese widow whom he had met at Ieca, Spain, and the Austrian lake district.

A search of the man's effects revealed a pass in the name of Dusan Bogdanovitch. On examination after being arrested, he admitted he was identical with the man who, under the name of Donald Jankovitch, robbed the Trade Bank of New York of $8,000 in June. He made his way to Europe, where checks were cashed to his name without awakening suspicion.

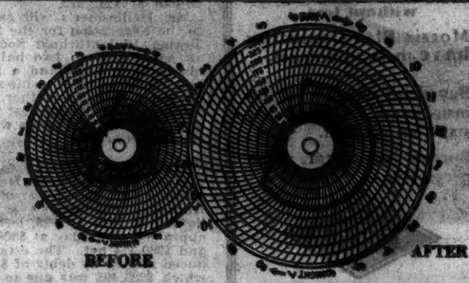
Denies World Flight Plan.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 9 (AP).—Reports that a non-stop flight around the world is planned for the Graf Zeppelin as a sequel to her great flight with stops at Friedrichshafen, Tokio, Los Angeles and Lakehurst were declared today to be without foundation by Captain Hans von Schiller. Captain von Schiller is chief navigating officer of the Graf Zeppelin.



Un-varying Heat

Steady, even heat or boiler pressure when Iron Fireman is on the job

THE above Foxboro charts are records of the same boiler operating under exactly the same conditions, except that the first chart was made during hand firing, and the second was made after an Iron Fireman had been installed.

Study them a moment. Could there be any more convincing reason why an Iron Fireman is a good investment?

But there IS a more convincing reason even, than these pressure charts. It is the fact that the Iron Fireman cuts fuel costs so definitely and so drastically that fuel savings represent an extremely large annual profit on the investment quite aside from the saving in labor, the elimination of smoke, and the steady, even heat which Iron Fireman maintains.

Ask an Iron Fireman engineer to check up your furnace or boiler and estimate your possible savings. This involves no obligation and you will feel well repaid for your trouble. Write or telephone.

The estate of Irwin R. Heilbroner, vice president of Weber & Heilbroner, clothiers, who died Dec. 13, last, of a fall from his fourteenth-floor apartment at 168 West Eighty-sixth Street, left an estate appraised yesterday by Deputy Tax Commissioner Stephenson at $550,777 gross and $477,471 net, which included $20,373 insurance and $246,841 in stocks and bonds. He held 2,630 shares of common stock of Weber & Heilbroner valued at $212,372.

Mr. Heilbroner's will gave $10,000 to the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies and an equal sum to two half-brothers, his brother-in-law and a half sister and $75,000 in trust to his sister, Ray H. Hertz, and his mother, Sarah R. Heilbroner. A life interest in the residue, $252,271 went to his widow, Bessie B. Heilbroner.

Arthur C. Rounds, former law partner of Charles E. Hughes, and member of the firm of Hughes, Rounds, Schurman & Dwight, liquidated Jan. 1, 1928, left an estate appraised yesterday at $500,855 gross and $260,314 net. The estate was reduced largely by debts of $243,064, of which $235,498 was due to the Stock Exchange firm of Wood, Low & Co. on an account.

Mr. Rounds had securities worth $437,845, which included 1,000 Erie Railroad first preferred, $59,000; ten First National Bank, $47,500; 400 Colorado & Southern Railway common, $45,200, and 525 shares Santee Mills common worth $43,433. He received $12,703 as his share when his law firm was liquidated. His personal effects at Cannondale, Conn., worth $12,703, were not taxable here, but he owned personal property in New York valued at $419.

The will gave $25,000 to Ralph S. Rounds, brother, and also a third of the residue, $75,838, while the other two-thirds went to two sisters, Agnes R. Matthews and Katherine E. Rounds. A trust fund of $8,400 was set apart for Miss Rounds before his death.

Leon Kamaiky, publisher of The Jewish Daily News and vice president of The Jewish Morning Journal, with which it was merged, left an estate appraised yesterday at $238,391 gross and $214,185 net. Mr. Kamaiky, who died on Oct. 28 last, gave personal property worth $2,222 and a life interest in $110,847 to his wife, Selma Kamaiky, while his son Israel got 7,500 shares of Class A stock in the Journal-News Corporation, worth $72,225, and his daughters, Miriam F. Lurie and Rebecca K. Schur, each got 1,500 shares of the newspaper stock, worth $14,445, and will receive the principal of their mother's trust fund after her death.

The estate included mortgages worth $55,145 and $7,980 in cash. The bulk of $173,135 in securities consisted of $101,115 as the value of the Class A stock in the Journal-News Corporation. No value was found for 3,500 shares of Class B stock because of a statement by the accountant for the State Tax Department that on account of immigration laws and Americanization efforts, newspapers in a foreign dialect are becoming extinct and "the conditions of the future will never compare with the past." For this reason it was found that the assets of the company are sufficient to meet only the value of the guaranteed stock.

The estate of Mrs. Martha S. Rossin, who died Aug. 12, 1928, and was the widow of Morris Rossin, was valued yesterday at $1,099,047 gross and $975,125 net, of which $1,043,846 was in securities, and $17,837 an interest in the estate of her husband. Her daughters, Ethel R. Asiel and Madeline R. Berolzheimer, got $325,062 each, while the remainder was left to Rosa Dreyfus and Clara S. Bernheimer, sisters, four grandchildren and to friends. She owned a pearl necklace worth $5,000 and two ropes of pearls valued at $2,000.

MAGISTRATE MACRERY LEFT ONLY $5,000

Mother Is Sole Beneficiary—Estate of J. J. Albrecht Is Less Than $10,000.

Magistrate Andrew Macrery, who died on Aug. 21, left an estate of less than $5,000, it was disclosed yesterday when his will was filed in Surrogates' Court. His mother, Mrs. Mary E. Macrery, who lived with him at 537 West 121st Street, is the sole beneficiary. The testament, dated Feb. 24, 1927, appoints Sydney G. Soons of West Englewood, N. J., as executor without bond. A son, Andrew Jr., of Los Angeles, was not mentioned in the will.

Davies, Auerbach & Cornell, 34 Nassau Street, counsel for the estate, said they did not know whether the testator had transferred any of his property prior to his death. As far as they know, the lawyers added, the magistrate left less than $5,000.

J. J. Albrecht Will Filed.

The will of Joseph J. Albrecht, president of the Catholic Federation of New York City, was offered for probate yesterday, disposing of an estate of more than $5,000 and less than $10,000. It leaves all of the property to his sister, Miss Mary Albrecht, with whom he resided at 322 East Ninety-third Street. A brother, Alphonse G. Albrecht, 1,728 Jarvis Avenue, Bronx, is the executor. Mr. Albrecht died on Sept. 1.

Spinelli Sworn In as Aide to Amell.

Peter P. Spinelli, a lawyer, of 1,284 Bay Street, Rosebank, S. I., with offices at 52 Wright Street, Stapleton, was sworn in yesterday as an Assistant United States Attorney in Brooklyn. United States Attorney Amell assigned his new aide to the civil division of his office. Mr. Spinelli served overseas with the Aviation Corps in the World War. He is a graduate of Fordham Law School.

POULTRYMEN GET WYNNE ULTIMATUM

He Tells Packers They Must Finish Clean-Up by May 1 or Take Consequences.

MAY OUST THEM FROM CITY

They Will Be Segregated in Some Outlying Locality Unless They Obey Rules, He Warns.

Health Commissioner Wynne threatened about 300 representatives of the poultry packing industry yesterday with segregation in one outlying locality if they do not "hurry up" and clean up their packing houses in accordance with the sanitary regulations he has promulgated.

The present status of the poultry packing industry is a grave menace to the health of the city, the Health Commissioner told the packers, who met at his office. Drastic measures, he said, will be taken to enforce sanitation.

According to the new regulations, slaughter rooms must be at least ten feet high and must have adequate ventilation either by natural or mechanical means. The floors, walls and ceilings must be of tile. In cases where poultry is sold direct to the consumer, a separate room with an area of not less than 100 square feet must be provided as a killing room. The new regulations also specify that the public must be excluded from rooms where slaughtering is being done. Each house must have separate rooms for killing, plucking and storing.

Dr. Wynne explained that the Health Department at the present time is "deluged" with complaints from the public of conditions among the poultry packing houses.

"You have until next May to make your places comply with the new regulations or meet the consequences," he declared.

"I want to ask your cooperation in getting your places in shape so that by May of next year they will be a credit to yourselves and to your industry. I want to raise this industry to a legitimate, honest business and I want to get rid of the people who are starting trouble in the industry by interfering with the legitimate man's business.

"It is, after all, the fly-by-night merchant that is causing most of the trouble among you. If you help us, the Health Department will stand ready to help you to get rid of illegitimate competition, such as push-cart vendors. There is no reason why the poultry slaughtering business cannot be run in the same sanitary way and without any more trouble than the sanitary butcher or fish store.

"My staff is not only ready but willing to interpret these regulations for you," he said. "You need no counsel and no outside influence."

GUEST IN APARTMENT ENDS LIFE BY GAS

Two young men who maintain an apartment together at 41 Fifth Avenue were summoned from business to their home yesterday afternoon to learn that Eldridge Tarr, 25 years old, whom they had met briefly at Atlantic City several months ago and who had been their guest here since Wednesday, had committed suicide in the apartment. Tarr left a note in which he apologized to his hosts for his act.

Neither of the young men, Joseph Atkins and Harry Shooks, knew much about Tarr. On the reverse side of the sheet of paper on which Tarr had written his apology was a short paragraph bidding his wife farewell. It was learned that Tarr's parents live at 4 North Main Street, Chincoteague Island, Va.

Harry Crowley, doorman, noticed the odor of gas on the ninth floor of the building, entered the apartment with a pass key and found Tarr on the kitchen floor. The windows and doors were covered with clothing and bed linen and the gas burners in the kitchen stove were turned on. With the aid of Ernest James, superintendent, Crowley dragged Tarr to the corridor. Policeman Francis Waldron was summoned and worked over Tarr until a pulmotor crew from the Consolidated Gas Company arrived, but efforts to save the man's life were futile.

The police learned that Tarr had been acting strangely, as though depressed because of poor health. The body was taken to the morgue.

100 ONE-MAN CARS ORDERED IN BROOKLYN

To Cost $1,500,000 and Be Ready in Six Months—Many New Features Included.

The Brooklyn and Queens Transit Corporation announced yesterday that it had ordered the 100 new one-man cars which it promised several weeks ago to provide for its Brooklyn surface car system. The new cars, delivery of which is to be completed in six months, will cost about $1,500,000 and will be of the most advanced type, with automatic speed acceleration features which are expected to be of value in congested traffic areas.

The specifications call for acceleration at the rate of three miles an hour a second and deceleration or braking at the rate of 2½ miles an hour a second. It is believed that these cars will start and stop as rapidly as an automobile.

The new cars will be of the front entrance type, with centre exits and control apparatus at one end only. It will be necessary for the company to construct track loops at the ends of lines upon which the cars are operated so they may reverse direction.

The cars, which will be unusually light by reason of the partial use of aluminum in their construction, will seat fifty-four passengers. Eighty cars will be equipped with leather-covered, spring cushion seats, and twenty with wooden seats. The seating arrangement is designed to provide a maximum of aisle space. Each car will be equipped with four 35-horsepower motors and will be 45½ feet long. According to the company, the most modern safety devices will be used, so that one-man operation may be conducted without risk to the passengers.

BUCKET-BRIGADE BUSINESS

DELIVERY has always been a factor in commercial success, but not the kind of delivery your trade now expects, demands and gets! The old "twelfth of a dozen, assorted" joke has almost come true, has become a normal—and perfectly rational—trade practice.

Backed and advised by his banker, the retailer has refused definitely and permanently to carry the load. The wholesaler, for the most part, has ceased to be a reservoir. The whole chain of distribution is a bucket-brigade, the buckets are passed rapidly from hand to hand . . . and nobody holds on.

It is up to the manufacturer to produce as close to his market as possible, to warehouse within quick delivery range of his trade in each major territory—and to speed up his service all along the line.

In the South there is a dual advantage to this program. The rich Southern market is spending its newfound wealth with those who serve it best. The manufacturing economies of the South are bringing a better margin of profit to those who establish branch factories here from which to serve the market better.

Thus when you consider placing a branch factory in Georgia and a factory branch in Atlanta you are planning for a double profit. One from the profitable sale of the additional volume to be had only by serving the South from its natural economic center. The other from the broader margin of profit, due to Georgia's manufacturing advantages.

Smooth, uninterrupted operation is one of the major advantages. Efficient, willing, interested Anglo-Saxon labor speeds production, cuts costs. Taxes are low. Diversified, plentiful and cheap raw materials are within easy haul. Power rates compare with the lowest in America. Buildings cost 20% to 35% less than elsewhere.

And from Atlanta the goods made under these favorable conditions may be most effectively distributed. Fifteen main lines of eight railroad systems radiate from Atlanta, reaching eighteen million prosperous people overnight. Air mail links Atlanta—North, South, East and West—with the rest of the country, keeps Distribution City in close touch with branches and home offices in other sections.

It may be that yours is the exceptional business that cannot profit by Atlanta location—but neither you nor we can be sure of that without a careful investigation. The Atlanta Industrial Bureau stands ready to undertake a survey, to gather all the facts first hand, and to lay on your desk a thorough and authoritative report of the actual conditions here as they relate to your business.

A note from you will start this work, which will be carried on in the utmost confidence—and without charge or obligation, of course. Write him and Oler and lure them to a certain spot in the city where they, too, might be captured.

By JOSEPH SHAPLEN.

From the office of the International Labor Defense here, the mob proceeded to the Walton Hotel, where Ohler and Dunn are supposed to reside, and demanded that the two men be surrendered into their hands.

It was with great difficulty that the hotel manager managed to convince the mob that the Communist leaders were not in their rooms. They are now secreted in what Mr. Josephson said was a safe place.

Two of the mob were arrested by the police, after which the automobile parties scattered all over the city.

At midnight Mr. Jimison, Mr. Josephson, Dr. John Randolph Neal and William Abernathy, all of counsel for the defense, were in the lobby of the Hotel Charlotte under police protection, summoned by Dr. Neal. They apparently planned to spend the night in the lobby in fear of their lives.

Saylon and Wells are believed to have been brought to this city by the mob, and the police are scouring the city in an effort to rescue them. It is feared they may be lynched.

How the Trial Ended.

The juror whose mind became unbalanced today was Joseph C. Campbell, the sandy-haired news vendor who was fourth to enter the jury box on the second day of the selection of the jury.

At that time he gave an exhibition of good-natured eccentricity, which, together with the successful manner in which he had passed the test, appeared to recommend him to the defense. He had previously been passed by the State almost without question.

This morning, after going into a fit of madness while being escorted from a hotel to the court room with the other jurors by Deputy Sheriff Avery B. Johnston, Campbell was dragged into the court house with the assistance of three men and lodged in a padded cell.

It was the final tragic touch to a process of mental aberration which, Mr. Johnston told the court, first became manifest last Friday and reports of which made today's suspension of the trial not altogether unexpected.

Attorneys for the defense, acutely disappointed at the termination of the trial, charged that Campbell's mind suffered the initial blow with the presentation by the prosecution last Thursday of the gruesome plaster of paris figure of Chief Aderholdt, which Judge Barnhill ordered removed.

It was recalled that when the black-draped figure was rolled before the jury, Campbell's terror-stricken eyes almost popped out of their sockets as the chief's widow emitted a stifled wail and the entire court room gasped.

This, together with the offering in evidence by the state of Aderheldt's bloodstained and gunshot-riddled clothes, seemed to have added to the strain under which Campbell's mind cracked. Today as he was being taken into the padded cell he demanded that he be given a revolver, so that he might deal out judgment to the defendants.

"Give me a gun," he yelled. "They have taken a life and I'll make 'em confess. I'll confess, too, and finish it all."

Move to Dismiss Overruled.

After hearing the evidence on Campbell's mental condition, presented by Dr. John Q. Myers, the county prison physician, and Deputy Sheriff Johnston, Judge Barnhill declared there was nothing for him to do but pronounce the case a mistrial.

"It would be preferable for the defendants to go free than that they should be convicted by an insane man," Judge Barnhill said.

Following a consultation of attorneys and an argument before the bench, Judge Barnhill issued the mistrial order and dismissed the jury.

He then overruled a motion made for the defense by Arthur Garfield Hayes for dismissal of the charges against the defendants or the reduction of the charge to manslaughter and for the admittance of thirteen defendants to bail. Three of the sixteen defendants, Amy Schechter, Vera Buch and Sophie Melvin against whom only a second degree charge is pending, have been out on bail.

In overruling the motion for dismissal and reduction of the charges, Judge Barnhill declared he could not grant such a motion as the State had not yet put in all its evidence.

Five Jurors for Acquittal.

A group of five jurors, approached after their dismissal with the question as to how they had been impressed with the evidence presented thus far, declared they were all solid for acquittal.

"We were so far all solid for acquittal," said their spokesman. "If the State had no stronger evidence than that so far presented we would never have voted to convict any one of the defendants for any crime."

"I consider it a very unfortunate but unavoidable occurrence, for which nobody is to blame," said Judge Barnhill in commenting on the mistrial.

"The State regrets this unfortunate affair more than any one else possibly can," was the comment of Solicitor John G. Carpenter.

"This is a tremendous calamity, in view of the weak case presented by the State and the certainty of an acquittal," said Tom F. Jimison, of counsel for the defe[nse].

"Well, this means another extra month in jail for us," Fred Erwin Beal said. "In our next trial some people will have to be careful and stick to the stories they told here."

Mr. Jimison, J. Frank Flowers and Colonel J. D. McCall charged that the presentation of the Aderholdt effigy before the jury dealt the critical blow to the mind of Juror Campbell.

Mr. Jimison said that Campbell had served in a civil case about two years ago and at that time proved a satisfactory juror. From other sources it was learned, however, that there was a strain of insanity in the Campbell family and that several of his immediate relatives had committed suicide.

Dramatic Scene in Court Room.

The news of what happened to Campbell reached the crowded court room long before the morning session convened, and it was accepted as a foregone conclusion that there would be a mistrial.

The jury was not in the box when Judge Barnhill took the bench, but several of them were crowded behind a glass door in an antechamber leading into the court room. From this vantage point they watched the proceedings with curiosity and amazement.

The defendants huddled in chairs along the bar railing, bore marked shadows of disappointment and disgust on their faces. Counsel for both sides sat worried and puzzled over what they could do to find some legal loophole that might permit the case to proceed.

Of all persons in the court room Judge Barnhill alone gave no indication of being perturbed at the tragic denouement. He quietly called for Dr. Myers and requested him to give an account of Campbell's condition.

Only a short time before Dr. Myers took the stand the jail floor of the court house resounded with the wails of Campbell crying to be shot, to be released, to be buried with his face down and reinforcing his cuteries by pounding a tin cup on the hard stone.

Juror's Insanity Disclosed.

The report of Dr. Myers, who said that he had attended Campbell several times since he first began to give indications of a mental breakdown last Friday, was that the man had been in "a state of delirium, crying, weeping, hollering and unable to be restrained."

"He had no reasonable mind this morning and could not be restrained," Dr. Myers said. "I consider him suffering from acute emotional insanity, and while the condition may be temporary, it is likely to recur."

Dr. Myers said that in his opinion Campbell was quite incapable of serving as a juror.

Deputy Sheriff Johnston testified that Campbell had been in a highly nervous state since last Friday, that he threw ice water on the other jurors and cavorted around the floor. The officer and the jurors had to drag him from under a bath tub in a hotel room.

Showed Homicidal Tendencies.

"Last Friday night he begged me to let him have my pistol and let him get through with it," Mr. Johnston said, adding that later in the night Campbell ran about screaming as if in great pain.

He also threatened to shoot three of the jurors and the deputy sheriff, according to Mr. Johnston's testimony. Saturday night Campbell again went into hysterics, but seemed to improve. At midnight he had another attack. At 5 A. M. Sunday he wanted somebody to read the Bible to him, and Juror John Phillips complied.

Campbell said that he had confessed sins, that he wanted to die and asked that he be buried with his face down, Mr. Johnston testified.

At 3:30 this morning he again became violent and Judge Barnhill was summoned, together with Dr. Myers. It then became clear that the juror's condition was hopeless, at least so far as his service on the jury was concerned.

This is the second futile attempt to try the case. It was first called in Gastonia July 29 and transferred to Charlotte July 30 upon the granting of a change of venue by Judge Barnhill. The cost of the defense it was learned, has been $20,000 and that to the State $50,000.

This afternoon Governor O. Max Gardner, in a telegram to Judge Barnhill, set Sept. 30 for a special term of the Superior Court to bring the case to trial again, and requested Judge Barnhill to preside.

The Old Sock is out of Date!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

That ancient prejudice which hoarded gold with the fanatical zeal of the miser has vanished. Under the sheltering wing of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE flourish thousands of banking institutions to which the individual safely entrusts his wealth.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

MERCUR IS VICTOR IN FIVE-SET MATCH

Forced to 7-5, 7-5, 2-6, 5-7, 7-5, by Coggeshall in Second Round of National Tennis.

RAIN STOPS LOTT-HALL

Chicagoan Leads, 12-10, 1-All, When Downpour Halts Play at Forest Hills.

NEER DEFEATED IN UPSET

By ALLISON DANZIG.

With William Tilden and most of the other ranking players idling away the sultry afternoon at the bridge table, the field in the national championship was brought up in even array yesterday as the remaining matches in the second round were sent on the courts at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills.

With the exception of the defeat of Philip Neer of California by David Jones of Columbia at 15–13, 6–1, 8–6, the favorites pursued the even tenor of their ways, and when play was brought to a halt by a torrential downpour Wilmer Allison and Berkeley Bell of Austin, Texas, Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., and H. W. Austin and E. R. Avory of England were among those who had gained their brackets in the third round.

George M. Lott Jr. of Chicago, who heads the top of the second half, was in the midst of a brilliantly waged battle with J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange when the elements drove them from the courts with the former holding the first set at 12–10 and the score standing at 1-all in the second.

Dr. George King and E. W. Feibleman, both of New York, were also forced to suspend hostilities in a match that saw Feibleman outdo himself to win the first two sets. Dr. King took the third chapter and was leading at 5–2 with his service to follow in the fourth, when they were driven from the courts.

Will Play This Morning.

Both of these matches will be completed this morning, Lott and Hall going on at 11 and Feibleman and Dr. King at 12:30. In the afternoon the third round will get under way with Tilden making his first appearance since Saturday, and with Frank Shields, the brilliant young ex-junior champion, his opponent.

The best entertainment offered in the stadium to the spectators who braved the threatening weather and the depressing humidity was furnished in the interrupted match between Lott and Hall and the stirring engagement between Mercur and Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines.

Mercur won only after the maximum number of sets had been played, and all three that he took went to 7–5, from which it may be gathered that the Bethlehem player had some anxious moments in the final chapter until he finally broke through in the twelfth game to win at 7–5, 7–5, 2–6, 5–7, 7–5.

Mercur has played better tennis than he produced in this match for his control was not up to his usual standard as he oversighted the lines with his fast-pitching drives. But it was not his errors that accounted for Coggeshall's splendid showing so much as it was the clever all-around play of the quiet, bespectacled Coggeshall, whose forehand was pocketing the ball in the corners with beautiful precision, and whose service was preparing the way for him to get in finishing shots at the net.

Falters in Twelfth Game.

In both the first and second sets Coggeshall got off to a bad start, falling behind at 0–3, and each time he drew up to even terms only to falter in the twelfth game, a double fault, which he made deliberately to offset a let, helping Mercur to effect the deciding break in the opening chapter. In the third set, Mercur led at 3–1, and then went to pieces to drop five games in a row, getting only three points in the last four.

The Bethlehem youth, after trailing at 0–2 in the fourth set, went to 5–3 and 30–0, but here, with victory within his grasp, he lost the next 12 points, and Coggeshall won four successive games to draw level at two sets all. In the final set Coggeshall broke through for a 2-1 lead and it looked serious for Mercur when the Grinnell collegian stood within a point of a 4-1 lead, but the former salvaged the game and from then on it was a service duel until Mercur's carefully gauged drives and well-timed advance to the net exacted their price in the twelfth game to end the match.

Hall had one of his best days of the season against Lott. With the Chicagoan chary about going forward on the slippery surface and putting his sole reliance in his service and ground strokes, Hall was the aggressor for the most part and was beating a path to the net that soon left the turf cut to ribbons and worn in spots where he took repeated spills.

Chop Proves Ineffective.

Lott was alternately chopping and driving, and while a chop should have been most effective under such conditions, it wasn't against Hall who handles a low-rising ball better than he does a high one.

Jones, who has been known on Morningside Heights as a basketball player and oarsman, has made big strides this season on the tennis courts and his victory over Neer, following up his good work in the Eastern intercollegiate championship at the Crescent A. C., should encourage him all the more in his decision to give more time to tennis.

Bell was never in difficulties in winning his match from his fellow Texan, Bruce Barnes, although he dropped a set to him. Austin had no occasion to resort to drastic measures against Herbert L. Bowman, whom he allowed only five games, and Allison disposed of Ted Burwell of Charlotte, N. C., at 6–0, 6–2, 6–4. Julius Seligson dropped only three games in winning from L. H. Wiley of Hartford and Elmer Griffin of New York was at his best in his victory over Edward Taraniglott.

Play in the veterans' championship got under way and by nightfall the field of sixty-four had been reduced to thirty-seven.

TITLE YACHT RACE IS HALTED BY FOG

CRAFT WILL SAIL TODAY

By SHANNON CORMACK.

Special to The New York Times.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 9.—Heavy fog which blanketed Long Island Sound caused the abandonment of the second international eight-meter race for the Seawanhaka Challenge Cup today after the two contesting sloops, Caryl, the Scottish challenger, and Gypsy, the American defender, had been sent off in a strong east by north wind and disappeared into the fog. The next race will be sailed tomorrow.

When the warning signal was hoisted on the U. S. Navy tug, Sagamore, which was used as the committee boat, the fog was fairly thick, but the breeze was so sufficiently strong that Chairman Howard Smith and other members of the race committee were of the opinion that it would soon lift.

The wind was ideal for the race, just strong enough to give the skippers and crews of the boats an opportunity to get the best out of their craft.

Gypsy Ruled Favorite.

With one of the three races necessary to winning the cup safely in its possession, the Gypsy was looked upon as the favorite before the start. The race was started off Oak Neck, the triangular course being laid so that the yachts would have a beat, run and reach on each of the three legs, making a double circuit of the course, a distance in all of fifteen nautical miles.

Ten minutes before the start, Raymond Hunt, skipper of Gypsy, decided to change his mainsail, substituting a fleetier sail for the one he had been carrying. On board the Caryl, Skipper W. Frank Robertson and his crew, all accustomed to the heavy northern weather of the Clyde, appeared totally unconcerned regarding the fog.

At 2:10 the yachts were sent on their course, both crossing the line on the port tack with the Scots's boat in slightly the better position and footing considerably faster than the opponent. Before they had been swallowed in the gray thickness, the Caryl had opened a lead of ten or a dozen yards on Gypsy and that was as far as the race was seen by any member of the committee.

Coast Guard Boat Aids.

One of the Coast Guard patrol boats, with a patrol judge of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Y. C. on board, went ahead of the racing yachts and the skippers were told that it would help lay the course for them.

Despite this no word was heard of either of the two sloops until two hours later when another patrol boat ranged alongside the Sagamore and megaphoned that the Gypsy was five miles off Center Island Buoy and that the Caryl was not to be found.

In the meantime, the Gypsy and Caryl had actually been racing. With the Scots' boat footing the better of the two at the start, Robertson kept the lead he had opened on his opponent and both set their courses for the first mark 2½ miles away east by north.

Steering entirely by compass, each made one long hitch, then the Caryl made a short hitch and came over to windward of the Scottish boat. A succession of short hitches followed with the Caryl getting back to the windward position though the Gypsy was slightly in the lead to leeward.

Search for Turning Mark.

Both were hunting for the turning mark at this time. Instead of it being dead ahead, it was down to leeward with the result that when the two sloops squared off the American boat had the advantage and rounded the mark about twenty seconds ahead of the Caryl.

The wind had shifted a little to the eastward with the result that instead of having a run, the yachts reached for the second mark.

Gypsy led by about thirteen seconds as they squared and set their course for the starting line, two and a half miles south-southwest half west. Then the Caryl commenced to gain on the Gypsy and Hunt, in order to prevent his opponent getting to windward, luffed sharply.

A luffing match followed that carried the two skippers away off their course and when it ended, Robertson evidently had given up for the time being the idea of catching Hunt and getting to windward of him. Both sloops were much to windward of the mark.

Sail Side by Side.

They sailed on and on. The mark should have been, according to their calculations, somewhere near where they were, but it was not. Both yachts were moving along side by side. Finally the thoughts of the skippers were put into words.

Both then turned and headed for the direction they thought was Oyster Bay. On the way the Gypsy's tender, Frank C. Paine's power cruiser, came in sight and gave Hunt a tow and a minute or two later Sherman Hoyt's cruiser Katnip, under command of Captain Konow, picked up the Caryl and brought the Scots home.

Meantime, the destroyer Fox, with Judge Sidney Ballou in charge of the members and guests of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Y. C., was lying off the second mark in the hope that the yachts had gone round the course and would be seen on the last leg.

Finally they, too, gave up in disgust and headed for port, passing on the way the committee tug, which had been informed that the skippers had called the race off.

Hebard, former national boys' champion, and Harry Moore, Hebard's White Plains neighbor, added another doubles title to their collection today when they captured the Westchester junior championship, defeating Paul Peavy and Gilbert Kelley, Dobbs Ferry (N. RUBINSTEIN VICTOR, RETAINS 2D PLACE

DR. VAJDA DEFEATS STEINER

Capablanca Maintains Lead in Tourney by Margin of Half Point —Triple Tie for 4th Position.

BUDAPEST, Sept. 9.—Rubinstein of Poland, by winning his adjourned game from Brinckmann of Germany in the international chess tournament at the Kurhaus today, increased his total to 5½ points, thereby retaining second place in the competition, half a point behind Capablanca of Cuba, who has 6 points.

Neither of the leaders has yet been defeated. Dr. Vajda of Hungary was also a winner and holds third place with 5 points. Dr. Vajda's opponent was Steiner of Hungary. There is a triple tie for fourth place among Canal of Peru, Dr. Tartakower of France and Sir George Thomas of England.

In the other adjourned games decided today and in both of which Colle of Belgium was concerned, that player lost to Przepiorka of Poland in his unfinished game from the sixth round, but drew with Havasi of Hungary in the one held over from the seventh.

SILVERS BOXES TONIGHT.

Meets Vaccarelli at Queensboro Show—Tisch at 22d Engineers.

A change was announced yesterday in the card scheduled for tonight in the Queensboro Stadium. The bout between Ruby Goldstein and Freddie Mueller was postponed until Sept. 24 when Mueller wired Matchmaker Al Weill that he had injured his right arm. Weill then arranged a ten-round feature between Pal Silvers, Brownsville middleweight, and Tony Vaccarelli, Harlem veteran. The original supporting card remains intact.

A ten-round bout between Sammy Tisch, former National Guard featherweight champion, and Arthur DeChamplain is scheduled as the stellar attraction tonight at the Twenty-second Engineers Regiment Armory. Jack Sharkey, Philadelphia, and Joe Rocco are paired for the eight-round semi-final.

Two undefeated boxers for the year will be principals tonight in one of the feature special bouts at an amateur tournament at the Golden City Arena, Canarsie. They are Henry Schachter and Harry Baron.

Dexter Park Bouts Postponed.

The rain last night washed out the boxing show scheduled at the Dexter Park Arena, Richmond Hill. Matchmaker Johnny Attell announced the show will be held tomorrow night, with the original card. Georgie Levine, Brownsville welterweight, and Floyd Hybert, Clevelander, are to meet in the main ten-round bout.

Position After 40 Moves in the Third Game With Bogoljubow Is Fairly Even.

PLAY TO BE RESUMED TODAY

Early Decision Expected to Be Reached in Title Contest—Alekhine Leading.

WIESBADEN, Sept. 9.—Meeting for the third time in their match for the world's chess championship at the Kurhaus today, Dr. Alexander Alekhine of Paris and E. D. Bogoljubow of Triberg adjourned the third game after forty moves had been recorded. The position at the time was fairly even, but play will be continued tomorrow when, it is expected, a decision will be reached. The present score is Dr. Alekhine 1, Bogoljubow 0, drawn 1, adjourned 1.

It was Dr. Alekhine's turn to have the white pieces and once more the queen's pawn was advanced at the first turn. Bogoljubow declined the gambit, but, as in the first game, accepted the proffered pawn later on. However, at his fifth turn the challenger varied and brought his queen's bishop into play. On the eighth move queens were exchanged. Dr. Alekhine in recapturing being obliged to move his king. Bogoljubow also refrained from castling.

After an exchange of pieces the combatants were left with two rooks and two minor pieces each, in addition to six pawns, those of Dr. Alekhine being placed a little more advantageously than his opponent's.

STEPHANITE IS VICTOR

4-to-1 Shot Is First in Mineola Claiming Stakes—Jockey Bryce Is Set Down.

By BRYAN FIELD.

The mud at Belmont Park played hob with the favorites yesterday afternoon, but the upsets did not begin to hurt badly until the running of the Hamburg Belle and Salvator Handicaps, when an odds-on choice and another favorite which barely escaped being odds-on were defeated in small fields that only served to intensify the blows. The Audley Farm's Princess Tina, 3 to 5 in the Hamburg Belle, bowed to W. R. Coe's Vanity, which won by three lengths at 5 to 2. Near-By and Helen M. trailed.

In the Salvator the Howe Stable's Double Play opened at odds-on, but went up in the betting, and was second to Mrs. John D. Hertz's Fair Ball, which ran down the favorite in the stretch to win by a head and pay 3 to 2. Sankari, the only other starter, was a distant third.

The fifteenth running of the Mineola Claiming Stakes, which had a value to the winner of $3,800, was won by the Lenox Stable's Stephanite, which paid 4 to 1, after one of the heaviest plunges of the season. Stephanite opened at 8 to 1, but under a steady hammering dropped to half that at post time, notwithstanding which he was only a joint second choice. Gifford A. Cochran's Lamp Black, the favorite, ridden by Danny Bryce, was fifth.

Bryce Is Disciplined.

The Mineola was the third race, and after it Samuel D. Riddle, Bryce's contract employer, notified the officials that he had set Bryce down. Riddle made no explanation of his action. Stephanite was an easy winner by four lengths, with Cygnet second, Big Business third and Lamp Black a tardy fifth.

Merano, from the Dorwood Stable, was the favorite in the Great Neck Steeplechase, but he behaved so heinously that he was disqualified after finishing second. The winner was H. W. Maxwell's Shifter, a 12-to-1 shot. Merano was very rank, and Jockey Smoot had a hard time staying on the horse. At several jumps Merano crossed the field and interfered so badly with the others that the stewards took prompt action and placed Mollie Elizabeth second and Zerma third.

In the curtain-raiser Gifford A. Cochran dropped Nusakan into a claiming race for the first time, and the 4-year-old Sun Briar colt, at 8 to 1, came home winner by a length from the Newtown Dale Stable's Kildare, with Poppyfield a distant third. Okaybee was the 9-to-5 favorite and she was seventh after being a contender at the start.

That accounts for five favorites, and in the nightcap there was a heavy play on the Loma Stable's Chio Boy and the Dorwood Stable's Mombasa. Both were held at 3 to 1, and the former won easily by four lengths from Faultless, with Mombasa third. This was as near as the form players got to bringing home a winner.

Princess Tina Tires.

To win from Princess Tina, Vanity ran a very good race and one that was a reminder of the strong second she ran behind High Strung at Saratoga when the High Time colt won in such good time. Yesterday Vanity dashed off at the start and was never headed. Princess Tina tried hard and gamely, as is her wont, but she was not making up any ground on the leader as they came through the stretch, and Vanity won without too much trouble. Under 110 pounds she was in receipt of four pounds from the favorite, which had up the top weight.

Double Play was conceding twenty-six pounds to Fair Ball, and that decided the issue when the push came in the stretch. Reign Count's work companion was asked to carry only 100 pounds, and he was restrained off the pace, which was set by Double Play from the break. In the stretch George Rose sent Fair Ball to Double Play and Pony McAtee could not get enough out of his heavily burdened mount to maintain the lead and save the victory.

BROWN WISDOM WINS IN COOPER CARLTON

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (AP).—W. C. and E. W. Reichert's 4-year-old Brown Wisdom easily won the Cooper Carlton Purse, the feature attraction of an ordinary card at Lincoln Fields this afternoon. It was a sprint of six furlongs for 3-year-olds and upward. Golden Prince from Bartelstein & Unna's stable was second and Cayuga from the Shady Brook Farm was third.

Brown Wisdom, away well, and racing in his best form, was taken into the lead at the start. This he increased at every pole to win easily by four lengths. Golden Prince, away well, saved ground and improved his position gradually to take the place by four lengths. Cayuga, away fast, raced closest up to the stretch turn, then weakened, but lasted to take the small end of the purse by two lengths. Eskimo, after showing a flash of early speed, tired and finished fourth. Seven ran. The race had a value of $1,000 to the winner and Reichert & Brown Wisdom paid $6.44 for each $2 ticket.

Khara from the Rancocas Stable easily won the Blue Island Purse, the secondary feature on the card, defeating Heretic and Rich Widow. MISS HICKS WITH 78 LEADS IN GOLF PLAY

Shoots Two Under Par in First Round of Flossmoor Medal Tourney.

HER IRON PLAY FEATURES

MISS ORCUTT TURNS IN 84

Metropolitan Champion, Weak on Putts, Takes Fifth Place—Play Is at 72 Holes.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Miss Helen Hicks, sturdy 18-year-old shot-maker from Inwood, L. I., shattered par over the heavily trapped Flossmoor Country Club course today to gain a four-stroke lead at the quarter mark of The Derby, a seventy-two-hole medal play event sponsored by the Western Women's Golf Association.

Playing the type of golf that made her the sensation of last Winter's tournaments in the South, Miss Hicks carded a 38, three under par, going out today, and then came home with a 40, one over par, for a 78 total.

Her closest rival in the small but brilliant field was Mrs. Austin Pardue of Hibbing, Minn., who had rounds of 40, 42—82.

Miss Hicks Excels With Irons.

Perfect iron play was responsible for Miss Hicks's score. While some of her drives and brassie shots found the rough, she consistently retrieved by laying pretty irons within easy putting distance.

She bagged three birdies—all of them on the first nine holes—and went over par only on the twelfth hole, which lies at the end of a hilly 447-yard stretch. Here she sliced her drive into a trap and pulled her second into another, taking a 6. Her birdies were scored on the 512-yard first, where she laid a mashie niblick shot to within two feet of the pin and sank her first putt for a 5; on the 550-yard third, where a pretty third iron shot placed her ball within easy two-putting distance, and on the 397-yard ninth, where she sank a twelve-foot downhill putt for a 4. Except for the twelfth hole, she scored even par on the last nine holes.

Mrs. Pardue was not as consistent, getting an eagle 4 on the first hole following a brilliant spoon shot, a birdie on the third and going 2 over par on the 175-yard second with a 5 and 1 over perfect figures on the twelfth, thirteenth and seventeenth.

Chicagoans Tied For Third.

A pair of veteran Chicagoans, Mrs. Lee Mida and Mrs. Melvin Jones, tied for third place at the end of the initial eighteen-hole test with 83s. Mrs. Mida is the so-called defending champion of The Derby, although it has been extended from fifty-four to seventy-two holes this year in an attempt to develop a national medal play classic for women golfers.

One stroke behind Mrs. Mida and Mrs. Jones was Miss Maureen Orcutt of White Beeches, N. Y., present metropolitan champion and a favorite. Miss Orcutt could not get her putter to work today and three-putted six greens, taking 41 going out and 43 coming home.

Other leaders at the end of the first round included Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Los Angeles, runner-up in the 1929 women's Western championship, 42, 43—85; Mrs. Leo Federman of New York, 43, 43—86; Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, 47, 40—87; Miss Frances Hunfield, Milwaukee, 44, 44—88; Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis., 45, 44—89; Miss Gertrude Boothby, Rochester, Minn., 43, 46—89, and Mrs. J. M. Indig, Tampa, Fla., 41, 49—90.

Three additional eighteen-hole rounds will be played during the next three days. Except for a brisk wind that swept the course, the weather was ideal for golf today.

ENTER FOX HILLS PLAY.

Voigt and Held to Compete in Invitation Tourney.

The Fox Hills Golf Club's invitation tournament Sept. 19, 20 and 21, has drawn the entry of George Voigt of North Hills, Eddie Held of Lakeville, Pennington Miller-Jones of Richmond County, Albert Brosch of Lenox Hills, Mark Stuart of the home club, J. Wolcott Brown of Spring Lake, and Martin Isaler, another Jersey star.

Others expected to compete include George Brush, Weshchester amateur champion; Jack Sharkey, Jersey amateur titleholder; Don Carr of Mount Kisco, Paul Cavanagh of Southward Ho, and others. Some effort is being made to enlist Eddie Driggs Jr. of Lakeville, Long Island amateur champion, and thus make the qualifying round, among other things, a battle of sectional titleholders.

PENN STATE IN SCRIMMAGE.

Special to The New York Times.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 9.—The first scrimmage of the season was the feature of today's program of the Penn State football squad. The scrimmage came at the end of an afternoon of hard work and was of short duration. The squad was separated into three groups, one playing on the defensive and the other groups alternating on the offensive.

Mrs. Bushel Wins Medal.

Mrs. Joyce Bushel, wife of Judge Hyman Bushel, yesterday won the medal in the qualifying round of the Women's Club championship tournament at the Clearview Golf Club, Whitestone, L. I. Mrs. Bushel's card for the eighteen holes showed a gross score of 88.

Jones's 72 Cuts Course Mark By 2 Strokes at Pasotiempo

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Sept. 9 (AP).—Proving that the slip in form which caused his elimination in the first round of the national amateur golf tournament at Pebble Beach was incidental, Bobby Jones, stopping here yesterday en route to San Francisco, electrified a gallery of 2,000 by lowering a course record with a 72, two under par, over the Pasotiempo links.

Despite Jones's perfect golf, the British champion and Miss Collett won the match, 6 up.

Halsell, Tallman and Chapman Among First Starters—P. G. A. Sectional Test Today.

By LINCOLN A. WERDEN.

Two hundred and seventy-two men whose slogan is "Once a senior, always a senior; sometimes venerable but never aged," are entered for the twenty-fifth annual championship tournament of the U. S. Seniors Golf Association over the links of the Apawamis Club at Rye, N. Y., today.

Because of the size of the field, only 166 are scheduled to play their first eighteen holes today and their second and concluding round tomorrow. Then on Thursday the remainder of the competitors set out on their title quest and complete their second round on Friday.

The seniors, ranging in age classification from 55 years to beyond the seventies, are coming from various parts of the country, but Dr. Charles Walter, the Californian who won the title last year, is not making the trip from the coast to defend his laurels.

Among some of those who start this morning are Hugh Halsell, 1927 champion; David Tallman of Minneapolis; John D. Chapman of Greenwich; Joseph Flynn of Greenwich; Frank Hoyt of Engineers; W. Fellowes Morgan of Garden City; O. Wilson Gott of Canoe Brook; Julian W. Curtiss of Greenwich; Everett J. Lake of Hartford; Charles S. Strout of Portland, Me., and A. B. Jenks of Manchester.

The elaborate program includes various gross and net prizes in each group: Class A, those of 75 years of age and over; Class B, 70 to 74 years; Class C, 65 to 69; Class D, 60 to 64, and Class E, 55 to 59. The annual dinner will be held tomorrow evening.

This is rather an important day for the metropolitan professionals who would like to qualify for the national P. G. A. championship. Eighty-two will play two rounds over the Knollwood Country Club course at White Plains, N. Y., in the elimination test to decide the eleven representatives from the metropolitan district who are to make the trip to Santa Barbara, Cal., in December.

Among those who will be in the thick of the battle are Walter Hagen and Johnny Farrell, who along with Tom Harmon of Montclair are paired to start at 9:56 and 1:56 o'clock. It will be the first time in the last five years that Hagen has had to enter a sectional test, because as national champion he has not had to qualify. Gene Sarazen, Joe Turnesa and Willie Macfarlane are another threesome likely to attract the gallery. They are scheduled to start at 9:36 and 1:36. Bobby Cruickshank, Johnny Golden and Willie Klein are among the stars entered, but Walter Kozak, the youthful metropolitan P. G. A. champion, did not send in an entry.

Miss Maureen Orcutt—Four-Time Champion

By LINCOLN A. WERDEN.

All Rights Reserved.

WHEN some one asked Miss Maureen Orcutt at the White Beeches Country Club during a lull in one of her recent practice sessions for the women's national golf championship, which will be played in Detroit starting Sept. 30, if she could remember the first day she hit a golf ball, she laughed.

"That's easy," explained the young lady who at 22 has been metropolitan champion for four consecutive years. "I can never forget that day when my mother teed up a new ball here at the first tee. It was just ten years ago last Spring.

"I wasn't very excited as I hit at the ball with some sort of club—I think it must have been a driver. After I swung, I don't know what happened. The ball simply disappeared into space and my mother scolded me because I hadn't kept my eye on it."

Her Game Better Than Ever.

Now more attention is paid to where Miss Orcutt drives. Since that impromptu lesson, and her first day's score of 128, she has spent countless hours in practice until she now believes her game is better than ever.

George Kerrigan, the club professional at White Beeches when Maureen was scoring in the high 100's, naturally had no idea what the golfing future held for his 13-year-old pupil. But he was impressed by her natural aptitude and, after he taught her the fundamentals of the game, saw to it that she played in tournaments.

It was Kerrigan's brother Tom who gave Johnny Farrell his first job. Now each year Johnny and Maureen exchange greeting cards, because both their birthdays fall on April 1.

Her First Tournament.

Maureen at 14 had to forfeit a vacation trip to play in her first tournament. It was the girls' junior metropolitan championship and Kerrigan induced the Orcutts to allow Maureen to compete. She finished second, with a score of 116, fourteen strokes behind Martha Parker.

In the following year, however, Maureen came back and won the championship with a 94. During those twelve months twenty-two strokes had disappeared from her score.

Failed to Qualify Once.

That was the beginning. There have been many tournaments through the last six years, so many that Miss Orcutt has lost count. Only once during that time has she failed to qualify, and that was in a Shenecossett invitation tourney.

Miss Orcutt's game around the greens has given her considerable worry. Peter O'Hara, Kerrigan's successor at White Beeches, later became her instructor. Her long game improved and she developed into an exceptionally fine iron player, especially with a No. 2 iron, but somehow she couldn't master the shorter shots.

At 20 she reached her goal—the final round of a national championship—only to toss away many chances against Miriam Burns Horn at Cherry Valley, when her short game went to pieces.

There were times in the Southern tournaments when Miss Orcutt's putting was so poor that she missed some of twelve inches or less. She lost to Dorothy Klotz Pardue at Ormond Beach one year at the twenty-first hole, failing on a ten-inch putt. Against Virginia Van Wie in the North and South championship she missed a one-foot put, which cost her the match at the nineteenth hole.

But those days are over and she appears to have mastered her ancient weakness—putting. She has discarded the pendulum putting style with the accentuated use of the forearm and has adopted one based on George Voigt's method of stroking the ball with the wrists. And this change, Miss Orcutt believes, is the chief cause for her improvement.

Holds Many Course Records.

Miss Orcutt has had scores on nine courses this year better than those made by any other woman, as far as club records can testify. They include 74's at Van Cortlandt Park and White Beeches, 75's at Fairfield, Crestmont and Broadmoor, a 76 at Shenecossett, a 77 at Englewood and 80's at Yountakah and the Engineers Club.

Her third victory in the women's Eastern championship and the establishing of a new record by winning the metropolitan title for the fourth year in a row, however, were more important.

Recently in the men vs. women matches at Fairfield, Conn., she defeated George Voigt, the ranking player of the metropolitan district, with a brilliant 75 and the aid of four bisques.

Is Practicing Steadily.

These performances may mean more to her prospective opponents in the national championship than they do to her. Until late this month she will be too busy with practice, driving golf balls, playing them to the pin or putting them into the cup, to think much about the past.

This year Miss Orcutt seems more determined than ever. That is the reason many expect her to do well at Oakland Hills in Detroit and, as her twin brothers put it, "get into the final."

GANNON JOINS TEAM AT NAVAL ACADEMY

Arrives From California and Takes Part in the First Official Football Drill.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 9.—Today, which was the official date for the opening of football practice at the Naval Academy, found every member of the varsity squad on hand.

Practice began informally on Thursday, and the larger part of the squad arrived last week. Most of those who remained away a little longer were those who had the longest journeys from their homes.

One of the latest arrivals was Johnny Gannon, who is a Californian. Gannon started at quarter last season and was moved to half. It is possible that he will return to his old position, as Dave Weichel is ineligible.

Other new arrivals were Bowstrom, the big punting tackle; Crane, a crack end, and Toth, who came to the front as a running back the latter part of last season.

Those of the varsity who did not arrive until today are members of the second class, which remained at Annapolis during most of the Summer. They did a lot of work during this period and are in shape to practice with the rest of the squad.

Another quarterback possibility who has been tried during the last two or three drills is Kohlhas, one of the academy's best all-round athletes. Besides playing football, Kohlhas is a pole vaulter and swimmer.

ARMY DRILL CUT SHORT.

Wet Grounds Result in Brief Football Workout.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Wet grounds forced Army's football practice today to be curtailed to a brief drill. Head Coach Biff Jones had some of the backs and ends going down the field under kicks with O'Keefe, Piper, Timberlake and Muriel alternating at punting and handling the ball and Carl, Mark, Kenny, Messenger and Marshall as wing men.

The line coaches drilled a group of aspirants who are trying to fill the places of Hall, centre; Sprague, tackle, and Hammack, guard, who were lost to the squad through graduation. The squad is due for a cut soon.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Cornell's football squad, forty-one strong, opened the 1929 season with two practices on a soggy field today. Coach Gilmour Dobie was assisted by four Dobie-trained players of former elevens. The squad will be enlarged with the arrival of other players during the week.

Today's sessions were devoted mainly to organization and a light workout on running, kicking and passing. Members of last year's eleven who reported included Carl Hoffman, Joseph Kanich, Roger Morey, Norman Scott, backs; Paul Hunt, John McGowin, James Tattersfield, Arthur L. Towson and Captain Samuel Wakeman, linemen.

Veterans who are expected later include A. G. Allen, George P. Davies, Bruce Hackstaff, Howard S. Johnson, Mauritz I. Johnson, backs; Bob Alexander and Frank Leuder, ends, and Robert Modarelli and Henry H. Rousseau, guards. Among last year's freshman players were George H. Cornish, John Estabrook, centre, and Miles Stevens, back.

Coach Dobie faces the problem of constructing a new line, having lost by graduation Captain Dudley Schoales and Fred Wrampelmeier, ends; John F. Anderson, tackle; Jackson Waterbury, guard, and Ferris Kneen, centre. The assistant coaches this year are Wrampelmeier, David S. Hill, Daniel Robinhold and Eugene Balderston.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 9.—A heavy rain checked the Holy Cross drive today in the second week of pre-season training. The coaches were cautious because of the muddy field and more than two hours were spent in indoors instruction. Only a couple of veterans are still missing from the squad, which now numbers forty-seven.

Some strenuous work is scheduled for the remainder of the week.

N. Y. U. CASE RESTS ON RESERVE UNITS

'If They Come Through, We Will Have as Good a Team as Last Year,' Meehan Declares.

SOPHOMORES MEETING TEST

This is the second of a series of articles on Eastern football teams and their prospects for the season.

By ARTHUR J. DALEY.

Like a master magician pulling rabbits out of a hat, Chick Meehan seems to have produced another fine New York University football team out of the wreck of his 1928 machine. Gone are four great stars, Ken Strong, Bob Barrabee, Al Lassman and Cowboy Hill. Into the football Valhalla—graduation—have passed the sturdy reserve battalion of Weiner, Satenstein, Roberts, Cestari, Riordan, et al.

That is enough to discourage an ordinary mortal—but not Meehan. He worked on his sophomores in Spring training and built a new team around Hill. He had an attack and a defense which spun around the Cowboy like the spokes around the hub of a wheel. Meehan had erected a structure of tremendous possibilities, but Hill's untimely death leveled it to the ground.

The N. Y. U. coach began all over again less than a fortnight ago the laborious process of reconstruction. Despite all, that supremely capable little man, Meehan, declared yesterday "If the reserves come through we will have as good a team as last year—if not better."

It is like the famous fable of the giant, who bounced up bigger and stronger every time he hit the ground. After every scrimmage and crushing crash to the ground, N. Y. U. is a little stronger.

Meehan Testing Sophomores.

Meehan is using his regulars sparingly in practice. The inexperienced sophomores are in there taking the pounding and the mauling that will mold football players. The rough edges are being polished; hesitancy in performance is giving way to crisp directness in action; doing the right thing at the right time is becoming instinctive; the machine is functioning as a unit.

The writer witnessed a three-hour scrimmage under a broiling sun at Farmingdale. The only leniency shown all afternoon came when Chick chased his boys to the showers just before supper time. Friends fought against each other like wildcats; the backs hit the line like an army tank smashing down a wall; every tackle was a fierce, hard one. A team playing its traditional rival in the crucial game of the season could have displayed no more relentless type of football. The searing fire of such competition cannot but help to produce an ideal player. Yet, there was not the slightest injury all afternoon and when it was over the youngsters trotted off arm in arm.

All the time critical advice was snapped out by Meehan and his staff of assistants. Mort Starobin, Stafford Connor, Jack Connor, Al Lassman, Jack Weinheimer, Charlie Vye and Archie Roberts pointed out errors and offered corrections, Meehan supervising all, his keen eyes never missing a thing.

He is faced by two problems. One is singular and the other plural.

Myers Presents Problem.

The first is the disposition he will make of Dave Myers and the second the development of reserve strength. Myers, the metropolitan javelin champion, came to N. Y. U. from Stuyvesant High School as a back. He was used as an end on his freshman team and as running guard on the varsity. Chick would like to return him to the backfield if he can get someone to even partially fill Myers's shoes at guard. He is working at present on Meyer Beckman, sophomore, who hails from Manual Training, in the hopes that he will come through.

Ernest Concannon, a six-foot sophomore heavyweight, has gained a place at tackle, filling Lassman's place, with the mighty 240-pound Galahad Grant at the other tackle berth. Harry Schneider is back at centre and Jerry Nemecek at one end. George Chalmers, freshman lineman, has been shifted to the line extremity, where he will battle with Charlie Marshall, 1928 substitute, for Barrabee's post. Chalmers is fast and rugged, but he has neither the ability for snaring passes or the experience of Marshall, who is favored for the position.

Other possibilities on the forward wall are Leo Collins, an ex-centre, at end; Fred Brown, for general utility; Mike Firstenberg, once of Manual Training, as a tackle, whose chief trait is his kicking ability; Dick Murphy, a short, blocky sophomore, a likely first substitute at either guard or tackle; Ross Grant, another Sophomore, a hard-playing guard, and Murray Arenstein, sophomore centre.

O'Herin Capable Quarterback.

Jinx O'Herin, a smart quarterback, is sure of one backfield place and Beryl Follet, whose long runs were among the sensations of last season, is certain of another. To fill in for Hill as "gorilla back," the gridiron term for clear-out back, Herman LaMark, sophomore, is the most likely candidate. LaMark served in a similar capacity on the freshman eleven last year and probably will team with the rugged O'Herin to pave the way for Follet and the other ball-carriers.

That other back may be Victor Conner, a brother of Jack. Vic can do everything that Jack did except kick, and the punting chores likely will go to O'Herin. He is a beautiful passer, as are two other aspirants, Al Gander and pint-sized Dud Hormel. Despite his 126 pounds of brawn and his 5 feet 4 inches of mighty muscle, Hormel may make the first team! He is a streak around the ends or off tackle and seems made of some rubber composition which bends but does not break.

Hormel is sure to see lots of action, either as substitute or regular. He is exceptionally shifty in a broken field and is as elusive as a wet cake of soap.

The schedule:

Sept. 28, Vermont at Ohio Field.

Mack-McCarthy Give Prizes For New York Boy Champions

Connie Mack yesterday tendered his check to purchase a trophy for the manager of the champion boys' baseball team of the New York Metropolitan District, according to an announcement by Captain George H. Maines, director of the Junior League, the Associated Press reports. Joe McCarthy, the other winning major league manager of 1929, contributed a trophy to be given outright to the champion boys' team.

Presentation of the prizes will be made at one of the world series games in Philadelphia, where the members of the winning team will be taken as a reward for their victory.

28 COLUMBIA MEN IN DOUBLE WORKOUT

The Columbia football squad began to approach its quota of selected players yesterday at Baker Field when seven new candidates reported to Coach Charley Crowley. Of the thirty-seven men ordered to report, twenty-eight are now on hand. Yesterday's double workout was filled with action and close competition.

The new arrivals were Jim Campbell, Ralph Hewitt, Charley Joyce, Pete Barone, Don Mosser, Hack Gulbransen and Gus Banko. Campbell was regular centre on last season's team and Gulbransen played at end with the Blue and White junior varsity eleven. The other five aspirants were members of the star freshman team of a year ago. Hewitt, Mosser and Joyce are backs and Banko and Barone are tackles.

Hewitt and Joyce were especially welcome to Crowley, and backfield coach, Mike Hanley, for the sophomore luminaries are expected to win regular positions on this season's first-string eleven.

The morning drill lasted two hours, but the afternoon session was a long-drawn-out affair that kept the aspirants busy for nearly three hours. Fifteen minutes before the afternoon drill ended Crowley selected a first-string team to run through a few simple plays, and the make-up of this team probably will see only one or two changes when the season opens two weeks from Saturday.

This team was composed of Stewart Van Voorhees and Art Webersinn, ends; Captain Malcolm Bleecker and Remy Tye, tackles; Frank Nobeletti and Hy Ashman, guards; Campbell, centre; Phil Liflander, quarterback; Harry Scott and Hewitt, halfbacks, and Joe Stanczyk, fullback.

Fritz Costigan, regular varsity end, was slightly injured yesterday but is expected to replace Webersinn today or tomorrow. Second- and third-string backfields also were sent through short signal drills.

LEHIGH CANDIDATES GET INITIAL DRILL

Only Two of Twelve Letter Men Absent—Davidowitz Being Groomed for Quarter.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 9.—Seventy football candidates for the Lehigh University football team sweltered through an afternoon of practice today when Head Coach Tate assembled his forces for the first time this season. Assisting the Lehigh mentor are Hymie Goldman, in charge of the line candidates and Harry Hess, coaching the backs.

Only two of the twelve letter men of last season were absent, but they are expected within the next day or two. Sam Hall, a big tackle, and Bob Many, the versatile Bayonne, N. J., athlete, did not report.

One of the first players on the field was William Tubby Miller, 220-pound tackle and captain-elect. Miller spent the Summer working hard in Baltimore and reported in excellent condition. Another letter man of last year's squad to go through the opening paces was Art Davidowitz, for two seasons star halfback, whom Coach Tate probably will groom for the quarterback position, now that Cowboy Elliott has received an appointment to West Point. Jimmy Fritts, Phillipsburg, N. J., junior, is another promising quarterback candidate. Van Blaroom, veteran fullback; Tommy Ayre, centre; F. A. Rushong, guard, and Sam Hall, end, were other letter men of last season's eleven.

R. S. Bennett, a halfback, and E. Blackmar, a tackle, players who earned their letters in 1927, were also included in the squad.

Coach McCracken Orders Early Morning Football Workout.

Special to The New York Times.

SAYLORSBURG, Pa., Sept. 9.—Early morning scrimmage was placed on the daily program of work for the Lafayette football squad this morning. Coach McCracken utilised thirty men.

An encouraging feature of the work was the performance of Lavecque, a New York boy, who shows great promise at fullback. Philip Bugen, former Phillipsburg High School boy, star on the freshman team last year, joined the squad today, bringing the attendance to thirty-eight.

Textile High Holds Practice.

FORDHAM ELEVEN HOLDS BRISK DRILL

CONCENTRATES ON PUNTS

Squad Eager for Initial Action of Season Tackles in Strenuous Manner.

Coach Frank Cavanaugh ordered the first scrimmage of the season yesterday and sent his Fordham charges through an hour's brisk workout before rain forced the squad to leave the field.

The men were restricted by the Maroon mentor to using plays which had their culmination in a punt, since the Major intends to have his players well drilled in running back punts before he proceeds any further. Last season the Bronx team lost much valuable ground because it lacked a capable man to run back enemy kicks.

One team was composed of Cavanaugh and Elcewic, ends; Miskinis and Conroy, tackles; Cannella and Tracey, guards, and Davis at centre. In the back field were Murphy and Janis, halfbacks; Fisher at the signal caller's post and Zaleski, fullback. Fisher and Tracey did the kicking for the above named eleven.

The opposing team lined up with Hurley and Tobin at the end posts, Foley and Holmberg, tackles; Healey and Wisniewski, guards, and Captain Siano at the centre position. O'Shea called the signals, McMahon and Shableski played at the halfback posts and Pieculewicz at full. O'Shea did the booting for this outfit.

The men were eager to get into the first real action of their training campaign and there was no display of timidity in making the tackles such as usually marks the first scrimmage of the year.

Al Cullen, who reported last week, donned a uniform for the first time, as did Harry Kloppenburg, who reported to Cavanaugh yesterday. Both men got into action before the session ended. Johnny Janis, last season's freshman star, looked particularly well in running back kicks.

CITY COLLEGE HOLDS ITS FIRST SCRIMMAGE

Coach Parker Expresses Satisfaction Following Workout at Bedford Hills Camp.

Special to The New York Times.

BEDFORD, N. Y., Sept. 9.—City College's football team had its first scrimmage session at the Bedford Hills Country Club today. Coach Harold J. Parker said he was satisfied with the showing made by the squad.

The practice session opened with a signal drill, which was followed by a workout on the dummy. Then Coach Parker ordered the first scrimmage this season.

Captain Bernie Beinstock, the veteran Lavender signal caller, showed his ability as an open field runner and passer. Jess Sobel, the leading candidate for centre, was one of the outstanding linemen on the defense. Irving Shiffman, another centre candidate, and Morris Figeuwitz, an end, who were team-mates of Sobel's, also excelled in crashing through the line and throwing the opposing backs for losses.

Harry Rosenfield, Jerome Leon and Abe Marcus, three newcomers, who never have played football before, surprised Coach Parker by their ability to fit into the line. All three took an active part in the scrimmage.

4 More Football Candidates Report, Making 33 Now Training.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 9.—The Rutgers University football squad was increased to thirty-three men today, when four more members of last year's freshman squad reported to Coach Harry J. Rockefeller. They were Julien and Costa, ends; Heinfelden and Reisner, tackles.

A long blackboard talk was held in Ballantine Gymnasium this morning, and the candidates, wearing "gym" suits, ran through the plays to be used during the season. A three-hour session on Neilson Field this afternoon was utilized by tackling practice.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—The perseverance of the Giants and Reds prevailed over the elements today and the two teams managed to wipe off the slate both ends of a double-header despite a downpour of rain which for a time threatened to hold both idle for the third successive afternoon.

It started to rain shortly after noon and continued until after 3. But it failed to exhaust the patience of the combatants. They started the first game at 3:20, began the second two hours later, and, so far as the Giants were concerned, both ended satisfactorily. The men of McGraw skidded to victory in the opener, 6 to 3, and romped off with the second, 10 to 4.

The second encounter only went five innings because of darkness, but this offered sufficient time for the Giants to maul Ray Kolp and Eppa Rixey for a total of twelve hits, which included a homer and two singles for William Terry.

Kolp Retires Early.

Kolp went out inside of two rounds, being bumped for two tallies in the first frame and three more in the second, Mel Ott banging out a boisterous single with the bases full. Hogan similarly victimized Rixey in the fourth to score two more, and in the fifth Terry sent the ball winging into the drenched right-field bleachers with two on bases.

All the while the portly Freddy Fitzsimmons pitched, possibly not too well but well enough to hold the Reds to six hits and keep them so thoroughly under restraint that when the umpires offered to call the game at the end of the fifth they were well pleased to take advantage of the offer.

The opener developed into something of an uncertain victory for the Giants, for though they made off with the game they lost their star third baseman, Freddy Lindstrom, who slipped on the soggy turf and wrenched his right knee after making a brilliant play on a bunt by Swanson in the third inning. Lindy got his man, but went down in a heap and hobbled with difficulty off the field.

Giants Solve Luque.

A sharp, swift attack on the industriously minded Adolfo Luque virtually settled this encounter in the second inning. It started with a double by Terry. Ott, O'Farrell, Farrell and Roush followed with singles, then Jackson injected a sacrifice fly to account for the four runs. This made it smooth sailing for Carl Hubbell.

PIRATES' 4 IN 7TH REPULSE ROBINS, 9-7

GILBERT PUTS FLOCK AHEAD

Third of Four Singles Breaks 5-All Deadlock in Fifth—Mosolf, Pirate Rookie, in Stellar Role.

By ROSCOE McGOWEN.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—Pittsburgh rallied in the seventh inning of the game with the Robins today and scored four runs to come from behind and annex the fifth game of the series by 9 to 7.

With the Robins leading, 6 to 5, when the Pirates came to bat in the rallying frame, Adam Comorosky beat a bunt down the third base line. Hemsley sacrificed him to second. Moore making the play for first. Sheely drew a pass and Jimmy Mosolf, rookie outfielder, recently arrived from Wichita, was summoned as a pinch-hitter for Earl Clarke. He singled to score Comorosky with the tying run. Sheely was run down between third and the plate on Brame's grounder for the second out, Mosolf taking second on the play.

Bartell sent a single to Hendrick in left and Mosolf headed for home. Moore cut off Harvey's throw and at the same moment Mosolf skidded and went down prone a dozen feet from the plate. The Robin pitcher failed to see the fall and the runner counted.

Moore Called From Mound.

Then Moore gave Lloyd Waner a base on balls and Uncle Robbie waved him to the showers, sending Buzz McSweeny to the mound. The latter's contribution was a wild pitch to Paul Waner on which Brame and Bartel scampered over the plate with the deciding runs.

The Robins scored their seventh run in the ninth and got the tying run on base before they were retired. Singles by Frederick, Hendrick and Bissonette did the trick, but Babe Herman, who got only one single out of five times, watched Brame whiz a third strike by.

The two teams kept on even terms for four innings, scoring two runs each in the first and three each in the third. Gilbert's third of four singles broke the deadlock to put the Robins one run ahead in the fifth.

Petty to Oppose Moss.

Jess Petty, who held the Robins to a single run last Friday, and Ray Moss, who was his losing opponent, will be master of ceremonies in the Robins' seasonal farewell tomorrow afternoon.

Johnny Frederick was forced to deny himself his forty-ninth double of the season in the first inning. He sliced a hot one down the left field line and slowed up at second, but it was of no use. He had to make it a triple.

Val Picinich has had a unique experience with triples this season. In the sixth, for the third time this year, he opened an inning with a triple and for the third time was left stranded.

Sports of the Times

By JOHN KIERAN.

THE first victory at Forest Hills yesterday was scored by the tennis officials over the weather man. In spite of the prediction of rain, the tournament went on and the rain held off.

Most of the spectators missed the big feature yesterday because it was held in the clubhouse instead of in the stadium. It was a red-hot bridge game involving W. T. Tilden 2d, Sam Hardy, George Lott and Wing Lock Wei, former captain of the Chinese Davis Cup team.

Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines and Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., were the first to trot out on the stadium courts. Coggeshall is the only player in the tournament who wears glasses while playing.

Fred Anderson, 6 feet 6, was the tallest player in the tournament, and he went out in the first round. However, height isn't any real handicap on the courts. The next tallest player to Anderson is still in the tournament. His name is Tilden.

Fritz Mercur plays the "continental style" of tennis, which is natural enough because he learned the game in Switzerland just as R. Norris Williams did.

No one needs an excuse for losing to Arnold Jones, but the news that Gregory Mangin was laid up with a light attack of ptomaine poisoning just before the start of the tournament helps to explain why the Georgetown player was such an easy victim in the first round.

Berkeley Bell is the Texas ranger of tennis. He ranges all the enclosure in chase of shots and takes more tumbles than a circus acrobat.

Bell was playing Bruce Barnes, a neighbor from Austin, Texas. These fellow-townsmen traveled a long way to meet in a strange city. On hard courts at home they play tight tennis against each other, but Bell seems to do much better on grass courts in the northern latitude.

With Love from Chicago.

The West was with Frank Anderson in his attempt to banish the term "love" from tennis, and when Leo Lunn, the Chicago official, was in the umpire's chair, he always omitted the term, calling "thirty-Bell," for instance, instead of "thirty-love," with Bell serving and leading by that margin in the game.

But in the chair for the Bell-Barnes match yesterday Lunn was calling "thirty-love" as loud and defiantly as any umpire of the afternoon.

It was denied, however, that Chicago had softened up any or that the West wanted any love in its tennis. Harry Walsh, president of the Western Lawn Tennis Association, explained on behalf of Mr. Lunn that when officiating in the East, Western officials will yield to local custom.

Young Ted Burwell from Charlotte, N. C., was giving Wilmer Allison a fairly brisk time of it on one of the outside courts. The lad from Charlotte had no spikes and was doing some tall scrambling in his stocking feet.

Bunny Austin mowed down Herb Bowman on the court in front of the clubhouse porch. That court is used for feature matches that can't be squeezed into the stadium.

Passing Shots.

Brian Norton, who has come up from Texas and is now located in this city, says that if Lott once breaks through the upper crust, he will be the best player the game ever saw.

Norton, by the way, is on the outside looking in at the moment. The former internationalist played in one professional tournament, won it, returned the prize money and applied for reinstatement as an amateur. He played professional tennis just four days and then changed his mind. He may be back in the amateur ranks ere long.

George Lott is an all-round athlete as well as a tennis star. He was a good football player as long as he could find time for it and a star pitcher for the University of Chicago baseball team.

When and if Brian Norton is reinstated, he will be one of the leading four or five players in the country. He had Tilden at the match-point at Wimbledon in the 1921 final, but finally lost out.

The Coggeshall-Mercur match developed into a long and bitter struggle with the light-haired lad in spectacles putting up a fiercer fight than had been expected. Mercur had to put on a full head of steam to win in five sizzling sets.

The Tilden-Shields match will draw the big gallery today. Once again the old master will be playing one of his protégés. With all his volunteer teaching, Tilden never yet has developed a pupil who could beat him. Does that mean he isn't a good teacher or is it just another sign of his real cleverness?

Attack in Fifth Nets Five Tallies and Clinches Final Game of Series.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9 (AP).—The Phillies won, 9 to 3, in the last contest of the four games with the Cards today, carrying off the series, 3 to 1. The Cards got their three runs in the third inning. The Phillies were aided by O'Doul's home run in the third, but increased their score by five runs on six hits in the fifth.

Hallahan, Cardinal pitcher, got credit for losing the game. He was relieved after the eighth by Haid. President Heydler of the National League witnessed the game.

BOSTON, Sept. 9 (AP).—After the Red Sox had defeated St. Louis, 6 to 2, in the first game of a double-header today, rain caused the postponement of the second contest.

Although the rain fell throughout the first game, the Red Sox gave an excellent exhibition in the field, and the fielding of Todt at first base and Scarritt's catch of Kress's foul in the ninth were outstanding defensive features. Despite the slippery condition of the ball, each pitcher gave only one base on balls.

WOODS FOR CLOSING 40 THEATRES HERE

Producer Declares New York Has Overbuilt Legitimate Houses to That Extent.

SAME CONDITIONS ON ROAD

Believes If Shubert and Erlanger Circuits Closed Theatre or Two in Each Large City Ills Would End.

There are forty too many legitimate theatres on Broadway, A. H. Woods says in an article appearing in the current issue of The Quill, the publication of the Theatrical Press Representatives of America. The overbuilding of theatres, not only in New York but on the road, is, he believes, responsible for most of the current theatrical ills.

He says that if his brother producers could demand that the Shubert and Erlanger circuits close one or two theatres in every large city in the United States outside New York, business for touring attractions would be better.

"I used to book my attractions after six months in New York," the producer adds, "to go to Washington, open at the Belasco Theatre and find at the National Theatre they had Ziegfeld's 'Follies' and at Poli's Al Jolson in a big Winter Garden show as attractions against me. What chance did I have?

Willing to Reduce Terms.

"The syndicate can send me contracts with a cut of 5 per cent in terms if they'll close up some of their too-many houses in those overseated towns * * * and I'll make money by having them do it. That's the real trouble with the theatre. All the cities are overseated.

"Don't worry about picture theatres; they have their own troubles. If ever there was a business overseated it's that same picture business, and when the novelty of the 'talkies' dies, and the picture companies have to have at least four hundred 'talkies' to keep the different circuits open, where are they going to get the material from?

"I go to Europe three or four times a year, and I am lucky to get three plays that will be successes. * * * What chance have the picture concerns to get 400 plays? Ask a fortune teller. I can't answer.

"We have eighty-five first-class theatres in New York—just forty too many—and don't be surprised to see at least thirty closed, on and off, during the season. There is always some excuse when business is bad.

Made Money Two Decades Ago.

"I remember twenty-one years ago I had twenty-three melodramas on the road in one year. Some were fair, some good, some terrible, but I made money with every play I produced. Why? Because there was only one popular-priced circuit in the business in those days.

"Here is another instance I remember: The Columbia Burlesque had a circuit of forty theatres, and every producer made money. All the producers that wanted to produce couldn't get in, so a rival organization was formed, called the Mutual Circuit. But what happened? There was no room for two circuits—no more than there is room for two first-class legitimate circuits today—so the Columbia Circuit made a deal combining with the Mutual Circuit, which at least gave the producers a break.

"Erlanger and Shubert should do the same—to protect the managers."

RULES ARE PROVIDED FOR AVIATION RADIO

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The Radio Commission today adopted a definite policy in connection with the licensing of radio facilities for aeronautical work. The plan was presented by Commissioner Starbuck following conferences with representatives of transport companies, army, navy and other governmental officials.

The commission states that the plan provides "for an economical and scientific use of the frequencies involved in the public interest, convenience and necessity."

The air transport companies are understood to have organized themselves into "chains" to present a solid front before the commission. As an initial step under its plan, the commission is stated to have assigned frequencies of 303, 304, 414, 430 and 437 kilocycles for stations on chains, providing no interference is caused with other service.

The commission has assigned 278 kilocycles for a calling and working frequency from all ground stations to itinerant planes, the power of which is not to exceed 10 watts, 333 kilocycles for international air call frequency, 375 for radio compasses, 306 for international calling and distress frequency for ships and aircraft over the seas, and 3,106 for national calling frequency for all transport and itinerant airplanes.

The plan provides that no aeronautical station will be licensed to use more than one kilowatt of power or frequency of 1,500 kilocycles and above. All aeronautical stations will maintain a watch on such frequencies for such periods as the airways division of the Department of Commerce may designate.

In the plan transport planes are defined as those commercially transporting persons or property and operating regularly on fixed routes, itinerant planes as those other than transport or government craft, aeronautical stations as being capable of giving ground-to-plane and point-to-point communication, distress calling and navigational service.

WM. HARRIS JR.'S PLANS.

Will Give 'Criminal Code' Sept. 30 and Later Revive 'Abraham Lincoln'

William Harris, Jr., who has not been active as a producer since January, 1928, will present Martin Flavin's "The Criminal Code" at the National Theatre during the week of Sept. 30. Arthur Byron will head the cast, which will also include Thomas Findlay and Russell Hardie.

A week before its opening here, "The Criminal Code" will give a week of preliminary performances at the Broad Street Theatre in Newark. During October Mr. Harris plans to revive Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln," with Frank McGlynn in the title rôle.

THE PLAY

By J. BROOKS ATKINSON.

Another Triumph For Virtue.

SCARLET PAGES, a new American drama, in three acts, by Samuel Shipman and John B. Hymer. Staged by Ira Hards; settings by Raymond Sovey; produced by A. H. Woods. At the Morosco Theatre.

Laura Hutchinson	Elizabeth Council
Frederick Stoner	David Higgins
Mary Bancroft	Elsie Ferguson
Leonard Barnes	Donald McClelland
Robert Lawrence	Robert Williams
Nora Mason	Claire Luce
Mrs. Mason	Jean Adair
John Remington	Lee Baker
Richard Trelnor	J. May Bennett
Officer Callahan	William Burnett
Clerk of the Court	Archie Sayre
Carlotta Cordez	Francesca Hill
Judge Graham	John Cheatle
Nellie Burke	Sue Moore
James McGowan	Henry Pemberton
Thomas Britton	Elmer Cornell
Sister Veronica	Gilberta Faust
Valerie	Lily Marne

Things turn out to be blissfully pure in the new Shipman and Hymer melodrama "Scarlet Pages," which was acted at the Morosco last evening. The murder is for the most acceptable reasons. And when Nora Mason learns for the first time that she is an adopted daughter you can clear her foster-father of a foul suspicion of incest that has hung over the play like a sinister threat for the two major acts. There is some difficulty in the last act about tearing Nora from her loyal foster-mother and returning her to her real mother, who, in Elsie Ferguson's plastic acting, has given her all—and that right nobly. But you are given to understand that everything will be all right in that quarter before you are home and in bed. Whereupon Miss Ferguson, as the wronged mother, disappears into an aureole light-effect, symbolizing the radiance of eternity and the love of an honest woman for her child.

It is effective melodrama, with a considerable lineage. Although Nora Mason is a night club hostess, she is a good girl, supporting her family on a salary of $90 a week, and spurning the loose proposals of black-hearted nabobs for the honest love of a motion-picture operator at Roxy's. Even after her foster-father's conduct has made it necessary for her to kill him, she modestly hesitates about slandering his reputation, although her life is at stake. Experienced workers in the melodramatic vineyard, Mr. Shipman and Mr. Hymer appeal to the highest principles in their audience and make several graceful gestures toward the law and the Church. Their sense of proprieties is extraordinary.

Their heroine is not the golden-locked murderess, however, but the lawyer in petticoats who practices in an office dedicated to Abraham Lincoln and Daniel Webster in chromo and the Supreme Court of the United States in a photograph. She it is who hounds the District Attorney in a bravura court-room scene, which is presided over by a laconical judge with regulation white eyebrows and a mustache as walrusy as Mr. Taft's. When the court-room scene is nearly over and the defendant is in a pretty state, sensational disclosures, which must not be retailed here, turn the court and the audience into bedlam. There is a tender final act; a mother's heart is laid bare.

Old and garish as the material is, the authors have displayed it shrewdly, and the staging has made the most of the routine humors and the bursts of anguish peculiar to the trade. Although you may wonder what Miss Ferguson is doing in such company, you can enjoy the deliberate, deep-toned quality of her acting, and the fairness of her beauty. As the night-club hostess, Clair Luce is hostile and shy by turns, as decorative on the dramatic stage as she has been in revues, and as good a type actress as most. Lee Baker, whose pronunciation is sometimes luxurious, describes the District Attorney as a man of vinegar and honey. Robert Williams is likable in a disarming fashion as the suave motion-picture operator.

The staging and the casting of "Scarlet Pages" open in more than one place, the old "Trial of Mary Dugan" vein. In fact, old veins are freely reworked in this "new American drama." They are not so good as new veins, but they still yield a little metal.

'HOUSEPARTY' DEPICTS KILLING AT COLLEGE

'Higher Education' at Williams in New Play That Contains Some Cradely Effective Scenes.

The third play of the new season to deal with higher education and its deplorable results came to town last night in "Houseparty," and it may roughly be set down as incomparably the best of the three. It is also the most specific, for it names Williams as its college and makes frequent references to places in and about Williamstown. More than a few of that institution's alumni were in the first audience, and although the play concerns a killing at a fraternity house—an occurrence, one assumes, not particularly common at Williams parties—they did not seem to object. On the contrary they were among those who remained at the end to applaud the play and particularly the acting of Roy Hargrave, who is also co-author.

Mr. Hargrave, whose lot it was to act for many weeks the rôle of the magician's assistant in "The Spider" and Kenneth Phillips Britton, himself a Williams man, have here written a streaky play, one containing some crudely effective and gripping scenes and blessed with a capacity to hold the interest until the ultimate curtain. Whether audiences will find "Houseparty" a pleasant entertainment remains to be seen. Despite its "Good News" moments and melodramatic outlines, it has a plausibility and a relation to life that such a flamboyant piece as "Now-A-Days"—the season's first college play, in case you have forgotten—never attained, and for that reason it should make an impression.

The house party of the title starts depressingly enough with the rise of the first curtain. There are the familiar figures of collegiate farce and musical comedy—the freshman who is ordered about by the fraternity upper classmen, that clinging social menace, the girl from Smith on her first party; the flip young things from other schools and the sophomore upon whose election to an athletic managership apparently depends the honor of the entire fraternity. Then out of this welter traces of authenticity begin to develop. The spectator becomes conscious of them along about the time the boys begin to object to references to their Greek letter society as a "frat"—a complaint which will soon again be heard in college centres the length and breadth of the land.

Along with this increasing fidelity to background comes action. One of the more complaisant of the town girls determines to add to her calling by taking up the profession of blackmailing and she selects the young sophomore—who by this time has just lost the athletic honor—as her victim. Knowing that he will fear scandal at the house party she chooses that time to call, an uninvited guest, to inform him she is about to become the mother of his child. Only $10,000 will save him from the sorry mess, from public disgrace. A scuffle results and the girl is killed by hitting her head on the fireplace.

The boy, terror struck, hides the body and tries to carry on through the long evening of the formal dance, but his nerves are unable to bear up under the strain. Everything that happens in the room reminds him of his deed. After his peculiar actions have puzzled the guests all evening, he confesses just as some one is about to break into the fatal closet in search of a dictionary. By the advent of the last act he has gone through an off-stage trial and has been acquitted. It is Spring and another house party is in progress. He returns upon the pretext of seeing his fraternity mates, who have stood by him, and of getting his clothes before embarking upon a trip to Europe. Really he wants to see the death room once more; he cannot escape from its horrible fascination. Again he breaks down, and just as he is about to commit suicide his closest friend in the fraternity intervenes. The curtain descends with the promise that his sick nerves will be cured and that he will be brought back to a more rational viewpoint.

Mr. Hargrave makes of this fear-ridden, agonized youth an understandable human being caught in the toils of a horrible misfortune. His is a splendid performance, deserving of the plaudits it received last night. Harriet MacGibbon plays the determined town girl almost too determinedly, and Anne Sutherland, as her mother, is a striking figure as she comes on the second act scene in search of her daughter. There are several attractive youngsters concerned in the play—notably Edward Woods and Penelope Hubbard—but some of the house party girls seem just a little mature. Perhaps that's the way they come at Williams.

ZIEGFELD TO START 'MING TOY' REHEARSALS

Florenz Ziegfeld plans to begin rehearsals of "Ming Toy," his next production, on Wednesday, Sept. 18, according to word received at his office yesterday from the producer, who is at his camp in Quebec. The musical comedy in which Marilyn Miller will star, reported to be an adaptation of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," will follow "Ming Toy," after which will come a musical version of "Six-Cylinder Love."

Mr. Ziegfeld plans to devote considerable time this season to his new theatre in London as well as to the production of talking pictures in association with Samuel Goldwyn. The first of these films is scheduled to go in production on Feb. 15, with, according to announcement, Evelyn Laye in the lead. Miss Laye is also scheduled to play the Peggy Wood rôle in the New York production of Noel Coward's operetta, "Bitter Sweet."

PLANS OF CIVIC REPERTORY.

Eva Le Gallienne Will Open Season on Monday With 'The Sea Gull.'

The Civic Repertory Theatre, which will open its season next Monday with "The Sea Gull," will offer "The Cradle Song" on Tuesday and at Wednesday matinee; "The Sea Gull" on Wednesday and Friday nights and at Saturday matinee; "The Master Builder" on Thursday night and "The Would-Be Gentleman" on Saturday night.

On Sept. 23 "The Cherry Orchard" will open the second week, and on Sept. 30 Eva Le Gallienne will produce for the first time in New York Serafin and Joaquin Alvarez Quintero's one-act comedy "A Sunny Morning" as a curtain raiser to "The Lady From Alfaqueque."

THE SCREEN

By MORDAUNT HALL.

Fictionized History.

THE SPY OF MADAME DE POMPADOUR, with Liane Haid, Alfred Gerasch, Agnes Esterhazy, Fritz Kortner, Mona Maris, Dene Morel, Kori Graumann and H. Maltzhoff, produced by Sascha Films of Munich, directed by Karl Grune; "The Purple Moment," a comedy. At the Little Carnegie Playhouse.

Truth bows low to fiction in a German silent production known as "The Spy of Madame de Pompadour," which is now gracing the screen of the Little Carnegie Playhouse. Owing to the presence of the lovely Liane Haid, the magnificent costumes, the spacious and believable settings and the uniformly competent cast, one is inclined to favor this twisted and highly colored panorama of the past. Truth has its moments, and they are no less interesting than the fantastic conceptions of the studio scenario writer. After viewing this tale one feels as if one had looked upon etchings of Madame de Pompadour, Louis XV, the Mad Czar Paul and the Marquis d'Eon and then fallen asleep and dreamed that which is told quite charmingly on the screen.

Fraulein Haid impersonates the Marquis d'Eon, who in the picture masquerades as a man and when the time comes for her to help Madame de Pompadour she arrays herself in feminine attire. The Russian Ambassador in Paris soon finds himself a victim of Mlle. d'Eon's big eyes and fair face, and not long afterward this "Marquis," in male attire, is sent by Louis to Russia to gain information and impress upon the loathsome Paul the high regard in which he is held by the spendthrift Louis.

Mlle. d'Eon in Russia pretends to represent a coterie of French artists. She is announced as a Marquis and, although in men's clothes, the ugly old Czar is struck by the supposed young nobleman's small feet. This Marquis brings with "him" a harpsichord and Paul is fascinated by the tones that come from the strange instrument. He crawls under it, and might have stayed there much longer had not the Czarina prodded him in the calf with her toe. Subsequently the Czar himself strums the harpsichord and he wonders that it responds to his fingers with high and booming sounds.

At the outset of this fable Madame de Pompadour holds Louis in the palm of her hand. She asks to have Lord Hatfield, the British Ambassador, come to her box in the theatre, and when the diplomat betrays more interest in the opera than in a tête-à-tête with Louis's paramour, she is furious and later tells the King to send word to the Court of St. James's to have Hatfield recalled. Louis is opposed momentarily to such a request, but when Madame de Pompadour locks her door against him he permits beauty to have its way.

While the attractive Fraulein Haid is the most appealing personality in this array of Dresden china-like characters, an excellent performance is given by Fritz Kortner, who plays Paul. His work is quite as striking and the direction is, if anything, more real than Emil Jannings's interpretation in "The Patriot." Mr. Kortner in one sequence looks at those around him with only the whites of his eyes showing, and throughout his acting he almost makes one shudder in sympathy for those who have to be in the same room with the repugnant ruler.

Alfred Gerasch is acceptable as Louis XV. Agnes Esterhazy does well as the cunning and, albeit, graceful Pompadour. She is beheld in her sedan chair during a riot, and none other than the masquerader, Marquis d'Eon, routs the throng with his ready sword.

There are also some impressive stretches depicting the Paris poor having to pay more for smaller loaves of bread, cursing Pompadour as they do so. It was only a short time before that Louis had informed his inamorata that she was to have her palace and that her income would be 1,500,000 francs.

It is a pity that this delicate if fantastic piece of work should be followed on the program by a pie-throwing comedy in which some of the missiles are pushed into the faces of characters to save time and perhaps to avoid any unnecessary waste of custard pies through poor aiming.

A TRAGEDY IN ARMENIA.

The Film "Honor," Portraying a Romance, Has Stirring Ending.

HONOR, with H. Apelkin, Tutlezam Shahdoodakian, L. Halinan and others, directed by A. Shirvanzada, a Soviking production; "Pillars of Salt," an educational; "The Champion," a Chaplin revival, and newsreel. At the Fifth Avenue Playhouse.

The Fifth Avenue Playhouse is educating its public this week in Armenian customs and folklore. Pictorial information is dispensed about prenuptial vows, weddings, the Armenian code of honor and how the peasants bake bread. Incidentally, there is a story that is handicapped in the matter of photography.

According to the film, after a boy and girl are betrothed in Armenia they are forbidden by custom to see each other until their wedding day. In the case presented, however, the sweethearts meet secretly and discuss domestic economics. Their rendezvous is discovered, and the girl's father, considering himself dishonored, beats her.

To mend matters, the parent marries his daughter to another man, who is a prototype of Desperate Desmond. The original suitor goes to the bridegroom and tells him a lie. A double tragedy follows. The husband rushes home and stabs his wife. The sweetheart, regretting his lie and discovering the woman dead, kills himself.

In case any one cannot read English, the subtitles are also printed in Armenian.

Freiburg Company Has Financial Troubles in the West.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 9 (AP).—Public apathy, coupled with hot weather, has sent the Freiburg Passion Players of Germany on the financial reefs here.

Adolph Fassnacht, the Christus, said today that his manager, Harry E. Wilcox, Minneapolis promoter, was unable to fulfill his contract.

Mr. Wilcox explained that rental and other expenses had eaten up the receipts.

Under the sponsorship of Morris Gest the Freiburg Passion Play opened a New York engagement on April 30 and closed on June 8, after a disappointing run of six weeks. The company, whose performance in New York was directed by David Belasco, came to this country last Fall and were appearing in the Middle West when Mr. Gest made arrangements for the New York production. At Mr. Gest's home it was said last night that he had no connection with the Freiburg Players after they left New York.

"Black Crook" Reopens in Hoboken.

Christopher Morley's and Cleon Throckmorton's revival of "The Black Crook" was reopened last night at the Lyric Theatre in Hoboken, where it will play an engagement of two weeks before beginning a road tour in Boston on Sept. 23. "The Black Crook" will be followed at the Lyric by "The Star of Bengal," by Thompson Buchanan and Joan Lowell, with the latter in the leading rôle. This production is announced for the week of Sept. 23.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Freddy" was withdrawn from the Lyceum Theatre on Saturday night.

"Roundabout," a comedy by Fannie Hesslip Lea, will be the first production of the newly formed New York Theatre Assembly, which will hold forth at the Princess Theatre. The play will go in rehearsal next Monday, and is scheduled to open on Monday, Oct. 14.

Tamiris, the dancer, who has recently returned from Europe, has been engaged to direct the dances in "Fiesta," the Michael Gold play opening a week from tonight at the Provincetown Playhouse.

According to announcement from Arthur Hammerstein, Oscar Hammerstein 2d and Jerome Kern have been engaged to write an operetta for him. The announcement says the production will succeed "Sweet Adeline" in a year or so.

Because of labor difficulties in Philadelphia, "Candle Light" will open in Washington next Monday and play the following week in Baltimore, coming here, as announced, on Sept. 30. Gertrude Lawrence and Gilbert Miller will arrive today on the Majestic.

Radiant Productions, Inc., which plans a popular-priced season at the Gallo Theatre, will begin its activities on Monday, Oct. 7, with "Ladies Don't Lie," announced as "a Viennese comedy by Paul Frank." Edward Sargent Brown will be associated in the production.

A dramatization of "The Well of Loneliness" will soon be presented at the Theatre Champs-Elysées, Paris. Marguerite St. Clair, seen here in "Broadway" and "The Gold Diggers," will be among the players.

Shirley Vernon has been engaged for "Tin Hats," which goes into rehearsal next week. The production is scheduled to open in Boston about Oct. 14.

Millard F. Mitchell, now in "Great Scott!" has been engaged for "Town Boy," which Charles Harris is producing.

ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT will make his radio debut as "The Town Crier" tomorrow night at 7:30 over WOR. Master Walter Winchell will introduce him; also Dolores del Rio, who will sing. This is the first of a series of broadcasts arranged by the manufacturers of Kellogg radios to have the Town Crier tell what's doing, who's doing it, et cet. On occasion the victims of his invective will shoulder him away from the mike to speak in their own defense....From 7:30 to 8 P. M., then, on Wednesdays, Mr. Woollcott will have his say, and if you listen in on one of the new Kellogg screen grid radios you'll appreciate why they are "the sound choice of tone critics"—for they reproduce every shade of tone with a faithfulness and clarity never before attained by a radio.

NOT NEGLECTING POLITICS.

With the election of Mr. HUSTON of New York City and Tennessee as National Chairman the Republicans set out to overtake the forehanded Democrats, who began to plan for 1930 several months ago. Mr. SHOUSE, who has virtually succeeded Mr. RASKOB as Democratic National Chairman, will be among the first to realize that his rivals have put on their armor. For Mr. HUSTON is energetic and resourceful; he knows the situation thoroughly and, in the Southern field particularly, knows where to begin work and where fitting tools are to be found. A marveling public has noted the spectacle of a Democratic committee with ample funds. But Mr. HUSTON is a money-raiser of surpassing skill, and the anomaly of Democrats spending money while Republicans wring their hands will soon end.

Mr. HUSTON is the choice of his party leader, in this instance the President of the United States. While he was a candidate for the nomination Mr. HOOVER learned to play politics with appreciation of its fine points, and in the selection of Mr. HUSTON he has implied that he means to attend closely to practical politics. The new chairman was brought up in the Indiana school, and he especially understands the kind of game required to enable Republicans to carry a State like Tennessee. It is said that he will address himself at once to the situation in the South, where the Patronage Triumvirate of BURKE, BROWN and NEWTON has made the hash which most "commissions" make of patronage affairs, especially a Southern commission which hasn't a Southerner on it. Mr. HUSTON will understand exactly what the "boys" down there are talking about, and his Who's Who of Southern Republicans is in his head, not on a card-index.

He probably doesn't really expect to carry Virginia, Florida, Tennessee, North Carolina and Texas in local elections for the present. But in 1930 he must try to re-elect some Southern members of Congress for the effect on 1932. The report from Washington is that the new chairman, having served his extensive business connections, plans to give his entire time to the tasks of holding Congress in 1930 and re-electing Mr. HOOVER two years later. This means that there will be as much precinct organization politics all over this country in the next four years as there was under Mr. HAYS from 1916 to 1920 while he was tunneling under President WILSON'S Administration. Where Mr. HAYS was undermining, Mr. HUSTON must buttress and strengthen. It is a different kind of job, but Indiana politicians know how to do both things.

UNITED EUROPE.

While accepting in general the Briand ideal of a United States of Europe, the German Foreign Minister, Dr. STRESEMANN, strongly insisted yesterday upon its necessary limitations. It must not be political. The time has not come for placing Europe under a Federal Government. But that great economic advantages might result from better understandings and more generous trade agreements between the independent European nations, Dr. STRESEMANN was very confident. The stress of his approval of the Briand plan was laid on these aspects of it. On the contrary, after the hospitable luncheon which M. BRIAND gave to the delegates of twenty-three nations, at which "the "rarest Continental wines and "liqueurs were served," such a high degree of good-fellowship was attained that everybody was reported to be almost effusive in support of the project of the generous host. M. BRIAND himself was delighted that at the luncheon "nobody spoke" against his plan, though he added that several of the convives expressed the opinion that the European confederation ought to be "purely political in character."

There we get the fated collision between politics and economics. The argument from manufacture and agriculture and commerce and transportation is powerfully on the side of a closer union between European countries, together with the abolition of the burdensome tariffs and other restrictions which have been erected between them. But the moment you begin to press for steps of that kind political considerations enter as an obstacle. National pride and national selfishness—short-sighted as they are—interfere with what should be advantageous economic treaties and trade arrangements. When the latter are made at all, they appear to have their origin in private negotiations, such as have already led to joint enterprises between industrialists and miners in Germany and in France. Business often seems to be able to do what politics can only delay or muddle.

It is evident that M. BRIAND is quite aware that public sentiment about a United States of Europe is too vague and uniformed to permit rushing ahead with it. He is perfectly willing to wait a year or two for his ideas to mature. In that sense must be taken the appointing of committees to sound out the various governments and then to make a report probably to be laid before the meeting of the League of Nations a year from now. Everybody admits that the outline drawn by M. BRIAND is alluring. But as was said by the British Foreign Secretary, Mr. ARTHUR HENDERSON, there are a lot of practical details which it will take time and labor to work out. With these qualifications, which will not seem less important as time goes on, M. BRIAND may be said to have won at Geneva a flattering endorsement of his idealistic project.

DISCIPLINED PROLETARIANS.

The august precedent of LENIN himself may be cited in support of the present Soviet drive for re-establishing managers' control in Russian factories. Within six months after the October Revolution its father found it necessary to serve notice on the triumphant proletarians that it was time to stop attending meetings and passing resolutions and to get back to work. But not even LENIN could hope to undo the effects of a social cataclysm. One of the many burdens under which Soviet industry continues to stagger along has been a low scale of per capita production, due to poor shop morale. From time to time the powers of the shop committees have been officially whittled down, but it needed courage on the part of Soviet leadership to go the whole length of challenging rank-and-file self-determination in the factory. Workers discharged or disciplined for slacking, for drunkenness, for general insubordination might appeal to a committee of their fellow-workers, or to their trade union, or, most effective of all, might bring pressure to bear through Communist party affiliations. In a clash between the horny-handed and their superiors, the managers and "technicians," the former would be the pure representatives of the revolution as against a class always exposed to suspicion of bourgeois heresy.

Nevertheless the pressure of events has been toward more centralized control, and STALIN has before this demonstrated the fearless touch. Workers' control in the Russian factories is thoroughly liquidated under the latest dispensation described in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Sunday. The manager's authority in the shop is established with a completeness to which union workers in capitalistic nations might seriously object. STALIN combines subtlety with force. He has not directly challenged the trade unions. He has merely taken over their control by replacing the veteran leader TOMSKY with one of his own clansmen and so modified the rigidity of labor union policy.

The charge that the factory workers may end by enjoying little freedom on the job in a workers' republic is not too formidable. Whatever sacrifices the Russian worker is called upon to make are undertaken in his own cause. There is also the admonition that, unless he does submit to discipline, the Soviet State, of which he is the master and chief beneficiary, and the Communist Revolution, of which he is the "vanguard," will collapse. As Pravda or Izvestia might put it, it is the difference between being the slave of another man and the slave of a great mission. To make a success of the famous Five Year Plan, which is to put the industrial life of Russia on a permanent footing, no efforts are too great.

One feature in the program for greater industrial efficiency may be viewed with suspicion. The abolition of Sunday as the universal day of rest and the substitution of a continuous work-week with a "staggered" day of rest is apparently designed to get the maximum use out of factory plant. Yet there is reason for believing that the real purpose is not economic, but anti-religious. If Sunday is to be a work-day for, theoretically, six-sevenths of the Russian working population, the loss to the Christian churches is severe. So, too, observers have wondered what will happen to the family if a Russian worker gets his day of rest on Monday, his wife on Tuesday and his children on Wednesday. But the leaders in Russia are not losing much sleep over the future of the family.

LONDON AND NEW YORK.

It has always been difficult to make accurate statistical comparisons of New York and London because of their differing governmental structure. New York is composed of five boroughs, which follow county lines. The city's area and population are readily ascertainable by reference to the latest census. Outside lie certain areas which are included in what is known as the metropolitan district. The Federal Bureau of the Census has lately extended it considerably. The area technically known as the City of London is very small. It is hardly more than a mile square and contains a population of only a few thousand. Some larger district is required to make any effective comparisons between the world's two largest urban communities.

In the current American City an attempt has been made to give comparable figures, as nearly up to date as possible. The Borough of Manhattan with 14,209 acres and an estimated population in 1927 of 1,814,600 may be compared with the 12,268 acres and 1,272,350 population of what is sometimes referred to as the "Central Area of London," consisting of the cities of London and Westminster and a number of outlying boroughs. These are the hearts of the two communities, where the density of population is the greatest: in Manhattan 128 persons to the acre, in the central area of London 104. The County of London more nearly represents the usual concept of a great city. It contains 74,850 acres and 4,550,000 people. It may be compared with the City of New York, which has 197,727 acres and 5,970,800 population. Their respective densities are 61 and 30. It will readily be seen that whereas Manhattanites are cramped for space, those who live in the outlying boroughs of New York have much more elbow room than their cousins across the water. New York has a similar advantage in a more wide-open metropolitan district. It is this which gives hope and stimulus to such projects as the Regional Plan.

The article contains a comparison of the mortality from street accidents in the two cities which is particularly pertinent at this time, when the public is—or should be—deeply concerned over the increasing fatalities in this city. Since 1923 the death rate in New York has remained almost stationary at 19 per hundred thousand, reaching a peak of 21 in 1926. In London, during the same period, the death rate rose steadily from 9 to 16. The figures are for the City of New York and "Greater London," consisting of the City of London and the Metropolitan Police District. Considering the fact that in these two areas the New York density of population is far greater, and the automobile registration two or three times as great, New York does not come off so badly. But the death of more than a thousand a year from this source remains one of the most appalling bits of statistics that can be culled from our urban life.

BACK TO SCHOOL.

The Pied Piper had no more magic in his pipe than that which yesterday drew a million children out of their homes into the "wondrous portal" of the schools that opened wide to receive them. It was all so orderly that it could not be realized by the casual observer that nearly one-fifth of the population was being suddenly shifted from the home to the care of the State. There was no rustling that seemed like a bustling

Of merry crowds justling at pitching and hustling.

Yet it is as joyous a crowd as was that at the Piper's back. It does not creep unwillingly to school. Those who visit the schools are aware that they are among the brightest spots in the city—brighter than the darkened rooms from which many of the children come. However uninviting the exterior of many of the old school buildings, they are cheerful within. Especially in streets of the poorest the school has, inside, the air of a paradise

Where flowers put forth a fairer hue
And everything is strange and new.

If anywhere in this great city with its confusion and congestion, its refuse and shadow, childhood romance still lingers, it is in some of the school rooms.

Before such a spectacle no Mayor could be dumb, for the city has not been niggardly in its appropriations for this greatest "district" in the State and in the world. Whether the money voted has been spent with the utmost economy and wisdom is not to be discussed in the presence of the children on this first day, lest we seem to grudge what has been given them, or to question the worth of the teachers. For what has been done for the improvement of the economic and professional status of the teacher the State is to have first credit, but the city has on the whole come to keep pace with the State in seeing that the constitutional pledge to the children is kept.

The Board of Education carries a heavy responsibility, and whatever complaints are made should not ignore the immense amount of time and labor freely given. What most of all is needed is that the public should generally take a more active interest in the city's greatest industry—that of educating its children. More than one-fourth of its annual budget is devoted to varied activities from kindergarten through high school and to college. No child is so handicapped as not to receive attention and special care, and no parent can be indifferent to its concern for his child.

There will be universal sorrow among the teachers over the absence of one who had risen from the ranks to the headship of the city's largest high school—Dr. F. H. J. PAUL, principal of the De Witt Clinton High School, who died last Sunday. He had his training in the city's schools, from the elementary school up, and gave the city ample returns for its tuition.

MILITARY RESIGNATIONS.

Reports that there are too many resignations from the army because of insufficient pay, slow promotion and unsatisfactory conditions of family life seem to be exaggerated. Of the active branches of the service the Air Corps suffers most from losses of officers. It is hard for those who have distinguished themselves in flying or in organization to resist the transportation companies when they offer well-paid positions. But, on the basis of personnel, the percentage of resignations in the fiscal year ending June 30 was only .0198. Not all of the aviation officers leaving the service associated themselves with commercial aviation. Some engaged in other business. Proportionately more chaplains and surgeons than aviators sent in their resignations, the percentages being, respectively, .0325 and .0284.

Resignations from the ordnance branch were not far behind those in the Air Corps, .0179. Some other figures were: Chemical warfare service, .0119; engineer corps, .0108; Philippine Scouts, .0115. It is significant that the arms constituting most of the fighting force sustained slight losses: Field artillery, .089; coast artillery, .068; infantry, .059, and cavalry, .009. The notion that cavalry is in a way to become obsolete does not seem to be shared by officers of that arm. Attributed to the General Staff is the argument that as religion and health in the army have not suffered from the retirement of chaplains and surgeons, the Air Corps has not been hurt by resignations. But the army must have its joke. Chaplains and surgeons can be more easily replaced than crack aviators who have caught the eye of transport company managers.

After all, the military services may count upon the devotion of most of their officers. Pride in the colors and ambition for promotion hold men even when they have cause to complain that they are underpaid and have other grievances. Aviators sometimes resign from the navy to go into commercial aviation, but, as in the case of the army, the number was small in the last fiscal year. Better pay is an urgent question in both army and navy. A junior officer of the latter service, in replying to a circular from the Bureau of Navigation recently, said that with the most rigid economy he could provide only about $40 a month "to buy clothes for three "people, defray traveling and medi-"cal expenses and pay for recrea-"tion and amusements. Our social "life," he wrote, "has been limited "to almost nothing, as we cannot "afford to return the hospitalities "of others." It is high time Congress took up the question of the service pay envelope.

LOUISIANA JURIES.

For historical reasons the private law of Louisiana is based upon the Code Napoléon. The procedure that has grown up there seems to have been directed especially to promote determination of the rights and wrongs of the case according to the substance, not the form. In the Journal of the American Judicature Society Mr. J. KENTON BAILEY, of the New Orleans bar, writes of jury trial in his State. Under the Constitution of 1921 the defendant in all criminal prosecutions where conviction may not be punished by hard labor must be tried by a judge without a jury. If the crime may be so punishable, he is tried by a jury of five, the concurrence of all of whom is necessary to a verdict. If the punishment must be hard labor, nine of twelve jurymen are necessary to a verdict. In capital cases all twelve must agree.

The system is said to work well. Delays in getting a jury and spun-out trials are rare. In civil trials the Legislature, having a free hand, has simplified practice and provided that in every case nine of twelve jurors may render a verdict. While jurors of good quality are usually obtained, the steady tendency has been to prefer the trained mind of the judge. Many classes of suits are specifically withdrawn from jury trial; for instance, partition, probate matters, promissory notes, bills of exchange and so on. The State Supreme Court has and uses "freely the power to review "and set aside the verdicts of juries "both on the law and the facts, "even in damage suits." In one of the latter it doubled the damages awarded by the jury. So, from one cause and another, jury trials are practically confined to tort cases.

Many lawyers are reluctant to resort to juries even in these. According to Mr. BAILEY, it is "the opinion "both of the bench and the majority "of the bar of Louisiana that juries "in civil cases should be abolished." It must be remembered that the education of our Louisiana brethren has been neglected. They have never had the opportunity to acquire our almost religious reverence for jury trial, our worship of the technicalities of criminal law and our tenderness to the criminal. In benighted Louisiana even the quillets of the law of evidence are frowned upon. In trials before a judge only the rudimentary rules are maintained:

It has become the universal practice of our courts to admit any bit of evidence, which, in the opinion of the judge, may have some bearing on the subject under the ruling: "Let the objection go to the effect and not to the admissibility."

UNEXPECTED FAILURES.

When a playwright who has long enjoyed the praise of critics and the applause of the public announces a new production, the anticipation that brings crowds hurrying to the opening is not trumped up by press agents. It is as genuine as the eagerness to resavor any good thing, from the latest music of a favorite composer to the next dinner confected by a favorite chef. But the disappointment that follows the failure of any such promised pleasure is usually mixed with resentment. If the man can do better, and past performance proves it, he should not let us down. Probably that is a healthy reaction for every one concerned. Certainly it is better than pretending that everything came up to expectations.

Sometimes it happens that the author of a disappointing work is so respected and admired that his patrons forget their hurt astonishment in affection for him. Something like this seems to have been the case with Mr. JOHN GALSWORTHY'S play "Exiled." It failed, quickly and definitely. Yet it was handled very gently in the press. Mr. GALSWORTHY has done fine work, not only in the theatre but in his novels. Only a few have had critical and popular success in both mediums as he has. Miss REBECCA WEST, in a letter printed in the current Bookman, says that "the soft-pedaling "of the press on this subject went "far beyond the natural impulse of "decent people to show generosity "toward a man who has done bet-"ter work in his time." Later she remarks that "such perverse loyal-"ties as this mean that literature is "refusing food in order to lie down "and die on its master's grave."

To American readers of English comment on the unhappy situation it seemed that nothing more than that natural generosity of decent people mentioned by Miss WEST was shown. The critics agree with her statement that "there is no "homage too extravagant to be paid "to Mr. GALSWORTHY as a man. His "integrity is so flawless that it "seems as absurd to mention it as it "would be to say that, so far as has "been observed, there are no cracks "in the sky. He is a spring of kind-"ness that never runs dry." They also remembered that he is the author of many brilliant plays and novels, reflecting the life and manners of his time in a true mirror. In their loyal fondness for him they thought of all this when they deplored his new play. But they did not invite the public to admire bad work. An editorial in The Morning Post of London spoke frankly of the failure, and the regretful note in most other comment on the play was sufficient indication that the writers were aware of their duty to readers.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Drink Tariff Highly Flexible.

It was bound to come—the true explanation of the $100,000,000,000 of life insurance now in force in the United States. The source is Dr. CHERRINGTON, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism. To him it is self-evident that the premiums on this great mass of life insurance are paid by a considerable portion of the nation's former annual drink bill of "approximately $3,000,000,000."

Fortunatus's purse, it is now evident, must have been the product of a Volstead revolution similar to our own. In no other way can we account for the fact that no matter how much you took out there was always a piece of money in the purse. Consider this former United States drink bill of approximately $3,000,000,000. Out of that sum once so foolishly spent we now save enough to spend about $2,000,000,000 a year on insurance premiums, $4,000,000,000 a year on automobiles, $2,000,000,000 a year on movies, $3,000,000,000 a year on increased savings bank deposits, $2,000,000,000 a year on increased building loans, $20,000,000,000 a year on college endowments, $10,000,000,000 for reconstruction loans to Europe, and additional tens of billions on good roads, public high schools and golf links.

The Battle of Prague.

That unquestionably is the most serious indictment of the pre-prohibition situation. The nation spent on drink the sum of $3,000,000,000 a year, which if turned to better uses would have automatically become about $25,000,000,000.

It is true that there is ill-feeling between the Hungarians and the Czechs, and to it the riot at the football game at Prague on Sunday may be partly traced. A good deal of what is now Czechoslovakia used to belong to Hungary, and neither the losers nor the gainers of the territory have accepted the decision of Trianon with any particular grace.

There is no war between Brooklyn and St. Louis, or between New York and Chicago. Neither has taken the territory of the other. Yet the riot at the Prague football game has often been equaled by American baseball spectators. When the game at Prague ended in a draw, although the Hungarians had to play most of the game with ten men against eleven, the dispatch says there were "ear-splitting howls of fury as the Hungarians left the field." Any baseball fan in this country can assure the foreign correspondents that this howl does not denote a Czech lust for war against Hungary.

The description of what happened at Prague is not wholly unlike some incidents in football games in this country in the past. TURSAY of Hungary kicked KADA of Czechoslovakia. BURGES then kicked TURSAY, who butted BURGES in the stomach. The crowd then broke upon the field "and soundly boxed the ears of the Hungarians." If the Czechs understood the proper use of pop bottles they could keep their seats and account for more casualties than reddened ears.

Paris Also Noisy.

There is something about the fag-end of Summer which makes city dwellers particularly sensitive to noise. It may be that they find a shocking contrast between the noise made by a country katy-did and by a city truck. Or perhaps late-season heat seems to accentuate the bombardment of street noises that come in through wide-open windows. At all events, this is the open season for complaints from New York, London and Paris.

The Paris correspondent of The Manchester Guardian bemoans the fact that the City of Light has become also the city of noise. Streets, and even whole sections, which twenty-five years ago were almost rural in their quiet have been invaded by roaring buses and tooting taxicabs. Even the Rive Gauche is noisy by day, though it still has a few streets that are quiet by night.

The motor car is the cause of most of the increase in din. The buses use brakes "that make the most excruciating noise ever devised by man." Trams rattle and motor horns blow with infinite variety. Taxis, it is true, are compelled by law to use a standard single-note type of horn, but what they lack in range they make up in frequency.

All these, however, are old complaints. The only really new evil which this correspondent notes is the excellent sound-conducting properties of the new concrete houses. One poor soul was "so irritated by the constant tap-tap on the concrete ceiling of the high-heeled shoes of a lady living above him that he bought a pair of soft slippers and had them sent to her anonymously." She didn't take the hint, so the moral is, Live in a pre-war house.

Preserving Jockey Hollow.

Jockey Hollow, on the outskirts of Morristown, deserves to be perpetuated as a memorial to American patriotism during the war of independence. To call it the New Jersey Valley Forge is hardly to exaggerate, for during the Winter of 1779-80 two thousand officers and men in camp to protect Northern New Jersey endured great privations. One hundred and fifty of them died. They were buried in a grove of locusts on the banks of Primrose Brook, and to this day their graves are unmarked.

During that bitter Winter the men of the camp were being fitted out for another trial of strength with the British. Makers of ammunition, wagoners, blacksmiths and carpenters had no idle hours. Members of the Continental Congress came to Morristown to view the troops in Jockey Hollow. General WASHINGTON and his wife were living in the house now owned by the Washington Association and preserved as a museum in the west end of the town. Its treasures remind one of the domestic life at Mount Vernon.

As to making a companion picture of Jockey Hollow, it is said that it only remains to determine the agency for preserving it and teaching its lesson of patriotism.

High from my hill I watch the autos creep
Like great black ants over a calloused plain;
An endless slow procession, scuttling deep
Into the earth, emerging soon again
Against the fiery sunlight as it lances
Flashing and sharp upon the glassy shields.
The attack is vain—the caravan advances
Relentlessly through green roadbitten fields.
How like the charge of enemy it seems!
But I, holding the hill, shall give them way
Only when they dare trespass on my dreams,
Rolling their steam machines into my day.
Now as I stand, sequestered from pursuit,

RALPH WALDO SNOW.

TEXAS AND LIQUOR.

There Is a Difference of Opinion on the State's Wetness.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have always considered THE TIMES as one paper in the country which tries to give its readers a true picture of the thing it has to present. If so, however, why publish such articles as the one of Sept. 1 from Dallas, Texas?

Your correspondent Irving S. Taubkin makes many statements. He asserts that Owen White's ideas concerning the wetness of Texas are correct and everybody who can't see the facts that way is ignorant. Some of us probably know Texas better than Mr. Taubkin and we may disagree with him that all Texas cities are flowing in liquor. Incidentally, the cities in Texas return big dry majorities.

Facts which have to be determined by personal observation can never be satisfactorily debated, of course; because it is quite possible that one man may see plenty of liquor and plenty of drinkers while another may see none at all. And it is also quite possible that either or both may imagine rather than see things.

But there are facts which can be doubted. Mr. Taubkin says that Texas never voted dry prior to national prohibition. Such a statement from any one who has been in the State any length of time is entirely inexcusable. The record will show that Texas adopted State-wide constitutional prohibition by popular referendum in 1918.

The State did defeat such a measure in 1911, but by an official majority of only 5,600, and that majority was brought in from the Rio Grande districts some two weeks after the rest of the State had been heard from.

No wet has been Governor of Texas since 1918. The drys have had at least a majority in the Texas Legislature for more than twenty years and at present there isn't more than one-tenth of the legislators who will express any opposition to prohibition.

At least seventeen of the eighteen Texas Congressmen are dry. Every State official at Austin is dry. Both United States Senators are dry.

Barrie Miller, whom your correspondent hails as the candidate of the wets for next year and declares has always "expressed himself in no uncertain terms about prohibition," was one of the stump campaigners for State prohibition in 1918, although it is quite true that his personal sympathies always theretofore, and some people think thereafter, have been with the wets. However, he has made no pronouncement on prohibition and the likelihood is that he will not do so. There is, in fact, strong likelihood that he will point to that record of having campaigned for prohibition eleven years ago.

In the face of these facts your correspondent writes: "Texas, one is told on every hand, never has been dry and never wants to be dry."

Don't you think your paper, in the interest of fairness to its readers, should correct this complete distortion of the picture of political Texas which your correspondent has drawn? E. R. MILLIS.

Fresh Air on the B. M. T.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I rode home these last two sultry evenings on the crowded B. M. T. There are forty-four windows to each car, eighteen of which are open half way; the rest are closed. The windows which are half way open are situated where there are seats. An electric fan is also placed in this part of the cars. Where the crowds are thickest, around the doors, the windows in the doors are air-tight, and there is no fan.

Why can't the B. M. T. remove all the closed windows, also the panes in the doors, and have heavy wire mesh screens plus window-shades, to be used in case of rainy weather, in their place?

Half of the B. M. T. routes are in the open—why can't the passengers get the benefit of the breeze as the train speeds along? I am certain that the foul odor and the faint expressions of most passengers would disappear. JACK ISRAEL.

The Milkman's Horse.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Topics of the Times on the milkman's horse brings to mind an adventure I had with an old mare of voting age at the Mount Hermon School for Boys.

It was my first morning to deliver the milk to the faculty houses scattered through the woods. A heavy snowfall concealed the roads. In the darkness I couldn't see fences or openings in the woods, and yet I had to deliver the milk before classes. I let the mare, which was three years older than myself, drag the sleigh where she pleased. She pulled up in regular succession at the back porches of the houses on my list. And old Roxie was blind in one eye! HARRY REIF.

New York's Dirty Streets.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Since my return on Sept. 1 from a cultural tour through Sweden, Estonia, Finland and Russia I have seen papers and garbage strewn in many parts of the city, and as a native of New York I regretfully state that this city cannot compare with European cities in the matter of cleanliness.

There is great need of a strenuous campaign for cleanliness in New York City. Our taxes cover those items wherewith, if the task were diligently performed, this city would be as clean as a whistle and the envy of all foreigners who chanced to visit us. C. F. KIVALS.

Insanitary Drinking Cups.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I recently served as a juror in the United States District Court and I noted with pain the obviously insanitary condition of the drinking cups in the Federal Court Building. Jurors, witnesses, plaintiffs, defendants and idlers meet and mingle in the courts and all use the same drinking cups.

FAVOR CIVIC CENTRE FOR THE CITY HALL

WANT HARLEM CANAL SPAN

Vote to Assist 42d Street Group in Proposed Staggering of Office Hours.

Plans for developing a civic centre in City Hall Plaza, as recommended by Joseph Johnson, Commissioner of Public Works, in a recent report to Mayor Walker, were endorsed by the directors of the Broadway Association in their first Fall meeting yesterday in the Hotel Astor.

The association officials voted also to cooperate with the Hendrik Hudson Memorial Bridge committee in its plan for a high-level bridge across the Harlem Ship Canal to assist the Forty-second Street Association in the proposed staggering of office hours in the Grand Central zone and to participate in the observance of light's golden jubilee honoring Thomas A. Edison in October.

The directors approved unanimously the report of the executive committee recommending support of the civic centre proposal "in principle," with especial sanction to that portion of the plan calling for removal of the old Federal Building, erected in 1868. Demolition of this structure has been urged by the association for many years.

The Hendrik Hudson Memorial Bridge plan was favored "as a worthy movement to relieve west side traffic between Manhattan and the Bronx," now routed over an old drawbridge at 225th Street and Broadway.

President John A. Harriss was directed to appoint a committee to decide on the association's part in light's golden jubilee. Proposals for a suitable electrical display in the Times Square district were discussed.

J. E. Harrington, chairman of the traffic committee, reported that an "amicable compromise, more desirable than long court action," was in prospect to solve the traffic problem in Times Square as it relates to the parking of sight-seeing buses in that section, especially during the Summer. Some agreement is in sight, he stated, as the result of conferences with Police Commissioner Whalen and owners of the bus lines, at which the advisability of limiting bus parking to the sides of the streets where traffic is now virtually eliminated was discussed. Less drastic regulations regarding right and left turns in the theatre district during rush hours at night were deemed desirable by some of the directors. A resolution was passed on the death of Samuel Wallach.

BOY FINDS FOSSIL WHALE.

Bones Dug Up in Maryland Perhaps 8,000,000 Years Old.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9 (AP).—Bones of a full-grown whale, believed by scientists to be between 3,000,000 and 8,000,000 years old, have been uncovered after five days' digging near Prince Frederick by William L. Jones, 17. The bones have been given to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington.

The skull of the fossil was seven feet long, and indications were that the whale had been about thirty-six feet in length. The youth, who was a member of a Johns Hopkins geological survey party last month, discovered some of the minor parts of the skeleton along the beach near Governor's Run, in the southern part of the State.

After uncovering the mammal, the bones were taken to Washington by scientists who are assembling the skeleton for the purpose of study.

SEMINARY BOARD TO MEET.

Several Princeton Appointments Are to Be Made Today.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 9.—The new board of control of Princeton Theological Seminary will meet tomorrow to make new appointments to the staff. It is expected that the Chairs of Homiletics, Apologetics and Christian Education will be filled at this meeting and that plans for the expansion of the seminary curriculum will be discussed.

The appointments are to be made to fill vacancies caused by the retirement of the Rev. Dr. J. Ritchie Smith, who has been Professor of Homiletics for many years and is retiring because of age, and by the refusal of several members of the faculty to serve under the new board, which has assumed control of the institution during the Summer, following action of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

HARVARD OFFICIAL LOST ON CAPE TRINITY

Special to The New York Times.

ST. JEAN, Que., Sept. 9.—After spending the night on top of the famous Cape Trinity, where he was lost when overtaken by darkness, Frank Carney of Cambridge, superintendent of the Widener Library at Harvard University, was found safe and sound by a searching party of fellow members of the Appalachian Mountain Club early today.

With more than 500 other members of the club, Carney attempted to scale Eternity and then Trinity Cae. When the party returned from the climb, it was learned that Carney was missing. A searching party was organized, and at daybreak began a hunt for him.

The members are on their annual excursion, having left Boston last Thursday for Montreal, where they embarked on the specially chartered steamship St. Lawrence for a trip down the St. Lawrence River to Quebec, Saguenay and the Gaspe Peninsula, also paying a visit to Tadoussac, the oldest French settlement in Canada. The outing will last for ten days.

MARSHALL'S ILLNESS GRAVE

New York Attorney Has Second Blood Transfusion at Zurich.

ZURICH, Sept. 9 (AP).—The condition of Louis Marshall, New York attorney and Jewish philanthropist, was most serious tonight.

He received a blood transfusion today to combat the toxic effects of prolonged necrosis of the pancreas, for which he was recently operated upon.

The noted attorney's condition has grown steadily worse since Saturday. Last night his physicians found a marked general weakness.

The condition of Mr. Marshall was reported "poorer" in a cablegram received at his offices, 120 Broadway, yesterday.

The patient was said to have been suffering from progressive necrosis of the pancreas. A later message said that a second blood transfusion had been resorted to and that Mr. Marshall stood it well.

POINCARE LITTLE BETTER.

French Ex-President Faces Second Operation Soon.

PARIS, Sept. 9 (AP).—The Associated Press was informed today that Raymond Poincaré, former President of France, is slowly improving from the illness following the recent slight operation, but that he must take a complete rest in order to be able to submit to a second operation some time this month.

M. Poincaré's physicians visit him daily, but no bulletin was issued today.

The sudden death on Sept. 4, 1929, of Albert E. Ashforth, our Vice President has deprived this bank of a most able officer, and his fellow-members of the board of an esteemed friend.

Coming in the close of New York fifty-six years ago, his business and social activities have centred here throughout those years. As the head of a large real estate firm, bearing his name, and director in many financial institutions, trustee of this bank for twenty-three years, and 1st Vice President for eleven years, he has contributed in large measure to the business prosperity of this city and has given to many organizations the benefit of his sound counsel and untiring energy.

FREIGHTERS COLLIDE; ARE LITTLE DAMAGED

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 9.—The Norwegian freighter Gunny, bound for Montreal, was in collision at 8:30 o'clock tonight with the Belgian freighter Emile Francqui off Nantucket, according to radio messages received by Tropical Radio Station WBF here. Reports said that neither vessel was in danger and that the Gunny was proceeding to its destination.

When word was first flashed it was believed that the Gunny had gone down with all hands aboard. The Francqui in early messages said that it was unable to establish communication nwith the vessel it had just struck and that it was standing by.

Local Coast Guard headquarters immediately ordered destroyers in the vicinity to the scene of the accident.

The British freighter London Exchange sent out a general call, which was picked up by the Tropical Radio station and others early in the evening, telling of the crash, which was placed at 200 miles southeast of Boston.

The Francqui said that it was undamaged and able to proceed to its New York destination, but it was not until an hou rafter the collision that it was learned that the other vessel was the Gunny and that it was undamaged too. Radio stations along the coast from Bar Harbor Naval Radio Station to stations in the vicinity of New York picked up the first messages sent out telling of the accident.

"We proceeding to New York. Ship colided with us Norwegian steamship Gunny, which proceeding Montreal. Requires no assistance."

Banton Hears Legion Uses Name In Ticket Sale Without Authority.

Assistant District Attorney Ford will begin an investigation today into the complaint of Louis W. Fehr, president of the Newspaper Club, Inc., that members of the S. Rankin Drew Post of the American Legion, at 101 West Forty-second Street, without authority, were using his name in the sale of tickets for a benefit boxing match to be held on Sept. 26 at Huntington, L. I.

Mr. Fehr told District Attorney Banton yesterday that he formerly was vice commander of the post and is still a member. He added that several prominent men had been asked to purchase tickets. One of them, Gustavus A. Rogers, a lawyer, of 521 Fifth Avenue, he said, when requested to purchase a $25 ticket, was assured he would be made a "guest of honor." Harold G. Aron, Republican candidate for Controller, and Jules Brulator, a film producer, were others, he said, who were asked to buy tickets.

1,250,000 CHILDREN GO BACK TO SCHOOL

34,300 TEACHERS AT POSTS

MANY SHIFTS REPORTED

More than 1,250,000 children trooped back to school yesterday morning. About 1,060,000 pupils crowded the 600 public schools of the city and 200,000 began the academic year in the parochial schools.

The public-school machinery, comprising, besides the children, about 34,300 teachers and a host of supervisors, clerks, janitors and other employes, was set in motion smoothly.

However, five of the seventeen new buildings scheduled to open were not ready. They were Public Schools 12, Queens, and 135, 90, 96 and 200 in Brooklyn. The last two will not be ready for occupancy before the end of the month, while the others may be completed in a few days.

Many candidates for substitutes' positions in the high schools were in the Board of Education Building at 500 Park Avenue, hoping to receive appointments. The positions, however, were fewer than the applicants.

High School Enrolment Up.

The high schools started their Fall term's work with an increased enrolment which has not yet been officially calculated. It was expected that the gain would be about 11,000 students, necessitating an increase in part-time schedules.

Registration of new pupils in kindergarten and first-grade pupils in the elementary schools continues. Thousands of pupils are to be registered during the week, although the official three-day registration period ended last Friday.

The registration in the elementary schools is growing, if at all, very slowly. The peak of the city's growth in school population was passed some years ago. The processes of population change are beginning to be restricted to shiftin- from one borough or district to another. The restriction of foreign immigration is an important factor in the stabilization of the city population.

For that reason school officials expect steadily to decrease the short-time lists in elementary schools.

Board of Education builders are constantly trying to guess the trend of neighborhood development in order to care for population shifts. In this game they are often outwitted by sudden and unexpected migrations which overtax facilities in one district and leave schoolhouses in another vacant.

High School Problem Difficult.

The secondary school problem is still more difficult of solution. For the registration in the high schools depends not alone, as the elementary schools' enrolment does, on the size and distribution of population, but also on the percentage of elementary school graduates who can afford to continue their education. That percentage is rising steadily. Dr. William J. O'Shea, Superintendent of Schools, ascribed the rise to the "period of prosperity, which has enabled formerly low-paid workers to give their children a better education."

Year.	Elementary Schools.	High Schools.
1918-1919	3.7%	4.7
1927-1928	1.8	6.1

The enrolment in the secondary high schools is constantly increasing in ratio to the size of the elementary school registration. A tentative computation of the enrolment in the three main divisions of the day schools shows that there will be about 158,000 secondary school students, some 92,000 junior high school pupils and approximately 790,000 children in the elementary schools.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS OPEN.

The parochial schools of the Archdiocese of New York opened yesterday, including the Cathedral High School for Girls and the Archbishop Hughes Memorial High School for Girls, Lexington Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, and the Cathedral Boys' High School, temporarily located in East Seventy-sixth Street, near Lexington Avenue. The total enrolment was put at about 200,000.

There were almost 800 new applicants to enter the Hughes school. Its new building has a capacity of 2,500. Last season its enrolment was between 1,700 and 1,800.

There are 128 parochial schools in Manhattan, the Bronx and Richmond, with an enrolment on Jan. 1, last, of 83,473 pupils. There are sixty-eight parochial schools in the suburban section of the archdiocese, and on Jan. 1 their enrolment was 19,058.

The pupils in the several schools of St. Patrick's Cathedral gathered yesterday morning in the cathedral for an opening service. Mgr. Michael J. Lavelle was the celebrant of the Mass of the Holy Ghost.

Maine Governor Is Bitten In Battle With His Pet Bear

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 9 (AP).—Governor William Tudor Gardiner received severe bites and scratches from the teeth and claws of his pet bear, Teddy, today in an effort to recapture the animal after it had escaped from the grounds of the Executive Mansion.

The Governor succeeded in his mission, but when he departed for Portland later to address veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic in session there his hands were swathed in bandages which gave evidence of a battle of no small proportions.

The bear was a cub when brought to the grounds early this Summer, but has grown rapidly. The Governor became convinced today that the animal had outgrown its usefulness as a playmate for the Gardiner children.

WOMAN IS JAILED IN CONFIDENCE GAME

Accused of Posing as Owner of a Florida Hotel in Obtaining Loans.

GAVE "JOBS" TO VICTIMS

Arrest Brought About by Girl She Engaged as Social Secretary—Police Say She Has Record.

Mrs. Margaret M. Armstrong, a middle-aged woman with a dulcet voice and a disarming manner, was held without bail yesterday in Yorkville court because the police insisted that she had again been using her castle in the air, a non-existent hotel in Florida, as a means of obtaining money.

The unassuming little woman, according to the detectives, had reverted to the habits of her earlier years. She had reassumed the rôle of repository for misplaced confidence. In the blunt phraseology of the police she had been working a confidence game.

Detectives John Burke and George Fitzgerald arrested Mrs. Armstrong on Sunday night in her furnished apartment at 107 East Thirty-fifth Street. A complaint had been made by Earl G. Filmeier of 635 Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn, and by Richard Fortune of 242 West Seventy-sixth Street.

They said that Mrs. Armstrong had hired them to act as managers of the mythical hotel at Daytona Beach, Fla. Filmeier had been engaged under a contract calling for $175 a week to manage the dining room at the hotel. In course of time, he said, Mrs. Armstrong "borrowed" a total of $665 from him.

Mr. Fortune also was hired, and his loans to his boss totaled $1,100. In addition, according to the police, Mrs. Armstrong sought to obtain $100,000 worth of furniture for the hotel from various department stores, but failed in this effort.

The arrest of the woman came about because of her attempt to negotiate a loan of $200 from Miss Ellen Kelly of 794 Bergenline Avenue, Union City, N. J. Miss Kelly was engaged by Mrs. Armstrong as a social secretary on Aug. 29. When her employer tried to raise a little money from her Miss Kelly became suspicious. Mrs. Armstrong told her, however, that she had a drawing account of $2,500 at a department store.

The social secretary decided to check up on the account. The store refused to disclose whether Mrs. Armstrong had an account, but Miss Kelly was advised not to make the loan. She told Mr. Filmeier of the incident and in came Burke and Fitzgerald.

The detectives said that Mrs. Armstrong, as Mabel Henderson, was sentenced to eleven months in Joliet (Ill.) prison in 1911. This was for operating a confidence game. In 1924 under her present name she was sentenced to two and a half years in Auburn prison for grand larceny.

PISTOL SALES BY MAIL STIR WHALEN PROTEST

Purchases by Five Youths Held for Plotting Hold-up Cited in Plea for Federal Law.

The appearance in the police lineup yesterday of five youths accused of plotting a payroll hold-up with weapons they had purchased through the mails prompted Commissioner Whalen to comment on the need for a Federal law to govern the sale of firearms. The accused were held without bail by Magistrate Rosenbluth in Jefferson Market court for hearing tomorrow.

They are Walter Russell, 16 years old, of 404 East Eighty-ninth Street; Edward Osceta, 16, and Edwin Depping, 19, both of 426 East Eighty-sixth Street; Edward Cavanagh, 19, of 416 East Eighty-eighth Street, and Joseph Reich, 23, of 499 East Eightieth Street. All five were held on suspicion of robbery, and, in addition, Osceta, Depping, Russell and Cavanagh are charged with violation of the Sullivan law.

Osceta, who once worked in the office of the Federal Printing Company, 239 West Thirty-ninth Street, knew that the staff was paid off on Fridays and estimated the payroll at $26,000, according to the police. He told his four chums, the detectives said, that the money might easily be taken, and unfolded his scheme. For $36 the gang obtained two revolvers and an automatic pistol from a manufacturer in Wisconsin, and to become acquainted with the weapons went for two weeks' target practice to a lonely spot in Yonkers.

On Aug. 30 Osceta, Cavanagh and Reich went to the printing plant, but sight of a near-by patrolman made them lose heart, it was said. A few hours later the police took Osceta into custody. He was carrying a loaded revolver, they said. The other arrests followed, Depping and Russell being taken with weapons, according to the police.

"Something must be done about that," said the Police Commissioner when he learned of the mail-order pistols. "Our State law does not cover the pistol situation thoroughly. What we want is a Federal law to govern the sale of firearms."

GRAND JURY GETS BANK CREDIT FRAUD

NO TRACE OF WAGGONER

Federal Prosecutor Says He Has Information That Mail Laws Were Violated.

The Federal grand jury began yesterday an investigation of the telegraphic code swindle by means of which Charles Delos Waggoner, president of the Bank of Telluride, Col., obtained from six New York banks $500,000 in certified checks, practically all of which he used in an effort to liquidate his own and his bank's indebtedness to other banks and individuals. Meanwhile, the nation-wide search for Waggoner continued without result.

Witnesses before the grand jury included A. G. Campbell, vice president of the Chase National Bank; Harold Sheehy, assistant cashier of the Guaranty Trust Company; Henry P. Turnbull, vice president of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company; Milton S. Billmire, assistant cashier of the Harriman Bank and Trust Company, and H. A. Crowe, manager of the criminal division of the Burns Detective Agency.

Sees Mail Law Violation.

The grand jury inquiry was conducted by Assistant United States Attorney Emanuel G. Kleid. Neither Mr. Kleid nor any of the witnesses would discuss the nature of the investigation thus far. Mr. Kleid said merely that the matter would be "developed before the grand jury," which would continue its inquiry this morning. This is the morning grand jury for September which, before taking up the Waggoner case, had been devoting all its time to an investigation of complaints against bucketshops, tipster sheets and sellers of worthless securities.

Assistant United States Attorney George J. Mintzer, who assigned Mr. Kleid to the Waggoner case, said the government had positive information that the law against using the mails to defraud had been violated in connection with the alleged Waggoner swindle.

Federal investigators, in this connection, pointed out that it was not necessary that any fraudulent feature of a transaction should be set forth or mentioned in the mail matter used as evidence in such cases. A check, although it had been accompanied by no other writing, would, it was said, be sufficient to establish violation of the mail frauds statute.

Hunt Is Widespread.

At the American Bankers' Association it was said that Waggoner would have a hard time escaping the net spread for him. Last reports were that he was headed for Canada. Government agents and private operatives are on the lookout for him in various sections of the country, however.

Some investigators cling to the opinion that Waggoner will yet surrender voluntarily. They point out that he did not, apparently, cause the peculiar switch of checks to obtain cash for himself, but to ease his conscience by paying off men and banks that had enabled his own bank to keep going after it had actually reached a state of insolvency.

Meanwhile, the tangle remains and no one seems certain just who, if any one, has profited or will profit by Waggoner's unique financial manipulation. No legal move has yet been made to clarify the situation in the courts.

It is still believed that several persons other than the fugitive bank president played a part in the alleged swindle, as it was shown that Waggoner could not have been in Denver at the time six telegrams in code were sent from there to as many banks in New York City. The actual purpose of the whole thing remains little more than a theory and, one investigator said, thorough investigation may establish a conspiracy of greater proportions than anything yet hinted at in the case.

Mr. Crowe said late yesterday that he had received no word of any sort from Burns operatives with respect to the possible whereabouts of Waggoner.

SEES SCHEME FOR REVENGE.

Special to The New York Times.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 9.—C. D. Waggoner, Colorado banker, who is sought in connection with a new York bank fraud, was bitter against New York financiers, according to District Judge Fitzgerald of Omaha, who last Wednesday had a two hours' talk with Waggoner at Grafton, Neb. Fitzgerald and Waggoner were schoolmates in Grafton and met in that town by accident when both visited that place last week.

"Mr. Waggoner told me Telluride would be entirely deserted by next Spring," Judge Fitzgerald said, "and he blamed New York financiers. I believe he was trying to get even with New Yorkers when he pulled his stunt in New York City. Waggoner said there were not more than 100 people in Telluride today. Some years ago the town was prosperous.

"Two New York financiers, Waggoner declared, came to Telluride and bought the best mine in the place to stop competition with another mine they owned elsewhere. This put 1,500 men out of work and these men with their families all had to leave Telluride. Later another bunch of financiers who owned the other mine in Telluride shut down that mine and another 1,500 men were thrown out of work. They too left town and the town has been rapidly going down ever since.

"Waggoner blamed the New Yorkers for wrecking his community. While he told me nothing of the New York bank deal, I am satisfied whatever he did was for the purpose of getting revenge upon New York for the troubles he blamed the financiers of that city with bringing upon Telluride."

City Again Suffers From In Rains Aid Late Crops an

Sticky, sultry weather made city dwellers uncomfortable again yesterday and the fierce downpour that pelted the streets and rooftops during the rush hour at night brought no relief. The average temperature for the day was 76 degrees, 7 points above normal. The high was reached at 1:30 P. M., when the mercury stood at 82.

After the rain the city experienced a slight rise of temperature, and the humidity was intense. Subway riders, wet from the downpour that caught them as they left their offices, found the air as thick as ever as they emerged at their destination.

But if the rain brought only discomfort to the city it was welcome in the farm districts, in the watersheds that serve the metropolitan area and in remote parts of the State where crews had been fighting forest fires in parched woodlands over the week-end.

MANCUSO INQUIRY OFF TILL NEXT WEEK

LATTER RESUMES ITS WORK

Examines a Former City Trust Director—Court to Hear Motions Today in Warder Trial.

The appearance of Judge Francis X. Mancuso of the Court of General Sessions before the joint subcommittee of the city and county bar associations, scheduled for yesterday, was postponed to Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 12. Judge Mancuso was to have made a statement and answered questions regarding his activities as chairman of the board of the City Trust Company up to the time the bank failed last February.

Kenneth M. Spence, chairman of the Bar Association's subcommittee, announced that the reason of the postponement was that Judge Mancuso was holding himself in readiness in his chambers in the Criminal Courts Building to testify before the extraordinary grand jury which is investigating the City Trust failure. Mr. Spence explained that he had talked with Martin Conboy, counsel to Judge Mancuso, and a week from tomorrow was fixed as the most convenient time for the appearance of the judge before the joint committee.

The subcommittees were in session only a few minutes.

The committee has about concluded its study of the evidence given by Judge Mancuso before Moreland Commissioner Moses. After Judge Mancuso appears before the committee it will report to Governor Roosevelt recommending what action should be taken regarding the jurist.

The extraordinary grand jury investigating the failure of the City Trust Company resumed its sessions yesterday. It heard Salvatore Soraci, a former director of the City Trust Company. Judge Mancuso was not called before the grand jury, although he waited most of the morning in his chambers. He will testify tomorrow.

It was said the grand jury was inquiring whether or not the board of directors complied with the sections of the banking law which requires them to have an examination made of the books of the bank in the Spring and Autumn of each year.

Supreme Court Justice Tompkins will be in the Criminal Courts Building this morning to hear any motions that may be made for a special panel or in behalf of Frank H. Warder, former State Superintendent of Banking, who is at liberty in $35,000 bail as a result of ten indictments charging acceptance of bribes and gratuities from the late Francesco M. Ferrari, president of the City Trust Company.

FELLED BY GOLF BALL, ILLINOIS WOMAN DIES

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Frank Watrous, woman's golf champion at the Glen Flora Country Club in Waukegan for the last two years, died today in Victory Memorial Hospital in the North Shore town. Mrs. Watrous failed to rally from an operation made necessary by a blow from a golf ball, which struck her on the head yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Watrous, who was 53 years old, was the wife of a Waukegan banker. She was walking toward the sixteenth tee when the ball felled her. It had been driven by Harry S. Jordan, general superintendent of the Greiss-Pfleger Tanning Company.

The injury was not considered serious last night, and the X-ray pictures showed no fracture. This morning, however, physicians declared an operation would be necessary.

DROPS HUCKINS FRAUD CASE

Government Frees Milwaukee Financier for Lack of Evidence.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 9 (AP).—Elmer S. Huckins, 65 years old, a Wisconsin financier who has paid investors dividends of 26 per cent. was freed today of a Federal charge that he used the mails to defraud, but faces further questioning by a grand jury.

The government's case was dismissed because of insufficient evidence to prove that Huckins was not, as represented by testimony, in the cigar business. Hundreds of persons in Middle Western and Rocky Mountain States are said to have invested several million dollars in his enterprises.

With the dismissal of the charge, Assistant District Attorney E. J. Koelzer announced that the grand jury would hear the case and that he would "subpoena every cigar manufacturer in the country if necessary" to show that Huckins could not pay 26 per cent interest on a legitimate cigar jobbing enterprise.

The government placed thirteen witnesses on the stand today. Eleven of the thirteen who were questioned about their investments in Huckins's enterprise said they had received returns of 26 per cent or more and that they were satisfied.

POLICEMAN KILLED BY FLEEING AUTOIST

FOUR FACE MURDER CHARGE

Witnesses Say Driver Ignored Victim's Order to Halt as He Stood in Car's Path.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., Sept. 9.—Four men are under arrest charged with murder and two others are being held as material witnesses in connection with the death of John Ruppert, 35 years old, a special policeman, employed at Voelkfest Park, Franklin Square, who was run down by the driver of an automobile last night in Hempstead Turnpike.

According to the police, while the Platdeutsch Verein was holding a picnic at the park a group of men became disorderly and Ruppert rebuked them. Thereupon one of the men struck him on the head with a bottle and all of them ran to an automobile, jumped in and drove off through Hempstead Turnpike.

Ruppert commandeered a taxicab, passed the automobile, and getting out of the taxicab stood in the roadway and waved to the occupants of the automobile to stop. Witnesses, the police say, declare that the driver of the automobile deliberately ran Ruppert down. He died soon after.

The men arrested are: Claus Warnecke, 22 years old, of 99-17 Farmers Avenue, Hollis; John Finne, 25 years old, of 88-18 185th Street, Hollis; Ernest Tusmuden, 30 years old, of 102-06 Jamaica Avenue, Richmond Hill, and Richard Schreiber, 22 years old, of 215-09 Jamaica Avenue, Queens. Those held as material witnesses are: William Heinz of 102-06 102d Street, Richmond Hill, and Chris Vogel of 105 Lefferts Place, Brooklyn.

Captain Harold R. King, in charge of Nassau County detectives, said that witnesses informed him after the men in the car were told they had killed a man and were ordered to stop they shouted defiantly and sped away. The four men charged with murder will be arraigned tomorrow before Justice of the Peace Edward New.

FLORENCE LEEDS WEDS.

LONDON (Tuesday), Sept. 10 (AP).—The Express says today that Florence Leeds, who was named as corespondent in the James A. Stillman divorce case, was married on Aug. 2 at a London register's office to John Rousseau Metcalfe, who described himself as a company director.

Florence Leeds was a former New York chorus girl. She is now being sued for $500,000 by Fred Beauvais, the Indian guide named by Stillman when he was seeking a divorce from Mrs. Fifi Stillman. Beauvais charges that Mrs. Leeds and Stillman conspired to defame him.

Mrs. Leeds's father, James S. Lawyor, who owns a plumbing shop at 205 Sixth Avenue, said yesterday that he knew nothing about his daughter's marriage.

John Rousseau Metcalfe, to whom Mrs. Leeds was married, is president of the Compania Nacional de Esmeraldes, which is developing a large tract of timber land in Ecuador, and which shares an office at 1 East Forty-second Street with the firm of Ewell & Meloy, consulting engineers.

WARD ISSUES A DENIAL.

Made No Statement on Untermyer Invitation to Testify, He Says.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 9.—William L. Ward, county Republican leader, at the county committee's headquarters here today denied he made any statement, officially or unofficially, regarding his acceptance or non-acceptance of Samuel Untermyer's invitation to appear before him and tell what he knew of the Board of Supervisors' purchase of eleven parcels of land adjoining the present county buildings here.

He said he has not been in good health, and has not determined whether he can stand the physical strain of appearing.

Supervisor Benjamin I. Taylor of Harrison said today that he has offered to Mr. Untermyer a proposition to buy the land back from the county at the price of $948,000 it paid for the property. He is the only Democratic Supervisor to vote for the purchase of the land.

Passport Agreement With Norway.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The State Department announced today the conclusion of an agreement with Norway, effective Jan. 1, 1930, whereby Americans visiting that country will not be required to obtain passport visas. The United States on its part is waiving the fees for nonimmigrant visas for Norwegians visiting this country. Similar arrangements have previously been made by the State Department with a number of other governments.

NEW ALLOY GROWS HARDER WITH HEAT

NEW STEEL FROM GERMANY

Endura Nirosta, Exhibited at Cleveland, Has Unusual Tensile Strength.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 9.—A metal that gains tensile strength as it grows hotter—something entirely different from anything heretofore known—has been perfected by Dr. Erwin F. Lowry of the research department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company in East Pittsburgh.

The new alloy has been named konel and is now being used in the manufacture of the filament in high class radio tubes, replacing platinum iridium, long believed the only metal fitted for that purpose.

Platinum iridium, one of the most expensive of the precious metal group, was utilized in radio tubes because of the fact that it did not react to a coating, or oxidization. This proof against reaction was always deemed necessary by radio engineers and tube manufacturers, yet the new metal, while it has been found to oxidize slightly, at the same time reacts beneficially to such coating.

Has Had Exhaustive Tests.

Dr. Lowry said konel had been subjected to exhaustive tests which revealed in turn the many valuable qualities it possessed.

"Almost without exception metals grow softer and lose tensile strength as they undergo high heat," he said. "We have found that konel, heated to 600 degrees Centigrade, which is approximately 1,100 degrees Fahrenheit, will withstand a pressure of 60,000 pounds to the square inch. Even further tests show konel is tougher and harder when heated to 1,800 degrees Fahrenheit."

Dr. Lowry explained that konel is a combination of cobalt and nickel, from which it derives its name, and ferrotitanium.

"The difference in the cost of platinum iridium and konel is so wide that there can be no comparison in the cost of tubes produced with the latter and those in which the first-named metal is used," said Dr. Lowry.

Asked as to what uses konel might be put, the Westinghouse expert declared that it should be highly efficient where metal was exposed to great heat generated by friction or internal combustion.

Metals Congress Opens.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 9 (AP).—The opening of the National Metal Congress and Exposition, attracting the world's leading scientists in the treatment of metals and metallurgical research, today found five kindred branches gathered for a five-day meeting.

Recent discoveries of improved methods of metal treatment were demonstrated, among them the new German steel known as Endura Nirosta, a non-rusting chromium alloy which is distinctive for its surface tensity. It may be used in bearings to be run without lubrication, according to assertions at the exhibition, and is several times harder than the finest case-hardened steel.

Other exhibits, valued at millions of dollars, include another German product, the tungsten carbide developed for high-speed cutting of hard metals and stones; 220-ton power presses and furnaces capable of generating 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit for the treatment of steel.

A perfect industrial metal, embodying the properties of all those now in use, is the goal which metallurgists hope to reach in a few more years of research. The new metal must be stronger than steel, lighter than aluminum, heat-resistant and tough, "in short, a perfect metal for all industrial uses," Dr. Jay Jaffries, president of the American Society for Steel Treating, told the congress.

Officers at Denver Encampment Criticize Hospitals—Gov. Green a Candidate for Commander.

DENVER, Sept. 9 (AP).—Rebuking an effort made by one camp in the Washington-Alaska department to limit its membership to the white race and criticizing conditions in many of the government hospitals and soldiers' homes throughout the country, the annual report of the officers of the United Spanish-American War Veterans was placed in the hands of thousands of delegates at the opening session of the national encampment here today.

In one instance, the report reveals, veteran hospital patients suffering with mental diseases are kept in a ward also used for "sobering up" drunks. Inspection of another government institution disclosed that bootleggers in the nearest town, four miles away, victimize the veterans.

The rebuke of the effort by a camp to limit its membership along racial lines was taken in the report of the national judge advocate general. He ruled that a by-law of the camp excluding as members all persons not of the white race was invalid and quoted a decision to the same effect of a former judge advocate general.

The political campaign in the national encampment was developing rapidly as two candidates appeared in the field for commander-in-chief for the ensuing year.

Governor Fred W. Green of Michigan is candidate of the administration group and Colonel Winfield Scott of Oklahoma, former Commissioner of Pensions, is his leading opponent.

Contests loomed between various cities to entertain the national encampment in future years. Philadelphia and Tampa, Fla., are considered among the leading contenders for the next encampment. The veterans hold their encampments alternately in the West and the East.

Rogers Has a 'Yardstick' For Naval Measurements

To the Editor of The New York Times:

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 9.—Mr. Hoover and Ramsey MacDonald are both peace-loving, tax-saving, conscientious men. But since 1922 we have read nothing but: "You limit your battleships to so many and we'll limit our cruisers to so and so. You have this much tonnage under ten thousand and we will agree to keep ours over nine thousand." And both are still building and still arguing.

If both nations was absolutely on the level with this, they would agree on a grand total of armament that each one could have, whether it was in battleships or battle axes, cruisers or cuspidors, pistols or paper wads, shotguns or slingshots, submarines or subways, aeroplanes or Airdales. But when it was all added up it should weigh the same.

Then that will make the next war a tie and will guarantee that we fight another one. Oh, hum!

BROKER'S AIDE HELD IN $148,000 THEFT

LOST IT ALL SPECULATING

Thefts From Arthur E. Frank & Co. Revealed by Audit — Prisoner Hopes to Make Restitution.

The belief of Eugene J. McCarthy, 32 years old, of 171 West Seventy-ninth Street that any one could make money in a bull market and that he might as well share in the general prosperity resulted yesterday in his arrest and cost the firm of Arthur E. Frank & Co. of 100 Broadway, by whom he was employed as a customers' man, $148,000. The loss was discovered after an audit of the company's books showed that a certain "Ogden Yates," whose name appeared in the books, had no collateral to cover his losses.

According to Detectives Fay and Fleming, who arrested McCarthy, he admitted that he was "Ogden Yates," that he had opened the account and lost the money. He blamed his losses upon issues such as Electric Bond and Share, United States Freight and Union Carbide, upon which he had failed to call the turn. He said he would make restitution if he had a chance.

McCarthy was considered an unusually successful customers' man. He had been with the Frank firm since last April. When stocks were rising he decided to open an account for himself in the name of Yates and from the board room where he made recommendations to other clients, he directed the buying and selling of "Mr. Yates."

"Mr. Yates" prospered at first. At one time his account showed a profit of $19,000. McCarthy directed that a check for this amount be made out for "Mr. Yates" and deposited it in the Seabord National Bank at 115 Broadway. From this account McCarthy paid some small personal debts and used the balance to start an account under his own name.

Detectives Fay and Fleming said they were satisfied that the $148,000 owed to the firm had actually been lost by McCarthy in unfortunate speculations. McCarthy, they said, enjoyed an excellent reputation in the financial district. The detectives said they thought there was an excellent chance that McCarthy might be able to make good the losses of "Mr. Yates."

BURKITT TO SUE HAGUE AND AIDES FOR $120,000

In Papers to Be Filed Today He Charges Conspiracy to Cause False Arrest.

Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Police Chief Richard T. Battersby, Director of Safety John Beggans and two Jersey City detectives are to be sued for $120,000 damages for alleged conspiracy to cause the false arrest and imprisonment of James Burkitt, self-proclaimed "Jeffersonian Democrat," it was learned in Jersey City last night.

Papers in Burkitt's suit are to be filed this morning in the Supreme Court, it is said. The two detectives included are Michael Cusack and William Fogarty.

The petition, which was being completed in a Jersey City law office last night, sets forth four counts, beginning with the description of Burkitt's arrest April 29, 1929, as a disorderly person by Detective Cusack. The petition says Burkitt was sentenced to ninety days in the county penitentiary by Acting Judge Edward Markley and that he served one day before he was released under bond pending an appeal. On July 2 Judge Thomas H. Brown in the Court of Quarter Sessions set aside the conviction. For the humiliations, disgrace, public scorn and ridicule he suffered in this experience Burkitt asks $10,000.

In the second count Mayor Hague, Commissioner Beggans and Chief Battersby are charged with "instigating and conspiring to unlawfully prosecute the plaintiff," using Detective Cusack as their "joint servant and agent."

Burkitt's petition asks for $30,000 damages on the foregoing count. In the third count Burkitt contends that the arrest was without any legal warrant, for which he asks an additional $10,000, and on the fourth and last count he asks $30,000 more for damages resulting from the alleged conspiracy.

Burkitt's scheduled suit, it was learned, was directed on advice from lawyers associated with the Civil Liberties Union of New York. In a recent communication Roger Baldwin advised that the union would furnish Burkitt with counsel.

CREDITS BUSINESS MEN

SOME LINES SHOW GAINS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The steadiness of general business in the United States during the midsummer period, which showed "very little of that slump that was formerly considered characteristic of the Summer season," was hailed today by Secretary of Commerce Lamont as the result of "greater foresight on the part of business men producing and selling commodities as well as on the part of buyers of goods."

The usual Summer slump not only did not develop, but a number of major industries actually operated on a higher level than they did during the earlier months of the year, Secretary Lamont pointed out. Among these were the manufacture of pig iron and steel, copper and zinc, automobiles and textiles, the volume of freight moved by railroads and the sales of five and ten cent stores and mail-order houses.

In addition to these optimistic conditions Secretary Lamont said that there also had been shown a continuance of the general upward trend in business as compared with the same period of other years.

Free From So-called Crises.

The text of his statement follows:

"An examination of the monthly statistics of industrial activity in the United States since the war shows a reduction in range of those variations which are of a seasonal character. Not only has there been, since 1921, an unusually prolonged period substantially free from so-called crises, or ups and downs, in economic activity representing the so-called business cycle, but even those variations from month to month of the year, which are the result of seasonal influences and which were formerly considered inevitable, have been cut down in extent.

"This result must be attributed largely to greater foresight on the part of business men producing and selling commodities as well as on the part of buyers of goods.

"An important factor in making possible the exercise of such foresight is the great and growing volume of current statistical information furnished to the public by the government and by private organizations. Moreover, business men, and in fact all people, have learned to make more constant and more intelligent use of such statistics in the guidance of their affairs.

Employment Well Sustained.

"The midsummer of 1929, to judge from the current statistics, has shown very little of that slump in business that was formerly considered characteristic of the Summer season. A number of the activities of industry and commerce during June, July and August were actually on a higher plane than during the earlier months of the year, and others showed less decline than usual in the past.

"This steadiness is even more conspicuous than in 1928, when in turn Summer business was more satisfactory than in most preceding years.

"Among the indicators of general business conditions which have shown a position during the last three months more than usually favorable as compared with the earlier months of the year may be mentioned the production of pig iron and of steel, of copper and zinc and of automobiles and textiles.

"A similar statement holds of the volume of freight moved by the railroads and of the sales of the five and ten cent stores and the mail-order houses.

"Employment and wage payments in factories have also been well sustained during the present Summer.

"Sales of life insurance during this period have been unusually large.

"Apart from this decided steadiness of business from month to month during the present year, there has been a continuance of the general upward trend as compared with the same period of previous years. Practically all the indicators of business activities above mentioned, as well as others, have stood at higher levels during June, July and August of the present year than in 1928, or, indeed, than in any other year of our history."

IMMIGRATION OFFICER MURDERED IN TEXAS

Border Patrol Inspector Shot and Stabbed—Believed Attacked by Alien He Had Arrested.

MARFA, Texas, Sept. 9 (AP).—Miles J. Scannell, Assistant United States Immigration Patrol Inspector, was killed, presumably by an alien seeking illegal entry to this country, fifteen miles east of Presidio today. Scannell was shot twice and stabbed fifteen times.

Scannell's throat had been cut. A terrific struggle apparently took place, those who found the body on the banks of the Rio Grande said.

Scannell's gun and handcuffs were gone, leading fellow-officers to believe that he had captured one of a group of aliens coming into this country and that the prisoner's friends had rescued him.

Scannell's assailants are believed to have gone back across the river into Mexico.

The uncertainty of the stock market makes it imperative to diversify your holdings for your financial safety.

Consider how much more secure you would be with 10 shares of stock in each of 10 selections than you would be with 100 shares in any one of them.

The stock market began the week with what would once have been called a sharp decline. On a total business larger than the recent daily average, although not up to the high point reached last Thursday, a long list of active stocks suffered losses ranging from 5 to 19 points; the decline extending to such shares as United States Steel and General Motors, and affecting the railway shares decidedly. The counter-demonstration not unfamiliar on such occasions was made in three or four stocks, mostly of the less important sort; these were bid up 10 to 23 points, but without any visible influence on the general market. There were irregular recoveries before the close.

Nothing in the day's news developments served to explain the market's weakness. The rise of call money to 8 per cent after last Friday's sudden fall to 6 took nobody by surprise; Wall Street is perfectly aware that momentary reductions of that sort give no reflection of the actual money situation. The course of Stock Exchange prices yesterday really indicated, however, first that substantial reaction had been reasonably expected a week ago, and that Friday's renewal of the rise, after Thursday's break, was premature. In a market with such a multitude of interweaving threads, it is impossible to determine from what source the heaviest selling comes. It clearly enough reflected prevailing sentiment in regard to the market's recent movement, even if it proved nothing as to what the next turn will be.

Yesterday's government cotton-crop report stated the cotton market, not because of its estimate of yield but because of the greatly reduced condition percentage, as compared with a month and a year ago, in such large producing States as Texas and Oklahoma. The forecast of total production is reduced 718,000 bales from the estimate of a month ago, thereby reflecting prolongation of the drought and excessive heat which had already cut down the Winter wheat estimate by 54,000,000 bushels. Even so, however, the much larger acreage this year leaves the indicated crop substantially above that of 1928. The forecast of 14,825,000 bales, if realized, would be the largest cotton crop, except the two fortunate seasons 1927 and 1926, that the South has harvested in fifteen years.

It should be observed that in recent years the bureau's September estimate has been remarkably close to actual results, not varying from the final ginning figures as much as 100,000 bales either in 1928 or 1927. The record was not always as good as this. The official September forecast of both 1926 and 1925 fell short of the facts by something like two and a half million bales, and in the earlier of those years the private estimates came much nearer to the truth than did the government. But the methods of the crop-reporting bureau have been effectively reorganized since it was called to account for some particularly glaring errors in its older forecasts.

The announcement that New York State is to seek a $28,000,000 short loan at 4 per cent, when the Treasury is paying 4⅞ for a nine-month borrowing and when New York City fixed 5¼ per cent on a four-year loan, attracted natural interest. But the State has always been a favored borrower, chiefly because, during a long stretch of its history, it borrowed so little. On its last previous application to the market, in March of 1928, it placed $12,500,000 bonds with a coupon of 3½ per cent. Neither on that occasion nor in its prospective borrowing are the terms an indication of money-market and bond-market tendencies. The State Controller himself explains, in fact, that recourse to an eight months' loan was adopted because it was "inadvisable to attempt the sale of long-term New York State bonds under present market conditions."

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

Indications of further nervousness on the part of speculative interests were seen in the action of the stock market yesterday. Price movements were highly irregular. There was a fairly steady opening, followed by scattered advances. Before noon, however, an aggressive selling movement developed on the Stock Exchange and many leading stocks were swept sharply downward. Irregular recovery followed, but the market continued its backing and filling until the close. Stocks in which special influences seemed to be at work were lifted sharply in the late trading. They included Johns-Manville, J. I. Case, Fleischmann, Standard Brands, Packard Motors, Vanadium, Union Carbide and Sloss Sheffield. Weakness was most pronounced in Auburn Auto, Bethlehem Steel, United States Steel, Air Reduction, Simmons and the railway shares.

Outside Business Heavy.

Stock Exchange and Curb business was relatively heavier outside of New York than in the city yesterday, according to the heads of several brokerage houses with large wire systems. Chicago was a particularly heavy buyer of stocks, as was Detroit. Some good blocks of orders came from the Pacific Coast, too.

Aviation Stocks Sell Off.

Rumors of overproduction in the aviation industry, coupled with a sympathetic response to recent aeronautical accidents, seemed to be reflected yesterday in weakness in the leading aviation issues. Executives of some of the leading aviation companies returned last week from Cleveland with what Wall Street described as a bearish attitude toward the immediate future of the industry. Two difficulties which must be eliminated, they said, were the many "fly-by-night" manufacturing units and the shortage of amateur pilots who wish to fly for sport. Solution of these problems will take several months, it was indicated.

Money Rises Again.

Those traders who found the renewal rate of 8 per cent, which was posted yesterday morning and which held throughout the day, a disappointment, coming as it did on top of a closing rate of 6 per cent on last Friday, found little sympathy in more informed quarters. Among bankers and money-brokers, Friday's low closing rate was looked upon as something of a freak, produced by a combination of circumstances, not the least of which was the fact that a newly formed investment trust found itself at the close of the week with a large amount of funds for which it was necessary to find employment over the week-end.

Reserve Bank and Sterling Bills.

The suggestion that the Federal Reserve has been a buyer of sterling bills lately finds little support among bankers. It seems not unlikely that had the Reserve bank been buying acceptances in the London market, or picking up such sterling bills as were in the hands of local bankers, some stimulating effect upon sterling exchange would have been seen. The Federal Reserve does not list purchases of foreign bills separately from those of dollar acceptances. All bill holdings of the system are lumped under one heading. Local bill dealers yesterday expressed the opinion that the increase in Federal Reserve's bill portfolio shown during recent weeks would no more than account for the acquisition of dollar acceptances, whether by sales contracts or purchase for own account.

London Bank Rate and Gold.

Bankers who have been watching with interest developments in the situation of the Bank of England saw distinct encouragement in the tone of the week-end cables from London. While the "City" is apparently resigned to an advance in the bank rate this week, the fact that the Bank of England has lost comparatively little gold during the last two weeks has produced a more cheerful point of view in Wall Street. Reports from London yesterday were that bullion brokers looked for the Bank of England to secure a good part of the £965,000 which will become available today in the open market. Although sterling has been unable to show improvement, bankers here are of the opinion that little gold is likely to find its way to this side, chiefly because of the adverse publicity involved. Whatever shipments do come, it was said yesterday, may be brought very quietly, as was the case with two recent transfers, aggregating more than $3,000,000.

Advertising a Stock.

One of the country's biggest traders once remarked that from the speculative standpoint, at least, the tape was the best medium for advertising a particular stock. In the present situation of the stock market, with thousands of traders waiting to "jump aboard" any stock which shows signs of life and strength, the old axiom has proved to be true. It was reflected yesterday in the move in two stocks, Standard Brands and Mansville. When big blocks of stock, 5,000, 10,000 and 15,000 shares in the case of Standard Brands, began to come out on the tickers, there was a rush all around the Street to get some of those stocks. Possibly this is just what the pool managers had figured on. So many "moves" have come out of a clear sky in recent markets that any number of persons are merely sitting on the sidelines awaiting unusual activity in any particular stock before getting back into the market.

The New Paper Currency.

Now that the issuance of the new paper currency has reached a stage when it has supplanted a considerable number of the old bills, paying tellers in several local banks are beginning to complain that the new bills must be scrutinized more carefully than the old ones. The fact that the new bills are considerably smaller somewhat offsets the advantage in the large figures showing the denominations. Several tellers have suggested that while the Treasury was about it, it would have been a boon to the professional handlers of money to have had the bills of various denominations printed in distinctive colors, as is the French paper currency, instead of in the usual green, black and white, varied only by yellow for the gold certificates.

MONEY.

Stock Exchange call money was steady all day at 8 per cent. There was a good supply on hand for which inquiry was equally good, particularly in last hour. About $20,000,000 was called by the banks. Time money was quiet and unchanged at 8¼@9 per cent. Business money likewise developed no change in discount from last week.

Business: Railway and Light Securities Company was incorporated in 1928 under Delaware laws as successor to a Maine corporation of the same name organized in 1904. With a record of successful operations for a period of 25 years, it is one of the oldest organizations in the investment company field in the country. Broad charter powers enable the company to invest in governmental, public utility, railroad and industrial, and other securities and make possible a flexible investment policy under which changing business and economic conditions can be utilized to maximum advantage.

The wide diversification of the Company's present holdings which include bonds of 42 and stocks of 48 companies, provides an exceptional degree of stability of income. The total portfolio market value as of August 31, 1929 adjusted to reflect subscription on September 5, 1929 to 49,985 shares of new common stock at $85 per share, is represented approximately 6% by foreign bonds, 13% by domestic bonds, 2% by preferred stocks, 50% by common stocks, and 29% by cash and call loans. The common stock holdings in terms of the company's total portfolio are distributed approximately as follows: public utility stocks, 32%; steam railroad stocks, 6%; industrial and bank stocks, 12%.

Balance for Common		$1,792,974
Common Dividend Requirements:

These earnings do not reflect any benefit from the $4,248,725 cash proceeds from subscription to 49,985 shares new common stock which, however, are included in the capitalization shown above and in the calculation of dividend requirements.

The earnings per share of common stock since 1925, including only profits actually realized, have averaged over $10 per share per annum and if the increment on unrealized profits is added this average is increased to $20 per share, based on average number of no par value shares outstanding.

Dividends: The Company and its predecessor have paid regular dividends on the common stock since 1913, the present cash rate of $2 per annum having been initiated with the August, 1926 payment. Extra dividends have been paid in each year since 1923, $2 per share having been distributed in each of the past three years. Stockholders also received valuable rights in 1926, 1928 and 1929, bringing the total return during the last four years from dividends and rights combined to the equivalent of about $7 per share per annum.

BETHLEHEM STEEL MAY OFFER STOCK

PRICE IS TO BE ABOUT $110

Proceeds Will Be Used to Retire Part of Funded Indebtedness, Including Bond Issues.

An offering of additional common stock of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation will be made to shareholders shortly as part of a plan to retire some of the company's funded indebtedness, according to reports in Wall Street yesterday. Although official confirmation was lacking, it was understood that the plan had been under consideration for some time and that an announcement would be made within a few weeks.

According to one report Bethlehem will offer something like 800,000 additional common shares at about $110 each in the ratio of one new share for every three owned. Such an offering would bring to the company's treasury about $88,000,000, or more than enough to retire the principal outstanding bond issues, exclusive of the bonds of subsidiary companies.

At the end of last year Bethlehem and subsidiaries had outstanding a total funded debt of $199,421,172. The parent company had outstanding $50,166,000 of 6 per cent bonds which mature on Aug. 1, 1948; $22,941,500 of 5½ per cent bonds which mature on Feb. 1, 1953, and $9,960,000 of 5 per cent bonds which mature in 1929 and 1932. Another issue amounting to $1,227,825, with a 6 per cent rate, will be retired automatically by the end of 1932. The bonded indebtedness of subsidiary companies at the end of last year amounted to $114,450,033.

It is believed that the company will retire first the $50,166,000 issue of 6 per cent bonds and the $22,941,500 of 5½ per cent bonds. The 6s are callable at 105 and the 5½s at 107. It is understood that some of both issues has been acquired already this year under sinking fund arrangements.

A total of $52,674,300 would be required to retire the whole 6 per cent issue and $24,547,405 to retire the 5½s. Should the corporation decide to retire these and issue 800,000 additional shares of common for the purpose, it would have left a balance of more than $10,000,000 which might be used for the retirement of other issues.

Bethlehem earlier this year offered shareholders the right to subscribe for 600,000 additional shares of common at $85 a share in the ratio of one new share for every three owned. The proceeds are being used for property improvements.

It is understood that the proceeds from this financing will be used to provide additional cash for carrying out the present expansion plans of the corporation, controlling interest in which was acquired recently by the Associated Gas and Electric Company.

SEES LIMITATIONS FOR AIR TRANSPORT

USED ONLY AS TIME SAVER

Storey Also Points to High Freight Rates on Planes—Finds Outlook Bright for His Company.

The airplane will afford slight competition with the railroad, W. D. Storey, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé, said yesterday. This railroad is one of the links in the transcontinental air-rail services.

"The airplane does not compete in point of passenger business because of its expense," said Mr. Storey. "The airplane is used solely by a few persons to whom time is extremely valuable. The motor vehicle competes with us in passenger traffic, because it can operate on publicly owned roads at lower costs and it can, at times, provide service more convenient than can the railroads. No such competition in point of cost and convenience is afforded by the airplane.

"In point of freight, the railroad can afford service at rates far below what the airplane can quote. This applies even to express shipments. The Railway Express Agency provides pick-up and delivery service for the airplane companies which they could not afford to undertake themselves. However, aviation has afforded us no competition to speak of in point of express service."

Rumors were circulated in aviation circles recently that the Railway Express Agency might go into partnership with airplane lines. Mr. Storey, who directed the acquisition of the express business by the railroads and who is a director of the Railway Express Agency, said that he had no knowledge of any such move.

Mr. Storey early this Summer predicted there would be little export response to the cut in grain rates made by the railroads at the request of the administration early this year.

"There has been so little demand by foreign buyers for wheat," said Mr. Storey, "that there has had to be an embargo on shipments to seaboard. The temporary cut in rates made at the request of the administration will expire this month. However, the Kansas City Southern has made a cut of lesser extent on grain rates between Kansas City and the Gulf. The other railroads have met this cut, so that presumably it will not result in any diversion of traffic to the Kansas City Southern."

Mr. Storey said that he expected the second half of the year to be as good, or better, than the second half of 1928 for the Santa Fé.

"We started off well with a gain of $2,000,000 in July net," he continued. "Although the Winter wheat crop in the United States this year was smaller than last year, in our territory it was good. Up to Sept. 5, we had handled about 57,000 cars of wheat, against 50,000 on the same date in 1928, and 30,000 in 1927. Part of the gain over 1928 resulted, of course, from the movement of carry-over wheat. There is still a lot of wheat in our territory. Farmers began to hold it as soon as the price began to rise.

"The condition of the corn crop in our territory is not so good, but it is not an important factor in our traffic. The California deciduous fruit crop was materially curtailed by frost. To date we have handled several thousand more cars of citrous fruits than a year ago."

Coupons attached to these debentures (denomination $1,000 only) will entitle the holders thereof to receive, semi-annually, common stock (and/or scrip) at the rate of one-third of a share, or $27.50 in cash, for each coupon, at the option of the holder, under the conditions set forth below.

Each debenture will carry a stock purchase warrant, detachable on or after March 15, 1930, entitling the holder thereof to purchase, on or before September 15, 1934, 10 shares of common stock of the company, at prices determined by the order in which the warrants are exercised, the holders thereof paying for the shares so purchased at the following rates: $89 a share for the first 62,500 shares, $94 a share for the second 62,500 shares, $99 a share for the third 62,500 shares and $104 a share for the remaining 62,500 shares.

The following information has been summarized by Mr. C. F. Stone, President of Central States Electric Corporation, from his letter dated September 9, 1929, copies of which may be obtained upon request, and is subject to the more complete information contained therein:

COMPANY AND ASSETS

Central States Electric Corporation was organized under the laws of Virginia in 1912. The company's largest investment is in the common stock of The North American Company, in which it is the largest single stockholder. The company also has a controlling interest in the common (Class B) stock of American Cities Power and Light Corporation and a substantial investment in the common stock of Electric Shareholdings Corporation, which corporations in turn have large holdings in the common stocks of important public utility holding and operating companies.

In addition, Central States Electric Corporation owns 2,375,000 shares of the common stock and 375,000 shares of the preferred stock (par value $50 per share) of Shenandoah Corporation, the organization of which in July, 1929 was sponsored by Central States Electric Corporation and The Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation.

The value of the assets of Central States Electric Corporation, as at August 31, 1929, as shown by the balance sheet as at that date, but adjusted to give effect to (a) the issuance of these debentures, (b) transactions incident to the acquisition on September 5, 1929 of stock of Shenandoah Corporation, and (c) the market value of investments (including the investment in Shenandoah Corporation) based upon closing quotations on the New York Stock Exchange and the New York Curb Exchange on September 6, 1929, after deducting all current and accrued liabilities but before deducting any funded debt, was in excess of $350,000,000.

CAPITALIZATION

The capitalization of the company, as at August 31, 1929, but adjusted to include the $25,000,000 principal amount of debentures now offered, is as follows:

	Authorized	Outstanding
Debentures
5% Convertible Debentures, Series due 1948		$19,326,000
Optional 5½% Debentures, Series due 1954 (this issue)		25,000,000
7% (first) Preferred Stock—Cumulative (par value $100 a share)	$ 7,543,300	7,543,300
Serial Preferred Stock—Cumulative (par value $100 a share)	75,000,000
6% Series		10,340,000
Optional Dividend Series—Convertible		4,215,400
Optional Series of 1929—Convertible		6,808,900
Common Stock (without par value)	10,000,000 shares	8,280,850 shares

*The indenture under which the 5% Convertible Debentures, Series due 1948, were issued provides for the issue of debentures thereunder in an aggregate amount of $50,000,000 at any one time outstanding; and the indenture under which the Optional 5½% Debentures, Series due 1954, are to be issued, is to permit the issue of additional debentures thereunder without limit as to amount.

$19,326,000 par value of Preferred Stock, 6% Series, is reserved for the conversion of the $19,326,000 principal amount of 5% Convertible Debentures, Series due 1948.

Of the shares authorized but not outstanding, shares have heretofore been reserved as follows: (a) 387,426 shares for conversion of outstanding preferred stocks, (b) 848,010 shares for dividends payable on outstanding preferred stocks, representing the present maximum stock dividend requirement on such stocks for a period of more than 20 years, and (c) 207,020 shares for a dividend of 2½% payable on common stock on October 1, 1929. The company also has an obligation, arising out of its participation in the organization of an associated company, to issue to such company, under certain contingencies, upon payment of a nominal additional consideration, a maximum of 480,770 shares of its common stock. It is expected that at an early date stockholders' action will be taken increasing the authorized amount of the company's common stock to a total of 20,000,000 shares. Upon such increase becoming effective the company is to reserve from its authorized but unissued stock 250,000 shares to provide for the issue of common stock upon the exercise of all of the warrants to be attached to these debentures and 416,667 shares to meet the maximum stock interest requirements of these debentures for the full twenty-five year period of their life. The company has made arrangements with interests holding large amounts of its stock whereby, pending an increase of its authorized common stock, the company may acquire sufficient shares of its now outstanding common stock to meet from time to time the requirements of the debentures and the warrants.

The majority of the company's common stock is controlled by interests identified with the affairs of The North American Company. The present market value of such common stock, as evidenced by quotations on the New York Curb Exchange, is approximately $78 per share.

INCOME

Income and expenses of the company for the twelve-month periods ended August 31, 1928 and August 31, 1929 have been certified by Messrs. Touche, Niven & Co., as follows:

RISE IN COMMODITY OUTPUT

A study of production for the first eight months of the year, according to the business review published in the current number of The American Bankers Association Journal, reveals increased outputs of most of three dozen major commodities by comparison with the corresponding eight months of 1928, and an average gain of approximately 15 per cent for the group. Business enters the Autumn season, the Journal finds, with industrial production at a high level and with retail trade quite satisfactory. It also reports the outlook for Fall business as one of promise.

"Merchandising chains are slowing down on their program of opening new stores," the Journal says, "and the wholesaler and independent retailer seem to be working out plans involving mergers, cooperative buying and profit-sharing. Such a vast volume of business as has been done this year and the relatively stable price level have made earnings soar to new high rewards, and it is significant that in most instances the net profits have increased much faster than have gross revenues, indicating further progress made toward efficiency in industry and transportation. Employment is large, payrolls are above a year ago and industrial disputes are found in only a few centres.

"Money rates behaved better last month than earlier in the Summer, but if any banker does not yet realize that a credit strain exists he should analyze the entire portfolio of his own loans and discounts and calculate the average rate that would apply on all of the paper held. He will probably find it the highest for years back, and to be compared only with the period of 1919-20-21. Action by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in raising the rediscount rate to check speculation and concurrently lowering the bill rate to help business is interpreted as an unusual experiment, which took the financial world by surprise and may accomplish the ends intended, although many private authorities express doubt as to the possibility of controlling credit into specific channels, regardless of rates offered.

"During the past twelve months member banks have increased their secured loans by $768,000,000 and their commercial loans by $421,000,000, disposing of $442,000,000 of security holdings in order to do so, yet at the same time the loans to brokers by 'others' have expanded an additional $1,588,000,000."

Appointments by Prudential.

Directors of the Prudential Insurance Company of America approved the following appointments yesterday: F. A. C. Baker, Henry B. Sutphen and John L. Mackin, assistant secretaries, promoted to be second vice presidents; J. F. Little, associate actuary, to second vice president and associate actuary; Arthur C. Metz and R. H. Harris, supervisors, to assistant secretaries; William H. Bettner and H. H. Parberry from division managers to supervisors.

New Chase National Dividend Calls for $21,000,000 a Year

The new $4 dividend rate on shares of the Chase National Bank calls for a dividend disbursement of $21,000,000 annually, according to an announcement sent out last night.

There are at present outstanding 5,250,000 shares of the $20 par value stock of the Chase bank and an equal number of shares of the no par value stock of the Chase Securities Corporation. Each shareholder of the Chase National Bank holds a like number of shares of the Chase Securities Corporation, the shares being inseparable. The new dividend represents an advance over the old rate of $18 annually, paid prior to the recent five-for-one split-up of the old $100 par value shares.

ORGANIZE TO HOLD CHAIN-STORE GROUPS

G. B. Wearen and Others Form Development Corporation With Wide Interests.

ENTER METROPOLITAN FIELD

Operations Include Dairy Products Establishments—165,000 Shares the Authorized Capital.

Announcement was made yesterday of the formation of the Chain Stores Development Corporation, a management and holding company, which will operate in the chain store field. The corporation has been chartered under the laws of Delaware. It is headed by George B. Wearen, as president. Mr. Wearen was founder of the Missouri-Illinois Stores Corporation, which consisted of a chain of 151 stores when it was sold recently to the Kroger Grocery and Baking Corporation.

The new company has an authorized capitalization of 165,000 shares of stock, all of one class. Its interests in the chain store field will be diversified. At the beginning, however, it will concentrate on grocery and food store chains. It will control each organization in which it is interested. Among the advantages expected are centralization of subsidiary companies and improvements in management.

At the outset the company will control Standard Dairy Stores, Inc., which will operate a group of food stores in New York City, selling dairy products. The chain will be among the largest in the dairy field in the metropolitan district.

The corporation will also control the "M" System Stores Corporation operating in fourteen States throughout the South and Southwest. It will also own contracts providing for the acquisition of a group of seventy-three stores in Western Texas and Oklahoma. This group of stores will be among the largest operating in this territory.

The new corporation will also control a supply company which will centralize purchasing for the entire system, and will distribute merchandise under brands controlled by the corporation. In addition, the controlling company will be active in banking and financial operations.

The board of directors of the holding company includes chain store executives, business men and bankers. The organizing group is being managed by Newton & Townsend, Inc., of New York.

CHANGES IN GULF OIL GROUP

Resignation of G. S. Davison Said to Foreshadow New Mellon Trust.

Reports from Pittsburgh yesterday that George S. Davison had resigned as president of the Gulf Refining Company and vice president of the Gulf Oil Company, and from the directorates of twenty other companies affiliated with the Gulf interests, renewed rumors which have been current for several weeks that the Mellon corporation interests are to be vested in a trust company. Mr. Davison always has been recognized as the representative of the Mellon interests, which own the Gulf companies. The announced reason for his resignation, which will become effective on Oct. 1, was that he would devote himself to his duties as president of the recently formed Davison Coke Company.

G. R. Nutty was elected president of the Gulf Refining Company and also vice president of Gulf Oil to succeed Mr. Davison, according to the report. F. A. Leavy was elected president of the Gulf Pipe Line Company and associated producing companies.

RECORDING THE WORLD'S WISDOM

FROM generation to generation, through the medium of paper, the written word has preserved the accumulated knowledge and experience of all mankind. For seventy-five years Michigan mills have played a major part in supplying the paper for recording America's achievement.

More than a million tons of paper are produced annually by Michigan mills. Finest parchments, book, writing, blotting and wrapping papers, newsprint and box board are all included in the state's output.

One company alone contributes more than 400,000 pounds of fine book paper daily while the largest box board plant in the world, also located in Michigan, produces 600,000 pounds each day. Michigan's paper industry supports an annual payroll of more than $20,000,000.

Through common stock investments the public participates in the growth of American industry. Careful study and long association with many types of financing place Keane, Higbie & Co. in a position to render expert counsel, both to industry requiring new capital and to those seeking sound investments in securities of the Middle West

U.S. RUBBER TO FORM FUNDS FOR BONUSES

MANAGERS SHARE PROFITS

Plan Involves Creation of Trust, to Which 100,000 Common Shares Will Be Issued.

Details of plans whereby employes of the United States Rubber Company may earn bonuses, and the managers of the company may share in profits, were announced yesterday. The plans, known as the bonus plan and the managers' shares plan, will be submitted to stockholders for approval at a meeting on Oct. 15. The bonus plan provides for three kinds of bonuses.

The three classes of awards under the bonus plan are referred to as Class A, Class B and Class C. Class Awards may be granted for conspicuous service of any kind and will be granted irrespective of the earnings of the company, each case to be considered on its merits. Class B bonus awards may be granted to those who have contributed most in a general way to the success of the company by their ability, industry or loyalty. These awards are to be made from a special fund which the directors will form according to specific instructions. Awards in the Class A and Class B bonuses may be made in any form which the directors may determine. Under the plan the directors may issue common shares of the company not to exceed 150,000 shares in the aggregate to pay the awards.

The Class C bonus provides for awards to employes who equal or excel standards of performance. Awards in this class are not dependent upon earnings, and may be combined or used in conjunction with awards under the Class A or Class B awards.

The managers' shares plan involves the formation of a trust fund to which the company will issue 100,000 shares of the common stock, at $35 a share, receiving in return 100,000 trust shares of no par value. The company agrees to credit to the fund a sum equal to the amount which goes into the fund for the payment of the awards under the Class B bonuses. When the payments to the fund from the company have aggregated $3,000,000 and upon receipt by the company of $35 a share for each of the trust fund shares, through their sale to employes of the company occupying responsible positions upon prices and terms to be fixed by the finance committee, the common shares of the company turned over to the trust will be deemed fully paid.

BANK GETS ARGENTINE GOLD

The Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company yesterday announced that it had received $1,000,000 in gold coin consigned to it by the Banco de la Nacion, Argentina, which came in on the steamship Northern Prince on Sept. 4. Including this shipment, the Central Hanover has received $6,500,000 in gold from Argentina this year.

The Banco de la Republic of Bogota is shipping $3,000,000 in gold to the Central Hanover, it was further announced, the transfer to be made in instalments in September and October. This will constitute the first shipment of gold by the Colombian bank to one of its correspondents since it was established in July, 1923.

From Jan. 1 to Sept. 4, the date of the last Federal Reserve statement of gold movements, $60,877,000 in gold had been received in this country from Argentina. Argentina also has recently suffered a substantial loss of the metal to European countries. Despite the heavy losses of gold which Argentina has suffered, the country's gold holdings are still high, compared to those of most other nations.

$25,000,000 BONDS OF UTILITY OFFERED

OPTIONAL INTEREST PLAN

Holders May Elect to Receive Third of Common Share Semiannually or $27.50 in Cash.

Offering of a new issue of $25,000,000 Central States Electric Corporation 5½ per cent debentures, due in 1954, will be made today at 99½. The offering group will be composed of Dillon, Read & Co.; Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc.; E. H. Rollins & Sons, Dominick & Dominick and Shields & Co., Inc. A feature of the issue will be an optional privilege whereby the holder of each $1,000 debenture may elect to receive interest at the semiannual rate of one-third of a share of the common stock instead of a cash payment of $27.50.

In addition, the debentures will carry common stock subscription warrants, detachable after March 15, 1930, entitling the holder of each $1,000 debenture to purchase up to Sept. 15, 1934, ten shares of the common stock. Prices will be determined by the order in which the warrants are exercised, at the rate of $89 a share for the first 62,500 shares, $94 a share for the second 62,500, $99 a share for the third such block and $104 a share for the remaining 62,500 shares.

The corporation is the largest single stockholder of the North American Company and has a controlling interest in the Class B common stock of the American Cities Power and Light Corporation, as well as a substantial investment in the common stock of the Electric Shareholdings Corporation. The corporation recently participated in the formation of the Shenandoah Corporation.

OTHER BOND FLOTATIONS.

Federal Screw Works.

A new issue of $2,000,000 Federal Screw Works convertible 6½ per cent ten-year notes will be placed on the market today at 99½ by Bauer, Pogue, Pond & Vivian and Folds, Buck & Co. Each $1,000 note will be convertible into twelve shares of common stock until Sept. 1, 1931, thereafter to Sept. 1, 1933, into ten shares, and thereafter to Sept. 1, 1935, into eight shares. The company has extended its operations through the acquisition of the Superior Screw and Bolt Manufacturing Company of Cleveland and is now one of the largest factors in this line in the country.

American Fuel and Power.

Offering will be made shortly of a new issue of $2,000,000 American Fuel and Power Company five-year secured 7 per cent convertible notes by the Freeman, Smith & Camp Company. The proceeds will be used for extending operations to new markets, the acquisition of additional producing properties and additions and improvements. The company produces and distributes natural gas for industrial purposes in the Ohio Valley in Kentucky, West Virginia and Ohio.

MUNICIPAL LOANS.

State of Illinois.

Three and possibly four major syndicates are planning to submit bids tomorrow on the issue of $11,000,000 State of Illinois 4½ per cent highway bonds to be sold at auction. The groups will be headed, respectively, by the Guaranty Company of New York, Lehman Brothers, the First National Bank, New York, and the National City Company. However, it is believed that two of the groups may elect to combine as was the case at the last sale held on June 17, 1929, when $10,000,000 highway 4s were awarded to the Guaranty Company of New York and the Continental Illinois Company, Inc., and associates at 93.775, or a 4.42 per cent basis.

The present issue, like its predecessors, can be sold below par. Illinois remains one of the few States in the Union which employ the auction method of sale instead of sealed bidding. Under the terms of sale, the State has announced that it does not contemplate the offering of any further highway bonds before Dec. 1, 1929.

In making formal announcement of its plans to market an issue of $7,500,000 4½ per cent road bonds, series K, due Oct. 1, 1948 to 1952, on September 18, the State revealed that the new issue cannot be sold at a price less than 95. The State agrees to deliver the bonds on or before Oct. 15, 1929.

State of New Mexico.

The State of New Mexico plans to open sealed bids on Oct. 10 on a new issue of $2,000,000 highway bonds, maturing serially from Oct. 1, 1934 to 1939. Bidders are asked to name the rate of interest at not to exceed 6 per cent.

Nashville, Tenn.

A new issue of $745,000 City of Nashville (Tenn.) bonds will be awarded on Sept. 24. The issue will consist of $390,000 street improvement bonds, due Oct. 1, 1935 to 1949. Bidders are required to stipulate the rate of interest at not to exceed 6 per cent. The last time the city was in the market was June 21, 1928, with an issue of $795,000 4½s and 4½s, which were awarded at a price of 100.07, or a 4.67 per cent basis.

Harrison, N. Y.

Award of an issue of $380,000 Town of Harrison (N. Y.) bonds, consisting of $209,000 waterworks bonds, due June 1, 1930 to 1967, and $171,000 highway bonds, due Sept. 1, 1931 to 1948, has been made to Lehman Brothers and the Manufacturers and Traders-Peoples Trust Co. of Buffalo, at their joint bid of 100.319 for the waterworks bonds as 5s and the highway bonds as 5½s, on an all-or-none basis. There were six other bids.

BOND INTEREST JUDGMENT.

BOSTON, Sept. 9 (AP).—Judge Elias B. Bishop of the Suffolk Superior Court today issued an order of judgment for $3,389,316 against the United States Worsted Company of Boston on a bill in equity brought by the Old Colony Trust Company as trustee. The bill was brought on an issue of $2,852,100 in debenture bonds of the worsted company and alleged failure to pay interest on the bonds in 1927, 1928 and 1929.

This is the first judgment to be entered under a general law passed in 1928 which authorizes an entry of judgment in cases in which there is said to be no defense for a debt. The judgment will become effective if the worsted company fails within seven days to demand a trial.

MOST BONDS DECLINE, U. S. ISSUES ARE FIRM

Convertibles Generally Are Included in Recession, but Foreign Loans Change Little.

Bond prices tended lower yesterday, convertibles and many straight mortgage issues showing substantial declines. United States Government bonds, however, were firm and foreign loans showed few relatively important changes for the day.

American Telephone and Telegraph convertible 4½s dropped 3½ points, International Telephone convertible 4½s, 3½ points; Alleghany Corporation 5s of 1944, off 1 point; the 5s of 1949, off ¼; Santa Fé convertible 4½s, off 2 points; American I. G. Chemical 5½s, off half a point; Commercial Investment Trust convertible 5½s and New Haven convertible 6s, off ¼ of a point.

One of the biggest gains of the day was scored by the active Tennessee Copper and Chemical 6s, which jumped 5⅞ points, closing at 110, a new high. Oil, steel and rubber issues were dull and irregular.

Southern Pacific 4½s, with warrants, moved up ⅝ of a point to within a fraction of the high of par reached last week. Soo Line 5s dropped 3½ points and the 4s, 2¾ points, in light trading.

All of the active Liberty and Treasury issues were higher, closing up 1-32d to 10-32ds, with the single exception of the Liberty 3½s, which were down 5-32ds. The best demand was for the Treasury 4¼s, which enjoyed the principal advance.

Foreign loans provided but few features. The City of Cordoba sold off fractionally to a new low at 93¾, Rio de Janeiro 8s of 1946 to a new low at 104½ and the 6½s of 1953 at 88. The latter issue was down more than a point.

LISTED ON THE CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE

Business and Territory: Keystone Water Works and Electric Corporation, incorporated in 1927 under the laws of the State of Delaware as Keystone Water Works Corporation furnishes, through operating subsidiary companies, electric power and light and/or water service to about 44,000 customers in 94 communities located in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Arkansas, having a combined population of about 200,000, and ice service in 27 communities in Georgia, North Carolina and Kentucky, having a combined population of about 370,000.

The electric properties comprise an interconnected system of 191 miles of transmission and 705 miles of distribution pole lines in Ohio and West Virginia serving approximately 9,000 customers with electricity for power and light. A subsidiary purchases power, under a favorable contract, from the Ohio Public Service Company, and furnishes power, at wholesale to the Cleveland and Southwestern Railway and to four municipally owned distributing systems.

The water service system comprises over 400 miles of mains, distributing water to over 35,000 customers, and includes 1,976 hydrants. The water supply in the territories served is considered adequate for present and estimated future needs.

The Company's ice system includes 18 manufacturing plants with an aggregate daily capacity of 1,060 tons, and adequate delivery equipment. The territory served has a population of about 370,000 and includes Wilson, Rocky Mount, Goldsboro, Kinston, Henderson, Fayetteville, Weldon, Elizabeth City, Washington and Greenville, North Carolina; Corbin, Kentucky, and Savannah, Georgia.

The properties throughout the system are maintained in excellent physical condition and are capable of economical operation and expansion.

The territory served by the system is highly diversified, both as to industrial and agricultural developments, having many rapidly growing communities, and gives indications of substantial increase in the future business of the system.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—The new Stock Exchange account has opened well, firm features prevailing today in nearly every department. Monetary uncertainties are still a deciding factor, but gilt-edges showed a stronger tendency toward the close. The 5 per cent war loan hardened to £101 and the conversion 3½ per cent loan to £72 13-16.

The improved tone in Wall Street over the week-end was followed by a general rally in leading Anglo-American securities. Hydroelectric was 30% after jumping to 32, and International Holding was 12%. Margarine Uni jumped to a new high level of 130s, later falling to 129s 4½d, while Margarine Union sold higher at 121s 3d.

There was some buying in Rolls-Royce following the result of the Schneider race, but the price eventually was unchanged at 52s 6d after 55s. Imperial Airways at 31s was unaffected by the India mail disaster. In the talking machines, Columbia Graphophone was strong at £14⅝ on New York buying, stirred by the amalgamation talk. His Master's Voice Graphophone also was good at £7½.

Rayons were quiet, but Lancashire textiles were harder. Oils were a better market under the lead of Royal Dutch at £34⅞. Anglo-Persian also was active at £4 9-32. Rubber showed an increase of 1,805 tons in the commodity and was 1-8 lower at 10 1-16d. Renewed American and other buying developed in Rhodesian Mining, a Bwana cable being the mainspring of the latest activity. Bwana rose from 34s to 34s 9d, while the Rhodesian Anglo-American was firm at £2 9-16.

Credit was less plentiful in Lombard Street owing to the usual calling of funds by some banks and the absence of treasury bill maturities. A rate of 4½ per cent for overnight loans was paid during the early hours. Later the charge eased down to 4 per cent. In the discount market business was chiefly confined to short-time bills. The Bank of England sold £176,764 of bar gold for Germany. Sterling on New York was steady at $4.84 11-16—$4.84⅝.

Quiet Session in Paris.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The Bourse was irregular at the close after a firm opening today. The session was rather quiet as a whole and the volume of trading was lighter. Good reports from Amsterdam regarding Anglo-Dutch oil stocks and the firm Wall Street market influenced the Bourse favorably in that none of the gains registered at the close of Friday's market was lost.

Chemicals, rails and electricals made slight advances and the banks were resistant. Rentes were steady, closing as follows: The 5 per cents, 76.85; 1913 4s, 85.40; 1920 amortizable 5s, 128.55; 1928 5s, 102.32; 1920 6s, 104.90; amortizable 6s, 112.25.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—The Boerse began the new week with a slightly firmer tendency. Stimulated by the easier money market, several purchasing orders from abroad and Rhineland, primarily for mining stocks and the potash group, many markets improved, though outside of the mining group the volume of trading was restricted.

Siemens shares, Telephon Berliner and Artificial Silks were also sought and were well improved. That Boerse circles, however, still are very nervous became evident at the beginning of the second hour, when a single rumor about an insolvency of a textile firm sufficed to cause a general decline. Toward the close the tendency became again firmer.

SPEEDS NICKEL WORKINGS.

Head of International Company Reports Satisfactory Progress.

Following the annual meeting of stockholders of the International Nickel Company, R. C. Stanley, president, said yesterday that the recent progress of the company had been satisfactory to the directors. Construction was up to schedule and the power plant of the Spanish River was operating.

Progress in the construction of the new smelter of the company was proceeding satisfactorily, Mr. Stanley said, and unless something unforeseen developed, the smelter should be ready to begin operations by midsummer, 1930. Development at the mines is being carried on to have them ready to meet the requirements of the smelter when operations begin there.

Copies of a letter from Mr. George B. Clifford, President of the Corporation, with reference to the Corporation, its Capital Stock and the Voting Trust may be obtained from the undersigned. Mr. Clifford has summarized this letter in part as follows:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS

"The Cream of Wheat Corporation, incorporated under the laws of Delaware in March, 1929, acquired the entire properties and assets, subject to the liabilities, of Cream of Wheat Company, a North Dakota corporation. The business, an outgrowth of a small flour mill, consists of the processing and sale of "Cream of Wheat", a breakfast cereal.

Cream of Wheat is regularly stocked by practically every wholesale grocer and retail and chain grocery store in the United States and Canada, and is obtainable in almost every country in the civilized world. Cream of Wheat is finding its place in the diet of foreign peoples, and in 1928 was sold in 55 countries. Sales outside of the United States and Canada have doubled in the last three years and are being materially helped by increased advertising expenditures in the British Isles and South Africa.

A continuous advertising policy has been maintained for many years. With little space used at the start, advertising expenditures have been increased until now the space used represents one of the greatest advertising efforts put behind any one cereal product.

EARNINGS AND DIVIDENDS

The consolidated net profits of The Cream of Wheat Corporation and its predecessor and subsidiary companies, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., after all charges including income taxes, for the four years ended December 31, 1928, were as follows:

Years Ended December 31	Net Profits	Per share on 600,000 shares of Capital Stock
1926	1,354,921.90	2.25
1927	1,608,212.72	2.68
1928	1,702,326.31	2.83

The net profits as defined above for the six months ended June 30, 1929, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., were $860,233.06, equivalent to $1.43 per share, as compared with $768,316.63, equivalent to $1.31 per share, for the corresponding period of 1928, as shown by the books of the predecessor and subsidiary companies.

Dividends on the Capital Stock are being paid currently at the annual rate of $2.00 per share.

VOTING TRUST

All of the Capital Stock of The Cream of Wheat Corporation has been deposited under a ten-year Voting Trust Agreement, the purpose of which is to insure continuity of the same management which has built the business up to its present successful position."

The Corporation has agreed to make application to list the Voting Trust Certificates on the New York Stock Exchange

Five Per Cent. Adjustment Mortgage Gold Bonds, due 1949

Dated May 27, 1929

Deposits of Adjustment Bonds under the Plan at the close of business September 6, 1929—the last day fixed for the receipt of such deposits—aggregated $21,146,000, being in excess of 84% of the total of $25,000,000 of these bonds outstanding.

The Company and the Committee regard such deposits as sufficient to justify them in proceeding toward the consummation of the Plan.

Pending completion of the necessary steps to this end futher deposits of Adjustment Bonds will be accepted to and including September 30, 1929, on the terms stated in the Plan.

THE PRIVILEGE OF MAKING SUCH FURTHER DEPOSITS WILL TERMINATE AT THE CLOSE OF BUSINESS ON SEPTEMBER 30, 1929.

After September 30, 1929 the privilege of depositing Adjustment Bonds under the Plan either will be completely withdrawn, or, if continued, will be modified so that Adjustment Bonds deposited after that date will receive less favorable terms than those stated in the Plan.

Holders of undeposited Adjustment Bonds wishing to deposit their Bonds on the terms stated in the Plan must deposit them before the close of business September 30, 1929 either with The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, (successor New York Depositary) 214 Broadway, New York City, or with Barclays Bank Limited, Chief Foreign Branch, 168 Fenchurch Street, London, E. BRITISH IN ARGENTINA GET $40,000,000 ORDER

Economic Mission Also Agrees to Buy an Equal Amount Through Trade Channels.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 9.—Argentina is going to buy $40,000,000 worth of British manufactures within the next two years as a result, it was officially announced tonight, of the visit of the British economic mission of industrialists under the leadership of Viscount d'Abernon.

The success of Lord d'Abernon and his five colleagues was revealed in a Foreign Office communiqué which reads:

"One of the results of the conferences has been the negotiation of a provisional agreement which should be of the utmost value to the trade and commercial relations between the two countries. The details are still under consideration, but the purpose is to make provision for the purchase in the next two years of British manufactures amounting to about $40,000,000 required by the Argentine Government for railways and public works in return for the purchase through trade channels of Argentine food products to a similar value."

The foundations of the British effort in Argentina were laid by the Prince of Wales on his six-week tour of South America in 1925, which resulted immediately in the formation of the Anglo-South American Association in any attempt to recapture markets lost during and after the great war.

"One Car— One Baby— Two Mortgages"

The fact that the ownership of a home is, today, something to which every American family can reasonably aspire is due, in great part, to the development of a sound and equitable system of second mortgage financing.

In this development the United States Bond & Mortgage Corporation has led the way. This corporation is a nation-wide institution, with a chain of 14 subsidiaries in the important financial centers. It has a national directorate of outstanding bankers, business men, lawyers, realtors and mortgage financiers. In applying to second mortgage finance sound and established banking principles, the corporation has so systematized the lending of money on second mortgage security as to make it fair to the borrower and safe for the lender.

Now _____ through an issue of CONVERTIBLE 6½% GUARANTEED BONDS, the Corporation is granting the investing public an opportunity to share in the profits of its steadily increasing business. Such an opportunity for profits with guaranteed safety has never before, so far as we know, been offered in the field of real estate investment.

The book "BOND SAFETY AND STOCK PROFITS" tells the whole story simply, clearly and fully. A copy is waiting for you. Send the coupon ..... NOW!

Is It Safe To Pass The Red Light....?

THE motorist and his car whizz up the avenue in a great hurry. Maybe there's a train to catch, or a dinner engagement to be kept, or maybe it's a sheer love of speed. Suddenly .... the red traffic signal ..... STOP! .... the car and its occupants are SAFE.

The investor may go along in a booming stock market ..... green lights ahead as far as one can see ..... when suddenly a rift of danger appears. Who is to switch the light to red and warn him of his danger?

It takes a highly trained financial expert to analyze conditions so closely that he can detect stock-market danger at a distance. And it takes a bright, humanly-written financial daily like The Daily INVESTMENT NEWS to set the red lights for average investors.

Thousands of "cover-to-cover" readers receive intelligent investment guidance from careful daily reading of this financial newspaper. Forty experts on its editorial staff watch and warn of impending danger.

The First Stockholder of the Massachusetts Investors Trust was the president of a bank near Boston, who—in 1924—had never heard of an Investment Trust. But he thought the plan of diversification was sound.

He said he would "risk $315 and buy 6 shares at 52½." His income of 5.70% the first year has increased to 9% in 1928; his shares to $636, a gain of almost 102%.

His faith, our faith and the faith of 2500 other shareholders, is today stronger than ever in the future of this Trust.

COUNTER PRICES UP IN LATE DEALINGS

INDUSTRIAL GROUP ACTIVE

Trading in Bank and Insurance Stocks Quiet, but Quotations Advance Sharply.

After early irregularity there was pronounced strength in yesterday's over-the-counter dealings. After prices had moved listlessly in the morning, with a few securities obtainable at lower levels, good strength began to develop and the losses incurred were headed toward speedy recovery. Banks showed late strength after a weakness in the forenoon. Although trading in insurance and chain stores was quiet, the prices showed a marked improvement.

The industrial group set an active pace, with irregular prices. The losses and gains were about evenly distributed. Utilities moved in sympathy with the general market. Preferred issues showed good strength. Aeronauticals were quiet and easier in spots, while sugar, bonds and communications were quiet, with prices at a standstill.

In the bank group Brooklyn Trust, Manhattan, Guaranty and Equitable closed at a decline, while Manufacturers Trust, City, Bank of United States and New York were active, with closing prices lower than the openings. In the insurance group Globe and Rutgers lead the advance, while Providence-Washington and Great American Indemnity gained. Stuyvesant, Northwestern and American Equitable were off.

In the industrials Technicolor, Dry Ice holding and Dictaphone preferred closed lower. Welch Grape Juice gained. In the chain stores I. Miller, United States Stores and Metropolitan were stronger.

WILL DOUBLE STOCK ISSUE.

International Carriers Will Raise Shares From 400,000 to 800,000.

International Carriers, Ltd., an investment trust organized recently to specialize in the purchase, sale and holding of American and European railroad securities, will increase its outstanding capital stock from 400,000 to 800,000 shares, it was announced yesterday. It then will have a working capital of more than $15,000,000.

The purpose of the change, it was said, is to give the trust additional money "with a view to taking advantage of certain specific interesting situations in domestic and Continental railroads." It is expected that public offering of the 400,000 additional shares will be made soon.

Best's Stock Increase Approved.

Stockholders of Best & Co., yesterday voted to accept the recommendation of the directors to increase the common stock and to change each share of the present stock into two shares of the new. Certificates for the additional shares will be mailed on Sept. 30 to stockholders of record of Sept. 18.

GOVERNMENT CUTS COTTON ESTIMATE

CONDITION 55% OF NORMAL

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—A decrease of 718,000 bales in the cotton crop during the past month is shown in the September cotton crop report issued today by the crop reporting board of the United States Department of Agriculture, which estimates the crop at 14,825,000 bales on Sept. 1, compared with 15,543,000 bales on Aug. 1.

The decrease is attributed largely to hot, dry weather, which has prevailed in most of the cotton belt from Georgia west, the indicated average yield to the acre being placed at 152 2 pounds, or 3.6 pounds below the average yield for the ten-year period, 1918-1927.

Estimate of Acreage.

Acreage abandonment since July 1 is estimated by the board at 3.8 per cent, leaving an area for harvest of 46,594,000 acres. Abandonment is reported as greater than average in Texas, North Carolina and California and less than average in all other cotton States.

The dry weather last month amounted to severe drought in many sections. This checked weevil damage, but seriously interfered with the fruiting of the plants and reduced prospective yields.

The crop generally is maturing and opening earlier than usual, says the crop board, and in the areas worst affected by the dry weather there has been some premature opening of young bolls.

Consumption in July.

The Department of Commerce reported that cotton consumed during July amounted to 546,457 bales. Cotton on hand in consuming establishments on July 31 was 1,051,535 bales and in public storage and at compresses 986,439 bales. The number of active consuming cotton spindles for the month was 30,395,858. Total imports for July were 21,369 bales and exports of domestic cotton, excluding linters, were 237,506 bales.

The estimated world's production of commercial cotton, exclusive of linters, grown in 1928, as compiled from various sources, the department said, is 25,051,000 bales, counting American in running bales and foreign in bales of 478 pounds lint, while the consumption of cotton, exclusive of linters in the United States, for the year ending on July 31, 1928, was approximately 25,285,000 bales. The total number of spinning cotton spindles, both active and idle, is about 165,000,000.

Estimates by States.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP).—The Department of Agriculture estimates the cotton crop of 14,825,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight on a Sept. 1 condition of 55.4 per cent of normal. This compares with the Aug. 1 forecast of 15,543,000 bales on condition of 69.6 per cent and final 1928 production of 14,478,000 bales.

The acreage left on Sept. 1 for harvest (in thousands of acres), the condition in percentage of a normal year and the indicated production (in thousands of 500-pound gross weight bales) follow:

FORECAST OF CROP AIDS COTTON PRICES

Futures Gain 21 to 26 Points as Estimate of Yield Is Cut 700,000 Bales.

SETBACK IN LATE TRADING

Market Believes Conditions Improved Since Report Was Drawn Up—Chief Change in Texas.

With a reduction of more than 700,000 bales in the government's estimate of the cotton crop and an indicated yield of less than 15,000,000 bales, prices on the Cotton Exchange advanced sharply $3 a bale yesterday and ended the day with a gain of 21 to 26 points. Although the market declined in early trading until prices showed a loss of three-quarters of a cent from high levels of last week, the fact that the Crop Reporting Board sustained estimates from private sources led various operators to replace lines liquidated in advance of the report, and, in addition to commission house and professional buying, trade interests took contracts from the market. On the advance around 19¾c for the December delivery, the quantity of cotton offered increased in volume, and prices were set back about a quarter of a cent before the close of the market.

As the drought had been broken since Sept. 1, the date of the report, a general feeling that conditions had improved over a considerable area became a market influence after the sharp recovery.

The most important change made in the estimates of production by States between Aug. 1 and Sept. 1 was a reduction of 691,000 bales in Texas, which virtually measured the change in the estimates of the belt as a whole. The outlook for Mississippi was reduced 268,000 bales; for Alabama, 100,000, and for Arkansas, 58,000. The figures for the Carolinas were raised 270,000 bales; for Georgia, 11,000; for Louisiana, 76,000, and for Oklahoma, 20,000.

Prices Rise in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9 (AP).—An advance of more than half a cent a pound in the cotton market here followed the publication of the government's crop forecast today. The figures stimulated buying by the trade. Active positions sold up 69 to 72 points over the prices ruling just before the report was issued. The estimated production of 14,820,000 bales was decidedly smaller than had been expected. October touched 19.33 cents a pound; December, 19.63, and January, 19.61, representing gains of $3 to $3.50 a bale. Profit-taking and selling for a reaction were encountered and the active positions sold off 11 to 15 points from the top, but final prices showed net advances of about $1.50 a bale.

The Great American COMPETITION

The Great American Competition is the competition of Brains. Not so much the brains of Genius as the brains of matured Vision, Judgment, and Understanding.

Back of all our material progress in business are these mental capacities—to see the need of better things, to sense the right, and to know how. In their fullest possession is a power that defies material competition. Between their grades of excellence is the great struggle—the Competition of Brains.

Among brains, the enlightening facts and figures of Modern Accountancy are recognized as stimulants to right thinking, quite as much as material factors in management and control.

TRADERS WATCH WEATHER

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—With bulls and bears deadlocked, some decided change is needed to move wheat values one way or the other. Prices held within a range of ⅞ to 1¼ cents today and finished unchanged to ¾ cent lower, while Winnipeg was ⅝ cent higher to ¾ cent lower. Liverpool was weak early, but rallied sharply and closed ⅛ to ¼ pence higher, with dry weather in Argentina and strength in Buenos Ayres finally offsetting the effect of scattered showers in Eastern Australia. Buenos Ayres was 1¾ to 2¼ cents higher early, but broke badly later and closed 2⅛ cents lower as the result of rain in the Pampas late in the day.

The trend of the market in the immediate future is expected to be determined to a large extent by weather conditions in Argentina and Australia. An increase of 2,008,000 bushels in the domestic visible supply was somewhat less than trade expectations, but had little effect on the market. The total is now 184,408,000 bushels, against 182,400,000 bushels the previous week, and 91,239,000 bushels last year. Country deliveries of wheat at interior points in Canada Saturday were 3,531,000 bushels, against 3,871,000 bushels last year.

Primary arrivals today 3,069,000 bushels; week ago, holiday; last year, 4,149,000 bushels. Shipments, 1,461,000 bushels; last year, 1,702,000 bushels.

Rains were reported in parts of Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and Missouri, and had some effect on the corn market, but there was no material pressure, and the finish was ¼ to ⅜ cent lower, with support coming mainly from commission houses on resting orders. The only effect of rains, according to a local expert, will be to result in less chaffy grain than would have been the case had dry weather continued. The grains have set on the ears and the moisture will aid in filling.

Bears were not inclined to press the selling side with any degree of freedom, as the government report is due tomorrow afternoon. The visible supply decreased 396,000 bushels for the week and is 5,021,000 bushels, against 5,417,000 bushels the previous week and 8,176,000 bushels last year.

Oats were steady to ½ cent higher with September showing the most strength. Rye was sold by Northwestern hedgers and finished ⅝ to 1¼ cents lower.

NYE CHARGES PLOT TO DEPRESS WHEAT

Senator Asks Farm Board to Look Into Alleged Cramming of Grain Elevators in West.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP).—Senator Nye, Republican, of North Dakota, today accused Duluth, Minneapolis and Chicago grain operators of attempting to force the wheat growers to dump their commodity upon the market by keeping storage facilities loaded to their maximum. He asked for an investigation by the Federal Farm Board.

The Senator said that an inquiry of his own had indicated that the elevators of the Northwest were filled to capacity and that the farmer had no alternative but to sell his product at whatever the current price might be rather than hold it for more favorable terms. He asserted that he believed the elevators had been filled through a deliberate program of the Duluth and Chicago Boards of Trades and the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce.

Prepared to go before President Hoover with his complaint, if necessary, after he has presented it to the farm board, Senator Nye declared that if immediate action was not forthcoming he would present a resolution calling for a Senate investigation "of this general terminal clieup."

J. FISHER WHITE ARRIVES.

Prominent English Actor Is to Appear in "Thunder in the Air."

J. Fisher White, one of England's best-known actors, who is 64 years old and has been forty years on the stage, arrived from Liverpool yesterday on the Cunarder Carinthia with Robert Haslam to appear in Laurn D. Wilck's production of "Thunder in the Air." The play was written by Robins Miller, editor of the Evening News, Glasgow, Scotland.

Mr. White was formerly chairman of the Actors' Association of London and has appeared in hundreds of plays. He had not been in this country for many years, he said.

SUE ELECTRIC FIRMS OVER SOUND FILMS

Warner Brothers and Vitaphone Ask Injunction to Regain Exclusive Contract.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 9 (AP).—A bill of complaint was filed today in the United States District Court by the Vitaphone Corporation and Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., for an injunction against Electric Research Products, Inc.; Western Electric Company, Inc., and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to prevent them from interfering with the use by the plaintiffs of sound-producing equipment.

It was stated that the Vitaphone concern is a subsidiary of the Warner Brothers, as is the Stanley Company of America. Warner Brothers allege that during 1926, 1927 and 1928 they spent sums of money for performances, photography, dramatic and musical talent amounting to approximately $15,000,000, and that friction between the plaintiffs and the defendants arose, endangering the contract whereby the defendants were to manufacture equipment for making sound pictures and the plaintiffs to have the right to use it.

The bill states that the Stanley Company of America is defendant in a suit to which the present suit is ancillary. It is stated that the Warner Brothers obtained a license from the defendants to use electrical apparatus recording sound in synchronism with the taking and projection of motion pictures.

Friction is said to have developed, and the bill states that the defendants "by threats of license termination compelled the acceptance of a non-protective, non-exclusive license agreement as a substitute contract."

A board of arbitration was appointed to try to adjust the differences, but its action is still pending.

The plaintiffs ask that a temporary injunction be filed restraining the defendants from further legal proceedings in other cases pending, that an injunction be granted preventing the defendants from interfering with the use by the plaintiffs of the sound reproducing equipment and that other relief be granted.

PHONE PURCHASE APPROVED

I. C. C. Allows New York Company to Acquire Catskill Concern.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today approved the acquisition by the New York Telephone Company of the Catskill Mountain Telephone Company, which serves parts of Albany, Greene and Schoharie Counties and the surrounding rapidly developing Summer resort region.

The commission was informed that the New York Company proposes to spend $157,500 during the next year for extensions and improvements of the telephone facilities serving the section to provide adequate long distance service.

The New York Company will take over the Catskill Company by payment of $159,000 in cash and by assuming the company's bonded debt of $51,500.

An appraisal showed the reproduction cost new of the Catskill Company's property to be $272,030, and, less depreciation, $193,100. A total of $22,300 of the property is to be retired. The company's income in 1928 was $45,376 and its operating expenses $31,022.

VOTE STRAUS STOCK SPLIT.

Investing Corporation Directors Put Proposal to Stockholders.

Directors of the S. W. Straus Investing Corporation yesterday voted to split the common stock of the company two for one, subject to the approval of the stockholders, at a meeting called for Sept. 19.

It was also voted to issue the remaining authorized preferred and common stock which it is expected will shortly be offered by S. W. Straus & Co. and Love, Macomber & Co. in the form of 100,000 unit certificates, consisting of one share of preferred and one of common.

The additional financing proposed will practically double the original capital and will enable the company to meet the demands upon it for short-term real estate loans and to expand its operations in profitable allied lines, it was stated.

SEABOARD PLAN SUBMITTED

Railroad Asks I. C. C.'s Approval of Recapitalization.

The Seaboard Airline Railway has applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval of its proposed recapitalization and it is expected that the time for deposit of adjustment bonds under the plan probably will be extended again. A meeting of stockholders, which was to have been held at Petersburg, Va., to approve the plan, has been adjourned.

Before extension of the deposit date to Sept. 6, it was announced that $19,882,000, or about 80 per cent of the $25,000,000 issue of adjustment had been deposited, but that the company and the bondholders' committee stated that further substantial deposits should be made.

A three-day conference on recreation and playgrounds in New York, beginning Oct. 1, will be held at the Hotel Commodore, under the auspices of a committee of citizens and public officials interested in children's play and recreation, it was announced yesterday. William Church Osborn will preside.

Demonstrations of playground and recreation activities will be given in city playgrounds each afternoon of the conference. The sessions will conclude with a dinner and dance at the hotel on Oct. 3.

Bristol-Myers Sale Approved.

Stockholders of Bristol-Myers Company yesterday approved the sale of the business to Drug, Inc., for capital stock of the latter company, which will be distributed to them in the ratio of one and one-eighth shares of Drug, Inc., for each share of Bristol-Myers. The stockholders will receive also a cash dividend of 35 a share and adjusted regular dividends.

The directors of the Home Fire Security Corporation have called a special meeting of stockholders for Sept. 25 to vote on a recommendation to increase the capital of the corporation to $100,000,000, and that each stockholder of record Sept. 25 receive the right to subscribe at $20 a share to one additional share of stock for each share held on that date. Rights expire Nov. 1.

EASTVIEW HOSPITAL TO COST $2,150,000

BUILDING TO START AT ONCE

Nearly $1,000,000 More Provided for Highway Improvements—Park Board Gets $100,000.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The Westchester County Board of Supervisors at its meeting today appropriated more than $3,000,000 for highways, park improvements and a 250-bed tuberculosis hospital.

The tuberculosis hospital and children's pavilion at Eastview, to adjoin the present county hospital at Grasslands, will cost $2,150,000. The recommendation from the Committee on Budget and Appropriations offered by Supervisor George Smyth, which authorized the construction of the hospital and the award of contracts to the lowest bidders, was unanimously approved.

The board approved the request of the Westchester County Park Commission for $100,000 to be used for the construction of an all-year-round casino at Playland, Rye, N. Y. The sum of $500,000 already had been appropriated, bringing the cost of the structure to $600,000.

Authorization was given for the awarding of contracts to the low bidders on the reconstruction of Tuckahoe Road and Central Avenue, Yonkers.

Supervisor James Sullivan of Yonkers, whose opposition at the July meeting of the board to the expenditure of $948,000 for additional "court house property" resulted in a State investigation of the deal, opposed today a change in the county engineer's specifications for the paving on Presbyterian Church Hill, Broadway, Dobbs Ferry. The local village board voted to change the type of paving from reinforced concrete, as specified by the county engineer, to asphalt block. The asphalt block costs $11,000 more. The change was carried.

A communication from the Ossining Post of the American Legion was read to the board, suggesting the use of the name of Edmund C. C. Genet in the naming of the first county airport soon to be built on Croton Point, just north of Ossining. Genet was an Ossining youth killed in France while serving in the Lafayette Escadrille. The communication was referred to the Westchester County Park Commission.

EARLY MAINE RETURNS AGAINST POWER EXPORT

Rural Vote Largely Negative on Referendum Question—Tax on Gasoline Opposed.

Special to The New York Times.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 9.—Early indications tonight point to the defeat of power export in this State, the referendum question of chief interest among five balloted upon by the voters of Maine. The polls did not close until 8 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, and returns were meager up to midnight.

The thirty-five towns and cities heard from at 11 o'clock gave a margin of about 3,000 against the export of power.

Returns tabulated at 10 o'clock, principally from towns and villages in eastern and central Maine, gave 6,058 votes against export and 3,786 for the export of power. These comprised seventy-six out of 632 precincts.

On the same basis, an increased gasoline tax was opposed by 6,666 votes and favored with 2,936. The $15,000,000 bond issue sought for the building of roads produced a very close fight, with 4,236 votes in favor and 4,215 against.

More favorable returns for power export began to come in after 11 o'clock from cities, which are expected to a certain extent to offset the rural feeling against export. The city of Rockland gave a margin of 400 and Saco went for power export by 240 votes.

AVIATION OFFICIALS MEET.

Executives of Curtiss-Wright Corporation at Country Club.

Special to The New York Times.

RYE, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Meeting for the first time as executives of affiliated companies, nearly 100 officials of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation and associated companies gathered here today at the Westchester Country Club to become acquainted. Their activities started with a luncheon in the sports house. During the afternoon they played golf or tennis, or in small groups discussed their respective business methods. Owing to the success of the convention socially, a business meeting which was to have been held at 5 o'clock was canceled.

Charles L. Lawrence, an executive of the corporation, said the former competitors, meeting as associates for the first time, had many things to consider for organization purposes.

Formation of the corporation was completed on Aug. 15. A few of the officials remained here tonight for informal conferences.

MINING DIVIDEND PASSED.

Park Utah Consolidated Omits Quarterly Because of Expenses.

Unexpected expense, combined with unsatisfactory prices for lead, zinc and silver, caused the executive committee of the Park Utah Consolidated Mines Company yesterday to suspend dividends for this quarter. The unexpected expense was incurred in the opening of the 1,950-foot level in the Park Utah unit, which has cost much more and taken much longer than was estimated.

George W. Lambourne, president of the company, said that although the opening of the costly shaft had disclosed nothing of great importance, the company was not discouraged about locating the ore body.

Allows Extension of Rail Bonds.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized the Baltimore & Ohio to extend from July 1, 1929, to July 1, 1950, the maturity date of $45,000,000 of first-mortgage 5½ per cent gold bonds. Additional interest at the rate of 1½ per cent will be paid on the bonds. The bonds and all the subsidiary's capital stock are owned by the B. & O.

Cottons Sales Exceed Production.

Sales of standard cotton cloths during August, the figures covering five weeks, were 101.7 per cent of production, according to the report issued yesterday by the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York. They amounted to 312,635,000 yards. Shipments, which totaled 326,398,000 yards, equaled 106.1 per cent of production, which reached 307,536,000 yards. Stocks on hand and unfilled orders at the end of the month showed respective decreases of 4.9 and 2.7 per cent. These are the comparative yardage figures for August and July:

	August.	July.

Trade Executives to Meet.

The annual convention of the American Trade Association Executives will be held at Wawasee, Ind., on Sept. 26, 27 and 28. The theme of the meeting, at which an attendance of 200 executives of leading trade organizations is expected, will be "Trade Association and other Business Serving Agencies." At the banquet Colonel William J. Donovan is scheduled to be the chief speaker. Local delegations of executives, together with those of Philadelphia and Washington, will leave for the convention city on the Capitol Limited.

Hundred Lines at Gift Show.

Nearly one hundred lines of gift and art merchandise were placed on display yesterday at the opening of the Fall show of the National Gift and Art Association. Up to yesterday afternoon the registration of buyers was sixty-five from out-of-town. The show this year, according to W. S. Hays, secretary of the association, marks the introduction of a number of new lines not previously shown in the metropolitan trading area. These include painted wood novelties, new handbags and textiles and a series of recent import items. Judging from the results of previous shows the outlook for active buying for Fall is excellent in Mr. Hays's opinion.

Crystal Glass Orders Ahead.

Sales of crystal glass so far this season are well ahead of a year ago, one manufacturer reporting his orders 25 per cent larger. Light mitre effects have succeeded the floral designs of last year in candlesticks, centrepieces and other articles sold. The trade also cites an increase in the business on sterling silver pieces mounted on crystal. Scroll patterns in this merchandise are favored over the modernistic designs that were formerly bought. The tendency in goblets is away from high stem effects. Last year the stems were from 7 to 10 inches high while this season they run from 3 to 6 inches.

Nightgowns Are Coming Back.

The trend away from "sleeping" pajamas toward nightgowns that has been reported in the lingerie trade this Summer may be even more definite for Fall, if a report from Paris received here yesterday can be taken as a guide. This said that the current demand for the better-grade garments there favored nightgowns by about 60 per cent to 40 per cent. The call for "lounging" pajamas, on the other hand, gives promise of strengthening as the Fall season advances. This applies particularly to three-piece models made up of novelty jackets—frequently of printed or ombré velvet; side-buttoning, wide-legged trousers of a more staple material, and contrasting blouse. The favored trousers are 12 to 14 inches wide at the ankle. Some of the more expensive models feature metallic cloths in the jackets. Most of the jackets are in high colors, with the shade of the blouse contrasting.

Freak Pottery Glaze Offered.

A new effect in pottery has been perfected by a manufacturer whereby a freak glaze is obtained. Vases, bric-à-brac and other giftware items are produced through a process which lets the color run in the second glazing. First the pottery is given a light glaze, then a dab of color is put on to get the freak effect. This color takes many different designs and consequently each article has its own distinctive color pattern. Green is the shade used chiefly now on account of its vogue.

Huth Sale to Run Five Days.

Although tabulation of shipments to the coming Fall fur auction of Frederick Huth & Co. here had not been completed yesterday, General Manager J. M. Bossak estimated the value of the offerings at $3,500,000. Five days would be allotted to their sale, he added. None of the collections will be especially "long" in comparison with those put up last Fall, he further said, while some of them will be much smaller. The offering of raccoon will be especially limited. The "high spot," Mr. Bossak said, will be supplied by the Russian sable. Some of the skins in this offering are of "crown" quality, and are expected to bring at least $500. The sale begins on Sept. 23.

Dance Handkerchiefs New Item.

Dance handkerchiefs of chiffon, ranging from 12 to 18 inches square (some are 24 inches) and wholesaling at $3 to $7.50 a dozen, are the latest novelty merchandise of this type to find favor with buyers. They are moving freely in several popular colors, among which are Empire green, orchid, various purples and beige, and promise to be an especially active dress accessory item for Fall and Winter retailing. For early Fall wear with sports apparel, a nice business is being done in novelty block-printed and hand-painted chiffon handkerchiefs from 12 to 18 inches square. The approaching end of the advance buying season for holiday handkerchiefs of all kinds finds manufacturers and importers well supplied with orders.

Higher Cotton Helped Gray Goods.

The rise in cotton following the crop estimate stimulated buying of gray goods here yesterday, more especially printcloths, and brought some additional price advances. In the morning spot business was done in 38½-inch 64-60s at 7⅛ cents, while in the afternoon they moved at 7⅜ cents in a small way. Buyers of 39-inch 80-squares paid 10½ cents for good quantities of actual spots. That price later was asked for near-bys and 10⅝ cents for contracts. Five cents was paid for 38½-inch 44-40s. Near-by deliveries of good makes of 40-inch 2.85-yard sheetings brought 11½ cents, while similar shipments of 36-inch five-yard sheetings sold in a small way at 7 cents. Eastern makes of 37½-inch 4.37-yard sateens brought 11 cents, while Southern goods sold for shipment through October at 10¾ cents. All-rayon and rayon-filled flat crêpes were active.

NEW YORK HIKER BEATEN.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 9 (AP).—Police today were looking for a Baltimore man, whose identity they withheld, in connection with the attack and robbery of Jack Seldan, 19 years old, of Staten Island, N. Y.

Seldan was brought to a local hospital last night suffering from cuts and a slight concussion of the brain. Today his father came here and took him back to New York.

Police said Seldan left his home last June to hike through the West, and was returning when the Baltimore man several days ago picked him up in Cleveland and offered him a lift to his home.

Seldan told police he and the man stopped at Entercourse, near here, last night for supper. They bought some corn and were preparing to roast it when he strolled away from the car. He said he suddenly lost consciousness and remembers nothing until he regained consciousness in the office of Dr. Leedon Sharp.

The Baltimorean brought Seldan to a local hospital and told physicians there that the boy had been struck from behind by a man who robbed him and died in an automobile. The Baltimorean disappeared and police instituted a search for him.

PHILADELPHIA JUDGE HALTS CLOTHING UNION

Manufacturers Get Temporary Restraining Orders Against Unionizing Campaign.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—Temporary restraining orders, sweeping in extent, were issued here today against the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America by Federal Judge William H. Kirkpatrick.

The organizers, officers and other agents of the union, which is said to have a fund of $1,000,000 to carry on a campaign for unionization of the Philadelphia clothing industry, were restrained for ten days from interfering with the employes of eight clothing manufacturers, at the end of that period there will be a hearing for a preliminary injunction.

The restraining order prohibits the Amalgamated from assaulting and intimidating workmen, and enjoins its officers from calling strikes at any of the eight plants affected, or from using any funds in furtherance of the campaign of unionization.

1,000 IN NECKWEAR STRIKE.

30 Independent Shops Tied Up Due to Refusal to Post Securities.

The United Neckwear Makers' Union announced yesterday that the shops of thirty "independent" neckwear manufacturers had been tied up by a strike called when the operators refused to post securities to guarantee fulfilment of the agreement continuing the wage scale set up by the contract which expired on Sept. 1. Union leaders said that 1,000 men, women and girls are involved in the strike.

None of the thirty plants, it was said, is a member of the Neckwear Manufacturers' Association, with which the union has reached an understanding for the renewal of the old agreement.

Louis Fuchs, manager of the union, declared that the "independents" repeatedly had violated the old agreement and thus forced the union to demand the posting of securities to guarantee its fulfilment.

CENT CUT IN GASOLINE MADE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Atlantic Refining and Standard Oil Make Prices Conform to Those in New York State.

Gasoline prices in Pennsylvania were cut by the leading companies distributing in that State yesterday to prices which conform with those in New York territory outside the metropolitan district. The Standard Oil of Pennsylvania, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, and the Atlantic Refining Company announced reductions of 1 cent a gallon, bringing the tank wagon price to 16 cents a gallon and the filling station price to 18 cents, exclusive of the 4-cent State tax.

The Gulf Oil Corporation also reduced the price on its special brands of gasoline 1 cent a gallon, making the Good Gulf 22 cents and the No-nox 25 cents. The cut made by the Atlantic Refining Company includes its Delaware territory, and this company also reduced kerosene 1 cent a gallon, making the tank wagon price 13 cents.

There were reports that the Beacon Oil Company, subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, operating in New York State and New England, intended to reduce its price. Officials of the company, however, said no reduction was contemplated beyond that made in the New York City area on Aug. 30 to conform with the cuts made then by other companies.

Prices of Oils and Fats Steady.

Quotations on animal, vegetable and fish oils, fats and greases were steady last week, according to The Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter. The index number of prices was unchanged from the previous week at 130.7, but compared with 139.2 a year ago and with a normal of 100 in 1914. Trade was conservative, the demand for small or moderate quantities being fair.

UNION LEAGUE SELLS LEASE TO BUILDER

PRICE PUT AT $1,000,000

Club Contracts to Move on March 1, 1931, When New Park Av. Home Is to Be Ready.

The Union League Club building, five-story landmark at the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street, was doomed to demolition to make way for a commercial skyscraper by the announcement yesterday of Alfred E. Marling, president of the club, that the leasehold on the Fifth Avenue property had been sold to Fred T. Ley, builder. The consideration was not announced, but is understood to have been in excess of $1,000,000.

The club has contracted to give up its building, occupied since 1881, on March 1, 1931, and is scheduled to vote on Thursday its final approval of plans drawn by Benjamin W. Morris for an eight-story clubhouse to be erected at a cost of about $1,000,000 on a site already leased at the southwest corner of Park Avenue and Thirty-seventh Street. Plans for the new structure have been filed with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings and the building is to be completed by the time the old home is vacated.

The property on Fifth Avenue was held under a leasehold from the Bixby estate with nine years to run and renewable for twenty-three years more. Mr. Ley said that a "store and office skyscraper at least twenty stories high and perhaps forty stories" would be built. Purchase was made through the 1 East Thirty-ninth Street Corporation formed for the purpose.

A long lease on the new site was taken recently by the club from the J. P. Morgan interests. The clubhouse will occupy 130 feet on Thirty-seventh Street and 60 feet on Park Avenue, with the front on the street side. Although formed in 1863, during the Civil War, to foster allegiance to the Federal Government and stanchly Republican in political affiliation, the club long has been a patron of the arts, encouraging loan exhibitions and maintaining its own collection of paintings, sculptures and ceramics. One of the most imposing rooms in the new building will be an art gallery which will occupy a large portion of the ground floor.

A lounge for women, a feature not provided in the old building, is planned, together with private dining and smoking rooms for women. The main dining room, two stories high, will be on the third floor. Extensive athletic and recreational facilities include billiard and card rooms, three squash racquets courts and a gymnasium. Some sixty-four residence rooms for members and guests are to be provided on the upper floors.

Leases in Chanin Building.

Broadstreets, Inc., clothing and haberdashery, has leased the corner store in the New Chanin Building, Forty-second Street and Lexington Avenue, for the eighth link in a chain between the Battery and Central Park. Ralph Ostrov is president of the corporation. The lease is for a long term at a reported aggregate rental of more than $1,000,000. Brown, Wheelock: Harris, Vought & Co. were the brokers. The lease is the eighth on the building involving reported rentals of more than $1,000,000. The ground floor of the structure is now rented except for one Lexington Avenue store.

Rents Larchmont Residence.

William Wyer of Denver, Col., has leased for a term of years a Spanish type house in Glen Eagles Drive, Rouken Glen, Larchmont, from Richard R. Romeo, Inc., of Pelham. The structure contains seven rooms and three baths. Chauncey B. Griffen was the broker.

The 62-65 West 126th Street Corporation, Ernest Klein, president, gave back a purchase money mortgage for $36,250, due in five years at 6 per cent, when it bought 62 and 65 West 126th Street from the William Crawford estate.

MAYOR BACKS BUDGET; SURPRISES REALTY MEN

Declares He Dropped in on Meeting Because Stewart Brown Did Not Expect Him.

Mayor Walker appeared at the monthly meeting of the United Real Estate Owners Association in the Biltmore last night following criticism voiced at the meeting of various items in the forthcoming city budget and defended his administration's expenditures as well as the method of apportioning the budget.

Stewart Browne, president of the association, had finished reading a list of items he thought unwise to put in the budget, including several provisions for salary increases, when the Mayor arrived and announced that he had come in "particularly to surprise Stewart Browne because I know he didn't expect me."

"There are various groups," the Mayor said, "who believe that the budget should be greater; others who are enthusiastic about salary increases. The strange part of it is that so many who advocate increased salaries to win favor among the groups they are talking to complain elsewhere of the size of the budget."

The Mayor explained that before his administration many items for public improvements were taken care of by the issuance of corporate stock on some of which the city is still paying interest. He said when he became Mayor he abolished the practice and had included every item in the budget, saving the interest charges on the bonds.

He reminded the gathering that public hearings were held before the budget was adopted, but that only two or three persons out of the 6,000,000 in the city ever came to the hearings to object. He said he admired Stewart Browne, however, because "he always appeared at the hearings and with a bill of particulars."

The Mayor said he wished there were more organizations to educate their members "up to the budget." He denied that there could be politics in the making of the budget.

HOTEL PLYMOUTH OPENING.

Sixteen-Story Building Near Times Square Is Fifth in Meister Chain.

The Hotel Plymouth, a sixteen-story structure at 137 West Forty-ninth Street, will open today. The hotel contains 400 rooms, each with private bath, and is the fifth in the chain of metropolitan hostelries to be operated by the Meister Builders. It was constructed from plans by H. I. Feldman.

One of the features is a decorative lobby effect, an illuminated glass panel depicting modern enterprise as exemplified by skyscraper construction and aviation. The panel, extending from floor to ceiling, was designed by Alexander Leidenfrost.

The hotel will be under direction of H. G. Yurdin, who is general manager of the Victoria, the President, the Emerson and the Raleigh, the other hotels in the chain. The Meister Builders intend to erect other hotels of similar character convenient to the business district, it is reported.

Lower Broadway Sale Recorded.

The ground lease of the Postal Telegraph Cable Building plot at the northwest corner of Broadway and Murray Street, 70 by 155 feet, which has been held from Trinity Church since March 23, 1892, has been sold to the Corn Exchange Bank Trust Company by the International Telephone Building Corporation, William J. Deegan, vice president, which also grants its right, title and interest in the fourteen-story building on the premises. Trinity Church has the option to purchase the building under the terms of the renewal lease, which expires May 1, 1957.

Henry W., Robert W. and Lockwood de Forest have sold to Anna C. This plot measures 99.37 feet along the bulkhead line and 96.10 feet along the bridge approach. WANTED.
A THOUGHTFUL, EDUCATED YOUNG MAN WHO DOESN'T THINK HIMSELF A SALESMAN.

Selling securities is not quite like selling soap, or typewriter ribbons, or correspondence school courses; it employs a rather different technique and requires a rather different kind of personality.

The mere fact that you don't think yourself a salesman is one reason why we'd like to try you out; as for yourself, you have nothing to lose—for if at the end of your training you decide you are not a salesman, and especially not a securities salesman, you will, nevertheless, have learned much about the mechanics of investment that will be of lifelong value to you.

A new division is now forming; come in today and ask for Mr. Lea; drawing account and liberal commissions during training period, of course. 29th floor, 10 East 40th St.

FOG FORCES PLANE BACK TO THE BREMEN

LANDS ALONGSIDE VESSEL

Is Hoisted Aboard—Pilot Received Her Position in Air Via Radio.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—The mail plane New York, roaring over the Atlantic toward Boston on a 510-mile flight from the deck of the North German Lloyd steamship Bremen, flew into a thick fog bank 160 miles due east of here this afternoon, and after a radio consultation with the Bremen, turned back and landed two hours later beside the New York-bound steamship.

At the float of the Airvia Company in Boston Harbor, immigration, health and customs officials, together with representatives of the steamship line, waited for the arrival of the plane, which had been reported on its way at 4 o'clock. A message from the communications office at the Navy Yard told of the turning back of the plane.

The plane left the Bremen at 1:45 o'clock, Daylight Saving Time, and was expected to arrive at the Airvia float soon after 7 o'clock. At 3:30 the Bremen reported clear weather, but at 4:17, the Navy Yard heard a message from the plane to the Bremen in which the aircraft reported a thick fog bank, which appeared to cover the entire coast.

Captain Leopold Ziegenbein of the Bremen a few minutes later sent a message to Baron Jobst von Studnitz, pilot of the plane, and Karl Kirchoff, radio operator, giving the Bremen's course and position and ordering the plane back to the ship.

The plane speeded back toward the liner at 130 miles an hour, while the vessel was making about thirty-five miles an hour. It landed alongside the ship at 7:08 o'clock and was hoisted aboard.

It was announced that another attempt will be made on the next westward voyage of the Bremen, probably on Sept. 24.

Captain Ziegenbein radioed the New York offices of the line yesterday that the Bremen will arrive at Ambrose Light at noon today. She left Bremen last Wednesday, and if she arrives as now scheduled, her crossing time from Cherbourg will be 4 days 18 hours 15 minutes, or thirty-three minutes slower than her record time of 4 days 17 hours and 42 minutes.

POLICE GUARD SCOUTS RETURNING FROM ITALY

When the Lloyd Sabaudo liner Conte Grande arrived from Italy late yesterday with a record list of passengers a special guard of patrolmen closed off the streets leading to the pier at West Fifty-fifth Street to protect a contingent of Italian-American Scouts returning from a visit to Italy.

More than 150 Boy and Girl Scouts, who had been sent by the Fascist League of North America as guests of the Italian Government, were passengers in the third-class accommodations. After the ship docked they were herded together on the lower level of the pier and, with the heaviest police guard assembled on a pier in many years, marched off through Fifty-fourth Street to the Fortune Gallo Theatre near Eighth Avenue. Policemen on the pier and nearly fifty patrolmen and sergeants outside accompanied the Scouts and stood on guard in the rain while a jubilee meeting was held in the theatre.

In order to avoid a recurrence of the riot on the Cunard Line pier when a group of Scouts sailed to England several weeks ago elaborate precautions were taken. As far as a block from the pier patrolmen stopped pedestrians and asked them what business they had in the street. Those meeting relatives and friends had to show their passes at Fifty-fourth and Fifty-sixth Streets and mounted patrolmen were on hand to keep the crowds in line.

Among the 1,690 passengers on the Conte Grande was Bishop Thomas J. Walsh of the Newark (N. J.) Roman Catholic diocese, who returned from a study of educational methods in Italy. He also accompanied a pilgrimage of sixteen nuns of his diocese to Rome, and they returned with him yesterday. A large group of priests was at the pier to meet the Bishop.

Officers on the Conte Grande told of a new order of the line which requires every member of the crew to learn to swim and to learn the English language. This is a part of the efficiency drive of Premier Mussolini and will probably be adopted on other Italian lines in the near future, it was said.

COMMITTEE TO HEAR MAIL SUBSIDY PLEAS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The long-awaited meeting of the Interdepartmental Committee on Ocean Mail is to be held this week, probably Wednesday or Thursday, to pass upon a mass of applications for ocean mail subsidies by shipping companies and to endeavor to work out a general policy for granting such subsidies.

The call for the meeting is to be sent out tomorrow by Secretary of Commerce Lamont, chairman of the committee which was named to advise Postmaster General Brown in the award of ocean mail subsidies. Efforts to bring the committee together earlier have failed, due to absence of members from the city. The members, beside Secretary Lamont and the Postmaster General, are Secretary of the Navy Adams and Chairman O'Connor of the Shipping Board.

One of the most important questions likely to come up before the committee is the application of the United States Lines for contracts for nine of the vessels of its fleet and the fleet of the American Export Line to carry Atlantic mails between the United States and Plymouth, Cherbourg and other European ports.

Postmaster General Brown recently warned the company by letter that its advertised financial condition did not appear to necessitate the granting of the contracts, which would total about $2,300,000 a year.

At that time officials of the company were inclined to view the statement as a rejection of the application, but the application is still considered to be pending. Whether action will be taken by the committee on the question is problematical.

The committee's working subcommittee, headed by Second Assistant Postmaster General Glover, is to give a hearing tomorrow to the Di Giorgio Fruit Company on its application for mail contracts on service between New York and Vera Cruz, via Kingston, Jamaica and Santiago.

At a hearing Oct. 3, the subcommittee is also to hear the application of the Matson Line for mail contracts between San Francisco and Manila, the application being opposed by the Dollar Line, which is operating round-the-world services via San Francisco and Manila.

At the same time the subcommittee will hear the application of the Roosevelt Line, through Kermit Roosevelt, for Atlantic mail contracts between Baltimore and Hamburg, with the privilege of calling at French and Channel ports. The only other Atlantic mail service now operated from ports on the South Atlantic Coast is from Savannah.

COLLISION DAMAGES NEW MANVILLE YACHT

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 9.—H. Edward Manville's new two-million-dollar yacht Hi-Esmare was in collision in a dense fog this afternoon with the Colonial Beacon, a Tidewater Oil Company tanker, nine miles east of the Brenton's Reef Lightship.

While considerable damage was done to the yacht above the port waterline, no one was injured and the yacht was able to return to Brenton's Cove, while the tanker proceeded west.

Mr. and Mrs. Manville had left on the yacht this noon for Vineyard Haven. Captain A. C. Corkum was proceeding east through the fog when the tanker suddenly loomed up and struck the yacht a glancing blow.

The yacht will proceed to Bath, Me., where she was constructed, for repairs as soon as the weather clears.

TURN CORN STALKS INTO GAS FOR FARMS

University of Illinois Chemists Describe System to American Society in Minneapolis.

ELECTRICITY THEN MADE

Refuse Left After Process Is Held to Be Superior Fiber for the Production of Paper.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 9.—The chemists of the United States, represented here by about 1,500 members of the American Chemical Society, have made so many advances during the six months since their last official meeting that they required a full day even to organize their exchange of experience.

Beginning tomorrow morning at meetings of seventeen divisions, specialized chemists will report simultaneously during the next three days to audiences of specialists. They will deal with everything from the effect of diet on the teeth to the effect of light and X-rays on chemical activation; from the ultra-scientific disintegration of matter into heat, light and electrons, to a novel scheme for the practical decomposition of corn-stalks into gaseous fuel to light the farmer's home and supply electricity in the corn belt, as well as solve the sanitation problems and hasten the control of the destructive corn borer, all in one operation.

To Use What Is Left of Stalks.

According to the paper on corn-stalk fermentation filed with the Chemical Society here today by Professor A. M. Buswell, chief of the Illinois State water supply, and C. S. Boruff, his colleague at the University of Illinois, what remains of the corn-stalks after all this good has come from them will be very valuable for sale to the manufacturers of fine writing paper.

The proposed utilization of stalks starts with their removal from the corn field, in which, Professor Buswell points out, they now serve only to harbor the corn borer.

The stalks are collected in a closed fermentation tank and the farmer's household wastes are disposed of by running them into the same tank, where they provide the necessary nitrogenous materials for the bacteria conducting the fermentation. The outcome is a gaseous mixture of carbon dioxide and methane, or marsh gas, which has a heat value equal to the ordinary gas supplied in cities.

"A farmer," say the authors in their paper, "could produce enough gas to supply all the needs of a family of four or five from a tank 8 feet in diameter and 8 feet deep, connected to the household drain and acting as a digesting tank for the household wastes.

Could Run a Generator.

"The gas could be used to run a generator and to charge storage batteries, supplying the farmer with electric light.

"It is estimated that a circle of corn land in Iowa, for instance, with a diameter of about eight miles, would produce enough corn stalks to supply the usual gas consumption of a city of 30,000 population at the daily rate of twenty-five cubic feet per capita. A ton of corn stalks yields from 10,000 to 20,000 cubic feet of gas."

The authors report that about 50 per cent of the weight of the corn-stalks is converted into gas by the fermentation process.

"The bacteria growing in the tank digest the pith of the stalk and leave the fibrous parts, which are particularly valuable in paper making but which have not been used because of the difficulty of getting rid of the pith. The new process simply turns the cornstalk pith into gas.

"It seems probable therefore," the authors conclude, "that the residue will be more valuable in paper making than the original cornstalks. It is more compact and will require less digestion in the paper mill."

Removal of the word "warfare" from the name of the Chemical Warfare Service of the United States Army was recommended by unanimous vote of the council of the society.

The removal of "warfare" from the title, however, leaving it simply "Chemical Corps of the United States Army," was not intended to change the nature of the service, according to the resolution, but simply to change the public feeling about it.

The council voted to establish a special endowment fund for furthering chemical research and appointed a self-perpetuating committee of five "already distinguished in research in pure science to foster the procurement of such fund and allocate the income from it.

"Those appointed were James F. Norris, chairman, Boston, Mass.; Marston T. Bogert, New York; John Johnson, New Haven, Conn.; Irving Langmuir, Schenectady, N. Y., and Julius Steiglitz, Chicago.

REHEARING SOUGHT ON SHIFT OF PUPILS

Bronx Parents Threaten to Take Case to Walker if Their Appeal Is Denied.

The School Board will be asked again today to grant a hearing to the parents of about 100 Bronx school children to protest their transfer from Public School 80, at Mosholu Parkway and Van Cortlandt Avenue, to the ne wSchool 94 at Mosholu Parkway and Van Cortlandt Avenue, which will force the children to walk several additional blocks.

This announcement was made yesterday by Jerome J. Schlessinger, a manufacturer of 3,406 Kossuth Avenue, who said that if the hearing was denied an appeal would be made to the Mayor. The parents were denied a hearing before the board on Sept. 3 on the ground that the transferred children lived within the district designated for the new school.

The children were to have paraded yesterday morning but District Superintendent Anthony J. Pugliese, who waited in front of Public School 80, said he failed to see any demonstration and later ascertained that the children went to their classes. Mr. Pugliese declared, however, that about twenty parents had complained to him.

Mr. Schlessinger said many of the children live between 210th and 208th Streets, three blocks from the old school, while the new school is nine blocks away and takes fourteen minutes to reach. He said the walk home and the return would deprive the children of half of their lunch hour.

Gives New London Hospital $75,000

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 9.—A gift of $75,000 by Mrs. Henry B. Plant of Eastern Point for the construction of a new building to contain a heating plant, laundry and ambulance room was announced today by officials of the Lawrence and Memorial Associated Hospitals.

RUNAWAY CAR INJURES 10.

Trolley Jumps Track and Rams Fence in Jersey City.

Ten persons were slightly injured at 6:15 P. M. yesterday when a trolley car, its wheels locked, jumped the track on the Montgomery Street hill in Jersey City and plunged through a heavy iron fence into Holy Name Cemetery on West Side Avenue at the foot of the grade and stopped in an adjoining greenhouse. Most of those injured, none of whom remained at the hospital, were cut by flying glass.

Albert Seidleman, 38 years old, of 615 Pavonia Avenue, Jersey City, the motorman, was unhurt. Police, alleging he failed to release sand on the tracks to stop the car when his brakes would not hold, arrested him on a charge of atrocious assault. Rain is believed to have caused the brakes to fail.

The following were treated at Jersey City Hospital for bruises and lacerations: Ray Kahl, 30, 157 Duncan Avenue; Peter Finnerty, 40, 212 Linden Avenue; Ray Drury, 27, 200 Boyd Avenue; Miss Barbara Paraletta, 17, 290 Danforth Avenue, and Joseph Kushen, 54, 259 Jewett Avenue, all of Jersey City. Five others were treated at the scene by ambulance surgeons.

To Attend Sanatorium Opening.

New York guests at the opening of the National Variety Artists' new sanatorium at Saranac Lake, N. Y. on Sunday will leave this city on a special train at midnight Saturday, arriving early on Sunday morning. The ceremonies will be held at 2 P. M. on Sunday. Edie Cantor, president of the N. V. A., and Mayor Walker, who is to be the principal speaker, will head the party. Among the invited guests will be William Fox, Adolph Zukor, Jesse Lasky, Harry Warner, Gene Buck, Joseph Santley, S. L. Rothafel, William Morris and Major E. M. Bowes.

Private Secretary

The Chief Executive of one of America's largest corporations desires to employ a young man in the capacity of stenographer and private secretary. The duties of the position will require extensive travelling and irregular working hours. To qualify the man must be an expert stenographer with training and experience in secretarial duties. He must also be prepared to sail for Europe on September 20th.

In writing, state qualifications in full, including age, education, experience and salary desired. Applications will be treated confidentially. Address T. K., Box 47, Trinity Station, New York.

OLD GOLD said . .

"write whatever you please, Floyd Gibbons"

". . . go out and watch New York's famous 'Old Seventh' Regiment take the concealed name cigarette test. We will publish your eye-witness story word for word" . . . So here it is.

By Floyd Gibbons

CAMP SMITH, Peekskill, N. Y., Aug. 17th.—I have shared the soldier's cigarette in pretty nearly every corner of the world, and I know how set in his ways an army man can get when it comes to knowing what smoke he likes. So, frankly, the idea that a two year old cigarette—even if it did have the name OLD GOLD—could win this test over three old time brands seemed unbelievable.

But the thing worked out. At Camp Smith, where I witnessed the test, OLD GOLD put the bee on 506 Yanks of the Old Seventh New York Regiment.

The Old Seventh went OLD GOLD with 195 bull's-eyes, as against 144 for the next brand, with the two other old timers rating scores of 81 and 86. That's the target tally for the 506 doughboys who stood on the smoking line and took drags on each of the four masked cigarettes. What's more, this concealed name test is as square as a regimental parade ground. It's a sporting proposition with a kick in it strong enough to blow an old skeptic's hat off.

FLOYD GIBBONS—Famous American war correspondent. Noted for the vigor and fearlessness of his dispatches to the Chicago Tribune. Mr. Gibbons has seen nine wars. His latest books are "The Red Napoleon" and "The Red Knight of Germany."
